

while the father supplied the place of his son, at the mill. Tell me, now, what reward has this son merited? 'Every reward, in fact,' cried all, 'which God ever bestowed on mortal!' Thereupon the Rabbi said: The maxim of the Talmud is thus justified—many a man gives his father costly viands to eat, and yet inherits hell; another sets him to grind at the mill, and inherits Paradise.

ANECDOTE OF BUCKLAND.—This distinguished geologist one day gave a dinner, after dissecting a Mississippi alligator, having asked a good many of the most distinguished of his classes to dine with him. His house and all his establishment were in good style and taste. His guests congregated; the dinner table looked splendidly, with glass, china and plate, and the meal commenced with excellent soup.

'How do you like the soup?' asked the doctor, after finishing his own plate, addressing a famous gourmand of the day.

'Very good, indeed,' said the other. 'Turtle, is it not? I only ask because I do not find any green fat.'

The doctor shook his head. 'I think it has somewhat of a musky taste,' said another, 'not unpleasant but peculiar.'

'All alligators have,' replied Buckland; 'the cayman peculiarly so. The fellow whom I dissected this morning, and whom you have just been eating—'

There was a general route of the whole guests. Every one turned pale. Half a dozen started up from the table. Two or three ran out of the room and vomited; and only those who had stout stomachs remained to the close of an excellent entertainment.

'See what imagination is,' said Buckland. 'If I had told them it was turtle, or terrapin, or bird's nest soup—salt water amphibia or fresh, or the gluten of a fish from the maw of the sea bird, they would have pronounced it excellent, and their digestion been none the worse. Such is prejudice.'

'But was it really an alligator,' asked a lady.

'As good a calf's head as ever wore a coronet,' answered Buckland.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

THRASH your grain as soon as it is harvested. Past experience has proven to all, that wheat that is put up in a stack to stand until winter has been mostly destroyed by cattle and mice. Having selected and brought through a machine that is well adapted to the grain raised here, and having had long experience in the business, I hope to merit a liberal share of public patronage. Brethren in the adjoining valleys can see me at my residence on Big Cottonwood, or in the 12th ward in G. S. L. City.

As there has been much waste of grain by improper feeding of animals, I will be responsible for all unnecessary waste.

LEATHER! LEATHER!!

WE take this method of informing the Citizens of this place and surrounding country, that the 15th ward Tannery is now in operation, and design keeping on hand a large and well assorted stock of leather of every description, which shall not only surpass anything heretofore manufactured in the Territory, but shall equal, if not surpass anything brought into this market for sale.

The mechanical branch of this business will be carried on under the direction of A. L. Tonsler, who, having been engaged for years in the manufacturing of leather in Austria, Russia, France, England and the United States, has thoroughly satisfied himself by trial, that the very best article of leather can be furnished from the material with which this country abounds.

Call at Townsend's building, East Temple st., 2 doors above Kimball's store, and satisfy yourselves by a thorough examination of the article.

Hides of every description purchased.

We the undersigned workmen of leather, take pleasure in recommending to the public, the article furnished by the 15th ward tannery of this city, and pronounce it equal if not superior to any leather, domestic or imported, ever offered for sale in this market.
