Last Night's Dispatches.

EASTERN.

Pacific R. R. Funding Bill.

NEW YORK, 5.—The World's Washington special says: The President will allow the Pacific Railroad funding bill to become a law by the ten days lapse. The bill was delivered to the President on Wednesday.

The British Pacific Naval Force.

The Tribune has the following: The British naval force in the Pacific is exceedingly weak, while the Pall Mall Gazette questions whether Russia, by breaking through the declaration of Paris can do English commerce much harm out of the Pacific. It concedes, unfortunately, that the government seems even yet scarcely alive to the exigencies of the occasion. The Triumph, though an ironclad, is a poor substitute for the Sarah, and the other vessels are being sent to the Pacific stations. It is claimed that apart altogether from the value of Vancouvers Island, its harbors and coal, the British squadron in the Pacific are far too weak for the interests they have to protect. Any heavy loss there, though it could not of course have much effect on the main issue of the war, would be singularly damaging to British prestige in those seas.

Mrs. Tilton's Confession.

The World says: It is said that Mrs. Tilton is preparing a detailed statement confirming and expanding her late confession. The Plymouth Church people have heard this report, and believe it is true.

Attempt to Kill a Police Captain.

An attempt was made to-night, by Patrolman Hefferman, to kill police captain Smith, of the Washington Street station. Hefferman, who has been on a spree for several days, imagined the captain had reported him to the police commissioners, and shot him, the ball entering below the base of the skull and coming out on the right side. Hefferman was disarmed. The affair caused considerable excitement.

Secretary Schurz on the Timber Question.

WASHINGTON, 5.—Secretary Schurz has written a very interesting letter to Representative Page, in response to the requests and suggestions contained in Page's recent letter to him and in the memorials of California State officers and other citizens, to which his attention was thereby formally directed. The Secretary says: "I have given the subject of the depredations upon public lands of the United States careful attention. The statements contained in your letter and the memorial addressed to the California and Nevada congressional delegations are not new, and one similar to those presented to me from all sections of the country where there are public lands covered with valuable timber not open to purchase and entry. The fact that extensive depredations were being committed upon these public lands made it necessary, in my judgment, to introduce a change in the system heretofore followed for the suppression of such illegal practices. There were two duties plainly presenting themselves to this department. First, to enforce the laws as they stand, and second, to protect the timber upon the public lands against such indiscriminate destruction as would, in its consequences, materially imperil the prosperity of the country and well-being of the people. The latter consideration applies with especial force to the mountainous States and Territories of the Union, where the timber grows principally upon the mountain sides, and where forests, if once swept off, will never renew themselves. I deem it unnecessary to go into any elaborate statement of the consequence which must inevitably follow such reckless waste and destruction. Other countries, where a similar course has been followed, afford most terrible warnings. I readily admit that a strict construction and execution of the laws as they stand, with regard to public timber, may entail certain hardships to the inhabitants of certain States and Territories where the timber lands, in most part, are unsurveyed, and where timber cannot be obtained from government by purchase or in any other legal way. Such hardships do not, however, relieve the executive branch of the government of its plain duty to see that the laws are enforced. If the laws are not such as they should be, it does not follow that they should remain a dead letter, but that it is the business, not of the executive, but of the legislative power to adopt them to the circumstances and wants of the people by proper legislative action. To leave the laws unexecuted would be a plain direction of duty on the part of the executive.

"If Congress shall pass a law authorizing a settlement for past depredations, and at the same time provide a way of regulating the sale of timber upon the public lands, I shall most cheerfully execute that law and see that the provisions are fully carried out. My views as to the manner in which the sale of timber from the public lands can be permanently regulated, and at the same time the forests of the United States may be preserved in sufficient quantity, were fully set forth in my annual report, and a bill, in accordance therewith, has been introduced in the Senate. If this bill becomes law it will prevent the indiscriminate destruction of forests by permitting private parties to purchase public timber in sufficient quantities for all legitimate purposes of business, as well as domestic use without laying bare large tracts and thus prevent the disastrous consequences which, under the present practice, will necessarily befall the mountainous States and Territories of this country. If the efforts made by this department during the last year to execute the laws for the suppression of timber depredations shall result in the enactment of such a law, they will have accomplished one of their principal objects in serving a purpose of the highest importance to the true interests of the country.

"In view of the possibility of such legislation being enacted at the present session of congress, I shall recommend to the Attorney General that the criminal prosecutions referred to in the petition addressed to the Senators and Representatives of the States of California and Nevada be continued until the next regular term of court in which such suits are now pending, so that time may be given for such lesislative action as the circumstances of the case seem to demand.

Very respectfully,
C. SCHURZ,
Secretary of Interior."

The Adjournment.

Owing to the forwardness of the general appropriation bills, it is thought by a number of members of Congress that an adjournment sine die can take place forward the last of June. They do not suppose that discussion on the tariff bill will occupy more than a week, and say that time will be afforded for consideration of the Pacific Railroad bills and other prominent measures.

The Louisiana and Florida Frauds.

There seems to be some uncertainty as to whether a movement will be made to-morrow or Tuesday, as to the Florida presidential frauds. Springer is mentioned as authority for the statement that a resolution to accompany the report on Blair's resolutions opening the presidential question, has been prepared by the committee on judiciary. He has not seen the resolution, but presumes it will be similar Blair's resolutions calling upon Congress to order an investigation of the alleged frauds in Florida and Louisiana, and authorizing the appointment of a committee to send for persons and papers. It is not thought that such an investigation, if ordered, would occupy much time, as the committee on judiciary during the former Congress, thoroughly examined the subject of the presidential canvass in Louisiana and Florida. Few if any of the democrats anticipate that Congress will take any action disturbing the official position of President Hayes, and many of them desire to go no further than to place on record the proofs of fraud that may be produced before any committee that may be authorized to receive them. No line of conduct has yet been agreed upon relative to the subject, although there is much speculation concerning it.

No Clue.

LACONIA, N. H., 5.—There is no clue to the whereabouts of Thomas E. Ladd. His reported confession of incendiarism before his disappearance proves unfounded. Unfortunate real estate speculations led to financial embarrassments, and the belief is strong that he committed suicide.

Closely Watched.

ELLSWORTH, Me., 5.—The passenger agent of the Union Pacific Railroad, arrived, to-day, and is to go on board the Cimbria to-morrow. Meantime the British agent is continually on the wharf, or walking about the shore, watching the steamer and every movement of the officers and crew.

A special envoy has gone to Batoum with instruction for Dervish Pasha from the Porte.

Prince Labanoff is expected to leave for St. Petersburg on Tuesday. Chakir Pasha will start thither on the 13th inst.

Servians Advancing.

Servian detachments are advancing gradually towards the Prisrend, Mitrovitza and Salonica railway, at Uskup. Their progress has been impeded by the guerrilla warfare of the Mahommetan arnauots

New Military Convention.

A Bucharest special says: It is understood that Russia has proposed a new military convention by which she will be empowered to construct camps at Plojesti and Fokschani, engaging in return to remove her headquarters and other establishments connected with her troops, from Bucharest. Roumania has refused to assent.

RUSSIA.

Better Impression.

ST. PETERSBURG, 5.—The Agence Russe says: A much better impression prevails respecting the prospect of negotiations. It is rumored that the approaching arrival of Count Schouvaloff here on a visit is connected with a friendly exchange of views resulting from the pourparlers between London and St. Petersburg.

The Turks have evacuated Artlan in the Pashalik of Trebizond. This is considered a commencement of the execution of the treaty of San Stefano.

TURKEY.

Return of the Refugees.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 5.—A Russo-Turkish convention has been concluded arranging for the return of the Turkish refugees to their homes. Only those will be sent back at present who belong to the localities occupied by the Russians outside of the principality of Bulgaria. The Russian troops will accompany the refugees to protect them and restore their property. The expenses will be borne by Turkey.

AUSTRIA.

The Austrian-Hungarian Compromise.

VIENNA, 5.—It is officially announced that the Austrian and Hungarian ministers have come to an agreement on the Austrian-Hungarian compromise.

The compromise will be submitted to Parliament for ratification next week. Count Andrassy, at the cabinet council, said the realization of the vote of credit was urgently required to give power for speedily concentrating troops on the Transylvanian and Bosnian frontiers.

BRITISH AMERICA.

Arrest of an Embezzler.

LONDON, Ont., 5.—Henry C. T. Plessner, of East Saginaw, Mich., was arrested here, last night, charged with embezzlement from the Revere Fire Insurance Co., of Boston, while agent of that company, at Saginaw. He is also charged with forging the name of T. Daly Moore, of Saginaw, for $1,000. It is stated that he ran behind in the returns, and resorted to forgery to make up the deficiency.

A New Battery.

QUEBEC, 5.—The provincial legislature is summoned, for the dispatch of business, for the 4th of June. The military authorities contemplate erecting a battery on Crane Island, to command the river approaches there above Traverse.

Funeral of John Callighan.

MONTREAL, 5.—The funeral of John Callighan, shot on Wellington Bridge on the night of the Orange concert, took place this afternoon. About 10,000 members of the Irish national societies took part.
