Daly-West Traded in as High as $27.25 Per Share.

GRAND CENTRAL WEAKER.

Lower Mammoth Takes a Spurt to $1.02—Mammoth Is Not So Strong—Daly and Star Con. Active.

The business on the exchange for the year 1900 closed today with the sale of 11,715 shares for $14,589.75. Several of the high priced stocks showed activity, including Con. Mercur, Daly West, Grand Central, and Mammoth. The former opened with the sale of 100 shares at $3.05, and after selling up to $3.10, the stock fell off to $2.95 on the closing sale. Daly-West sold up to $27.25 on the rumor that the company may decide to pay $50,000 monthly during 1901. Daly sold up to $1.57, while Grand Central showed itself much weaker. From $3.35 the price of the opening sale, the stock fell off to $2.50 on the closing sale. Lower Mammoth was quite active today at better figures. At the outset 100 shares were jostled up on a bid of $1.45, but a steady rise was afterwards made until $1.62 was reached, with the last sale going at $1.61. Mammoth was weaker today with 600 shares selling at prices ranging between $2.35 and $2.10. May Star Con. made a transfer of 100 shares at 73¢. Ben Butler led 6,000 shares at 2¢. Ingot did business at 4¢, and Eagle & Blue Bell was traded in as low as 1¢.

Sporting Notes.

All is now in good shape for the bout which takes place tonight between Jack Burns of New York and Jack Dunleavy of Boston. There will be several good preliminary bouts, the main event is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock.

This morning Charley Lange, well known to the sporting fraternity, left for Cleveland, O., to attend the funeral of his father, who died yesterday. Charley will be away about two weeks.

Both Jeffries and Fitzsimmons have now been seen in New York for their new plays. The critics of Gotham have compared them and it seems to be the consensus of opinion that in so far as their acting is concerned the battle is a draw. Fitz, they claim, strikes at the top of his voice every time he takes a "fall" out of the villain, and moves more lively than the man who defeated him. Jeff takes things a bit more calmly and somewhat hand-picked because he is forced to save the villain in one act of the play, while Fitz is allowed to get the best of it every time he and the villain clash. It is to be hoped that the two celebrated representatives of Thespian will have an opportunity to display their histrionic talents in Denver before the season is over so that "Punch" and "Owen" can write a criticism on which is the better actor, "What is the stage coming to, anyway," shouts the transcendentalist of better days on Curtis street—Denver Post.

BIG GAINS IN DALY-WEST STOCK

Sales Made This Afternoon as High as $28 Per Share.

THE JANUARY DIVIDEND

Is Still Uncertain—Swansea Pays Today—Highland Boy Output for Year—Hing Notes.

A sale of Daly West was reported on the curb this afternoon at $28 per share, a gain of nearly $1.50 per share in the past few days. A decided advance was noticed on the exchange today, when a sale was recorded at $27.25. It was thought that the rise was due to the announcement of something positive from the management regarding the size of the dividends for 1901. An interview with Manager J. E. Bamberger dispelled this idea, however. "Nothing has been decided," Mr. Bamberger said, regarding the January dividend. Some of the directors are in favor of it, and others are opposed to it, and no decision will be reached until the 5th inst., the day on which the directors meet. While nothing positive has been announced, it is extremely probable that the monthly dividend will be increased to 30 cents per share.

The sudden inflation in the price of the stock today, gives added force to the old saying, "There's money on the right side of stocks." In the beginning of the year, Daly West was selling around $15 per share. An investment of $1,000 last January would have returned, with dividends, $1,900 on the investment today. The stock will doubtless go to $30 per share eventually. The latest report from the mine states that it is looking fine.

SWANSEA DIVIDEND.

The Directors Announced the Regular Monthly of 5 Cents per Share.

The directors of the Swansea Mining company met today and declared the regular monthly dividend of 5 cents per share, or $5,000. This sum will be paid on January 15th, the books to close on the 5th. The payment of this sum makes a total of $27,500 paid by the company in dividends. Manager Theron Geddes reports the mine looking as usual, with no changes of any consequence.

HIGHLAND BOY BULLION.

A Total of 98 Cars Were Shipped During the Year.

As intimated in the "News" last week the fires were started under four of the new furnaces at the Highland Boy smelter south of the city, and the management began feeding ore yesterday. It was announced from the smelter today that the very additional to the plant is working very satisfactorily, although it will take a few days to make the necessary adjustments as to heat and speed. The remaining four furnaces will be started up within the next ten days. The last car of copper bullion left the smelter today for the New Jersey refinery. This car makes the shipments for the year amount to 88 cars, each of which weighs about 60,000 lbs., total output of copper bullion for the year at almost $600,000 pounds.

Utah Looking Well.

A letter received today from the superintendent of the Utah at Fish Springs states that a very interesting showing has been made on the 10th level, 500 feet below the surface. A very decided improvement is reported there. Some good ore is also in sight on the 600 level, and the management is cutting a station on the 700 level preparatory to drifting.

Park City Notes.

In its story of the week, the Park Record says:

Manager Thomas Kearns came up from Salt Lake yesterday. Asked as to the work outlined for the Alliance tunnel he stated that a force of men would be put at work next Tuesday striking the shaft. He incidentally stated, also, that if ore was struck it would be shipped. Relative to the Snake creek power plant project, which it has been rumored the King was intending to put in, to perfect the system, he stated there was nothing definite, as no conclusions had been arrived at nor would be until after the annual meeting. That estimates had been submitted, however, is not denied, but nothing is yet settled.

The regular annual meeting of the Crescent Hill Mining company is called for the 15th of January in this city. As there has been a great deal of attention drawn to this property and section recently, the business done will be of interest as perhaps outlining the future operations of the company. Maybe the big tunnel project will come up, and at all events some action of a definite nature will be decided upon.

John Mullen came in yesterday for a day's visit to old-time friends. He hails from the Gold Mountain district and says the Annie Laurie mine down there will create a sensation in mining circles within a few weeks. He returned today.

Owing to some accident to the engine at the Silver King this afternoon, the afternoon shift was laid off. It is hoped, however, to have the break repaired in time to let the night shift go on.

John Rhoden has a force of men doing some work on the R. R. at the Vindicator and Mammock claims of the Crown Point company. The ground lies just back of the Ontario.

ORE SHIPMENTS.

Following are the shipments of ore from the Mackintosh sampler for the past week:

| | Pounds. |
|-------------------------|-----------|
| Silver King | 900,000 |
| Daly-West | 892,000 |
| Anchor concentrates | 452,000 |
| Ontario | 173,000 |
| California concentrates | 19,000 |
| Total | 2,536,000 |

MINING NOTES.

The Horn Silver of Frisco marketed three cars of copper and lead ore today. Four cars of copper were reported today from the Eureka Hill at Tintie. Four cars of ore were on the market today from the Grand Central of Tintie. The Showers Con. of Tintie reached the market today with a car of lead ore. The Carista of Tintie reached the market today with six cars of copper-gold ore.

The West Morning Glory company is contemplating resuming sinking the shaft 100 feet deeper.

Senator Clark's Ophir Hill mine was on the market today with seven cars of concentrates.

The Bingham Copper and Gold company had a car of its Bingham ore at the sampler today.

Uncle Jesse Knight's Humboldt was on the market today with a car of high grade silver ore.

A car of high grade copper ore reached the market today from the Columbia property at Bingham.

The Taylor-Brunton sampler reported sixteen cars of ore from Tintie, three from Frisco, seven from Stockton, and two from Bingham today.

The Park Record in its issue refers to the death of Charlie McFall, the well known mining man, which took place last week.

The results of the tests on the ores of the Tintie district will be known in a few days, at which time more will be known concerning the construction of a concentrating plant at the mine.

Jack and Bob Watson are making arrangements to leave for the Deep Creek district, where they are engaged in a group of silver claims in which they are interested, which were at one time bonded under the name of the Denver Boy group.

Tintie Miner: The Old Colony and Eureka Mining company is doing the assessment work on its group south of the Lower Mammoth mine. A new shafthouse and blacksmith shop have been erected to take the place of the buildings recently burned, and work is now in progress in the shaft. The damage done by the fire is estimated by Superintendent Brown at $500.

Wood River Times: L. C. Bailey has disposed of an interest in the Champlain group of mines, on the Halley Gold Belt, to Chicago parties who are to drive a 300-foot tunnel this winter. Mr. Bailey will soon leave for the east for the winter, leaving James Quinlivan in charge.

SEMBRICH IS COMING.

Mr. Stephens Has Booked Her for the Tabernacle.

Likely That "Faust" Will Be Repeated in Concert Form—Address to Members.

The great singer Marcella Sembrich and her entire company, are coming to Salt Lake. Mr. Stephens has booked them for the Tabernacle on March 14th, and, fired with the idea that it may be possible to have Gounod's immortal opera of "Faust," done complete in concert form, with the Tabernacle choir added to Sembrich's chorus, he has issued the following address to his members:

"Faust!" Can we learn it in two months? We can with united, prompt, and enthusiastic labor, and if we do, it will go down in our history as our greatest achievement.

Given with Madame Sembrich, the Patri of today, and a full set of artists almost equal to herself, an orchestra selected from the famous New York Philharmonic orchestra, the Italian opera chorus, enlarged by our choir of 400 voices, with our grand pipe organ, it will make the performance musically, perhaps the most noted ever given, of this master work of one of the greatest masters of the nineteenth century.

Remember the work before us; we must do without books for they would cost $500 at least; the whole work must be committed to memory, and such a familiarity is gained with the whole opera as will readily enable you, under a strange conductor, to take up your cues, and to watch his signals and tempo so as to perfectly attack and in a dramatic way, render the wonderful music, now joyous, now pathetic, now sublime, such as in the immortal church scenes, where Satan threatens damnation to the fallen Marguerite, the Angela's chant of the blessed story of pardon, through repentance, etc., etc.

It is fitting to undertake this tremendous task chiefly to arouse the choir to a sense of its capabilities, to a pride in its achievements, and to reveal for one night in the exalted musical feast after my preparatory work—is over.

What do you say? If attempted, the ladies of the choir must be in their seats at 7 o'clock Thursday night, for one hour's work, before the tenors and basses arrive, which will not be before 8 o'clock at the choir hall.

Former elder members who have not been attending are invited and urged to meet with us then. But no one who does not attend at least three rehearsals out of four can take part in the great demand.

Henry O. Morris, of Pueblo, Colo., manager of the original cowboy band and Morris Military band, writes to Secretary Martin of the Live Stock association, offering to bring his musicians here during convention week at the rate of $480 a week and expenses. In the course of his letter, he says: "We have $3,000 worth of cowboy suits, revolvers, samaras, cowboys, etc., including the famous big drum and miniature stage coach. The leader conducts with a $200 Colt's .45, covered with diamonds, rubies, etc., novel and unique."

BENEFITS OF ORGANIZATION.

Work of the National Live Stock Association.

REASONS FOR JOINING IT.

Mon. John W. Springer Sets Forth Some Ideas in an Open Letter.

Hon. John W. Springer, president of the National Live Stock association, has issued the following open letter to the stockmen throughout the United States:

"I wish to advise you that the Fourth annual convention of the National Live Stock association of the United States will be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, January 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th, 1901.

"During the few years this organization has been in existence it has grown until now it represents among its membership an aggregated capital of over $100,000,000. It represents cattle men, sheep men, horse men and hog men. Its aim is to render assistance to the live stock industry in every way possible where the interests of either class of live stock above mentioned is affected. This organization has been instrumental in securing, during the year now closing, a Federal enumeration of live stock ever attempted by this government. A bulletin will be issued early in 1901, which will give the first authentic information the stock people of the Union have had as to what they own, as judged by classes. Our organization has also been instrumental in securing the restoration of the feebling in-transit rate on live stock shipments from points west of the Missouri river, which is of such vital importance to the stock interests of the West and South. We have also been able to obtain from the railroads of the Northwest the lowest rate ever made on range horses to the markets of the country, and in the last two years thousands of horses have been shipped at this rate to the east, and have been distributed all over the world from the great markets of Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, South St. Joseph and St. Louis.

"Since the organization of this association many disputes as to freight rates have been amicably settled with the railroads, and our association is now on friendly terms with all of the Western lines. Our organization has also been instrumental in obtaining from the interior department the opening of some of the forest reserves to the stockmen, (who are, through their local associations, members of this National association), thus saving them hundreds of thousands of dollars of loss, which they otherwise would have incurred by the loss of their stock.

"Our organization is also working with the humane society of the United States, with a view of getting their assistance to secure the extension of the time limit on live stock shipments, from 24 hours to 36 hours in summer and 40 hours in winter, which is necessary for the better handling of our live stock. We are also endeavoring to bring sufficient force to bear upon the Federal Congress to defeat the iniquitous Groat bill, which seeks to class a tax of one cent a head on live stock.

"The United States never had such never has been in the history of our government a more direct or glaring attempt at special legislation than is embodied in this same Groat bill; it will take the power of our organization to overcome its defeat.

"I might enumerate many other important matters that have engaged the attention of the officers and committees of the National Live Stock association during the years of its official existence, but I have cited the few instances given to show the stock men of the United States the practical value to them in dollars and cents of having a great central and powerful stock men's organization.

"You are fully advised that in the commercial world everything is drifting to a union of effort towards minimizing expenses, and to the consolidation of interests that command respect not only at home, but in the markets of the world. The United States never had such an opportunity for successful commercial growth as it has at the beginning of the twentieth century. A movement on these lines will be backed up by enormous aggregations of capital, and this association is the only organization that our colleges can give to students who are kept thoroughly posted on the markets of the whole world by means of the daily press, our magazines, our reports and our periodicals.

"The stock men of this Union have just as much enterprise, just as good education, and are as great students, readers and thinkers as are the men in control of other great interests of the United States. This association, by means of its officers and through its various committees, is a great central force that will command the attention of State and federal legislators. It can obtain proper treatment by asserting the rights of its membership, and it behooves every stock man to aid, directly or indirectly, in upholding and augmenting the power of the National Live Stock association of the United States. We therefore ask you to see that your name and vote are properly organized by the live stock men, and that these organizations are properly represented at the fourth annual convention in Salt Lake City, which is the American Stock Men's Congress."

LIVE STOCK CONVENTION.

It has been finally decided to hold the live stock show in the Exposition building and grounds. This action was passed upon at the meeting of the committees on Saturday night.

Six hundred and sixty-eight rooms have been already secured for the accommodation of the prospective guests January 15 and the week following.

Henry O. Morris, of Pueblo, Colo., manager of the original cowboy band and Morris Military band, writes to Secretary Martin of the Live Stock association, offering to bring his musicians here during convention week at the rate of $480 a week and expenses. In the course of his letter, he says: "We have $3,000 worth of cowboy suits, revolvers, samaras, cowboys, etc., including the famous big drum and miniature stage coach. The leader conducts with a $200 Colt's .45, covered with diamonds, rubies, etc., novel and unique."

Blue points on the half shell. It is expected, will be in great demand in this city during the balance of the week. The semi-annual pearl discovery has once more started the speculation; consequently Blue Points are in great demand.

Last evening, Mrs. A. H. Brackett, of Butte, Mont., was served with half a dozen of the bivalves at dinner at the Kenyon, when her teeth encountered a hard substance in the anatomy of the shell fish; naturally it was a pearl—it always happens so. The gem was passed around for examination among several of the guests who were present, and one of them, undoubtedly, pronounced it to be a pearl of the value of $200.

All the balance of the evening was spent by the hired help in the kitchen opening oysters in the hopes of duplicating the discovery.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

James Rae of this city is in receipt of the following letter from Alex Galbraith, the well known horse breeder:

"The recent show has passed into history as the most successful as well as the largest show on record. Whether viewed in regard to its magnitude, its excellence, the attendance of the public or the generosity of the prize lists, this show is without rival. And in saying this we are not forgetting the grand exhibition of horses and fat stock held between the years 1887 and 1891 in the old exposition building, Chicago. In some respects and in certain departments those old time shows were of the highest order of excellence and as the various coach breeds of horses were always included the show of that time were consequently more complete in the horse department than this recent one which only included the various breeds of draft horses. But in all the various breeds of beef cattle and mutton sheep as well as horses the show just past far eclipsed anything ever held on this continent.

This applies with equal truth to the strictly fat cattle classes as well as to the breeding classes, and the recent show was a most successful one for far land lots brought out an enormous entry list including many of the choicest breeds ever seen in the great city of Chicago. It would be invidious to specify any particular breed of breeders, but the show was a most successful one. The best individual animals on the ground were Polled Angus cattle—they having won the champion prize—the reserve for championship and the highest honors also for best car lot having been presented by the Ford breed came to the front by making a much higher average price in the auction sale room than any other breed, while the shorthorns as usual made a magnificent display and on the whole the proportion of first prize winners to spectators than any of the others. In the sheep and swine department honors seemed to be quite evenly divided among the various breeds—perhaps the most noteworthy incident being the large proportion of first prize winners to spectators than any of the others. In the sheep and swine department honors seemed to be quite evenly divided among the various breeds—perhaps the most noteworthy incident being the large proportion of first prize winners to spectators than any of the others.

Canadian exhibitors in the sheep department.

Coming down to the draft horse department, the general remark may be made that shires were extremely well represented, and that the shires, and Clydesdales conspicuously so. In the stallion classes the imported and American bred Clydesdales vie with each other for supremacy and it must be admitted that the former hold the crown with more than a fair margin. A better or more uniform lot of Clydesdale stallions was never seen in America than was presented at the recent show. In the classes for draft horses in harness—open to all breeds—the shires were in slight—the best that the Percherons or Shires could get being an occasional second or third premium and sometimes not even that mark. As the breeders' Gazette remarked, the Clydesdale made a very easy winner, and was the only one against the other breeds and subjected to a critical analysis their outstanding superiority in legs, pasterns, feet and action coupled with bodies, heads and necks of remarkable excellence made them easy winners in every class—single, pairs, three abreast, four horse teams and six horse teams. It was generally remarked that the one of the most conspicuous things in the entire show was the Clydesdale exhibit. It was brought all the more prominently before the people when contrasted with the small and indifferent exhibit of Shires which on this occasion was neither worthy of the breed nor of the many excellent turnouts made by them in the old polmy days of the horse show.

The success attending the recent show was such as to encourage the managers already to prepare for next year's event when additional accommodations will doubtless be provided for the exhibitors and hosts of friends of the breed. The chances are that the coach breeds of horses will be included in the show of 1901.

C. S. Barclay writes from West Liberty, Ia., to Secretary Martin: "Please keep a good stall as you can for us for thirty head of bulls for the live stock show."

Ford Bros. of Centerville have notified the committee in charge of the exhibition that they will exhibit four blooded Shorthorn bulls and two grades—one grade white-faced bull, and one two-year-old steer, also six head of fancy Leicester sheep.

Word from all over Colorado is that there is the most unusual interest in the coming live stock show. The exhibitors, New Mexico men, they will exhibit four blooded Shorthorn bulls and two grades—one grade white-faced bull, and one two-year-old steer, also six head of fancy Leicester sheep.

Reports from Nebraska, Wyoming, New Mexico and all points west of the river tell the same story, all are going to Salt Lake, and in addition to the National meeting, there will be many smaller meetings of cattle companies and corporations, who will take this opportunity of getting to Salt Lake and the live stock show, the most important live stock event of the year. The stockmen from the North and the South, the East and the West, will be together for a week, and plans and deals will
