

ary hospitals. At 11 o'clock twenty policemen lay on the floor of the Desplains Street Station, all disabled and probably half of that number seriously so.

Later reports at the Desplains Street station indicate that even more than were at first estimated were wounded among the Socialists. The scenes at the station are heartrending.

11:30 p.m.—More firing has just been heard near the place of the former trouble, and a large number of police have just left the station for the place.

In the basement of the station there are some 10 Socialists who are having their wounds attended to.

Following is the list of killed and wounded among the police: Joseph Stanton, John A. Dyer, John McMahon, Miles Murphy, F. Steele, John Reed, Arthur Connell, P. Sullivan, Charles Whitney, Thomas Ridding, George Miller, H. Kruger, J. H. Wilson, Jos. Norman, H. Halverson, F. Hald, Ed. Barret, John Henson, J. Mitchell, A. Flavin, Charles Pink, N. J. Shannon.

Inspector Bonfield has just been seen at the Desplains Street station and says concerning to-night's trouble in the old Haymarket: After Parsons had concluded his speech Sam Fielding, another notorious Socialist, mounted the wagon and began to address the crowd.

He finally became so violent that word was sent to the station, which was only a block distant, and Inspector Bonfield at the head of 125 men marched to the place where the meeting was in progress.

On the table in the station house where the wounded policemen are, one poor fellow lies stretched with a terrible bullet wound in his breast. A few feet distant a man with tattered clothes and a mortal wound in his side is dying.

There are some 20 of the socialists in the cells in the basement. Nearly all of them are wounded, and one of them, a fellow of about 20 years, is dead.

The following named socialists, all of whom are wounded, have been placed under arrest: Joe Knicker, Emil Loth, John Villund, Peter Lay, John Frazer, August Lake, John Lachman, Robert Schultz, Francis W. Rock, B. Lepiant and Chas. Schacher.

Before news of the killing of the six policemen had reached the First Regiment armory, Anson LaBalle, a member of Company C, was disguised and sent to the scene of the conflict to take observations.

WILWAUKEE, 4.—Gathered in the Polish section of this city early this morning were about 300 Polish laborers, all armed with sticks, stones and clubs, many of whom were recognizable as having been in the mob that stormed the Allis works on Monday.

It was when he was about 30 years of age that the great resources of California became known, and he located there, determined to make that region his home, and commenced work as a joiner and builder.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous tales related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he went under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands.

It was when he was about 30 years of age that the great resources of California became known, and he located there, determined to make that region his home, and commenced work as a joiner and builder.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous tales related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he went under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous tales related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he went under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous tales related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he went under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands.

He left home soon after the death of his mother, and the adventurous tales related to him filled him with a desire to go to sea, which desire was soon gratified, for he went under the command of his brother-in-law, on a long voyage to the South Sea Islands.

works. The only man who remained at his post was the fireman. "On to the mills!" shouted a score of voices, and the mob, which was gradually increasing in numbers, proceeded to Bayview.

He had been there but a short time when he constructed houses for Abostles C. C. Rich and Amasa Lyman. He considered he was on a mission while so engaged, and labored without wages.

On the 4th of Sept., 1838, he married a Miss Elizabeth Mills, and ten years later a Miss Hannah Waddoups, both of whom have proved devoted wives, kind mothers and honorable women in society.

He labored at his trade and built a home at Centreville where he resided up to the time of his death. The principles of truth continued to develop in his mind, and the kingdom of God—its intellectual, spiritual and moral advancement to be his first and highest duty.

On the 3rd of August, 1834, he was ordained a High Priest. As a moral and theological instructor he stood with but few peers. As a Latter-day Saint, he has been one in word and in deed—always practicing his teachings, and setting examples worthy the emulation of brethren and sisters.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He had been there but a short time when he constructed houses for Abostles C. C. Rich and Amasa Lyman. He considered he was on a mission while so engaged, and labored without wages.

On the 4th of Sept., 1838, he married a Miss Elizabeth Mills, and ten years later a Miss Hannah Waddoups, both of whom have proved devoted wives, kind mothers and honorable women in society.

He labored at his trade and built a home at Centreville where he resided up to the time of his death. The principles of truth continued to develop in his mind, and the kingdom of God—its intellectual, spiritual and moral advancement to be his first and highest duty.

On the 3rd of August, 1834, he was ordained a High Priest. As a moral and theological instructor he stood with but few peers. As a Latter-day Saint, he has been one in word and in deed—always practicing his teachings, and setting examples worthy the emulation of brethren and sisters.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

He was an unusually healthy man, having only experienced one or two spells of sickness in his life, and was able to exercise exceeding great faith for others who were afflicted; he raised the sick, comforted the widow and orphan, cheered the down-hearted, and was the first out of his large family to pass away.

STUDEBAKER BROS. MFG. CO., BUILDERS OF FINE CARRIAGES, Buggies & Spring Wagons FARM, FREIGHT, ORE TRAVELING WAGONS

The McCormick H. M. Co's New Steel Binders, introduced here in 1885, are conceded to be far ahead of all competitors, combining as they do, beauty of design, superiority of workmanship, excellence of finish, durability and ease of management.

WE ALSO KEEP A FULL LINE OF Tents, Whips, Wagonettes, Wagon Covers, Lamps, Buckboards, Rakes, Rubber, Round Up Wagons, Machine Extras, Cloth, Harrows, Wagon Extras, Duck, Robes, Washers, Coach Candles, Farm and Carriage Harness.

STUDEBAKER BROS. MFG. CO., Central Branch House, Salt Lake City.

D. HENLEY'S CILERY BEE & IRON THE GREAT NERVE TONIC—Unsurpassed as a remedy for General Debility, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and Broken-down Constitutions.

SYRUP OF PRUNES THE CAL. PRUNE LAXATIVE. The only perfect fruit remedy for Constipation and Biliousness. Mild and effective in its action. Safe for ladies, children, and weak constitutions.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S SEED ANNUAL FOR 1886. Will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to customers last year without ordering it.

WANTED IN SALT LAKE CITY, An energetic business woman to solicit and take orders for THE MADA E GRISWOLD Patent Skirt Supporting Corsets.

INFORMATION WANTED. OF BRADLEY CHANDLER, WHO WAS last heard from at Nauvoo, Illinois, May 15, 1848.

ESTRAY NOTICE. I HAVE IN MY POSSESSION: One bay MARE, 3 or 4 years old, branded D S or D 5 on left thigh, four white feet, white spot in forehead.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING. A book of 100 pages. The best book for an advertiser to consult, be he experienced or otherwise.

SEEDS! E. J. BOWEN'S ILLUSTRATED DE Vegetable, Flower, Clover, Grass and Alfalfa Seeds, and containing valuable information for the Gardener, the Farmer, or the Family.