

TELEGRAPHERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

Western Union and Postal Telegraph Operators in San Francisco Leave Their Keys.

THEY DEMAND HIGHER WAGES.

Any Attempt to Bring in New Men Will Result in Calling Out Employees in Other Cities.

San Francisco, June 21.—Strike-ridden San Francisco had another strike added to the list this afternoon when the telegraph operators employed by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies left their keys at 3:30 o'clock and walked out of the offices. Three short blasts from a police whistle gave the signal and at the sound the operators arose from the tables, put on their coats and quit their jobs.

Both the Postal and Western Union main San Francisco offices are located close together in the ferry building. Since the fire the main relay of the Western Union has been at West Oakland, where about 150 men and women are employed. In the San Francisco office about 20 operators are employed, and at outside branch offices about 20 more. The Postal company has 60 operators in its main San Francisco office. Employees of both companies, with the exception of one in each office, stopped work at the signal.

The operators in San Francisco and Oakland were dissatisfied with the letter from President Clowry of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph company, and at outside branch offices about 20 more. Robbing Yourself

That is just what you are doing when you fail to get regular and sufficient sleep. Your body requires this unconscious period for repair work; without it your nerve energy becomes exhausted, and you are tired, worn-out, nervous, excitable; have headache, neuralgia, indigestion, poor appetite, or other ailments caused by a lack of nerve force. Make it your business to sleep. If you are restless, take Dr. Miles' Nervine; it soothes and strengthens the nerves, and brings sweet, refreshing, life-giving sleep, and gives the organs power to work naturally. Try it to-day.

"I had a severe spell of fever, which left me in a very weak condition and very nervous. I had severe spells of headache and neuralgia, and could sleep but very little. Every effort that was made to recover my strength was of no avail until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine. After I commenced to take the Nervine I slept so profoundly and restful, and the pains in my head, as well as the neuralgia pains, left me to a certain extent and I grew gradually better."

NEW YORK SURPRISED.

New York, June 21.—The strike of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph operators at San Francisco came as a surprise to these companies, following as it did so close upon the supposed settlement of the differences through United States Commissioner of Labor Charles J. Neill and the statement by President Clowry of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph company.

The trouble that culminated today has been brewing for a long time. The increase of 10 per cent granted by the telegraph companies a few months ago, did not satisfy the employees of San Francisco and Oakland. They claim that the increased cost of living since the fire made it imperative that they should receive a larger increase. They claim that they cannot live upon the present scale of wages. So far only the lines handling commercial business are affected by the strike. Press operators remain at work.

A statement signed by Gen. Supt. Frank Jaynes, and applying to all operators remaining on duty during the strike, has been posted in Western Union offices. It reads as follows: "All operators will be paid their regular salary as a bonus and all services will be computed as extra on the basis of seven hours per day or night. Operators at outside branch offices will be allowed to work with so-called 'unfair' operators in San Francisco and Oakland, who did not go out with the strikers.

RUSSIAN GOVERNORS
GIVEN GREAT POWERS.

St. Petersburg, June 21.—An imperial decree has been issued to the governors of the provinces of Archangel, Novgorod, Olonez, Pskov, Ryazan, Smolensk, Tver and Yaroslavl, granting them special powers empowering them to suspend newspapers, disperse meetings, banish undesirable persons and take other measures for the maintenance of public security by administrative process, without having resort to the courts, and inflict punishment up to three months imprisonment and $500 fine.

These provinces include practically the entire area of Russia where some form of martial law has not already been proclaimed. The administrative powers of the governors are thereby given under a state of "reinforced security."

FRENCH MUTINEERS HAVE SURRENDERED

Give up Arms and Ammunition And Promise to Return to Their Quarters.

CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT.

Chambers Vote 11—Ministers Given a Free Hand—Affairs in Wine-growing Region Less Threatening.

Boziers, France, June 21.—Accompanied only by a staff officer and one orderly, Gen. Maillou today approached the mutineers of the Seventeenth regiment, exhorting them to return to duty. He promised the men that they would be treated with all possible leniency. After a slight hesitation the soldiers surrounded their rifles and ammunition and promised to return to their quarters. They have until tomorrow to do so.

SITUATION LESS THREATENING.

Paris, June 21.—Fortified by a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies and by the receipt of assurances that the government forces gradually are gaining the ascendancy throughout the rebellious department of the south, the ministers tonight incline to the belief that affairs in the wine-growing region are entering a less threatening phase and that the situation in the south is less threatening.

The war office lost no time in ordering fresh troops to the scene, and fully equipped detachments of the army were dispatched to Narbonne, Montpellier and Beziers or were held in readiness.

Just before adjournment of the chamber tonight the president of the chamber announced the surrender of the mutinous battalion of the Seventeenth regiment, and the hearty applause that followed indicated how deep was the relief. It is up to all sides that the danger of civil war has by no means completely disappeared, but those at the helm seem satisfied with the progress toward the repression of anarchy.

The ministers intend to take no chances. Martial law is now in force throughout the whole of the disturbed area and will be maintained. Premier Clemenceau announced, until normal life can be resumed.

Tonight's vote in the chamber, it is believed, will have considerable effect on the mutineers, who apparently expected that the government's repressive measures would not be approved by parliament. The decision of the chamber to hold a session tomorrow and expedite the wine trade bill will assist the work of conciliation, it is hoped.

Although apart from the mutiny in the Seventeenth regiment no serious breaks were reported up to midnight, the number of cases of tearing up of railroad tracks, seizing of officials who are held as hostages and coddling isolated police has justified the belief that the military situation might, if leaders were forthcoming, be organized for guerrilla warfare. The whereabouts of Metellin Albert, leader of the movement, remains a mystery.

FREE HAND FOR MINISTERS.

Paris, June 21.—By a majority of 194 the chamber of deputies this afternoon voted confidence in the government and gave the ministers a free hand to employ the measures they think best to re-establish order in the disturbed southern departments.

The result came after a day of excitement over the mutiny of troops, following the widespread disorders of the wine growers.

The grave view of the French capital takes of the revolutionary attempts and the tragic outcome was evidenced by the scene in the chamber of deputies when the government's repressive measures were proposed. Even standing room was not obtainable. Many women listened to the debate, which at times was supplemented by the news from the front lines from Narbonne, adding to the information already published the fact that one hundred soldiers were wounded in the fighting yesterday. The rioters, he said, had disappeared from the streets. Peasants from the surrounding villages, terrified at the shooting, took the first train for home. Then, amid impressive silence, the premier gave the official version of the mutiny of the battalion of the Seventeenth regiment at Beziers, and its march to Narbonne, fully confirming the dispatches of the Associated Press. The premier added that he could not listen to any protest against the conditions of the surrender of the mutineers, as it would be an almost fatal move for the government to capitulate to the soldiers. He concluded by making a vote of confidence so that the ministers could carry out in the name of the chamber the work of repression.

The opposing deputies accused the ministers of sending agents to stir up the population in the south, saying that the troops fired with little provocation and without notification, and that women and children had been slaughtered. He insisted that the release of M. Portou, former mayor of Narbonne, would alone restore calm. Otherwise, he said, the situation would be a permanent one.

Former Minister of Commerce Millerand's denunciation of M. Clemenceau was particularly violent, but he was not listened to.

Some of the parliamentary members of the opposition appeared to place the interests of the country above their party and supported the government.

After six hours' debate the chamber, by a vote of 323 to 257, decided to support the cabinet.

After the riotous events of yesterday the appearance of Narbonne today was comparatively calm. Soldiers were everywhere in such force that the inhabitants were at least temporarily contented into inactivity.

The wreckage resulting from last night's riots still litters the streets, and the stores and banks are closed and a barrier set up.

Two additional regiments of infantry and two of cavalry arrived at Narbonne this morning and detachments of artillery are closely watching the situation. The authorities at Narbonne have issued orders that specific routes must be followed by those attending the funeral of the riot victim this afternoon. The routes were entirely isolated by troops.

The receipt of a dispatch from Beziers later in the day, announcing that the mutinous battalion had decided to return to the rest of the regiment, caused decided satisfaction in official circles, as it is hoped that the action would hold off further open insurrection.

FUNERALS OF VICTIMS.

Narbonne, France, June 21.—The funeral of the victims of Thursday's riots was held today and passed off without untoward incident. It was attended by the entire population of the countryside. All public organizations were represented. The tier of the were many floral offerings on the coffin, inscribed "To Martyrs." A brass band, played funeral marches, church bells tolled, all the shops and banks were closed, dwellings were draped with crepe, and flags floated at half-mast. At the cemetery various speakers delivered funeral orations and then the crowd dispersed.

Early in the day the city retained the aspect of a siege. Troops were everywhere and an imposing force surrounded the prefecture. In spite of this latter precaution, however, the prefect did not dare venture out for fear of being lynched. The generals who are in the city are obliged to wear plain clothes. The hotels refused to take them in and the stores decline to sell them goods.

Toward evening after it was seen that no disturbances were likely to follow the funeral, the strain was relaxed the troops were withdrawn and the people began to promenade the streets as usual.

MUTINOUS SAPPERS SHOT.

Kiev, Russia, June 21.—The court-martial convened to try the mutinous sappers at the summer camp at Baniava is said to have acted with promptness and severity. It has sentenced the mutineers have already been condemned and shot.

A HUGE TURTLE.

One Weighing Nearly a Ton Caught Near San Diego.

San Diego, June 21.—One of the puzzles the sea can offer to the surface was solved yesterday when a gigantic sea turtle was captured by Julius Sells, a fisherman, in whose net it had become entangled. The monster weighs 1,302 pounds, almost a ton, and its shell is five feet two inches from tip to tip. On its back, somewhat plainly, is burned or carved this inscription: "British ship, Sea Bridge, Aug. 12, 1881, 5 south, 86 west. It found shelter on all sides that Fletcher, Brawley road, Rivington, England."

It would appear from this that the turtle was captured 26 years ago in the South Pacific and that he has been along the lettering had been burned in its shell.

NATIONAL SOCIALISTS ISSUE THEIR MANIFESTO.

St. Petersburg, June 21.—A separate manifesto was issued tonight by the National Socialists and circulated in the city. It is a colorful document of 1,000 words describing the drama's relations with the government. Its most notable phrase characterizes the session of the duma as "a hundred days of captivity." The document closes with the statement that every nation deserves the kind of government it deserves, but that doctrine does not make any definite imperative recommendations. The manifesto sets forth as the policy of the four socialistic groups a plan to reject the budget and to refuse to agree to the recruiting until the government becomes responsible to the people. The manifesto ends as follows:

"Through the new law (land) will dominate over the peasantry and the third duma of rich burghers will dominate over the proletariat. This coup d'etat takes away the modicum of liberty which the people have. Our duty is to solemnly exhort the people to remember that its destiny is in its own hands, and that it will possess only such right as it conquers as its defense."
