

wife and children reside, for purposes of speculation, that in nine cases out of ten prove worse than unprofitable. The Latter-day Saints especially, should steer clear of such wild ventures and confine themselves to purely legitimate enterprises that tend to build up a community and add to its wealth; for our object should be the good of the whole. We could only boom Utah by increasing our home industries and sustaining them we should confer a lasting benefit upon her people, for our present course in purchasing nearly everything we need from abroad is certainly a ruinous one. I notice a strong disposition to rush our farm and garden products upon the markets at the very earliest moment, thereby clogging it and thus forcing sales at ruinous rates. We may be justified in disposing of a few perishable articles in this way, but these are very limited indeed. Nearly all kinds of grain should be held for higher prices than prevail to-day, for if we make a little sacrifice of our present necessities that are not indispensable we will certainly secure future benefits that will amply repay us for the sacrifice. Our policy should be for the buyer to come to us and not for us to seek the buyer. Purchasers will seek us if we will only stay at home and carefully garner our farm products.

THE MANY LESSONS
that we have been taught in the past in passing through years of scarcity should certainly prompt us to lay by at least one year's supply of bread-stuff in case of need, which will as assuredly come as that we have had several years of abundance. We should not be so anxious to dispose of the staff of life for the meagre sum of a half a cent or a little more per pound. The low price of beef to-day, in view of the enormous losses in stock during the past winter and spring, would suggest the holding over for higher prices which from necessity must prevail a year hence; though I expect our cattle men dread the uncertainty of the approaching winter; very few of them being prepared to feed their stock. The excellent results from our sheep industry for the past few years has created quite a desire to invest money in this direction, which business has paid all the way from ten to fifty per cent on the capital stock invested. In view of the great increase of these animals and our hitherto overtaxed ranges, wisdom would suggest the propriety of hunting other good feeding grounds than those heretofore occupied for this purpose, and getting our sheep upon them before winter closes in upon us.

While upon the subject of sheep I might say that I have been pleased to note the increase in numbers of those who are dressed in clothing manufactured at the Provo mills, and would ask, in view of the growing popularity of this home enterprise, what is the reason this factory cannot be worked to its full capacity and also increase its capacity if needs be to meet the growing demand for these goods? I would like this question agitated, for I think the present time is favorable. And further,

WHAT IS THE REASON
the work cannot be resumed in those factories that are now idle, whose machinery is spoiling for want of being used? Having lived in Utah thirty-five years I take great interest in her material prosperity as well as the spiritual welfare of her people; and while I am satisfied that the elements are here that are necessary to the development of her interests, both spiritual and temporal, yet I think I can see some of the dangers that threaten, and I am prompted at times to offer a word of caution, for in my travels I am very observant of things in general and of some things in particular.

The Utah Chieftain says: The jail at Evanston is to be completed by October 1. The public school opened with 227 pupils in attendance. The law of 1882 regulating saloon hours on the Sabbath in Evanston is being enforced, and a third addition to the town is laid out, with sales amounting to $1,250.

The Laramie Boomerang of the 14th inst. says: The effect of the heavy floods in Arizona, reported in recent dispatches, which have closed the Southern Pacific to traffic of all kinds for several weeks to come, is beginning to be felt on the Union Pacific, which, until repairs are made, will do most of the carrying for the rival line. Five heavy "time freight" trains will pass east through Laramie between noon and midnight of to-day, all of Southern Pacific goods.

Winnemucca, Nevada, Sept. 11.—John Sheridan, a miner, and Charles Young, a painter, had a row this afternoon which culminated in the probable fatal wounding of Young and the death of Sheridan by his own hand. Young persisted in following and slapping Sheridan, who finally turned and shot Young in the abdomen, the ball entering the abdominal cavity about the pelvic bone. Sheridan attempted to escape to the hills, but was followed by Sheriff Fellows and posse, who overtook him two miles from town. Seeing himself surrounded on the plain by horsemen, he brandished his revolver and shot himself through the head, dying instantly. The coroner's jury found that he was a native of Maryland, aged about 30 years.

When Mrs. Mary Marsicano, who lives on Margaret Place, strapped her 18-months-old boy, Marselino, in his high chair last evening about 7:30 o'clock, to enable her to prepare supper, the little prattler was laughing and happy. His chair rested against a table and within his reach stood a lighted coal oil lamp. While the mother was bustling about in the kitchen she heard a crash in the front room, followed by the screams of her child. Rushing out she saw that the baby had overturned the lamp in its lap, and that the little one was enveloped in flames. Her shrieks brought Mrs. Majoribanks, a neighbor, to her assistance, but the mother had presence of mind enough, before her arrival, to release the child from the chair and throw it on the bed to smother the flames with a blanket. Her hands were so badly burned, however, that she was rendered helpless and fell fainting to the floor when Mrs. Majoribanks arrived. The fire in the room was put out by officer Rainesbury, whose timely arrival prevented a conflagration. Mrs. Majoribanks, at the request of the officer, carried the burned baby to the receiving hospital, where Dr. Martineau said that it could not live. Even the surgeon, called to the sights that he is often called upon to witness, turned his head away from the agonies of the sufferer, and cried, "My God, this is awful!" The flames had done terrible work. The burned skin fell from the raw flesh in little pieces, and in several places pieces of the clothing clung to the burns. The child was too weak to give expression to the awful pain it must have suffered, and lay panting and clenching its tiny hands. Examination proved that the flames had been inhaled and that it was only a matter of time when death should relieve the baby from its suffering. All hoped that relief would come quickly. It did not come, however, until 10:45 o'clock, four hours after the accident occurred. There was hardly a portion of the body, from head to foot that had not been burned. The hair and eyebrows were singed off, and portions of the skin on the face, which was horribly disfigured, fell off in dry crisp chunks.—San Francisco Chronicle, Sept. 12th.

Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver, for if the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirits are depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

VIOLATED BLOOD
Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Whay, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our country. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.
James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured." Sworn to before U.S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.
