FOREIGN.

England Observes the Day.

LONDON, 26.—The Manchester Guardian appears to-day in deep mourning border.

At the various towns in England to-day, the same, even as Portsmouth, having no particular connection with America. The municipal authorities requested the inhabitants to show their respect for the late President Garfield, by closing shutters, more particularly during the funeral.

A town meeting will be held at Oldham to-night to express sympathy with Mrs. Garfield and the American People.

In London a number of firms connected with America are draped in black. All omnibus drivers are ordered by the omnibus companies to have crape on their whips. All flags on the River Thames are at half-mast, as also are those on many halls of the city.

In London to-day the signs of mourning were generally spontaneous. All agreed that there never was such a general wearing of mourning for a foreigner. Even many car and draymen have their whips draped, and in what are generally the busiest thoroughfares, such as the Strand, Fleet Street, and Cheapside, many shops and newspaper offices are partially closed. Many shops display large portraits of Garfield in the windows. Hotels display flags at half mast, and have blinds lowered. Later indications of mourning are also visible at the Royal Palaces, and at a number of private residences throughout the metropolis, and at political and private clubs.

The Pall Mall Gazette this evening says: To-day, when England and America stand as mourners by one grave, we may venture to hope that the bitter memories, the animosities engendered by the war, are finally passed away, and suggests that England and America shall endeavor to arrange some kind of an informal union for the prevention of international strife. If an European concert, despite almost insurmountable difficulties is recognized as a political necessity, why should there not be an Anglo-American concert, wide enough to include in one fatherland all English speaking men.

The Churches.

St. Paul's Cathedral was absolutely crammed this afternoon, it having been announced that the services would relate to the death of President Garfield. The majority of the congregation was in mourning. When the "Dead March in Saul" was played the whole congregation, numbering many thousand, rose and remained standing amidst profound silence, all showing grief and many weeping. Canon Stubbs preached, and especially referred to the cruel manner of President Garfield's death. He extolled his life and many virtues, and expressed sympathy for the sorrowing American nation.

At both morning and evening services in Westminster Abbey reference was made to President Garfield's death. Rev. Mr. Hawkins said the late President, who came from old Puritan stock, afforded a bright and noble example to mankind. Garfield, he said, was not only a professor of literature, but was likewise a lawyer and a spokesman of great celebrity, and further, a preacher of righteousness. In conclusion, he said that none could fail to sympathize with their kinsman across the Atlantic.

At St. Margaret, Westminster, Rev. Roberts described assassination as a crime against the whole English humanity.

At all the principal churches of all denominations, General Garfield's death formed the subject of sympathetic allusion. At several Jewish synagogues on Saturday, the death was alluded to feelingly.

There was another remarkable demonstration at Dr. Parker's Temple, which was crammed to overflowing, there being hundreds outside unable to gain admittance. The pulpit was draped with crape, and the stars and stripes blended with a magnificent white wreath. Service commenced with the anthem, "Sleep Thy Last Sleep," followed by the dead march, "So be Thou Faithful Until Death." Prayer by Rev. Newman Hall, the burden of which was, "Thy Will Be Done." The solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," was then sung by the choir. Dr. Parker took as his text: "As in Adam all died." He said the funeral is attended by all the civilized world. It was impossible to recall an instance where deeper sympathy has been displayed by one nation for another. President Garfield's greatness in life was concealed by his modesty, but is now seen by every one. He sketched Garfield's career, showing its strange vicissitudes. He had handled the world bravely, the throne which knew him best, that he has left in the hearts of the people the next name to that of the Queen, that of Queen Lucretia, Garfield stands next in all English hearts. Death won a poor victory compared with hers. The services concluded with a solo by Antoinette Sterling, and the hymn "Nearer my God, to Thee."

A message expressing the deepest sympathy was cabled to Mrs. Garfield, all the audience simultaneously rising as a sign of assent.

Emperor William.

A Berlin correspondent of the Morning Post says: Dr. Von Schloessen, German Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States, takes with him to Washington autograph letters of the Emperor William and Prince Bismarck, expressing heartfelt condolence with the widow of the late President.

Battle.

GULISTAN, 26.—The action between the Ameer and Ayhoob Kahn, on the 22nd inst., seems to have lasted for about three hours, when the Cabalists fired on Chaziz and Candahar in their front. This treachery decided the day. Chaziz and Candahar fled. The losses are slight on both sides, the Ameer losing 100 killed and wounded, and Ayhoob 250 killed.

The fighting between the Ameer and Ayoob Kahn, lasted from 7 in the morning until noon.

PERFECTION BAKING POWDER.

We respectfully call the attention of the Public to the following analysis:

Laboratory of the Health Department, Chicago, Aug. 5, 1881.

OSCAR DE WOLF, Commissioner of Health.

Dear Sir:—I have made a very careful and elaborate chemical analysis of twenty-seven samples of baking powders received from the hands of Mr. Merkl, your clerk, and have the honor to report the following table of figures:

	Soluble Ash.	Insoluble Ash.	Total Ash.
PERFECTION,	29.60	0.06	29 66
DR. PRICE'S CREAM,	26.13	0.13	26.26
ROYAL,	26.10	0.16	26.26

A known and weighed quantity of baking powder was incinerated in a silver crucible until only a grey residue was left. This is the total ash. It was carefully removed to a glass vessel and acted upon by hydrochloric acid and distilled water at the boiling point: what dissolved in this menstruum has been called soluble ash, and that which did not, insoluble ash.

I have the honor to be, sir, yours very respectfully, R. S. G. PATON, Chemist of the Health Department.

We have always claimed that the Perfection is the highest grade of baking powder that can be produced from cream tarter and soda. Respectfully,

SPRAGUES, WARNER & GRISWOLD, CHICAGO.
