

of their companions, did not accompany them this time on account of having the toothache, but went the morning following, and on reaching the usual place of encampment found that a snow-slide had changed the appearance of things generally. David brought the news to Call's Fort, and Col. Loveland soon rallied all the neighborhood, and a crowd from Brigham City joined, and a determined search was made for the bodies of Isaac Lewis and Ephraim Cutler, but alas! in vain. Evening came on, and brought with it a strong thawing wind, rendering it unsafe for the men to prosecute their search in the darkness of the night; the search was abandoned, resulting in nothing but finding a hat belonging to one of the missing boys. At the earliest dawn of day the search was renewed vigorously by the same parties, joined with others. Bishop Nichols, though quite weak from his late sickness, started for the scene of action this morning, but up to this hour, 1-10 p.m., nothing further has been learned. The snow brought on by the slide is 60 feet deep, and extends half a mile. Deep gloom and breathless anxiety rest on every mind here and in the neighborhood on this account.

Floral Concert — Education — Avalanche.

KAYSVILLE, March 25, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

The people of this place have been highly entertained in a grand floral concert given by Mrs. Randall (formerly Miss Phelps) and Mr. J. D. Montgomery, our talented and persevering music teachers, assisted by the young ladies and children of our schools. Mrs. Randall is very clever in getting up exhibitions, making decorations, artificial flowers, &c., as well as in training children in an incredibly short space of time for exhibitions which astonish and dazzle the delighted audiences. Her work must be seen to be appreciated.

Our Floral Concert was given on Tuesday and yesterday evening to crowded houses. The costumes, characters, decorations, etc., were good enough for the boards of Salt Lake City Theatre. Young ladies representing the "Christian virtues"—Patience, Faith, Hope, Charity, Experience, Knowledge, Love, Temperance, Godliness and Virtue, sang and acted according to each one's part. "The Zephyrs" was a similarly captivating piece. The "Busy Workers" was another that should be mentioned, there being enough of comic interspersed to make the programme interesting.

Our worthy bishop works diligently to promote the building of school-houses, discourages too much dancing, and fosters and encourages such amusements as tend to educate and elevate the people. A tax has been levied to build another brick schoolhouse, on the Bottoms, and the trustees are likely to buy the dancing hall. The ward will then have three school-houses, and will be prepared to grade the schools. The Sunday School is well attended. Education is spreading, and the people are advancing in refinement and culture, as well as increasing in wealth.

Kaysville is not behind other places in having avalanches in its neighborhood. A few days ago three of the Adams brothers and R. Pilling went up Kay's Canyon to hunt deer. The snow gave way, carrying Joseph Adams about three hundred yards over several precipices, and completely burying him. Elias Adams, being further down, saw the slide coming, and lay flat, planting his head firmly against the ground and holding on to some shrubbery. The slide passed over him. The blood from Joseph's head melted the snow and made breathing room for him. When he recovered consciousness he managed to get his head above the snow. He was extricated and helped home. He was bruised considerably. His escape was miraculous.

I must not forget to mention that our choir, under the able leadership of Prof. J. D. Montgomery, discourses most eloquent music, and that our Sunday meetings are well attended.
