and prescribing his duties and certain duties of Justices of the Peace, and regulating the manner of holding inquests, &c.; also, an Act in the States and other Territories of the United States. Said bills were read the first time.

The paper having the largest circulation—the paper of tobacco.

Paper for the "roughs"—sand paper.

Paper containing many fine points—the paper of needles.

The paper that is full of rows—the paper of pins.

Paper illustrated with cuts—editorial exchanges, jobs, &c.

Drawing paper—dentist's bills.

A paper that takes a sheriff's warrant.

Ruled paper—the French press.

They are hauling up the keepers of brothels in Cincinnati, and finding them

$50 dollars and costs. There are no less than 474 bagnios of high, low, and middling degree in that city, each house, by a fair computation, containing six frail inmates, which will swell the number up to 2,844. This for a population of 200,000 is bad enough, but we are compelled to add that the above list only includes well-known establishments of that character, merely suspected places not being entered. The houses of assignation are not included, so startling as the above figures may appear, it is evident that they fall very far short of the sum total of evil.

REMARKS

By Elder JOSEPH F. SMITH, delivered in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City,

October 9th, 1867.

REPORTED BY D. W. EVANS,

It is a great pleasure to me to have the privilege of meeting with the Saints. I delight to listen to the counsels and teachings of the servants of God in relation to those things which pertain to our salvation. I have enjoyed the instructions that have been given during this Conference, and I can bear my testimony that they have all been good, and we will be blessed if we treasure them in our hearts and practice them in our lives.

We are a blessed people, and we can be more so if we are more diligent and faithful for God will mete out His rewards and blessings as we merit them.

If we desire blessings we must seek after them; if we desire advancement we must seek to advance ourselves by being energetic and faithful. For, although we compose the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and it requires the strength of the multitude to perform any great work, such as the gathering of the poor, the rearing of temples, or the building of a tabernacle like this, yet every man should perform his part however small that may be. We must do our individual work, be faithful for ourselves, and build upon our own foundation.

I was particularly interested just now in listening to the remarks of Bro. Van Cott, and I thought while he was speaking that a part of his remarks came very near hitting me. I have had some little experience with our Danish brethren and sisters in the Endowment House, and have felt sometimes, perhaps, when a little impatient, that it was but little
