TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN NEW YORK SUBWAY

A Cave-in Crushes Out the Lives
Of Ten Men and Injures Four Very Seriously.

WORST OF MANY OF THE KIND.

Occurred at a Point 10 Feet Below the Surface, Crushing Great Timbers
Into Small Splinters.

New York, Oct. 25.—Ten lives were lost by the cave-in of the roof and walls of the subway tunnel at One Hundred and Ninety-fifth street last night and four persons were badly injured. All of the dead and injured were workmen and most of them Italians.

LIST OF DEAD.
Following is a list of their names:
Timothy Sullivan, foreman.
William Schmitt, electrician.
Guiseppi Barone.
Stanislaus Brune.
Louis Tipello.
Five unidentified Italian laborers.

INJURED.
Juno Velonito.
Alphonse Armato.
Juno Baki.

The accident was the most disastrous that has occurred on the construction of the subway. At the point where the cave-in occurred a gang of 20 men were at work in the tunnel, which is about 110 feet below the surface. Tulus C. Hunt, general superintendent, said today that two converging seams had occurred in the tunnel during the day Saturday. The presence of these seams, however, was not believed to indicate any more dangerous character of the rock than had previously been encountered, although it was thought best to protect the roof with a number of upright timber beams.

The tunnel was being bored by opening a perpendicular embrasure in the face of the rock, and blasting the sides to the right and left of these embrasures. Three blasts were arranged by the drillers, the holes being charged with dynamite and hanging electric lamps to light the way. They were followed by 16 workmen. The vanguard of the gang had scarcely reached the broken stone when a rumbling was heard in the air, and a great mass of rock, like a giant's foot, fell from the ceiling and crashed down upon the men at the face of the boring.

About ten minutes elapsed to allow the smoke to clear away before Timothy Sullivan the foreman, and Electrician Schmitt advanced, the latter intending to string wires and hang electric lamps to light the way. They were followed by 16 workmen. The vanguard of the gang had scarcely reached the broken stone when a rumbling was heard in the air, and a great mass of rock, like a giant's foot, fell from the ceiling and crashed down upon the men at the face of the boring.

The drillers and two or three Italians who were out of reach of the deluge of rock were the first to be buried under the mass of stone which crashed down upon them. When the roar had ceased the cries of the injured workmen reached through the tunnel. An alarm was telephoned quickly to the police quarters and reserves and ambulances were sent to the scene.

A policeman and two ambulance surgeons were the first to enter the tunnel. They ran along the track, which was slightly lit by incandescent lamps, until they reached the great pile of boulders and crushed rock. The first victim found, an Italian laborer, was pinned on a shelf of the excavation by one leg, a boulder of about 10 tons in weight having fallen on it. He was hanging head down, his arms outstretched, and his face was a ghastly white. The rock that held him was restrained from falling further by a small piece of stone insecurely wedged under it, and an effort to move the boulder would have caused it to fall completely crushed. The doctor determined to amputate the pinned leg, and this was done in the light of the ambulance. From about a color he was not identified, died later at a hospital.

The work of further rescue was delayed for some little time owing to the threatening position of the boulder. Meantime the cries and groans from under the mass of stone wrought such excitement among the rescuers that they were prone to undertake any danger to render assistance to the imprisoned men.

The cave-in released a natural spring in the earth above the tunnel, and in a few moments the water was gushing and trickling about the feet of the workers, and to some extent interfering with the work of rescue. The firemen and policeman cleared away the small pieces of rock from the big block of stone and managed to get near Juno Pasquale and Renato Valantio, who were buried in the back and legs. As soon as the injured men were freed, they were removed to the big stone was blown up with powder and taken away piece by piece. Back of this rock was a 60-ton block, but had dropped from the roof of the tunnel, and in crevice beneath it the bodies of two men, one lying across the other, were found.

The upper man had been crushed to death, while the one underneath was alive, though his legs and body were crushed. It was an hour before he was extricated. The big stone was partly blasted away with dynamite, and a hydraulic jack then elevated the remaining portion of it sufficiently to permit of the man's removal. He was Juno Baki. He had been pinned under the body of his fellow-workman for hours, part of the time conscious.

Four feet below the place where Baki lay the crushed form of Alphonse Armato was discovered under the quantity of small rock and shale. He was quickly extricated. Then were freed the bodies of several unidentified Italians, some of them crushed beyond recognition. Later the body of William Schmitt was found, within 10 feet of the face of the tunnel. He had been killed instantly.

A pathetic incident was the finding of the body of Foreman Sullivan, wedged and jammed far beneath the stone. It was not recovered until long after daylight. From about a color in the morning his 10-year-old son Samuel had stood close by and could not be induced to leave until the body of his father had been extricated. Many Italian women congregated about the exit, weeping, lamenting and rushing to the train car each time it brought forth a body.

The corpses of Stanislaus Brune, Louis Tipello, Guiseppi Barone and three other unidentified Italians were found flattened on floor of the tunnel near where the body of Sullivan was recovered. The heads of the men, in most cases, were toward the exit, indicating that they had plunged to the north in an effort to escape. Each body was removed only by the lifting of tons upon tons of rock.

Rufus C. Hunt, superintendent, and Richard Bevers, general foreman, John McDonald, the contractor, who is building the tunnel were arrested as soon as they reached the scene of the disaster but being experts in tunnel work and blasting, were permitted to direct the work of rescue. Later a magistrate remanded them to the coroner, who held them in $10,000 bail each.

Coroner Jackson said he believed the accident was caused by criminal negligence. The seams that appeared Saturday are believed to have been about the great rock that fell directly in the center of the excavation. As soon as this boulder, acting as a keystone, was released, the stones on both sides followed it.

From men who worked in the tunnel it was learned that props had been used to hold up the roof. The heavy timbers were 12x12 inches, and were crumpled like toothpicks beneath the great weight of the cave-in.

Watching Steamers for Thieves

New York, Oct. 26.—Incoming steamers are being closely watched for a band of thieves who are reported to have secured $100,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry from the vaults of Knight, Frank & Rutley, the London auctioneers Oct. 18. Notices have been received here giving a description of the plunger and offering a $2,500 reward for the robbery who are supposed to compose a band which recently has operated in several European countries.

A Long Hermitage Ended.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 26.—The announcement of the death of a woman in Kentucky has ended the long hermitage of Matthew Allison, and he has gone back to his old home in that state. Twelve years ago Allison built a log cabin on a mountain near White Haven and since lived here. He never revealed his secret to others. Monthly he received a package of papers from the south. One of these continued, it is said, news which he believed to be of his son, who he had heard of in Kentucky. He departed as he came, without explaining the mystery.

Methodist Mother Church.

New York, Oct. 26.—At the old John Street Church, "The Mother Church of American Methodism," a well-attended anniversary has just been held. It was the 137th birthday of the old worshiping place, and many persons from this and other cities, intimately associated with Methodism were present.

A Kentucky Killing.

Mount Vernon, Ky., Oct. 25.—At Livingston today B. N. Roller, master of trains on the Livingston division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, shot and instantly killed by A. N. Bentley, master mechanic of the same road. Bentley surrendered and claims self-defense. Bad feeling had existed between the two men because of a clash over the ownership of a piece of land in railroad circles and have families. Roller was 48 and Bentley 22 years of age.

IS YOUR STOMACH ON A STRIKE?

There is nothing to prevent you employing a substitute to do its work.

There is such a thing as forbearance ceasing to be a virtue even in the case of one's stomach. There is no question as to how some stomachs stand a great deal more wear and tear and abuse than others, but they all have their limit and when that limit is reached the stomach must be reckoned with as sure as fate. The best way is really the only effective way to treat your stomach when it rebels is to employ a substitute to do its work. This will give the weakened and worn out organ an opportunity to rest and regain its strength and health.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets relieve the stomach of its work by taking on the work, and doing it just as one set or shift of workers relieves another. They actually digest the food in just the same manner and just the same time as the digestive fluids of a sound stomach do. In fact when dissolved in the stomach, they are digested by the same constituents and elements as the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach. No matter what the condition of the stomach, their work is just the same. They work in their own natural way without regard to surrounding conditions.

The stomach being thus relieved by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the rest of the human body does not suffer in the least by reason of its failure to perform its work.

A Wisconsin man says: "I suffered the pangs of dyspepsia for 10 years. I tried every known remedy with indifferent results until I was told of the remarkable cures of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I bought a box, began taking them and forgot I had a stomach. Three boxes cured me completely. I have had no trouble whatever for a year and have an appetite like a harvest hand and cannot eat anything that is set before me without fear of bad results."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50c a box. The druggist never fails to have them in stock because the demand for them is so great and so pronounced that he cannot afford to be without them. People who could not get them of one druggist would go to another and would get in the habit of buying them other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A FATHER KILLS HIS LITTLE BOYS.

Took Them in His Buggy and Shot Them to be Revenged On Their Mother.

HE MADE A FULL CONFESSION.

Placed Their Dead Bodies in the Withered Grass by the Roadside.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 25.—Jesse McClure, a farm hand, murdered his two sons, aged five and seven years, this afternoon near Franklin, because his wife refused to see him. Later, McClure drove to this city and surrendered. Tonight it was learned that a mob was forming to come to Marion and he was spirited from the jail here and started for Indianapolis.

Mrs. McClure had taken her children to her father's home. Today McClure found them playing in the front yard and induced them with candy to take a ride with him. After a short time, McClure admitted the murder to the turkey and said he had killed his children because his wife had refused to see him. He said:

"I decided to be revenged and drove down the road to a little clump of trees. My children were asleep in the buggy. When I stopped, the jolt awoke my little boy, Dede. He looked up at me and said: 'Papa, what are you going to do?'"

"I held my hand over his eyes and shot him in the forehead, killing him instantly. The shot awoke little Homer and I took him by the shoulder and fired a shot into his head. They both fell to the bottom of the buggy. I drove the buggy to the side of the road and laid their bodies out on the withered grass."

"The neighbors will lynch me when they find out what I have done. I do not care what you do with me. I am ready to die and expect to hang for this crime. All that I ask is to see my dear little ones buried."

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—Jesse McClure was brought here tonight and placed in jail. He made a second confession repeating the statements made to the turkey in the Marion jail.

KILLS HER CHILDREN.

Insane Mother Commits a Most Horrible Deed.

Monterey, Cal., Oct. 25.—While temporarily deranged, Mrs. Louis Iversen, wife of a Salinas machinist, murdered three of her four children yesterday at the dictation, she said, of "a supreme power."

She first strangled her eldest daughter, Louisa, aged 12 years. She then attempted the life of her eldest son, 11, who had just come into the house. The boy broke away from her and took a train for his home in Salinas. She then strangled her son, Harold, aged six, and then went out of the house and got an axe with which she struck him a blow on the head.

Later in the evening she killed her seven-months-old baby, Maria, by strangling.

The murder of her children was related by Mrs. Iversen to Sheriff W. J. Nesbitt this morning. She added that during the night she had walked about the house, lying down for a short time and then getting up and repeating what she had done. She believed she was doing right at the time she committed the deed. She persisted, however, in stating that the children were not dead. The boy who escaped reported to his father that the eldest girl was ill and had been lying on the bed, but said nothing of his mother's attack upon him.

The father telephoned to a Pacific Grove physician, asking him to call at the house and see the child. The doctor did so and was met at the door by Mrs. Iversen, who said there was no one sick in the house and that some mistake had been made.

Early this morning Mr. Iversen himself drove to Pacific Grove. He knocked at the front door of the cottage where his wife and family had been living and was told to go around to the back door. He did so, and entering the house was told to kiss his wife, when she said: "Don't touch me. Don't put your hands on me. Go and look at your children." With that he opened the door of an adjoining room where lay the bodies of the three children. The boy on one bed and two girls on another. The house was in disorder and indications were plentiful that the two older children had been dragged against their death. Mrs. Iversen had been in the house several months and had shown signs of mental derangement, her mania being of a religious nature.

KILLED HIS STEPFATHER.

But the Boy Did It to Save His Mother's Life.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—As he was about to strike his wife with an iron bar, Nicholas Rolle was withered and killed by his stepson, Henry Walscheid, 15 years old. Rolle came home and went to the kitchen, where his wife was preparing dinner. He was abusive and threatened her because dinner was not ready. While they were quarreling, young Walscheid returned.

He started for the kitchen and as he reached the door saw Rolle raise an iron bar and strike his wife. The youth drew a revolver and fired at his stepfather.

Walscheid was arrested. He said his stepfather had abused his wife on several occasions and that he himself had quarrels with the man because of the latter's ungovernable temper.

Killed in Grand Central Station.

New York, Oct. 26.—Patrick D. Rooney, secretary and treasurer of a large bedding manufactory, in which he is principal stockholder, has been killed under the wheels of a passenger train upon which he arrived, with his wife and child, at Grand Central station. The family was riding in different cars. Rooney alighted to seek his wife and fell under the wheels. His wife sought him in the station, never dreaming that the dead man was her husband. Finally she and her little son proceeded to their home, where an officer arrived soon afterward with the news.

Trolley Car Accident.

Kansas City, Oct. 25.—Five persons were injured, two seriously, in a collision between a trolley car and a wagon in this city tonight.

INJURED.

Mrs. Katie Wedge, internal injuries; Mrs. Hattie Cross, contused wound

Do You Enjoy What You Eat?

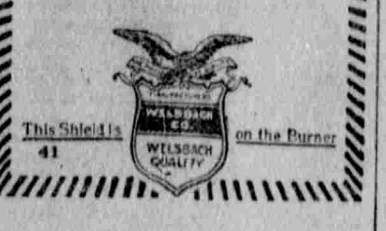

You can eat whatever and whenever you like if you take Kodol. By the use of this remedy disordered digestion and diseased stomachs are so completely restored to health, and the full performance of their functions naturally, that such foods as would be one to a double-bow-knot are eaten without even a "rumbling" and with a positive pleasure and enjoyment. And what is more—these foods are assimilated and transformed into the kind of nutriment that is appreciated by the blood and tissues. Kodol is the only digestant or combination of digestants that will digest all classes of food. In addition to this fact it contains, in assimilative form, the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all disorders arising therefrom.

NEW YORK CAMPAIGN.

Closing Week to be Unprecedentedly Active.

New York, Oct. 26.—If the plans of the opposing managers do not miscarry, this, the closing week of the municipal campaign in Greater New York will outstrip anything of the kind hitherto seen here.

There will be several thousand meetings held in the five boroughs by midnight of Saturday. There will be 600 Democratic meetings in Brooklyn borough alone.

The fusionists have hired for Saturday night a hall south of Fourteenth street and each of Broadway. Several automobiles will start with fusion splinters tomorrow night and continue going until the polls open. The leading candidates will do a hard week's work.

Both Low and McClellan will devote much time to Brooklyn, which is by common consent regarded as the battleground.

There seems to be some uncertainty about Dist. Atty. Jerome continuing in the campaign. He is said to be in ill health and to have cancelled two or three engagements in Brooklyn for tonight.

Nearly every minister in the city brought up the elections during Sunday discourses.

SUNDAY SALOON PATRONS.

Six Women and Nine Men Sent to Prison for Six Months.

New York, Oct. 26.—For having been found in a saloon on Sunday, six women and nine men have been sentenced by Magistrate Farnham to six months in the city prison. The women were found in a back room where, the police said, liquor was plentifully in evidence. The saloonkeeper was released on $10,000 bail. The prisoners were greatly surprised the prisoners as they were arrested under similar conditions generally are dismissed after a night in the police station.

NOTICE.

Druehl & Frankon and The Smith Drug Co. Make a Proposition to The People of Salt Lake City.

ALL INTERESTED ARE ADVISED TO ACCEPT.

It is predicted that this fall and early winter will be a very trying time for all persons in ill health. We, therefore, know, therefore, that we Druehl & Frankon, and The Smith Drug Co., of this city, do hereby agree to furnish all the medicine necessary to restore to health any sick persons in Salt Lake City. Should the medicine fail to accomplish what we guarantee, it will be absolutely free.

Let every person who is run-down, weakened from any cause, sickness, or pulmonary disease—old people—nursing mothers—pale, debilitated women and children, or those troubled with hard colds, hacking coughs, or incipient consumption, come to us and get a bottle of Vinol, yes, two or three bottles, and if it does not accomplish what we guarantee it will, we will without question refund every dollar they pay for it. We have seen such wonderful results from Vinol, and have received so many unsolicited testimonials that we know what it will do.

This is a fair and square offer, honorably made, and with the expectation that it will be accepted by all people in ill health in Salt Lake City.

If you don't always know what Vinol is let us tell you Vinol is the modern and preparation of cod liver oil. It does not contain a drop of oil, yet it positively does—mind you, we give you our word for this—it positively does contain every element of the fishy cod medicinal curative element of the fishy cod fresh cod's livers. We have never been selling and recommending Vinol for a long time and without hesitation we say it is the greatest and best restorer of bodily strength and health we ever had in our stores.

Don't you think you had better accept our offer? Druehl & Frankon and Smith Drug Co.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.
The Republicans of Salt Lake City, rejoicing in the progress, prosperity and pre-eminence of the United States and its people under Republican policies, believe that those policies, good and eminent as they have been for the country at large, are quite as good for this city and its inhabitants. And, as the regeneration of the industries and business of the country was brought about by Republicanism, so the surest means of securing prosperity and growth at home is by the application of Republican principles in our local affairs.

The Republicans of this city emphatically endorse the course and commend the acts of Mayor Ezra Thompson. He has done his full part in striving for the upbuilding of the city, the energetic development of its natural resources and the addition of the need of reinforcement of its water supply. They recognize in him a statesman, a public man, a progressive citizen, a competent official and a man faithful to all his obligations.

The progressive Republicans of this city see a glorious future opening out before Salt Lake, a greater and more progressive which demands the fostering care and friendly aid of the only progressive party there is. They see the things that should be done and are prepared to do them. They know that the increase of the city's water supply is imperative if we would have the growth for which we hope and which is plainly in view. That general improvements must be made, a coming hand extended to investors and prospective settlers among us. They congratulate the people on the prospect of such things, and believe that the new railroads being built and the added trackage and splendid new depots which the companies under their recent franchises have agreed to build.

Salt Lake City, founded by the foresight and energy of its first settlers, adorned and embellished by the later comers, who opened the mines and have turned rich and boundless streams of gold and other metals from Utah's mines into the markets of commerce, making princely returns year by year, is already the metropolis of the basin and west mountain country and is destined to be one of the greatest and most famous cities of the continent. Republican hands this glory will be needed and in the hands of progressive Republicans the basis of development will be laid so firm and sure that there will be no turning back.
