EDITORIAL NOTES.

The news from the East gets no better very fast for the Radicals, as the election returns become confirmed.

An ex-slave in North Carolina is the owner of a plantation of 1,200 acres, upon which he has fifteen tenants.

About 3,000,000 sheep skins and about twice as many goat skins are annually shipped from India to the United States.

A few weeks ago, during a heavy storm, the Rio Grande River suddenly changed its course by cutting through a bend near Camargo, and thus placed several acres of inhabited territory within the legal limit of the United States. That was natural annexation.

In the old times, when people traveled by coach in France, one traveler was killed in every 350,000, and one wounded in every 80,000. Now, when they travel by rail, one is killed in 5,178,400, and one wounded in 890,450. Railway traveling is nearly twenty times as safe as traveling by coach.

The following sensible enactment has been passed in Boston: "No person shall sell to any child under the age of sixteen years, without the written consent of a parent or guardian of such child, any cartridge of fixed ammunition of which any fulminate is a component part, or any gun, pistol, or other mechanical contrivance arranged for the explosion of such cartridge or of any fulminate." That's a quietus for the toy pistol.

Vaccination is henceforth to be compulsory in China. One cause for popular opposition to it is that it is the practice there to vaccinate children on the tip of the nose. A reward of half a test, which the government has offered for every child vaccinated, has not been sufficient to persuade parents in easy circumstances to disregard their children in this way, and a law has therefore been promulgated punishing the failure to vaccinate by fine and imprisonment.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The ravages of the phylloxera among the French vines have had a very beneficial effect upon the Great Raisin growers, for during the course of September upwards of 70,000,000 pounds of raisins and currants were exported to France. About 30,000,000 pounds were shipped at Patras from the provinces of Corinth, Argolis, Messenia, Triphylia, Fylos, etc., 13,000,000 pounds at Egina, from the province of Argolis, Corinth and the Dodeca, and about 20,000,000 pounds from smaller ports.

A new industry in Japan is said to be that of lacquering plaster, making it to resemble marble. On a basis of clay this lacquer-work is especially novel. The clay is baked after the fashion of porcelain, and the hardness and ring of the material combine with the skill of the lacquerer to produce a result only distinguishable from marble itself by the expert. An excellent mantelpiece of this description may be obtained, says the Japan Mail, for about $25, which is less than one is obliged to pay for anything respectable in Kyoto.

A recently published statistical abstract shows that women in Germany are taking an increasingly active part in the trades and industries of that country. The textile industries appear to absorb the greater proportion, after which the food and food products trades, the leather and paper manufactures. There is no class of manufacturing or other business occupation in which women in Germany are not employed. There were in 1881 945,763 women engaged in 53,504 German manufacturing, in which are employed 1,836,099 men. The ages at which women are employed range from 12 to 27 years.

The Times has been diligently at work for some time collecting statistics as to the cost of conducting religious denominational worship in New York City. The comparison is made that New York spends but a quarter as much for its churches as it does for municipal government, the totals being about $3,500,000 and $50,000,000. The annual output for strong drink in the city is stated to be $20,000,000, two-thirds as much as it costs to conduct the local government, and three times as much as is spent upon the churches.

An aged man and his wife were travelling on the Memphis & Charleston Railroad. They had round trip tickets the time of which had expired. The conductor demanded full fare in money, and as they refused to pay, put them off the train at a small station, where they remained in great discomfort all night. They were somewhat injured, too, by the force which their resistance made necessary in ejecting them. They sued for damages. Judge Hammond, of the United States Court, in instructing the jury to find for the company, set forth the law as follows: "A passenger having a limited ticket has expired, although he may have an understanding with the station agent who sold it to him that it would be good after the limit, has no right of action for the ejectment, it is not being wrongful. It is the passenger's duty to submit without resistance, except in defence against impending bodily injury, and his resistance will excuse the company from ejecting him. When there is a dispute on the train about the ticket, it is the passenger's duty to submit, and if he refuses to do so, he is liable to be ejected."

WORK AT HOME.

ONE of the objects of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society, which held its general meeting in the city a few days ago, is to try to enlighten the benighted women of Mormonism, and to educate the Mormon children, so that they may be able to see the inhumanity and the licentiousness of the heads of the Church of the Latter-day Saints, whose slaves the women of the church are.

The foregoing is from the Cincinnati Times-Star. It is another striking illustration, added to the already large gallery of examples, of the extreme anxiety of good "Christian" people to correct remote error—magnified in proportion to the distance, while they neglect those immediately within their reach, scent and vision. Porphopolis trying to sanctify Salt Lake! Gomorrah reaching to convert Salem! The illuminated (?) Pharisees proposing to enlighten the "benighted" Saints! Cincinnati, with crowds of fallen women, hordes of base-born children, saloons, gambling halls, dens of infamy and sinkholes of sin, swarming with devotes and priestesses of vice, defaced with debauchery, staining with lust and pitted with crime scars, rolling its eyes to heaven and preparing to regenerate Utah which, even if the charges against her were true, is marble whiteness compared with the stained, pimpled and spotted corruption of the city of swinefleth and beer.

"The benighted women of Mormonism!" Where will they find them? We will compare samples or contrast the full numbers with Cincinnati, any day. We can produce more "women of Mormonism" in Salt Lake who can explain intelligently the true principles of the Christian faith as set forth in the orthodox version of the ancient Jewish record, than can be found in Cincinnati, whose population is so much greater. We will guarantee to find twenty uneducated children in Cincinnati to one in this city. There is more licentiousness in the city of Cincinnati in a single night than in all Utah in a year. There is more inhumanity exhibited in one day's doings there than here in five hundred.

Let those ladies of the Home Missionary Society attend to home business, they will have their hands full. They can find benighted women enough, in the parlous of their own town, to say nothing of the comparatively respectable attendants of sectarian churches, many of whom go to show off their clothes and criticize others, and could no more give an intelligent reason for their lip-service and formal worship than explain a problem in the higher mathematics. They can pick up uneducated children enough out of the Cincinnati gutter and tenement houses. They can find lessons on wickedness enough in the daily lives of church leaders and newspaper writers and lightened city notables at home, where a Home Missionary Society should find and apply its labors. There is no need to crane their necks and strain their eyes to hunt for notes in Utah, while there are so many beams of evil right in Cincinnati.

And we will inform them and the Times-Star that there is far more social, religious and political freedom among the "benighted" women of Utah than exists among the feminine Fecklings of pharisaic Ohio. We can prove this by the law and the testimony. Clean out the inside of your own platters, Oh! powdered, painted, padded and perfumed puritans of the Ladies Home Missionary Society, before you give yourselves airs of assumed superiority and attempt to manage the dish-washing for far-away Utah, which you know nothing about! You might as well knit woolen shirts for the denizens of the tropics, and ice-cream to the Finns and Esquimaux, or point the scriptures to the heathen of the American Bible Society, as to engage in the "enlightenment" of the women and the "education" of children in the, to you, unknown and mysterious regions of Mormondom. Look at home, ladies, and also work at home.

THE pious people of the East have to do something abroad to keep up religious interest, no matter how much they neglect affairs at home. The latest project among the Boston evangelists is to inaugurate a latter-day crusade on Palestine. A society has been organized to found three colonies of "Christians" in the Holy Land. The design is to take the Jewish domain, and establish American institutions on the soil of the patriarchs. Of course there is speculation in the eyes of the promoters of the scheme. A joint stock company has been formed, and profit as well as piety is expected to receive promotion.

We are not of the opinion that the society will prove very successful. We do not think there will be very large dividends on the shares of the company. Judas is for the Jews. Palestine is for Israel. And the "times of the Gentiles" are nearly fulfilled. The land of the Hebrews is not suited to the genius of New England, and we look for disgusted returning colonists, if the settlements are ever founded, and a bankrupted exchequer.

If Jews accustomed to Oriental life can be gathered there to reclaim the land and prepare the way for others of their race to follow, "build up the waste places," and revive the glory of former generations, as some energetic and wealthy Hebrews are planning, we believe they will succeed, having with them the blessing and guidance of Jehovah for the fulfillment of the promise made to the covenant people. Judah will rejoice and flourish again upon the mountains of Israel and the plains of Judea, but speculating Yankee "Christians" will find Palestine a land barren of financial and sectarian results.

INTERESTING FROM ENGLAND.

MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE MISSION—PHIL. ROBINSON COMMING TO SALT LAKE, ON A LECTURING TOUR.

The following is from a letter from Elder O. F. Whitney, written at Liverpool, to a friend in this office: Things are moving along pretty well in Liverpool at present. The Saints—what few there are—have been very busy in the city, and the departure of the next company, Oct. 21st—the last of the season—threatens, I am both happy and sorry to say, to break up our branch entirely. It is for the good of the Saints to gather, but we shall miss their loving hearts and cheerful faces. It is estimated that this year's emigration, in which, under President Carrington, Brothers R. R. Anderson and C. B. Felt, have been faithfully, efficiently and energetically employed, will exceed last year's by about 500 souls. Financially, numerically, executive and generally, it has been a prosperous and successful season. The work of conversion in this Continent goes on slowly. The people seem to have lost all interest in "Mormonism." The Elders here are as faithful as in any other region, but their efforts seem to be almost fruitless so far as additions to the Church are concerned. It is the gleaming after the vintage is over, evidently, in this quarter, or as one of our Utah Elders quaintly expresses it: "Gleaning the wheat field after the chickens have been turned in." But then you know what Liverpool is. There, there, are sometimes four or five strangers will casually drop in at our Sunday night meetings in Oldham Street, but they seldom if ever come again, and never seem to be attracted by our outdoor preaching. We have baptized several this season, but their conversion has been effected through the medium of friends conversant or accidental contact with the Saints or Elders. So much for Liverpool. In the Midland Counties the work seems to thrive most. Elder George Stringfellow has done a good work in Nottingham. He is misanthropic and fearless, and his traveling associates are influenced by his energetic example and force of his spirit and success. It is really invidious to mention names where all are doing so well, for I firmly believe a better feeling and more faithful set of Elders elsewhere in the British mission than now. I love them all as brothers, and they act with reciprocal tenderness towards me. They are men of God, every one of them that I know, and it is a pleasure and a precious privilege to mingle with them. In London there is quite an awakening. Brother Joseph A. West has stirred things generally there, and is doing nobly. I hope his health will permit him to remain, for all feel that he is the right man in the right place. The Star will show you how good our preaching generally is. President Carrington has been busy attending the various conferences, and for the last several weeks I have had the pleasure of accompanying him. We were in London on Sunday last. Business matters recalling him to us, I remained behind, attending to the duties of the mission, and gathering in the Saints on all Thursday night, when I took the midnight train for Liverpool, always—reluctantly I must confess the carriage which I had hoped to occupy alone in order to nap it to my destination, with three drunken Highlanders of the gaiters 74th, returning from Cairo, and "making night hideous" with beer fumes, tobacco smoke and profanity. This experience—unlike the superinduced opening of the car window in order to breathe—added to the extra amount of vocal exercise I had been indulging in, gave me a severe cold from which I am still suffering to some extent.

While in London Brother West and I called on Mr. Phil Robinson, late correspondent of the New York World, home from Egypt, whither he went in the interests of the London Chronicle and Pail Mail Gazette—but on the eve of departing for America, with his family, to lecture. He said he would probably lecture in Salt Lake on his way to or from the Pacific Coast and reiterated his respect for the Church authorities, and kindly feeling for the people that Utah. I found him busy with the proof of his latest literary project, "Sinners and Saints," a fascinating narrative—as we found by scanning a few lines by his permission—of his recent peregrinations in America, and incorporating a number, most in fact, of his exceedingly interesting letters to the World, which we have all read with so much delight and satisfaction. "Sinners and Saints" will be well worth reading. The author is what we have term a "right good fellow," full of intelligence, travel and observation, and though, as a man of the world ever must, gazing at "Mormonism" through the haze of his preconceived notions, unable to perceive it in its full spiritual light, he is a genuine friend, I believe, to the people, whom he admires and respects, as well as the best of all writers for the people that Utah. Some of his friends had endeavored to persuade him—especially his publishers—to "make the subject matter of his book less favorable to the "Mormons," and that some had told him he was injuring himself by being so outspoken in his views and opinions. He the same as admitted that he began to perceive some of the prejudices that exist against our people, and yet maintained it was all due to the false reports of anti-"Mormons."

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Feb. 20, 1880. To Mr. J. W. Graham, Dallas: Dear Sir—My case was one of bronchitis, and was of one and a half year's duration. I was told the best medical aid possible, but failed; rapidly, until the doctors said I would die—and that my case was incurable. I then went upon my own resources, I got a bottle of Dr. Wm. HALL'S BALM FOR THE LUNGS, and in six hours felt a decided relief. In three days the cough almost disappeared. Now I have every chance of life, and am good for many years. I earnestly recommend the above to every sufferer of lung and throat disease.
