

AN ORDINANCE
A W ORDINANCE EXTENDING THE

THE FIRST OF THE ASSUMPTIONS OF THE MODEL is that the firm is a profit-maximizing entity. This is a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The second assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the labor market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The third assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the capital market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The fourth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the output market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The fifth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the input market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The sixth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the output market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The seventh assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the input market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The eighth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the output market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The ninth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the input market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm. The tenth assumption is that the firm is a price-taker in the output market. This is also a standard assumption in the literature on the firm.

The new ABC edition of Handbook of the Birds of America is the first in a new series of pocket-sized, illustrated field guides. The new edition is available in paperback for $14.95 and in hardcover for $24.95. The new edition is available in paperback for $14.95 and in hardcover for $24.95. The new edition is available in paperback for $14.95 and in hardcover for $24.95.

[illegible][illegible]

of the City made of Utah. The City Council has turned over the task of determining the city's future to the voters. The city will be divided into wards, and voters will elect representatives to the city council, standing on the side which will best represent the interests of the ward. The city council will then make the laws for the city.

[illegible]

DAVID L. STEIN, City Manager, announced that his staff will be reviewing the proposed ordinance. He said that the city is not in a hurry to pass the ordinance, but he would like to see it passed by the end of the year.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

from, which would on the 27th day of April, at the North of noon, at the office of the Clerk, to J. M. Clark, P. M. 125 Adams Street, have this to pay assessment, each of a dollar not said. J. N. CLARK, SECRETARY.

SALE LAND CITY, CHAS, Sept. 22, 1906.