WASHINGTON LETTER.

From the Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 2, 1893.—The comptroller of the currency read the riot act, so to speak, to one E. A. Mearns, who was president of two South Dakota national banks which failed last Monday and which had been conducted on the Xanti Dwight plan. Mr. Mearns came to Washington this week to inform the comptroller that his banks would resume business in a few days. But they went. The comptroller says they shall not, and in the control of national banks he is supreme. The reason for this decision of the comptroller was that the banks in question had been used to give fraudulent extending and credit to concerns which did not deserve it. Mr. Mearns thought he bettered his case by saying that there were lots of national banks on a worse basis than his, but he didn't. The comptroller told him that the argument was no good; that all such banks would have to go as fast as they could, be got at, and that such methods would not be sanctioned by the department. As if that were not enough to take all the starch out of Mr. Mearns the comptroller also added that Mearns would not be allowed to resume any national banking operations and that no national bank would be chartered with which he was known to be associated. Mr. Mearns may again become a banker, but not a national banker. Secretary Gresham is trying to induce Allison to reconsider his announced determination not to serve as a delegate to the international monetary conference which is to meet again next September. President Cleveland is said to be particularly anxious that Senator Allison should again serve as a delegate, but the Republican leaders are said to be equally anxious that Mr. Allison should be in his seat in the Senate from the day that Congress meets. Representative Bland, of North Carolina, says there has been a great change in public sentiment in his state in the subject of the free coinage of silver, and that the congressional delegation from that state will vote as a unit in favor of the repeal of the Sherman silver law, and probably the same way in favor of the repeal of the federal tax on state bank currency. He also says that he has been informed by a member of the administration that McKinley, September 15th, will be the date upon which the extra session of Congress will meet. Other parties who sought to be well informed say that Mr. Cleveland has decided not to call the extra session before October.

No capture was felt by anybody when the verdict of the Presidential electoral assembly was announced in the case of Dr. Briggs, charged with bribery. It had been apparent to everybody from the day the assembly met, more than two weeks ago, that its membership was overwhelmingly anti-Briggs, and that the verdict would be "guilty." To the average man it looks as though a mistake was made in electing the trial to be held. It has certainly resulted in his benefit to a large extent, and it may be exceedingly injurious to his efforts. There have been unusually quiet days here in official circles, owing to the absence of prominent members at the administration. President Cleveland has gone to Hot Springs, Va., to enjoy a little sea water fishing. Secretary Sherman was in Nebraska; Postmaster General Russell was at Buffalo, New York; Attorney General Olney spent a portion of the week at Boston; and Secretary Carlisle was out of town two days. Washington did not get the World's Fair, but it is getting its share of the visitors, particularly those from foreign countries. The hotels are kept constantly filled all the time by people on their way to the Exposition, and some thousands of them are here now. This is an unusual experience. By the first of July, in short-course years all of the big hotels are practically closed, retaining only enough of their help to take care of their comparatively few permanent guests. Now they are all doing business on a full-time basis. The employees of the government printing office drew a long breath when President Cleveland went on his fishing trip without announcing the appointment of a new public printer; they knew they were certain of no more work. Ever since the expiration of the present public printer's term, several weeks ago, this appointment has been daily expected. As soon as it is made the employees of the office will begin making all preparations to be ready. Secretary Carlisle has adopted "St. Cleveland's" rule in dealing with office matters, and will grant no more personal interviews. Finally, the lot of the office worker is a hard one—after election.

Snowflake Stake Conference.
The quarterly conference of the Snowflake Stake of Zion was held at Snowflake on Monday and Tuesday, May 29th and 30th, 1893. There were present on the stand Elders Jesse N. Smith and L. H. Hatch of the presidency, and members of the High Council. Monday, 10 a. m.—The speakers were Elder Jesse N. Smith, L. H. Hatch and J. W. Freeman; all gave an account of their visit to Salt Lake City and the enjoyable time that was had at the dedication of the Temple. 2 p. m.—The sacrament was administered in the congregation. The time was then occupied by Elders John Hunt, A. Minnerly, G. B. Gardner and F. A. Wells. All spoke of the counsel and instructions given at the dedication of the Temple and the good spirit they enjoyed while there. Monday, 10 a. m.—The speakers were Elders R. H. Ramsey, W. B. Robinson, John Bushman and M. E. Wells. 2 p. m.—The clerk read the statistics report, also the ward reports, which showed the work in very fair condition. The study of the scriptures was then given, and the ward reports were presented and sustained by vote of the conference. The rest of the time was occupied by J. H. Franks, W. J. Fiske, H. M. Tanner, J. M. Fiske, J. C. Hansen, M. E. Korichner, and J. Fisk. The subject of the dedication of the Temple at Salt Lake City was the main one treated in during the conference. The speakers enjoyed a good spirit, which was shared by the congregation. There was a priesthood meeting held on Sunday evening at which some business was transacted pertaining to the Stake.
