

in the other States the real expression of the will of the people will prevail, particularly when they see by what narrow majorities the first two named have been captured. Altogether the prospect looks hopeful for a rapid subsidence of the third term boom and the withdrawal of the ex-president before the national convention meets.

A London correspondent writes from near Galway: It is a terrible state of affairs. Fifty families here eke out a miserable existence. Their houses are small heaps of dirty stones. Their land is rock and soft bog. Hunger and want are everywhere visible. People go naked and without food. Many are slowly starving to death. Such scenes of appalling destitution I never before witnessed. Every step we took brought before our view new and more fearful pictures of destitution and suffering. The more we saw the more certain did death from starvation appear the inevitable fate of nearly every man, woman and child on the island. Gaunt, thin and pale were the faces of men who were naturally of herculean build. The features of women and children were overspread by the ghastly pallor of hunger. In many cabins children crouched shivering and almost naked around the fire. When I entered they sprang behind their mother, whose single garment, a thin dress, was but the slightest protection against the wind which blew through the broken roof. On the fire was the dinner, a pot of brown green seaweed. It is certain that unless they are well cared for, dozens will die of starvation.

SAN FRANCISCO, 26.—The Call, this morning, says: A secret meeting of citizens for the purpose of organizing a vigilance committee, was held last night in the Palace Hotel. The avowed object of the organization is the suppression of any possible riot which might occur in connection with the labor movement.

SAN FRANCISCO, 26.—There was no parade of workingmen to-day, and the meeting at the sand lot was comparatively tame. Gannon, chairman of the committee, reported that after this week the committee would cease calling on the employers of Chinese, and week day meetings at sand lots would be discontinued. Cries of "agitate" were then heard. "We will agitate in a different way," said Gannon. His speech was principally devoted to comment on the recent meeting of merchants, with a view to raising a subscription for the benefit of the unemployed, several of whom he abused roundly.

A meeting of merchants was held this afternoon to hear the report of the committee appointed to concert relief measures. There was a very small attendance and a report was not submitted. The committee stated that since the last meeting the incendiary language of the agitators had put the mercantile community in such a frame of mind that it would be of little use to approach them for contributions. The feeling seemed to be that they were ready to assist the unemployed, but wanted to wait and see the result of the agitation. The meeting adjourned without action, and the impression seemed to be that the project had fallen through until such time as more temperate counsels might prevail among the workingmen. There was considerable inquiry, to-day, among gentlemen supposed to be interested in the reported vigilance committee. The movement failed to draw out any direct information on the subject, but there is good reason to believe the report well founded, and that a thorough organization exists. It is understood Kearney has gone to Sacramento.

CHICAGO, 26.—The Times considers Conkling's success at Utica as the least creditable and least flattering act of his life. His sole argument was the strong man plea, which is ridiculous on its face, as no patriot who runs in the Presidential race has any duty before he takes his place in the chair at the White House. It is not to be expected that Mr. Conkling, even though he sees that the strength of Mr. Blaine is so great that it has almost wrested from him the control of his own "rotten borough," will recognize that menacing strength in a convention of men whom he claims as all his own. It is not for him to confess that the peculiarly aggressive strength of Blaine is so great that it promises to dispense with all occasion of a violent inauguration—that political bugaboo with which the nurses of the republican party infant are trying to frighten it into swallowing a very bitter dose.

The Tribune's editorial on the Utica Convention and the motion to instruct the delegation for Grant, and the narrow escape from defeat which Cameron had in the Pennsylvania Convention when the same question was at issue, declares it was not more significant of strong prejudices against a third term than was this small majority of three in a total vote of 397 in the New York Convention. As the case stands, New York is gained for Grant, provided he remains a candidate when the Chicago Convention meets, and the Congressional district delegations, though strongly opposed to his nomination will obey the instructions of the State Convention and vote as a unit.

WASHINGTON, 26.—The charges preferred by Gen. Boynton against Gen. Sherman were endorsed from the War Department to the President, who directed them referred to Gen. Sherman for such remarks as he may deem necessary. Gen. Sherman endorses the document, saying he now sees it for the first time. He deems it an insult to his office, to his record and to a name which has stood 60 years without a single imputation on his honor or integrity. He declares the first two specifications involve purely their vicious office of libel or slander compressed into the short letter written him under date of January 16th, 1880. "Every word of which is true, and which I am prepared to justify."

"As to the third specification, I have never heard that Gen. Grant or Thomas, or Logan, or Blair, or any great men whom he assumes to defend, have ever appointed General Boynton as their attorney. To the living and to the friends of the dead I am ever responsible for every word spoken or written. I yield to no man in my love and veneration of my comrades, and have been for 15 years on all suitable occasions their eulogist. All men have their good qualities and their human defects, and in accounting for actual events of a terrible civil war, I was forced like every commander of an army to account for the actual results. If ever in my life, at any time, I have done injustice to any person whatever, which I deny, I will cheerfully submit the matter to an umpire and abide by his judgment. I have made this proposition again and again, and will renew it publicly at our next army meeting. These meetings are composed of the very men who knew and felt the causes referred to and compose the rightful tribunal for matter set forth in the third and last specifications. I admit the right of H. V. Boynton, or any citizen, to prefer these or any charges, and that I am always amenable to a court-martial, and I am glad he has reduced his complaints to a tangible form. He has no right, however, to impose upon the United States the heavy cost of a military trial, of witnesses from a distance and necessary attorneys fees. I regard his premature publication of these matters of scandal as in the line of his profession, and that he meant purposely to avoid the only trial which is right and proper, viz., in one of the civil tribunals which exist in the District of Columbia for this very purpose.

I beg, therefore, that you will understand that I am abundantly ready to answer before any court; that when a month ago this Boynton publicly threatened me with a suit, I employed as my attorney the Hon. Matt. H. Carpenter, who is ready to answer in my name at any and all times.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
W. T. SHERMAN,
General.

KANSAS CITY, 26.—The spring emigration to Kansas has fairly commenced and is much heavier than last year. The greater part going in the southern and southwestern portions on State and government land.

CHICAGO, 26.—The delegates from various congressional districts of Illinois, who met here to-day at the Grand Pacific Hotel with the Republican State central committee, to confer regarding the canvass and to report concerning the condition of their respective sections, say as regards Presidential preferences, they are nearly equally divided on Grant and Blaine, but that there was a clear majority of anti-Grant delegates.

Indianapolis, 26.—Republican conventions were held in all the congressional districts in this State to-day, for the election of delegates to the Chicago Convention. In the first district there was no instruction by the convention. The personal preferences of the delegates were for Blaine.

Des Moines, 26.—The democratic State central committee, last night decided not to hold a State convention until after the national convention, also to hold a State convention for the selection of delegates to the National Convention at Burlington, on Wednesday, April 7.

NEW YORK, 27.—The Tribune has the following: The new Mining Exchange promises to give a great impetus to mining investment in New York. It brings forward a class of capitalists who understand business, have derived their fortunes from it and have unbounded faith in it. The list of organizers is not entirely free from melodious names like that of Drake DeKay, for instance. But these will undoubtedly soon be eliminated, while the most are such as to command confidence from the outset. It seems probable that an effect of this new organization will be to require fuller attention from the press than mining operations have yet secured in New York.

The Tribune also says: There would be little reason to fear violence of the Kearney clubs in San Francisco if there were any confidence in the municipal authorities. The men who are talking about the guillotine and torch do not belong to the working class. They are men who will not work; who clamor at the doors of the industrious for a hot meal and then assemble at the Sand Lots to demand the hanging of those who fed them; who damn the Chinaman because he demands labor by working too cheap, and damn the capitalists because he degrades the laborer by expecting him to work at all. They are loathsome parasites who live upon the real workingman but unfortunately the workingmen were deluded into joining hands with them last year and not only adopting their crazy constitution but entrusting the preservation of the public peace to their candidates for office. The consequence may easily become disastrous. An attack upon capital could only have one result and that has come even sooner than anybody anticipated. Money is leaving the State while the rest of the country is in the flush of prosperity, trade brisk, wages rising and every mill busy. The Streets of San Francisco are crowded with unemployed. Business enterprises of all kinds are checked. Such men are moving away and taking their money with them. The hoodlum has not yet learned what the rest of the world has known for ages, that capital is timid, and when it is oppressed it runs away. A great part of the wealth which has sustained the industries of California has already come back, and even the poor are drawing their money out of the savings banks. The depletion will go on while Kearney is misallotted to make laws and to rule decent communities. There is already talk of reviving the old vigilant committees. Lamentable as such a desperate and revolutionary expedient would be in a city which is certainly old enough and well organized enough to govern itself by legal methods it would not be at all surprising to find the substantial citizens approving the scheme if the excesses of the Sand Lot ruffian were carried much further; but we believe there is a simpler means of restoring order. Kearney and his followers have obtained their power only by the cowardice of the more respectable classes.

SAN FRANCISCO, 27.—Last night was exceptionally quiet. The workingmen held no meetings except a few minor ward club gatherings, as is customary, and the papers this morning are almost bare of news in connection with the agitation, although abounding in editorials on the subject, the general tenor of which is expressive of confidence in the preservation of peace.

Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Aug. Kaiser's Celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom or put out a prairie fire with a tear.

MOTHER EVE.

According to Milton, the first thing Eve did after leaving Adam's side, was to survey her charms in a silvery pool. No doubt she was a splendid creature, but beauty is not the heritage of all her daughters, and many of them resort to "GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP" to obtain the dazzling complexion which Eve received from nature. The great merit of this unexcelled cosmetic is that it leaves no traces of artificiality. Beware of counterfeits. See that "C. N. Crittenton, Proprietor," is printed on each packet, without which none is genuine. Sold by druggists at 25 cents; three cakes, 60 cents. But the most brilliant complexion with gray hair would be an anomaly, and therefore this blemish should be removed by the use of HILL'S INSTANTANEOUS HAIR DYE, which is unsurpassed alike in cheapness and the perfection of color it bestows.
