

enemy, neither will I, nor any of you, if you will do your duty; br. Brigham is just as secure as the roots of a tree if every limb performs its duty. I tell you it is hard to tell things just as a man has them in his mind. For my own part I have not got the language.

Now if you are determined to destroy yourselves I am perfectly willing providing you do not destroy the fruit of your loins, but many of you are taking a course to destroy that by your ridiculous fashions.

Now suppose that any of you were to take a tree and tie the limbs in a straight place so that they were obliged to remain in it, will that tree be as thrifty as those that are loose? No, it will not, and if you do not believe it go into my garden and you will there see trees with the limbs crossing each other at various angles, and the consequence is they are gnarly or diminutive in size, and very inferior in appearance, and perhaps they never will produce any fruit.

Do not desire your children or your children's children to stop their growth, and do not you take a course to render them impotent and imbecile. I am talking to you, ladies, and then again I am talking to you, gentlemen, that wear those hermaphrodite pantaloon.

May the Lord God bless this people, and bless his servant that leads them, and I bless everything that sticks to him, and the blessings of salvation shall be with you, for I promise you these things in the name of Israel's God: Amen.

DISCOURSE

By Elder Ezra T. Benson, Tabernacle, Sunday Morning, Jan. 24, 1858.

[REPORTED BY J. V. LONG.]

It will be two years the 22d of next April since I started, in company with br. Orson Pratt and others to take a mission to Europe, and it seems but as a dream for me to appear in your midst this morning. It seems as if it were only a few days since I was in the midst of this people, for the days, weeks and months that have passed, have gone swiftly, and it seems as though a great deal of the time had not been measured to me.

I presume this is the experience of many of you who are now before me and, although many of you have passed through scenes of trial, yet you have felt to realize your situation in the reformation more than you ever have done before. Feelings have come over you that you have never before experienced since you have been in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. But, notwithstanding all our past failings and weaknesses, we have been greatly blessed and prospered, and the hand of the Lord has been over us for good all the day long.

Now if we all realize and do actually know that God is with us, that he has forgiven our sins, that we are in fellowship with this people and have confidence to go before our God in prayer, knowing that our sins are put far away from us, no more to return again, unless through our disobedience, it is one of the greatest blessings that can be conferred upon us.

When I was called upon to leave these valleys, I felt that I had the prayers, fellowship and confidence of this people, and if I had their confidence then, I am well persuaded I have it now. This reflection causes my heart to rejoice, and it is one of the greatest blessings that any man can enjoy to know that he is in full fellowship with this people.

Shall we be thankful to our God and this people for the faith and prayers that have been exercised in our behalf? These things have occupied my attention ever since I arrived home.

True, there is a warfare within me, and there is a warfare within every man and woman that has a name in this Church, and we have to guard against the intrusions of the adversary. Upon what principles shall we guard against them?—Why, live our religion; that is all we have to do, and I know that, by the power of faith and the Holy Spirit, we can root out everything that is contrary to the promptings of that Spirit, and we shall know for ourselves that we are the children of God.

I have been to England on a mission, sent by the First Presidency and the General Authorities convened in conference on the 6th day of April, 1856, and I can say, I have had a prosperous mission and have been greatly blest. As I have told the Elders, so I will say here, any man who goes on a mission in these times, to the European nations, to the United States, or to the Islands of the sea and returns home with his scalp on, I think he should certainly acknowledge the hand of the Lord in it.

When we first arrived in England all was peace, as a general thing; and do you know the reason why it was peace? Yes, you do. We could preach throughout England; we could preach in Germany, in France, in Denmark, Sweden and Norway; we could preach in Wales, in Ireland and Scotland with but very little interruption and, as a general thing, we had very good attention and good congregations, but when the reformation commenced in the valleys of the mountains, as the Saints were told beforehand, the devil began to open his eyes and look at the Saints, not only in England, but throughout all parts of the earth where the Latter Day Saints were located and wherever the servants of God were traveling to preach the gospel and wherever the printed word was being circulated.

In all those places the devil was up and dressed two hours earlier in a morning than he ever had been before, attending to his calling and kingdom, and doing that which was committed to him, for he has a work to do, as well as we have, and he is most faithfully performing his part. Just in proportion to the diligence of the Saints in Zion and throughout the earth, so will the devil work, and you cannot tell the time when his old nose has not been poked as near to the servants of God and to this kingdom as he could get it, and he would be right here to-day in this congregation and break up this meeting, if he had the power to do it.

Through the faithfulness of the Saints I am led to believe that the kingdom is pretty well cleansed, especially from Gentiles and from gentileism, but it is not so in the world, for the devil has power in the midst of the Saints while they are amongst the Gentiles; but, as I told the Saints in England, there should always be a little place in the heart of every man and woman which they can call Zion, and it looks to me as if there were a good many here who could say Zion is in their bosoms, and that they have a place in their hearts which they can call heaven.

The Spirit of God flows to a greater extent from this stand than it does in any other place upon the face of the earth; there is more power here than in any other place.

I can say, in behalf of the English Saints, that they are a good people, and you know it as well as I do, and those who have been there, know it, and you who have not been there know it by the spirit they bring when they come here.

As regards the work of the Lord in general the Elders have been faithful. They have gone into the streets and into the lanes and borne a faithful testimony to the work of God and to what he was doing among the nations. To the honest their words have been sweeter than the honey comb, but the great majority were unwilling to receive the message sent unto them.

I have taken a great deal of comfort and satisfaction in lifting up my voice before the people and I have cried aloud and spared not, but told them what was in my heart. I felt it was my duty to vindicate the truths of the gospel. I have also taken up the laws of the Territory of Utah and the laws and Constitution of the United States, pointing out to them the privileges and rights that are guaranteed unto us by those instruments.

I not only say this of myself, but I can say it of my brethren who have been associated with me, for we have had power to put down all opposition that has been raised against us, unless it was by an ungodly mob that was inspired by the devil to get up sticks and stones and every kind of weapon they could procure, excepting fire arms, which the law of the land forbids them to carry.

When they come with the Bible in hand, which they profess to believe, they are easily whipped out, and truth rises triumphant among the people and the high and low and all that were intelligent could see and understand that we have the gospel of Jesus Christ and that we have the authority which no other people possessed. There was not a minister nor any other individual that held the authority which we had in our possession, and some were ready to acknowledge it, when the Spirit of the Lord was upon them, but how long would that last? Only long enough for them to get out of doors.

It is indeed a great thing to purify the Saints, and it is a great thing for a man to purify his heart. When a man's heart is pure and the scales are knocked off from his eyes he can then see and comprehend the things of God, he can know the mind of the Lord in this land or any other, but if the scales are over his eyes as thick as canvas, he cannot see afar off. We all know that we have to live our religion here as well as in England, and I sometimes think it takes more faith to live in Zion than in another place, for there is more required of a congregation in Zion than there is in England.

The Saints in Denmark and in Sweden are inspired by the same Spirit that we are, and they are as good a people as I ever traveled amongst in my life. They do not generally understand the English language, but they can understand by what spirit a man is moved when he gets up to speak. They rejoice when an Elder from the valley presents himself in their midst and, to see a valley Elder, they would get up of a morning and go forty miles and not stop for rain, thunder or lightning till they got to their journey's end.

There is a certain class of men that are honest in heart, but fear comes upon them when trials are presented, and they do not understand, they have not faith nor confidence to stand up and say, 'I am a Latter Day Saint and if you want to mob, mob and be damned.' There are but few who can stand the trying day. A great many of the Saints have no faith to brook the insults cast upon them and hence they hide up and keep out of sight of their enemies.

I told the Saints in Bath and Bristol that we were going home before I had got any news and, said I, you have been mobbed, laughed at and jeered by your enemies and I want you to understand that you do not owe them anything—I am willing to be responsible for all the sin there will be if you immediately shut up your chapels and henceforth hold your meetings in some private house or little room, or some place where you will not be subject to the insults of mobs.—The next morning I got a letter from br. Pratt informing me that I was called home.

I was not sent out to convert the world, but to warn the people, to vindicate the cause of truth, to set forth the true character of this people politically, religiously, temporally and spiritually and to declare unto the nations of the earth the true situation of this community.

I want to live a long time yet, and I hope that I shall not die until the kingdom of God rises triumphant over all the powers that are organized in opposition to it.

A good spirit prevailed among the Saints in Europe when we left them, which was about the 14th of last October. Br. Samuel W. Richards and George Snyder arrived in Liverpool on the 9th of that month and br. Pratt immediately wrote me word to come to Liverpool and prepare for returning home.

On the arrival of brs. Richards and Snyder we held a council, at which it was decided that br. Pratt, myself, br. John A. Ray, John Kay, John Scott and William Miller should return home.

We immediately went to work and released all the Elders except br. Calkin of the English mission and br. Jabez Woodard of the Italian mission. The native Elders are just as anxious to come here as the American Elders.

Before we embarked for England I had a few days' time to spare, and I embraced the opportunity to go and visit my friends and acquaintances and, when I went in amongst them, they immediately asked if I had come back to stay. No, says I.

'Then what are you come back for?' Why, to prove that you are false prophets, for you told me that in five years 'Mormonism' would be broken up and that the Saints of God would be scattered and peeled. Now, says I, if you want to prophesy anything more about 'Mormonism,' prophesy good things, big things, for it is the kingdom of God and it is set up in the mountains; it is the kingdom that Daniel saw and it is going to spread and grow till it fills the whole earth.

On the Sabbath I was in the neighborhood where my friends lived, in the State of Massachusetts, and I told my brother that I wanted to go to old Milford to the meeting, whereupon he got out his carriage and we drove off to the meeting house and, as soon as the old minister got his eye upon me, he motioned to me to come into the stand. He called me br. Benson and said, 'sit down here.' He said, 'do you want to preach or to pray?' I said, yes, for I am a praying man. I offered up as humble a prayer as I could and then sat down. I learned then that he had a special lecture he wanted to deliver on politics, for it was when they were trying to elect Fremont President of the United States. He delivered his political sermon about the North and South, but there was no repentance nor gospel about what he said.

When he had concluded he gave me the privilege of talking to the people, which I did for about half an hour. I knew that I had to talk in a very pious style, but I endeavored to preach the gospel in plainness, and the very moment that I came to a testimony of the gospel, to declare that Joseph Smith was a Prophet and that Brigham Young is his successor—good gracious!—you could see devils dancing in the countenance of the people, and the influence ran from heart to heart; however, they kept quiet, though very uneasy. After my remarks they claimed the privilege of asking questions. One gentleman asked if we believed in slavery. I told him no, we did not, but, said I, we believe in the gospel of Jesus Christ, which is a gospel of liberty, for it opens the door of freedom and throws off the fetters of bondage.

'Well,' says he, 'do not you believe in freeing the negroes?'

I answered, no; the Lord will do that.

'Ah,' says he, 'the Mormons do believe in slavery, for they permit men to bring their slaves into their Territory.'

I then went on to show him our views upon the subject, but I could see my remarks did not satisfy the people.

The next man who came on to the carpet wanted to know how many wives br. Brigham had. I replied, I have not come here to lay before this people the domestic affairs of my Governor; it is a question I never asked him myself, for I never took the pains to inquire anything about it; but still, as I am a Yankee, I will guess, if that will do you any good. Now, says I, I will be honest with you, for your pastor has given me the freedom of speech and, if I may judge from appearances, I should presume he has some fifty or sixty.

He then asked, 'why do you believe in that doctrine?'

I replied, why did Abraham believe in it? Why do you wish to raise a quarrel with me when all the Prophets spoken of in the Bible you believe in, both taught and practised it? He could not tell, but the amount of it was, he wanted to put down 'Mormonism,' not that he could rebut the testimony that was presented, but he had a spirit to endeavor to put down the cause of God.

The principles of the gospel are going to either damn or save all to whom they are presented. There are hundreds and thousands, and tens of thousands of people in the world who, this day, know that 'Mormonism' is true and they are using their money and their influence to hinder its progress.

The priests of the day are ready to collect their pence and shillings to persecute the Saints of God and to foster and sustain those who will do it.

Wherever you find a man in England, in Germany, or in Denmark, who takes the periodicals of the day, he can sit down and tell you all about the Latter Day Saints; he can tell you what we believe and, providing you could converse with him without his knowing you were a 'Mormon' or a servant of God, sent to him with the everlasting gospel, he would sit down and tell you all about 'Mormonism,' but you must appear as a stranger and ask, do you know anything about the Latter Day Saints in Utah? 'O yes,' he will say, and proceed to tell you what we believe, and the moment you let him know who you are and undertake to preach to him, he will turn round and deny everything that he has said. What is the reason of this? It is because he is dishonest and has partaken of the spirit of the father of lies, who is determined to use his influence and power to the injury and destruction of the Saints of God.

I was received in Massachusetts as I never was before by my friends, for they hailed me with joy, but were they ready to receive the gospel? No, no more than they were fourteen years ago; I could see they had a spirit to persecute the Saints, and they would have been as easily lit up as a Lucifer match. 'Well,' says one, 'did you come that way back?' No, and I never want to go again unless the Almighty commands me.

When we came to New York we looked through the pioneer trail, but it did not look right, but when we looked south it was all light, so we took the steamer for the Isthmus.

We had on board eleven hundred and fifty passengers, two or three hundred of whom were United States troops. When we were loading up, the soldiers were driven on board, like pigs, as thick as they could stand.

Government is shipping men round by the isthmus of Panama to California and we were informed the next steamer was to bring six hundred men. There was a good deal of fault found by the officers of government because there were only two hundred and fifty along with us, but it was said they are going to ship them by thousands to California and then forward them to Utah.

They said they were coming to California, but, when we asked them privately where they were destined for, they said, 'we are going to Utah.'

It is so also in Kansas; they have all sworn, old Harney included, that they will not give sleep to their eyes nor slumber to their eyelids until they have destroyed the 'Mormons.' They design in their hearts to blot 'Mormonism' out of existence, and they feel like using their money for the accomplishment of this object, and even go so far as to say, their purses shall be open for their means to be used in the fitting out of men for the Territory of Utah, and they say they will come from the north and from the south and from the east and surround this people by thousands and by tens of thousands, until we are wiped out.

This is their feeling, as a general thing, and it seems as if all earth and hell are united against the 'Mormons.' They have not got here yet, have they? Catching is always before hanging.

The halters are already made which they design shall hang the Governor, the members of the Legislative Assembly and every faithful Elder in this Church; for they feel determined to swing you up between the heavens and the earth. We understand their plays and their schemes, for we have been in their midst.

The inquiry may arise, 'did you ever hear one man say anything in our favor?' Yes, we have heard more than one who dare come out and vindicate the character of this people, but it would generally be in private circles. I have heard a man say that he had been among this people, had been treated well and never saw a better people in his life, and he said that he believed all those reports that were in circulation were a pack of damned lies.

There was a man traveling on the packet with us who used to attend the thrashing machine for Wm. Macpherson in this city; he vindicated the character of this people. He did not recognize us, but I knew him as soon as I saw him. He said, in conversation with men on the boat, 'I am a rambling sort of a chap, but if I were going to live and settle down, it would be in Utah.' I asked him if he thought the 'Mormons' were going to fight. He said, 'No, they are not, for they are not a fighting people, but it is those lying editors; the 'Mormons' are a peaceable, quiet people.'

When the standard of freedom is raised, we shall bid all classes welcome to the rights and privileges of liberty. When that day comes, people can come with all creeds and enjoy their liberties, providing they will acknowledge the laws of God, and I can tell you, they will come by hundreds, by thousands and by tens of thousands; yes, they will flock to the standard of liberty.

There is not a master spirit on the earth at the present time who dare take this stand and raise the flag of liberty, bidding welcome to all nations, except Pres. Brigham Young. The very move that has been made for the last six months will preach louder and stronger than all the Elders of Israel.

The standard of liberty is about to be unfurled; good laws will be maintained and the virtuous and innocent will have their rights and privileges guaranteed unto them and we mean to stand in defence of those principles of right, even to the laying down of our lives, if necessary. When a man will stand in defence of the truth, he has power more and influence among the nations of the earth than a dozen of the ungodly.

If ever I felt like preaching the gospel, it is now, and I would not ask for a better mission than to take my valise and travel through the Territory of Utah, and I know that in doing so I should travel amongst the best people in the world. I have seen the contrast between this people and the world most visibly during the last three or four months.

What is the condition of the Government of the United States? They are all looking at the President just as a child would, apparently expecting that something would be done. They are hoping and expecting that the Government would take 'Mormonism' in hand and wipe it out of existence in a few days; but Uncle Sam, Uncle Bill, Uncle Tom and all our Uncles and cousins will find something to do, if they attempt such a thing.

The people of the United States seem paralyzed and do not know what to do. They are waiting for the Government to call for volunteers and then they say they are all ready to go. California people say they are all ready to rally, but I tell you I believe what br. Brigham has said, they will not come here. The priest in the pulpit is ready, and says, 'O yes, we must go and wipe out the 'Mormons,' but do not ask me to go.'

This is like an old man that had some boys and, when he wanted a job of work done, he would say, 'go, boys, and do that,' but his neighbor, who had a lot of boys also, when he wanted anything done, used to say, 'come, boys, let us do that.' It is just so with the priests, lawyers, doctors and all others who are opposed to 'Mormonism,' they say, 'O yes, go and wipe out the 'Mormons,' but they never want to go themselves.

I will tell you the majority of the people in the States do not care the ashes of a rye straw for their officers, and it is just so in the army; in
