An impresison prevails among the people here that the outlaws will make for Brown's Park, Wyoming, and from there work their way into the Hole-in-the Well country. the-Wall country. MORE THAN ONE ROUTE. Then again it is argued the bandits could just as well turn on their own trail and get down into the Robber's Roost section onto the Colorado river, cross to the west on Green river and take to the San Rafael hills, or get over the Colorado line toward Meeker and the White river section through Range valley. They will only be likely to se-lect one or the other of these routes after having learned that the officers had taken up their trall. NO TRAIL LEFT.

All trace of anything near approach-ing the trail of the outlaws from Turn-er's was without doubt destroyed by the heavy winds of Sunday night. So it follows that if the posses hope to find out the direction the men took, they will be compelled to take up a new scent scent

As stated in yesterday's dispatches to the "News" telegrams were sent out by Sheriff Preece yesterday to western Colorado and the southern and eastern counties of Wyoming, while the officers of the law in southern Utah are on the watch tower, and should anything be seen or heard of the murderers an endeavor will be made to get word to the men now out searching for them.

SYMPATHY FOR BANDITS.

A strange and almost inconceivable feature of Saturday's tragedy, as well as the previous killing of officers in this county, is the sympathy shown the murderers by ranchers and others. A man who knows whereof he speaks told the writer voterday that he knew of the writer yesterday that he knew of

But the most dramatic chapter, aside from that of the murder itself, was recorded shortly before noon today.

PLANS FOR RESCUE.

It came like a thunderbolt from an unclouded sky and startled judge, jury any spectators in a manner soldom seen in any court. #### SLIGHTEST WARNING

When Haworth had been returned to the presence of the court and after Judge Rolopp had admonished the jury of what was coming the prisoner sprang over the railing and darted for the doorway at the head of the stairs. His not to discuss the incident in anyway, the State's attorneys, Messra Allison friends were, strange to relate, so arfriends were, strange to relate, so ar-ranged as to form a clear path for him through the crowd. Two officers, Deputy Sheriff Oakden and Bailiff Rose, were seated close to Haworth when he shot towards the door and quickly followed, but were easily out-distanced, sithough Haworth, in his great eagerness to get away, fell on the floor near the point of exit. Fortunately by Detective Franks was at this spot. Ere the astonished crowd could realize what was taking place the big detective and the still bigger prisoner were locked in each other's embrace, each struggling for the mastery. Their scuffling soon brought them into the open stairway and in a trice they were rolling down together. Washington, May 29.-Such advices as nave reache situation in China is assuming a very critical phase and one calculated to tax the entire resources of the Chinese government. The state department has been in close communication with Mr. Conger, our minister at Pekin, and the navy department is doing its share, having placed the flagship Newark as far up the Pei Ho river as the Taku Ports, which is the nearest point to Pekin that the ship can reach. The operations of the "Boxers" are increasing in magnitude. Their demonstrations are no longer local, and they uppear to be governed in their moveents by some well settled design. AMERICANS IN DANGER.

The ship he would naturally look to would be the Newark, and it is assumed that he has already communicated with Admiral Kempfi on board that flagship. The embarrassing feature of the situation is the cutting of communication by rail between Taku and Tien Tsin, and the cap' i for the "Boxers" have barned the railroad bridges and there are probably only two courses open to the marines who wish to reach Pekin-a long overland march through a hostile country away from supports, or a tedi-ous voyage up the swift and shallow Pei Ho, in shore boats in tow of the steam launches.

a going of The "News" informant further said that the news of the killing was known among certain ones in several of southern towns before daylight Sunday morning. The significance of this be-comes apparent when it is stated that the officers of the law received no tid-ings of the affair until long away in the afternoon of the same day, and then it ame from Salt Lake through Governor Wells. The "News" man asked how it was the officers did not cause the arrest of these alleged sympathizers, arrest of these alleged sympactizets, and the reply was: "Why they can't get anyone to testify, for the reason it is known that it would be as much as a man's life's worth to 'peach.'" STRONGER IN GRAND JUNCTION.

The sympathy for the bandits is said to be even stronger in Grand Junction. A gentieman, well known in this city, A gentieman, wen known in this city, who came in from Grand Junction yes-terday, said he heard several people say it served Sheriff Tyler and Sam Jenkins right, and they hoped the murderers would be able to get away; that Tyler had shot unarmed men on more they one complon and they were more than one occasion, and they were glad he had been given a dose of his own medicine.

WHO KILLED THE MEN? Speculation as to who did the killing is still being indulged in. Sheriff Preece before starting out told the "News" man that he believed the work was done by strangers in the country, the men who killed the "Mormon" boys in Arigona last March. This believes in Arizona last March. This belief is shared by many others, the strongest point in it being the brutality of the wo murders, which are almost identiwhom they referred to as their leader. They did not know the exact amount of money he had when pursued by the officers, but they believe it was in the neighborhood of $5,000. At the time they had a copy of a Salt Lake paper, dated April 18, 1800, containing a cut of Currie ("Flat Nose George") and an account of the killing. The paper they said, they bought at Price, where they claimed to have friends. Later the mon--three in number--crossed the Colo--three in number-crossed the Cold

-three in number--crossed the Colo-rado river. They were next seen at Moab, which was on May 23rd. They were then going north. At several places they stopped to enquire the road to the country where Curvie was killed. They were in Thompson's on May 24th, the day after they were seen in Moab. They did not pass through the town of Thompson's but crossed the rail-road about a nile west of the depot. The next thing seen of them was as they were about to enter Thompson's canyon. This was on Thursday last, two days before the killing. The place where the shooting occurred was fifty miles from Thompson's, which would be about the distance the men could be about the distance the men could easily have traveled after they were last seen. Mr. Fullerton's theory is that these men killed Tyler and Jenkins, and future developments may prove his theory to be correct.

FULLERTON'S STORY.

Mr. Fullerton tells an interesting story of Deputy Day's arrival with the news of the killing. "I was riding leisurely down the canyon." he said. The other four boys being some dis-tance ahead when I heard the shout of a man. I wheeled around and saw Day coming toward me waying his hands, yelling at the top of his voice
