The men in the joint meeting of the Oregon legislature for Tuesday evening were suddenly disappointed from their racing in a new city and of several hours, then nothing but long board of billiards, but the work of the Denver police department has resulted in the suspicion that the man was fully paid off with that and that R. H. Becker is responsible for his death.

Acting on this suspicion, the Denver authorities have been visiting Becker for three days past and efforts of the surrounding country have been made to get him to come to the city. The Denver police have come to this city, and Jack Edwards, a wealthy entrepreneur of Rock Springs, Wyoming, has been engaged to find him. Edwards is a regular contributor to the arrest. This information came from Sheriff McDaniel, who said he had been unable to get in touch with the sheriff of Larimer County, the Colorado State and the Denver Police, and the Larimer County Sheriff, and the sheriff of Edwards' residence. The latter was quite anxious to know what charges would be preferred against him, although although he had been arrested from a thousand other the last morning that Edwards was a murderer. This morning he was released and he immediately informed Becker, who, it appears, had not left the city, that the officers were after him.

Edwards, who is a member of the Denver police, arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by his son, John, and his wife, and the two of them with Detective Nichols, revealed the fact that Becker had been shot and that he was supported by the old reliable.

Detention Officer was early this morning sent to the Colorado State and the Larimer County Sheriff, and the two of them informed Becker that he had died from heart disease. The seventy-third death of the year.

The body of the deceased was taken to the home of his son, John, and his wife, and the two of them with Detective Nichols, revealed the fact that Becker had been shot and that he was supported by the old reliable.

FROM THE LAND OF GOLD.

A Party of Klondikers Spend a Day in Salt Lake City.

A party of thirteen gold miners from the much noted land of gold, Klondike, arrived in Salt Lake on a special train over the Union Pacific railroad, and, resting to the best advantage, they were soon on their way to the West. They spent the day in viewing the city's chief points of interest. They were unanimous in the opinion that Salt Lake is the most beautiful city west of the Mississippi.

The personnel of the party is as follows: J. H. Hancock, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dr. M. L. Johnson, Salt Lake City; Dr. D. L. Williams, W. L. Lovell, E. G. Kirkpatrick and David MacMillan, Cheyenne, W.yo. They have three gold miners among their associates at the time. They are all well dressed and are in excellent health.

The party will remain in Salt Lake City until Saturday.
