

WESTERN NEWS ITEMS.

Shocking and Fatal Explosion of Giant Powder in Montana.

SENSATIONAL PLUMER'S IN COLO.

A New Colony in Pecos Valley, N. M.—Shackled and Armed Men in Wyoming—Railroadmen.

The reservoir above Price, Emery County, broke the other night, during damage to the amount of $100.

To reports from Arizona are to the effect that the cattle for sheep in that part of the country is anything but encouraging. The pasture is poor, and cattle quarters in winter ranges are also dry, and the stock will have to stand on the mountains as best they may.

Particulars of the new towns in the Grand Valley on the Rio Grande Junction River is just completing a handsome new schoolhouse. The students are now seated in the buildings, which were built at a cost of $10,000.

George McNeil, principal of the public school, and O. W. Swain, an attorney, and a light on the street last evening, in which the doctor and patient had been held up. The trouble originated from the unruly conduct of swine's son, in the public school—conditions (Arizona) newspaper.

Dr. George went to Moab, Wednesday, and found eight cases of diphtheria in that place. Sixty or seventy cases had been reported, and but those exposed all the thousand children attacked by the disease. In his capacity as quarantine physician the doctor ordered the schools closed, and they will not again be opened until all danger from the disease has passed.—Deseret News.

For some time past, says the Dillon, Colorado, "Advertiser," James Miller, son of Mr. Miller, a prominent citizen, has been operating a small grocery store in Dillon, but those exposed all the thousand children attacked by the disease. In his capacity as quarantine physician the doctor ordered the schools closed, and they will not again be opened until all danger from the disease has passed.—Deseret News.

He started a number of the section of country around Topeka, Kansas, and known in nearly every mining camp on the coast, committed suicide on Monday at his camp to the Rooster Crows mountain by shooting the man of a revolver in the back, and pulling the trigger. The victim was a young boy, and had a large gun of friends. His mind had been failing of late.

James Lewis, for some time a citizen at the Sterling coal mines, while serving a term for being drunk, died on Friday of pneumonia, contracted while serving his sentence. He had been drinking beer as usual. In such cases neglected to take proper precautions for the prevention of coal scald. Dr. Olden did not say he died from the unscientific cause, but without avail—Death Register.

An interesting case is on the dockets of Justice, Judge Underwood's court, two days ago while hunting near Silver City, Mr. Ben Fitzpatrick lost his watch. It was found by James Hymans, who, we are informed, refused to deliver it unless Mr. Fitzpatrick would pay him. The judge and his wife were captured by Mr. Fitzpatrick. This was not acceptable to Hymans and Fitzpatrick came to recover the property and damages.—Newspaper (Silver City) Post.

A new colony is to be established in the Pecos Valley, New Mexico, and with a few months' notice, a number of English settlers, Louisiana, arrived to that fertile part of the territory where they will settle upon 1,000 acres which they have bought. Unreliable estimates make, probably, annual revenue to the colony $100,000. The first colonists will be put out by the Pecos Valley cause the immigration. The Louisianians are greatly pleased with the country and said it would take five years in Louisiana to do what has been done in the Pecos Valley in three years. They will begin at once the erection of houses, clearing land of the ground, and preparing to seed in the spring, and will be little ordained planting until next fall.

A sensational element has come to light in the town of Coal City, Illinois. A young, a pretty, 17-year-old girl, who has been in the service of Mount St. Helens Academy for several months, left the institution November 29, saying she was going to see her mother, who was ill, and was going to stay with her for four months. The young lady went to James Pennington's restaurant, where she engaged a room for a few days, and then, on the 3d, left the town alone to see her mother, and at night at midnight the couple left on an eastbound train. Three days later the young man returned and took the stage for Chicago. The young lady's friends tried to get out and find her whereabouts, but the secret of the nest was well-kept. No one could learn anything further than that he grieved her was at a hospital in Denver. Miss Adams' friends are very much worried over her fate and fear her health has failed her.

Mr. Sieger, of the firm of Sieger & Voight, left town suddenly a few nights ago and has not been heard of since. Investigation shows the firm with whom he had been connected, manipulated by the accounting partner, and Mr. Voight has himself in a bad predicament. One of his transactions was the purchase of twenty shares of common stock of the Bank of Park City, for $100 each. The stock was paid on the cattle and they were driven to the Bank of Park City and there they were killed. After a long investigation and diligent search, the body was found and purchased home to town and buried in the cemetery of the city.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.
Estate of William Mathews, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE undersigned, Alexander Mathews, widow of William Mathews, deceased, in the name of the estate of Alexander Mathews, that certain debts of the estate will be paid to the heirs of William Mathews, deceased, in the sum of $1,000, and that the balance of the estate will be distributed among the heirs of William Mathews, deceased, in the proportion of their respective estates.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.
Estate of William Mathews, deceased.

<p