LOCAL NEWS.

Alpine Election.—Returns have been received of the municipal election held in Alpine on the 9th inst., showing S. W. Brown to have been elected mayor, R. E. Booth and Stephen Moyle as aldermen; W. J. Strong, Albert Marsh and Fred Beck as councilors; James W. Vance as recorder; F. C. Clark as treasurer; Wm. Eastwood as marshal, and Wm. P. Valentine Parties.—A select Valentine party is to be held this evening in the Seventh Ward meeting-house, dancing to commence at 7:30. Tickets 50 cents each. From the character of the young men who constitute the committee, and the class of people they are likely to invite, we feel sure it will be a very pleasant affair.

A grand Valentine ball will also be held in the Theatre this evening. It is gotten up by the attaches of that establishment, who will do all they can to cater to the pleasures of those who choose to favor them with their patronage. Persons who do not care to take part in the dancing will be admitted as spectators on paying 25 cents.

A Liquor Case.—Most of the time of Judge Borman's branch of the District Court today has been occupied by arguments of the counsel on both sides in the case against Hannah Beightor, who keeps a dram shop at Grantsville. About a month ago she was sentenced by the authorities of that city to a $100 fine and 120 days imprisonment for selling whiskey without a license. Her clerk, one Hovey, for doing the same thing, was given 60 and 100 days, and both have been in jail ever since. The woman was brought to this city last Wednesday on a writ of habeas corpus, and has been awaiting trial ever since. Judge McBride represents the prisoner, and Hovey & Burmaster the city officials.

THE HORN SILVER CAVE.

CONSIDERABLE EXCITEMENT ON THE STREET

Rumors were afloat on the street today to the effect that the Horn Silver mine had caved in and several men had been killed and others severely injured.

A reporter called at the Company's office and met Mr. Walker, who handed him a letter which is all that has been received. The following is a copy:

Frisco, Utah, Feb. 12th, 1885.

Mr. Walker:

The long dreaded and expected cave in the mine came last night, fortunately hurting no one. What damage it has done I cannot yet tell. I refuse to allow any one upon the levels where the surface ground has been working all along.

The snow and rain storms have helped it, and last night at midnight the surface settled, and the jar or concussion caused a cave on the third level, and so shook up things that the shaft has pinched the cages fast.

I find the seventh level all right this morning, and the damage may not be very great, but I can tell nothing at all about it. When things settle we will examine and see what we can do, but we have had so much trouble from the broken and sinking shaft, and it is so difficult and expensive to do any thing in all our hanging walls, that I may decide to abandon this shaft and discontinue holding ore until we can get up an arrangement to take it out of shaft No. 3. I have spent too much money trying to hold up this shaft already.

The engine and galley frame have not suffered at all. The boilers have settled, not run back, however, to break the steam pipes. No damage whatever about the new shaft or new machinery.

Yours, etc., H. C. Hill, Manager.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

CULLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES.

—Under the management of J. S. Hickey, the present master mechanic of the Railroad shops of Logan, the work and the force of employees have been almost doubled.

A gentleman from this city, who is doing business in Cache Co. as a stock buyer, complains of being taken for one of the deputy marshals or a spotter employed by them, and of having the cold shoulder turned towards him by the people generally.

An old resident of Leadville, Col., named Jesse Spies, died, as his friends supposed, at a cabin on Saguache range, some distance from that town last week. He was getting quite old, and had been ill for some time. A coffin was procured and the body dressed for burial and placed in it, but to the horror of the assembled mourners who surrounded the ghastly corpse, which they were about to deposit in its last resting place, the body began to show signs of life and presently sat upright. The supposed dead man seemed as much bewildered as were his friends at the situation of things, and attempted to get out of the coffin. He was too weak, however, to stand, and fell to the floor. His friends placed him in bed, where he remained for some time talking and gesticulating in an irrational manner. He finally ceased his incoherent chatter, closed his eyes, and apparently died a second time. His breath and pulse ceased for some time, and his body was again placed in the coffin. After a good deal of hesitation and discussion, considerable delay the body was pronounced dead and ready for burial, although it seemed very slow in giving up its natural warmth. The remains, however, were buried and the friends separated. Such strong doubts of his death were entertained by some of the party, that the body was dug up, and the coffin opened a day or two later, to put the minds of his friends at rest. On raising the lid of the coffin it was found that the body had moved and showed unmistakable signs of terrible struggle after it was encased and buried. The lookers-on were horror-stricken at the consciousness that they had buried a friend alive.

Court Proceedings.—In the cases of the United States vs. Agnes McMurin, Roy H. Young, and Angus M. Cannon, on the charges before mentioned in the News, the defendants came into court this morning and pleaded not guilty.

In the case of Edward Robertson vs. L. R. Cooper et al., the demurrer to the answer was overruled, and the case set aside, and 10 days allowed to answer.

The case of Nettie G. Powell vs. A. T. Powell was referred to P. Demsey to take testimony and report.

In the two cases of the People vs. Albert Kershaw, for forgery, the defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment for each offense, the second term to commence at the expiration of the first.

JUDGE BORMAN'S COURT.

The demurrer to the complaint in the case of J. A. Truelson vs. J. J. Suel et al., heretofore submitted was overruled, an exception taken, and 10 days allowed to answer.

The motion to strike out part of the answer in the case of Wm. White et al. vs. Joseph Haywood, heretofore submitted, was sustained, and 10 days allowed to amend it. Exception was taken.

The demurrer in the case of Marian Merrill vs. M. H. Davis was sustained, and an exception taken.

M. H. Pope vs. J. W. Mason. The default was set aside, and defendant allowed 10 days to answer.

N. C. Thompson vs. R. Warnock. The motion to strike out part of the answer was withdrawn, and the defendant is allowed until the 18th inst. to file amended answer.

The Juvenile Instructor.—We have received the number of this interesting journal dated February 15th, and find it as usual filled with articles instructive and attractive alike to children and young people. The contents are: "Worship of the Ganges," (illustrated); "Utah," by J. R.; "Value of Punctuality," by Vidi; "The Gospel," by B. H. Roberts; "Moral Weakness," by J. C.; "The Reward of Obedience," by "An English Boy's Experience," by J. W.; "Gibraltar," by Edward Stevenson; "Editorial Thoughts," "Granada and the Alhambra," (illustrated); "Topics of the Times," by the editor; "A Boy's Prophecy," by Mc.; "Hannah and her Baby and Husband," by Kennon; "Antiquity of Nursery Rhymes," "Washington's Birthday," by D. V.; "A Brave Boy," and original song and music, "The Gathering of Israel."

Death of an Amiable Lady.—In another part of the paper will be found a notice of the demise of Mrs. Nellie Read Schofield, wife of Mr. John C. Schofield, an employee of Z. C. M. I. From a long personal acquaintance with the deceased, extending over a period equal to nearly two-thirds of her life-time, we are enabled to say that she was one of the most estimable and amiable of her sex. Her relatives and numerous friends will feel keenly her departure, in the bloom of womanhood, for she certainly was a gem whose lustre was untainted during her earthly career by any actions unbecoming a true and conscientious woman. We not only condole with the bereaved family, but can sincerely state that our hearts are mingled.

This Union Pacific passenger train reported one hour late. The U. P. will probably hold their train to make the connection.

From Bear Lake.—From President Wm. B. Egan, just down from Bear Lake Valley, we learn that the Saints in that region are by no means discouraged, notwithstanding the atrocious legislation recently enacted against them by the rabid anti-Mormon law-makers of Idaho. They have not become alarmed and abandoned their homes yet, nor are they likely to do so. Their cows continue to calve and their poultry to lay, and the thrifty housewives keep on marketing their butter and fruit just the same if those sales had not met. In fact, no one would suppose, to pass through the Bear Lake settlements and notice the cheerfulness, tranquility, and thrift apparent on every hand, and the preparations being made to plow and plant and continue to raise stock and engage in manufacturing, that they were the people so lately proscribed by the thunderbolts of laws hurled by the Idaho Legislature.

Wasatch County.—We had a call from President Abram Hatch, of the Wasatch Stake, last evening, who reports all quiet in his diocese. Cash is very scarce there, and not much sale for farm products; flour is selling as low as $3.00 per 100 lbs. The result is that most of those who can afford to do so, are holding on to their grain. There is no suffering among the people for want of food, though some are obliged to curtail their wants in other directions. There is no scarcity of feed for stock, and the animals kept up generally look well. The people of Provo Valley never think of wintering stock on the range in that region, but they have about 16,000 head being herded in the eastern part of the county, where the snow never falls to any great depth, and where they are doing unusually well this winter. The snow is now about twenty inches in depth on the level in Provo Valley, and doubtless much deeper in the mountains, though it is not generally thought in that region that so much has fallen yet as did last winter.

Another Forger Sentenced.—Albert Kershaw, who was indicted several months ago on two charges for forging D. & R. G. time checks, and who has been in the custody of the Marshal ever since, appeared in the District Court this morning and entered a plea of guilty in both cases. He begged the judge to take into consideration, in fixing the sentence, that this was his first offense, that he had served his country faithfully as a soldier for about three-and-a-half years, that he had previous to this act held sacred positions of trust, and had been a good character; and, last though not least, he had already served some 8 months in the penitentiary subject to the same rules and treatment as persons already convicted.

He therefore prayed that the penalty of this crime be made as light as the statute would allow.

Judge Zane, after questioning the defendant closely regarding the affair and tendering him some good if not timely advice, sentenced him to one year's imprisonment on each charge—two years in all.
