

Honor of Being Head of Utah Teachers' Association Goes To Provo Man.

A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION.

Place of the Next Meeting Has Been Left to the Executive Committee To Decide Later.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Jan. 5 .- With the honor of the presidency of the Utah State Teacher's association bestowed upon L. E. Eggertson, superintendent of the Utah county schools, the pedagogues are today leaving Ogden by every train, while Secretary Gillilian is removing his records from the Reed hotel headquarters. The general impression today is that

The general impression today is that The general impression today is that the convention has been a great help to Ogden City, as it gave the people in general a much better appreciation of general a much better appreciation of what their schools should be and what kind of people are in charge of them. The place of meeting is still to be de-cided upon, the matter of its selection having been left to the executive com-mittee. In the election of officers, Mr. Eggerison secured only a slight lead over F. M. Driggs, superintendent of the school for the deaf, dumb and blind. Mr. Driggs was named for first vice president, and F. D. Keeler of the Webster school in this city, for second vice president.

vice president. The property of the association re-mains in the hands of State Supt. Nelson, who is ex-officio custodian. For the executive committee there was on-ly one vacancy occurring this year and it was filled by the election of Dr. Geo. vice president.

If was filled by the election of Dr. Geo. Thomas of Logan. When it came to the introduction of resolutions, there were a number which had been advocated but which were conspicuous for their absence at the final roll call. One was on the con-solidation matter, and another was on the question of a home for delinquents. The most important one submitted and pussed was on the question of the sup-port of high schools. It opposed using state funds for the support of high schools where the funds are already too slight for the support of grammar schools.

THE GOSPEL OF WORK.

Supt. Cooley Closes Teacher's Convention With Lecture on This Topic.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Jan. 5.—"The Gospel of Work" was the subject treated by Supt. Cooley in the closing lecture of his series be-fore the State Teachers' association, delivered at the opera house Friday evening. While many had left on delivered at the opera house Friday evening. While many had left on Friday afternoon trains in order to reach their homes to prepare packing to return to their various schools be-fore Monday, still the attendance was large, and Mr. Cooley was listened to with the most wrapt attention. In subject matter, Mr. Cooley dealt with the inordinate faith prevailing to-day in the gospel of rapid action.

with the inordinate faith prevailing to-day in the gospel of rapid action, with "get there" results. He said: "We are living in a civilization with a penchant for action; "hustle" is the watchword of the hour. A strennous or, at least, a clamorous life seems to be the only one worthy of the consideration of the average American. Americans individually and collectively seem to be looking about for more worlds to conquer, more busi-ness and other opportunities to ex-ploit.

ploit. "The men of our day organize into civic and other missional associa-tions, ready to undertake the redress of every public grievance. As a na-tion, we seem eager to undertake the larger responsibilities of world regula-tion. We are assuming the role of a national colporteur in foreign lands and in strange climes. Expansion and optimism are our ideals, both as a na-tion as individuals.

project or any new subject pronounced worthy of our consideration. Happy and famous is the man or woman who has succeeded in setting the schools a new task, for multitudes arise to call him a reformer. "This thorough-going belief in the efficiency of action and in the obliga-tion of all mankind to work owes a great deal to the evangel of Carlyle and Ruskin. Carlyle's "Sartor Resar-tus," his "Herces," and his "Past and Present" are full of the gospel of work. He says the old gospel was "know thyself." the new is "know thy work and do it." "The evangel of Carlyle and Ruskin has greatly influenced the ideals of the modern world. Many of our most fa-mous men acknowledge the influence of their works. KERNEL OF EDUCATION.

KERNEL OF EDUCATION.

"In the writings of Carlyle and Rus-kin can be found the kernel of mod-ern educational doctrine. Carlyle says: "The knowledge that will hold good in working, cleave thou to that. . . . Man perfects himself by working. Des-tiny, on the whole, has no other way of cultivating us."

tiny, on the whole, has no other way of cultivating us." "Mr. John Dewey, one of our modern educational apostles, urges. "The end of knowledge is, in other words, not theoretical but practical. We know in order to do, not simply for purposes of information."

"The theory of modern school is built largely upon the idea of utilizing the child's natural activities, its motor im-pulses. The kindergarten, constructive work and nature study, manual training, are all endeavors to turn motor im-pulses to use. We believe that charac-ter making is the result of doing some-thing, is the result of the formation of habits

OLD SAYING ROUSED.

OLD SAYING ROUSED. "We believe that pupils go to school to work. While I believe that 'all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,' I also believe that 'all play and no work makes Jack a mere toy.' We ought not to undertake to make the child believe that work in school is play. To do this is in a measure to unfit him for the real responsibilities of life. We should not teach the doctrine that youth is the time for mere enjoyment, to be worked for all it is worth because fol-lowed by work in after-life. "The attempt to split up the life pro-

lowed by work in after-life. "The attempt to split up the life pro-cess into work now, to be followed by pleasure afterwards, is what I call the doctrine of drudgery. The idea that work is simply preliminary to enjoy-ment, samething to be gotten over that enjoyment may follow, is demor-alizing. To subscribe to this is to set up a dualism between work and en-joyment that will debase all work into mere drudgery. I believe both boys and men who are not overworked enjoy doing what they can do well. doing what they can do well.

IDEAL OF DRUDGERY.

"The ideal of drudgery through youth and manhood with idleness and ease in old age as a reward for the drudgery is an illustration. The ease and happiness never come. We all know persons who have slaved through wouth and manhood only to find in the know persons who have slaved through youth and manhood, only to find in the end that enjoyment in old age was im-possible. The motive is equally uscless in school. If we can train children to actually enjoy their daily work, if we can arouse in our young people the instinct of workmanship, the irksome-ness of school will disappear. If our young people can be made to feel the moral obligation upon every member of society to work, to produce some-thing, to be a self-sustaining person, they will be more contented with their lot and more certain of happiness. "Elbert Hubbard says in the Phills-tine, 'Next to getting rid of a belief tine, 'Next to getting rid of a belief in hell is the getting rid of a belief in a future heaven.' The enlightened man tries to bring about heaven here and now and by the effort he reaches heav-en, the only heaven there is. The man hard at work in a good cause is right in the suburbs of Paradise.'

SURE OF HAPPINESS.

"The teacher who really and genuine ly enjoys teaching is sure of happiness. The teacher who regards herself as a slave while in the school room, who looks forward constantly to her vacations for the pleasant spots in her life, is doomed to disappointment. No teach-er who does not get continuous satis-faction out of her work can meet the demands upon her. If she fails in this effort, teaching will become the sorri-est of jobs instead of the noblest of the professions. "The teacher needs to have a full and accurate knowledge of the subject she teaches—a knowledge that grows an long as she lives. No one can teach all or even half that she knows. There is always great waste and loss in the act of transmission. If a teacher has not

Guggenheim For Senator-Harry J. Robinson, representative-elect of Bingham, is at the Wilson. He has just returned from Denver. "Simon Guggenheim will be Colorado's next United States senator," says Mr. Rob. inson. "He will get this position from an almost direct vote of the people. Sixty-eight of 70 Republican members of the two houses declared themselves for Guggenheim at a caucus meeting held in Denver recently. The ballot to be cast Jan. 16 will undoubtedly give Mr. Guggenheim a three-quarters vote of the 100 members in both houses of the Colorado legislature. Guggenheim is the youngest of seven brothers now constituting the A. S. and R, company. He will undoubtedly serve Colorado well if sent to the senate, and will be heard in affairs affecting the west." Simon Guggenheim is a frequent visitor to Salt Lake and is well known in local mining and smelting circles, and smelting circles, Got Mine From Indian—Dr. C. P. Harville of Leith, Nev., is at the Wil-son. Dr. Harville is a member of the Cherokee Mining company which has properties near Leith. The mines, for they are mines, will be shipping a high grade ore within a few weeks. As the Salt Lake Route passes within six miles of the mines, excellent transportation facilities are offered. The present company purchased the mines from a half-breed Cherokee In-dian, hence its name. The Cherokee had been the partner of a white man who died years ago. The Indian de-veloped the property in a fashion but waited for the white man to determine the real value of the district. This, says Dr. Harville, the white man is doing without loss of time.

Strange But True Cabby Story-"Bobby" Sykes, whose home is no-where and everywhere, to use his own "Bobby" Sykes, whose home is no-where and everywhere, to use his own expression and whose business no one has been able to discover, tells a good story on himself. It seems he was in Salt Lake for the afternoon not long ago and decided he would eat dinner. He strolled down to the Knutsford, ate his meal and lighting a fat Havana deposited himself in one of the chairs in front. Happening to remember that he had an engagement to meet a friend, "Bobby" halled a passing cab-man and rolled into the carriage. "Where?" asked the "cabby." "Wait a minute," said Bobby fumbling in his pocket for an address. "The Mani-tou," he said a second later, poking his head out of the cab window. The driver's face was filled with amaze-ment. He said nothing but whipped his horses into a trot. In a half hour or so the carriage stopped and Bobby pilled out to find himself in front of the Manitou. He paid the cabby $1 and made his call, It was not until he left the Manitou and saw the Knuts-ford, not 100 feet ahead that he real-ized how he had been done. "Your wide streets are great," said Bobby, "but you certainly have the most clever cabmen in the world," He laughs heartily as he finishes his story with. "You know I thought we passed the temple twice,"

PERUNA EDITORIAL NO. I.

A Crusade Against Secret Medicines.

There has been an indiscriminate crusade against American commercial enterprises. This most extraordinary ATTACK UPON BUSINESS corporations has involved manufacturers of nearly all kinds, has spared few producers of any sort.

Each and every one of these enterprises perhaps deserved some criticism. Whether their opponents have dealt with them justly or not, they are promptly adjusting themselves to the new conditions, and demonstrating to the business world that in the larger things they have been governed by sound financial integrity, even if in some few particulars the times were ripe for reform.

Like other great industries, THE PATENT MEDICINE INDUSTRY is coming in for its share of censure. Secrecy of composition has been the main war-cry against these medicines.

It was admitted on the part of patent medicine manufacturers, that their formulæ were kept secret. They felt obliged to do this, in order to prevent imitators from imposing on the public. After a proprietor had spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising a remedy, the secrecy of his formula was his only protection against others stepping in and reaping the reward of his tremendous outlay in advertising.

The unwillingness of patent medicine manufacturers to reveal the ingredients of their compound was perfectly natural. They felt that they deserved protection from the government the same as any other citizen who procures a patent on an invention or a process. BUT THIS CONSIDERA-TION DID NOT KEEP BACK THE CRITICS.

The agitation was kept up until Congress enacted a law making it obligatory on the part of such manufacturers to expose certain ingredients on the label of each package.

It was thought best to include alcohol in the list of objectionable ingredients. This being the only objectionable ingredient contained in Peruna, the manufacturer of this very excellent remedy promptly obeyed the law.

Indeed, he voluntarily went farther than this. Dr. Hartman, after serious consideration of the matter, has concluded to put PLAINLY ON THE LABEL OF EACH BOTTLE the principal active constituents of which Peruna is composed. While we do not agree that the claim against secrecy has been a just one, yet from this time on we have concluded to take Peruna out of the list of secret patent medicines.

We now offer Peruna to the public as a regular pharmaceu-tical product. It is just as ethical as any compound put up by the medical profession. No straining of medical ethics can find any fault with it. THE PRINCIPAL ACTIVE INGREDIENTS are prominently incorporated in the label on the bottle, that the people may know that the claims made for Peruna. have a true justification.

The only departure we shall make from medical ethics in the conduct of Peruna affairs in the future, is the fact that we shall continue to advertise and sell our product TO THE PEOPLE.

If we would agree to sell to doctors only, to advertise for doctors only, then the medical fraternity would be obliged to recognize Peruna as being entirely within their approval.

BUT WE SHALL NOT DO THIS.

We shall continue to offer Peruna to the people. We shall continue to convey to the people our claims for Peruna as a household remedy. We shall continue to supply the people with free literature, teaching them how to use our medicine, teaching them how to avoid disease, teaching them many things of benefit to the home. We shall continue to do this, whether the medical profession like it or not.

We are proposing from this time on to take the public into our confidence. Notwithstanding that some imitators and substitutors will be attempting to put up something which they consider just as good as Peruna, we are going to draw aside the veil of secrecy and allow any one who chooses to know exactly OF WHAT PERUNA IS COMPOSED.

This ought to disarm all honest criticism. We expect, however, that criticism will continue. On some pretext or other those who are envious of the success of Peruna will continue to find fault. But we are determined to give such people no just complaint.

PERUNA IS A GREAT MEDICINE.

It has become a household word in millions of homes. Our faith in the remedy is stronger than ever. Every year we expect to establish new plants in foreign lands until the people of all the world are supplied with this valuable household remedy.

WE ARE GOING TO DO EVERYTHING IN THE OPEN. We are going to tell our customers exactly what they are taking, and let them judge for themselves how much foundation our critics have for their claims.

All we ask of the public is to be as fair with us as we are with them.

WE CLAIM PERUNA TO BE A CATARRH REMEDY. Buy a bottle and try it. If it helps you, be honest and acknowledge that it has helped you.

If you want us to we will publish your statement exactly as you furnish it to us. We will add no words, take away no words. If you wish us to we will publish your portrait in connection with it. We will not do this without your

"A teacher in a good school will probably increase in efficiency for four or five years, even if she relies exclusively upon her school room ex-perience for information and inspiraperfence for information and inspira-tion, but unless she can be induced to study, it is doubtful whether she will continue to increase in efficiency over a longer period. Scholaraship and habits of study are factors that must be considered in estimating the ef-ficiency of a teacher. A true teacher never makes the mistake of thinking her education is finished. She must not loss her sympathy with the loarne

THROUGH NORMAL SCHOOL.

"Many cities are now establishing many cities are now establishing work to carry forward the training and inspiration of the teachers after they enter the service. In Chicago this is done through the normal school: in other cities through uni-versities and other institutions of learning in their midst. We must pro-vide opportunities for this continuous learning in their midst. We must pro-vide opportunities for this continuous study on the part of the teacher, un-der the guidance of the best profes-sional leadership, if we hope to pro-vide conditions for efficient work by happy children. This work cannot be done by high school girls preparing for the work of the school room. A large part of it must come as an aid in the solution of problems which they have met in their every-day work.

"It is equally true that opportunities must be afforded for special academic training along the various lines in-cluded in the school curriculum. There is no subject taught today as it was taught 20 years ago. There is no sub-icet along which great advancement taught 20 years ago. There is no sub-ject along which great advancement has been made along which ideals of presentation have not changed with the progress of the tinfes. The curri-culum of today includes many sub-jects which were not attempted in the schools of the past. The teacher must have an opportunity to study, under the best conditions, not only the newer subjects but the older ones."

Peruna has cured thousands of people of chronic catarrh, in many phases and locations. At least, that is what the people say to us, through unsolicited testimonials. Peruna will cure many thousand more, in spite of fabricated slanders to the contrary.

WE GUARANTEE EVERY BOTTLE OF PERUNA TO CONTAIN THE INGREDIENTS PRINTED ON THE LABEL.

We guarantee that every testimonial we use is absolutely trae-in the exact language of the testifier.

We guarantee that every photograph published is the photograph of the person whose name it bears, that every word of every testimonial was authorized by the hand that signed it.

We are determined to beat our opponents by being fairer than they are, by dealing squarer than they dare to. We are determined to meet falsehood with truth, duplicity with candor, insincerity with sincerity.

We know that the users of Peruna will appreciate our stand. We believe that the dealers in Peruna will applaud our course. We expect even our opponents will be obliged to acknowledge finally that Peruna is not only an nonest and useful remedy, but one of the GREATEST HOUSEHOLD MEDI-CINES ON THE CONTINENT.
