THEATRICAL.—Last night the heavy force necessary to produce the "Sea of Ice" got through their onerous duties in a very commendable manner. This exciting drama requires a small army of quick, energetic workmen, of whose existence the audience is unconscious, to produce it in a proper manner. The mechanical effects in the second act are so startling and numerous that it must be evident a strong force is working unseen or they could not be produced. The crash of the breaking ice, the parting asunder of its massive surface, the working and moving of the numerous icebergs, the flashing scintillations and continual discharges of the aurora borealis, the boiling and seething of the raging ocean, and the sinking of the mother with her last, despairing cry, while her babe is borne away in a life of ice, require more skill, powers of arrangement, and a larger number of persons to produce, than those seated in the auditorium are apt to have any conception of, and the public are the debtors of the Management for presenting such absorbing pictures in such vivid detail. Messrs. McClelland, Lindsay, Margolis, Graham, Harlow, Thompson, Crowther, Hyde, Miss Adams and Mrs. Bowring acquitted themselves handsomely in the performance of the drama.

To-morrow evening the "Gunnaker of Moscow" will be presented, a dramatic play from the novel of the same title. It is one of those pieces that win with most audiences, for its hero is brave and virtuous, its heroine noble and devoted, its villain completely foiled in all his plans, and it has a mystery about it that always excites interest till the development is revealed. It will be followed by a very laughable comic Shadow Pantomime, similar to that which created so much amusement on Wednesday evening.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening, about 8 o'clock, as the stage from the east, which arrived last night, was about to pass down Yellow Creek hill, between Bear river and Echo Cañon, the driver, Shade Collier, found the brake unmanageable. He got off and examined it, got on again, and drove down the hill; but before he had gone a hundred yards where he dismounted, he turned into a little gutter, as if to stop the coach, when it upset and he was thrown off and under the coach, his head striking the rail as he fell. The team was going slowly at the time. The upset brought the two wheel horses to the ground, and the coach stopped. When the driver was got from under the coach, it was found that his left leg was broken above the wrist, and his left thigh was broken; but the fatal injury seemed to be to the head. He died immediately.

Mr. Collier was a little over thirty years of age, and was unmarried.

RAILROAD NEWS DEPART.—Mr. James Dwyer of the Railroad News Depart. laid a batch of illustrated papers and periodicals on our table to-day, including The Lady's Friend, an excellent monthly of literature and fashion; Our Young Folks, an illustrated magazine for boys and girls; Golden's Lady's Book and Peter's Monthly, both too well known to need comment; The Galaxy, one of the best magazines in America; All the Year Round, Charles Dickens' weekly journal; Frank Leslie's Lady's Illustrated Companion; The Atlantic Lady's Almanac and Appleton's Lady's Almanac for 1899, beautifully illustrated and valuable works; Nick's Magazine; Harper's Weekly; Frank Leslie's Illustrated; The Days' Dangers; The Illustrated London News, with supplement, the New York Clipper, and the Waverley Magazine. For these, and for all the popular papers and magazines of the day, he receives substantial remuneration.

Mr. Dwyer is doing a thriving business, and his "News Depot," at the Post Office, is fast becoming recognized as a public institution.

POLICE.—Josiah Burdick was drunk and disorderly last night, and this morning Justice Clinton assessed a fine of $5 and costs.

A Huss was also a "drunk," and was indignantly inclined, and with such incense, he assaulted and manifested a disposition to "pitch into" the belligerent Burdick; for which he was fined $10 and costs this morning.

MADAME SCHILLER will make her first appearance this season on Tuesday evening, and, we believe, as Josephine, in the attractive operatic drama "The Child of the Regiment."

This talented lady has brought with her a repertoire of entirely new pieces, and so we may look forward to a most animated and brilliant dramatic season.

WILL MEET.—The Board of Regents of the University of Deseret, will meet this evening at 7 o'clock, in President Young's Office; pursuant to notice published yesterday.

SCHOOL TEACHERS.—Bro. W. H. Crawford writes to President Geo. A. Smith, asking him to use his influence to have a school teacher sent down to Washington, Washington Co. There are children enough in that settlement; Bro. Crawford says, for two schools, and they need a teacher.

Will any of the brethren who are competent, look upon school teaching as an important mission, one of the most important in which they could be engaged, and so we may look forward to a most animated and brilliant dramatic season.

CHANGE OF TIME.—Postmaster Street informs us that on and after to-morrow, Oct. 31, the Eastern mail will close at 5 p.m. and leave at 6 p.m.

MONEY IN FISH CULTURE.—Pisciculture is attracting increased attention in this and other countries, but we do not intend to extend this item to the size of an article on the subject. For the benefit of those who wish to see the dollar in everything, we would refer them to a calculation in the November number of Harper's Magazine on the subject of fish culture. Starting on Seth Green's statement that one acre of water can be made to produce a larger quantity of food than two acres of land, in the calculation referred to, on estimates reasonably placed it is shown, that with an outlay of under $50,000 in four years, a net profit could be drawn of over $100,000 or more than 100 per cent on the invested capital. Some of the figures in the estimate of expenses would be rather low for this region, but the fish, when reared on the same basis and allowing an increased amount for outlay, would still reach as high a percentage as that named. The fish on which the calculation is made is trout, and the numerous splendid situations for fish ponds, and the small natural lakes which abound in these valleys, wealth might be made in abundance from the cultivation of fish and a choice and healthy article of food be brought into the market to supply the entire demand.

We hope this subject will receive increased attention at the hands of those who are so situated as to be able to make a profitable business of it. There is money in it.

THE UTAH LAKE MONSTERS.—Bro. Madsen, a well-known authority on anything connected with Utah Lake, says that a peculiar bird inhabits the lake, about the size of a duck, with short wings that have scarcely any feathers on them. It can neither fly nor walk, and can consume under water, when it dives, fully a quarter of an hour. It is called a "hell diver" by those who are acquainted with its movements. With great velocity, dapping its short and alighted it that gives the appearance of a serpent slithering along. He suggests that the true valuable track, with its own peculiar appearance, may have led to the one which entertained by those who thought they saw monsters in the lake.

Though a fisherman on the lake for fourteen years, Bro. Madsen has never seen anything that looked like them, and is a total unbeliever in their existence.
