THE "DEMOCRAT" AND PROVISIONS FOR POLYGAMOUS CHILDREN.

WE condescend once more to notice the crude apology for a paper which calls itself the Salt Lake Democrat. The editor seems to take pleasure, as a scion of a polygamous stock, in defaming a system to which he owes his present existence. The London Standard made some manly and just remarks as to the wrong of requiring the "Mormons" to "set aside the women who have, for many years been faithful wives and the mothers of their children." This does not suit the editor of the Democrat. He endorses and justifies the movement which the Standard deprecates and says: "It is the duty of the Government to suppress polygamy that polygamists may be deprived of the power to work further harm and injury," and then urges the "enforced discountenance" of present "Mormon" family relations.

Of course it is of little or no consequence what he advocates, for it will have less effect than the gentle breath from a stagnant puddle, but he goes on to make assertions which some may think correct, and we refer to them to show their falsity. He praises the Edmunds law for legitimating all the children of polygamous marriages up to a certain date, and then finds fault with the "Mormons" for not doing this by act of the Legislature, of which he says, "the Mormons have always had absolute control." Further, he asserts that "if a polygamist in Utah died intestate, all his polygamous wives and children had no rights whatever in his estate, and could get no standing in court."

Now, as he pretends to be a lawyer, he ought to know better than to make such ignorant assertions. We have to consider him wofully ignorant or wilfully false, and we prefer the former, out of charity for the degenerate son of a worthy sire. In the first place, he ought to know that the legislative power in Utah is partly vested in the Executive, and that a hostile Governor can and does often veto the acts of the Assembly; thus the "absolute control," he talks so flippantly about is not in the elected "Mormon" Legislature, but in the appointed "Gentile" Governor.

In the next place he ought to know, considering his opportunities, that "Mormon" plural marriages are purely ecclesiastical and have not been provided for by local law, and that if any provision had been made legalizing them in any way the act of Congress of 1862 would have annulled any such legislation.

In the third place, as a "lawyer" he should know that as early as 1862 an act was passed providing that "when the deceased leaves a wife or family, no property exempt by law from execution shall be considered assets, or administered upon, but shall be held for the exclusive benefit of the wife or family and shall not be liable for any debts against the estate."

And lest the term "family" might be open to dispute, and the children of plural wives might be called illegitimate by claimants to the estate, it was further provided in the same law that "illegitimate children and their mothers inherit in like manner from the father whether acknowledged by him or not, provided it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, that he was the father of such illegitimate child or children." How does that look by the side of the statement of the editor of the Democrat?"

But he will say perhaps those provisions were rendered invalid by the law of 1862. If so, whose fault was it? Not the "Mormons," surely. And he ought to know that it remained in force and was considered valid until a shameful decision in the Woolley estate case was rendered, and that but a few years ago. Also he ought to know that in 1876 a new law was enacted which provided that "Every illegitimate child is in all cases an heir to its mother. It is also heir to its father when acknowledged by him." And this was but the remnant of a broader provision which the Legislature made in the original bill for the protection of all children and their mothers, but the Governor would not sign it except in the form in which it appears above.

And he ought to know that the law as it now stands, enacted in 1884, provides that: "Every illegitimate child is an heir of the person who acknowledges himself to be the father of such child; and in all cases is an heir of his mother, and inherits his or her estate in whole or in part, as the case may be, in the same manner as if born in lawful wedlock. The issue of all marriages, null in law or dissolved by divorce, are legitimate."

After he has read these provisions, unless he is lost to honor as well as shame, he will see where he has "put his foot in it," and never repeat his rash assertion, that: "It a polygamist in Utah died intestate, all his polygamous wives and children had no rights whatever in his estate, and could get no standing in court, nor say anything more about what the 'Mormon Legislature' never attempted to do."

If he wants to float with the popular current, throw mud at "Mormonism," cast odium upon parents who should be revered, and try to bear down a system that gave him life and all he owns in the world, that's his business. But he should be a little more careful about his facts, especially when he rushes into print, and might learn something from the old proverb which says, "It's a dirty bird that fouls its own nest."

THE IDAHO BUNN.

"BILLY BUNN, the ex-governor and house-burner of Idaho, is still throwing dirt at Governor Stevenson. No better way of showing the difference of estimation in which the two governors are held by the people than to state that but one so-called newspaper (The Smelli-Malachi blackmailer) and not to exceed half a dozen residents regretted the distinguished pickpocket's departure; while on the other hand every newspaper and the people throughout the length and breadth of the Territory are the warm friends of and strongly endorse Governor Stevenson. Bunn doesn't like Idaho; but he has no advantage in this respect; Idaho despises him."—Idaho Democrat.

It cannot certainly be said in this instance that either the press or the public (the respectable part of it, we mean) in Idaho gave the retired Bunn a chance to express the first feelings of disgust. Having heard that he was a pious fraud, and found out that he was an unprincipled knave, they opened their batteries on him at once, and kept up till he withdrew from the field, defeated but not disgraced; nothing could disgrace him; he had passed that point before he came to Idaho.

THE IMMORAL CHAMPIONS OF "MORALITY."

THE efforts of the police to enforce the city ordinances against sexual immorality, which ought to receive the support of all who desire social order and the public welfare, are denounced, defied and hindered by those who have figured for some time past as the champions of morality. The loudest clamorers against polygamy are the most vehement defenders of the parties charged with debauchery. It has been so from the beginning. The unvirtuous of both sexes are and have always been the bitterest enemies of plural marriage.

The local officers are in possession of certain facts; complaints against individuals who are known to have violated the principles of chastity have been duly made; the ordinances of the city in such cases made and provided have been broken; the police, whose duty it is to do so, have made some arrests; and what is the consequence? Instead of receiving the support of officials and others, who have been posing as the upholders of law and the defenders of society, the police are maligned and the ordinance under which they are acting is sought to be made inoperative.

All the machinery that has been set in motion to persecute "Mormons" for living with their faithful wives and loving children, is turned for the protection of the libertines who have outraged decency and wallowed in bestiality. The officials who have hounded and hunted down men and women and little children in order to break up "Mormon" families, rush to the rescue of persons charged with the vilest of practices. The press which has pretended to do battle in the interest of social purity by assailing "Mormon" marriage, now fairly boils over with rage because an effort is being made to purge the social body of real impurities.

The honest performance of police duty is called "A Mormon Plot." Without the shadow of a reason for the libel, police proceedings against reputed whoremongers are represented as "plans adopted by the Mormon Church." The far-fetched idea is put forth that this enforcement of local law was intended "to help the cause of the polygamists." The measures taken to obtain proof of the guilt of notorious debauchees are denounced as "infamous intrigues in the interest of the vile church," and every effort is made to slander all who are engaged in the performance of a sworn duty by the prosecution of persons accused of debasing crime.

And what steps are taken to defend the character of the "gentlemen" charged with these offenses against law and decency? Proofs to cleanse them from the stain? Evidence to disprove the accusation? Arguments to counteract the complaints? Nothing of the kind. But the first case is snatched out of the hands of the magistrate whose duty it is to enquire into the facts, and a cover is sought to be placed over the whole thing that the proofs may not be brought to light. The aid of able attorneys who have, as counsel for the city, prosecuted parties accused under the municipal ordinance is invoked for the purpose of making it appear that the ordinance is invalid. The tactics are the same as those which were used to whitewash the ex-Marshal of Kentucky and present Governor of Utah. The proceedings were quashed by influential pressure just at the point where the evidence was most damaging to proof of innocence—no disproof of guilt, but a lid put over the pot of the whole proceedings.

We could say much in regard to the validity of the ordinance under which these prosecutions have been taken, but we leave that to the counsel who have the matter in hand. That both general and special powers are given to the city authorities, by charter, for the suppression of prostitution and the preservation of social order, is plain enough to any one who does not deal in quibbles, and wish to take advantage of verbal technicalities. The result under all the circumstances, is not difficult to prognosticate. But, in any event the guilty should not be allowed to escape. There are other legal measures that can be taken in the interest of law, order and decency, in case the proceedings now in progress should be stamped upon by the judicial hoof.

The morning organ of the male and female prostitutes says: "Through what course of reasoning it was decided that such a course would help the cause of the polygamists, it is difficult to understand." Just so. If any such course of reasoning was adopted or any such conclusion was reached, there might be some difficulty in understanding it. But the "reasoning" and the conclusion are both the sole property of the organ of the prostitutes. No one else has ever entertained them. But it is not difficult to understand why that organ should fly to the defense of "the men here who," as it says, "fight both the divinity and legality of polygamy, in the interest of good government and the American home, and in their private lives are addicted to one of the common vices of humanity." "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind," explains the matter fully. But how about the American home? Is it compatible with "the American home" to have one wife shut up in it with a child or two, which is the fashionable limit, while the head of the family sallies forth to fight "both the divinity and legality of polygamy" and revel in the haunts of unbridled lust? How much are "the interests of good government" promoted by fighting polygamy and practicing or endorsing prostitution, or apologizing for it as "one of the common vices of humanity?"

Whatever may grow out of these proceedings, one thing is made more apparent than ever; that is, that the law-and-order shriekers who are seeking to bring the "Mormons" into bondage because of a distinctive feature of religion, care no more for law and order and decency than the most depraved of criminals, and that all their virtuous(?) declamations are but the shuffling pretenses of canting and lecherous hypocrites.

The Democrat of Monday evening, still worrying over the question of "privileges," asks the NEWS to "Explain, please." The explanation was given simultaneously with or before the request, which the Democrat has no doubt discovered by this time. And as to what it calls the "new doctrine" that "Mormon" plural marriage is "not for extension beyond the Church and is even limited within its pale," it is informed that the doctrine did not originate with the NEWS or the present Presidency of the Church, but is as old at least as the revelation on celestial marriage, and any one with common understanding who can read can find it therein. The Democrat doesn't read enough or else doesn't think enough, that's what's the matter.

The Tribune is still trying to lie itself out of the exposure of its lies about "Mormon" laws on sexual crimes, and essays once more to misrepresent the argument of the NEWS showing that "Mormon" plural marriage is not for general practice. All that we would ask of any sane person would be to read our articles on these questions, and compare them with the Tribune's attempts to excuse its own mendacity and throw dirt at us for exposing it. The two assaults on the NEWS this morning are the thinnest mess of bilge water that the daily libeller has baled out for some time.

To see the boys dodging the Deputy Marshal, last Tuesday, one would imagine that he was in a polygamous-ridden settlement of Saints that was minus the modern underground railroad facilities.—Southern Utah Times.

To have seen the anti-"Mormon" howlers dodging the police yesterday, one would have imagined that there was not more than one of them who was not "suspected of marital infidelity."

"It was not illicit sexual intercourse that this (the Edmunds) law was aimed at. The national legislature might safely leave this class of sexual sin to be dealt with by the local authorities.—Mr. Dickson.

It has been six months since use was made of this expression. That is long enough for the Court to change its opinion, especially when the liberty of a sacred deputy is endangered.

"Guilty, or not guilty? That's not the question.
Whether 'twere cheaper in the end, to bear
The penalty of a heinous crime,
Or seek deliverance through Zane by habeas corpus,
And stop investigation?"

Then he sought to escape, and awaiteth for deliverance until Friday morning.

"Three U. & N. conductors were discharged on Thursday. One of the above individuals took the responsibility upon himself a few days ago of running his train with Mr. Vandercook aboard, into Logan ahead of time without orders to do so.—Logan Journal."

The deputy now looks as though he wished he had not been such a "fast" young man.

Deputy marshals who nose around private houses, sneak into families, bribe little children and spy out the secrets of quiet households are "gentlemanly officers." But policemen who detect lecherous violators of law and chastity, are "spotters" and "mercenaries" and everything that is vile.—Vide Tribune.

A man arrested at Bozeman had on his person a book "on sexual relations." We are not surprised to learn that he has gone insane.—Butte Miner.

Vandercook was not discovered with the book, but he trusts in Zane just the same.

It is awful, demoralizing and unbearable for a man to have more wives than one. But to bed with prostitutes and bathe in pollution are only "the common vices of humanity."—Vide Tribune.

Plots against polygamist are "legal measures;" plans to detect male prostitutes are "conspiracies."—Vide Tribune.

CORRESPONDENCE.

YOUNG MEN ORGANIZED IN PRICE.

PRICE, Emery County,
Utah, Nov. 14th, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

The organization of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association for Price Ward took place on Sunday evening, the 8th inst., with the following officers: Ernest Horsley, president; Albert Bryner and Arthur W. Horsley, counselors; Eugene E. Branch, secretary; Erastus Olsen, assistant secretary; Brigham McIntire, treasurer; Charles Webb, librarian.

Those young men, all born in the covenant, spoke with a power and determination in favor of the cause of God which almost made the old folks present feel that they had better take a back seat, and let the heroes occupy the pulpit henceforth, as their sermons almost made the mountains echo with joy.

May heaven strengthen them in their responsibility through all future events, is the desire of C. H.

Work & Warner Find Sixty Thousand Bail.

NEW YORK, 24.—This Morning Wm. S. Warner and J. Henry Work appeared before Judge Brown and asked what amount of bail would be required in their case. Judge Brown fixed the bail at $30,000. Both defendants appeared before Commissioner Shields and gave bonds in the sum of $20,000, or double the amount required. The sureties are Frank Work and John C. Work, uncle and father of J. Henry Work. The proceedings pending before Commissioner Shields were dismissed.

The following is the indictment substantially as found against the defendants: That Ferdinand Ward in '84 was director of the Marine Bank, and while acting as such, did, with intent to defraud, with Wm. S. Warner, James H. Ward and divers other persons, to the jury as yet unknown, misapply the sum of $7,033,675 as follows: That he, Ward, by reason of a check did direct the payment to W. S. Warner of the sum of $81,000, whichw as not then on deposit or in any way secured, but was drawn so that William S. Warner, James H. Work and others should draw the sum of $7,033,675 from the Marine Bank and that Warner and Work were present and aided and abetted Ward to commit this offense.

The second count of the indictment is the same as the foregoing, save that Ward is charged with "abstracting" instead of misapplying the funds of the bank.

The third and fourth counts are the same as the first and second, except that they refer to a different cheque for $71,800.

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth counts are the same as the first, second, third and fourth counts, except that they charge the intent to have been to defraud Ulysses S. Grant. The document covers nine pages of closely written and printed matter and at the end of the Indictment the name of William Dorsheimer U. S. District Attorney appears. The bonds of Work and Warner are made returnable on the second Wednesday in December next. The penalty in case of conviction is a term of from five to ten years in the State prison.

NEW YORK, 24.—The tide rose three feet higher this morning than ever known before. The docks along the water front were submerged and business entirely suspended for several hours. General Govanovitch Blows his Brains Out.

BELGRADE, 24.—General Govanovitch, late commander of the Danube division, dismissed from his command for disobeying orders, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. The recent disasters to the Servian army from the defeat before Slivitzna down to the reoccupation of Tsaribrod by the Bulgarians are attributed to his failure to carry out the orders given him.

Prince Alexander Driving the Servians from Bulgaria.

SOFIA, 24.—The city is wild with excitement over news from the front stating Prince Alexander, at the head of the Bulgarian troops, has followed up his victory and is driving the Servians slowly but surely from Bulgarian territory.

Alexander Storms the Heights of Tsaribrod.

SOFIA, 24.—The latest dispatch says: Prince Alexander stormed the heights of Tsaribrod and occupied that city last evening. The Prince made a triumphal entry into the city and was received with enthusiasm by the populace.

A Scheme of Peace.

ST. PETERSBURG, 24.—The Journal de St. Petersburg to-day says: "Upon the Russian's initiative the Powers are promoting a scheme for the suspension of hostilities in the Balkans, but hopes are entertained that Servia and Bulgaria, although incapable of resisting the promptings of their passion, will become sensible enough to see that it is to the popular interests of both countries that they, of their own accord, sheath their swords."

Don't Eat in a Hurry.

A health journal says that people ought to take three-quarters of an hour for dinner. This is well if there is enough dinner to hold out so long. The penalty for hurrying meals, as most people do, is a grievous attack of dyspepsia. In such a case you will have to resort to Brown's Iron Bitters for cure, as did Mr. J. R. Pinkston, Shorter's Depot, Ala., who writes, "I found relief in Brown's Iron Bitters after years of suffering from dyspepsia."

GEO. GODDARD & CO'S
HEAD ENTERPRISE
For the Sale of HOME MADE HATS is now Open, in a Store Two doors South of Z. C. M. I.

Since their Opening they have met Encouraging Success!

The people are clamoring for HOME MADE HATS. Every Merchant in the country should keep them for sale, to accommodate their customers. No Shoddy Hats made at our factory. We will not make them. We invite all Merchants in Society and Settlements of the Saints to call and buy our Hats for the benefit of their customers, and the building up of a Home Industry.

Where there's a will there's a way. Where there's a determination and a will of the people to make a Success of a Home Industry, nothing can prevent it, and it will cannot come of GEO. GODDARD & CO'S HATS at one store, they will go to another, even if they have to come to Headquarters, two doors below Z. C. M. I. and if they want a stiff hat, and there's none in stock, they will buy a soft one. S. P. Teasdel sells Geo. Goddard & Co's Hats, as also do the Co-Op Ward Store and John C. Cutler & Bro.

Let the People and Merchants be determined to make this very important industry a success, and we will soon have one Machinery going, so that every male head in the Territory can be covered with one of GEO. GODDARD & CO'S HATS.

Another Branch of Home Industry is also connected with it, viz: GEO. GODDARD'S BLACK and RED INK. Every Merchant in the country should have a supply on his shelves for sale, and recommend it to his customers. Country Co-op stores can get it from Z. C. M. I. or S. P. Teasdel. These two branches of Home Made articles can be made a permanent success, by every head being covered with one of GEO. GODDARD & CO'S HATS, and every writer using GEO. GODDARD'S BLACK and RED INKS!
