

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH.

Thursday night the University, through the president and faculty, gave the students an informal reception in the school of mines building. President and Mrs. Kingsbury received the students at the entrance of the assembly room. The evening was spent in dancing and handshaking. An informal program was rendered. Refreshments consisting of sherbet cake and punch were served. The committee in charge were Professors Byron Cummings, D. R. Allen, Maud May Babcock, Edwin Evans and Mr. Robison.

At 12 o'clock on Thursday the track and debating teams left for Reno, Nevada. The debate took place last night and the track meet came off today. The members of the track team are Whitney Riser, Wade, Rideout, Duttler, Hennion, Steffenson, Roberts, Clayton and Russell. The "Varsity" debaters are Frank Holman, Ernest Burgess and T. M. Reese. The track team is in charge of Prof. Holmes. Manager F. J. Pack accompanied the debaters.

Prof. Stewart addressed the graduates of the University training school Wednesday afternoon.

Last night Miss May and the Kindergarten department entertained the patrons of the training school from 8 o'clock until 11.

Sadie Holt, Mabel Miner, Ellen Clark and Charles Keele, all members of the '02 normal class, visited the University on Thursday.

Dean Edillo of Salt Lake City, and his niece from Los Angeles, visited the University Wednesday morning.

The summer school committee has arranged to give the evening lectures in Barratt Hall.

On June 3 Instructor Arnold will leave for Chicago University, where he will teach French during the summer term of school.

The business meeting of the Alumni association will be held Wednesday evening in the museum building. The banquet and ball will take place the night following. Announcements of these meetings were sent out last week. If any members haven't received their principals, a musicale will be rendered at the Assembly Hall at 8 o'clock on that evening. Besides a very choice series of vocal and instrumental selections, remarks by Supt. Christensen and Principal Edillo of the High school will tend to make the evening both pleasant and profitable. The magnanimity shown by those gentlemen who have produced the wherewithal for the maintenance of the schools for the last five weeks, by making up the deficit, have won an enviable spot in the hearts of the teaching corps. The suspense, which, as a matter of course, has reigned in some degree, in handicapping the teachers, is thus broken.

The close of schools this week will be a signal for a general scattering of teachers. Some will seek refuge from the world of whirling ideas, among the hills or on the coast, while others will make sojourns among friends and relatives in favorite sections of the continent.

The Union school is already hard at work preparing "Essays on Utah," a product which is to be exhibited at the next state fair.

At the last Principals' meeting, matters concerning line of marching on Roosevelt day were considered. Regular work will be continued in all the grades this week.

Principal John Coombs of the Lincoln will be among the hills during the summer.

Miss Josephine Chambers of the Union expects to visit among friends and relatives in Ogden, her former home.

Miss Johnson of the Lincoln leaves soon for Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Whittaker of the Lincoln school, anticipates taking an extensive tour in the east and west during the vacation.

Some teachers are going to avail themselves of the opportunity of taking the Summer school course offered by the U. of U.

Miss Morse of the Lincoln will spend a short time during vacation in Spokane.

Friends of Miss Nellie Manning, formerly an instructor in our schools, will gather last Wednesday morning was a recitation by Miss May Alexander, one of the graduates in Miss Nellie's special education classes. So marked was the pathos that winking hard was of no avail—handkerchiefs had to be used by half the audience.

College hall was well filled at each of the three sessions of the Book of Mormon convention. Among the prominent brethren present were Presidents Joseph F. Smith and Anton H. Lund, Elders John H. Smith and Reed Smoot, Bishop O. F. Whitney, and George Reynolds, B. H. Roberts, C. W. Penrose and James E. Talmage. There were also many other brethren of the many interesting topics planned for discussion. Perhaps the most satisfactory result was the agreement upon a common method of pronouncing Book of Mormon names.

The alumni officers for next year are as follows: President, the Hon. J. H. Murdoch of Charleston; first vice president, Prof. Caleb Tanner; second vice president, Mrs. T. S. Taylor; secretary, Miss Alice Reynolds; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. L. Talmage; treasurer, Prof. Thomas S. Court; members of the executive committee, N. H. Packard and S. P. Eggeston; committee on alumni biography, Prof. Jos. B. Keeler, N. L. Nelson, and Miss Jean Clark Holbrook; alumni editor of White and Blue, Prof. N. L. Nelson.

It is generally conceded that for uniqueness of invention the program of the High school graduates' exercises is a delightfully far-fetched idea that as a high school organization, the class was dead. And this was its funeral. It remains only to be said that all this wit and wisdom was the concoction of only 24 hours of reflection started by a joke. The idea opened up so surprisingly that the first program, which had been in course of preparation for some time, was unquestionably set aside for it.

After the above program is rendered in the assembly hall, a party will be given in the gymnasium to which friends and patrons of the college are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served.

An exhibit is now being held in rooms 11 and 12 of the west building. The manual training and the domestic arts departments chiefly are represented, and particularly also that of the training school.

Prof. Robinson's special students in vocal music are making devotional exercises extremely interesting each morning by favoring the school with a vocal solo. Those who have sang so far are the following: K. J. Hammer, S. P. Nelson, Miss Pauline Eaborn, Miss Skidmore. In each case the singing was beautiful, denoting excellent training and was very heartily applauded by the students and teachers.

Final examination, closing the work of the school year will begin on Monday, June 1, and continue through four days.

On Tuesday the students all "threw their books over the fence," and went to work with shovel, rake, hoe, etc., and did a remarkable work in the way of trimming up the lawns and putting the flower beds in shape. The event terminated in a matinee which began about 5 o'clock, where the students finished out a most enjoyable day.

When the idea of moving the training school to the Preston block was first advanced, it met a great deal of opposition from the training students, but since they have become settled in their new home and have found out how very convenient and pleasant it is, they would not exchange for their old quarters.

The work of the training school is such that applications are already coming in for entrance next year.

The Book of Mormon society held a session last Friday night. The society is doing a very good work in collecting all data that will be of any value in connection with the Book of Mormon.

There will be three students taking degrees, 15 graduating from the school courses, and three taking special certificates for completion of short business courses, one June 5.

The commencement exercises will begin next Friday at 10 o'clock, class day exercises will be held on Thursday evening and field day will be on Thursday.

The executive committee met on Tuesday and transacted some important business for the college.

The second year class gave a party on Wednesday night, to which they cordially invited only themselves. They must have had a splendid time, for they have been "giggling" about it ever since.

An interesting element in devotional on Thursday morning was a paper written by Chauncey Loveland (second year) and read by Miss Ida Black (second year). It was a prophetic warning directed to the third and fourth year students, and it called forth a great deal of applause.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY.

Ogden—Our commencement started last Friday evening when the juniors and sophomores at Dr. Engle's reception to the graduates. It was a highly social affair and all who were fortunate enough to be there were loud in their praises of the pleasant affair.

On Wednesday evening a farewell party was given at Marriott in honor of Lawrence Richy, one of our missionary students, who departs on a mission.

Prof. Bradford and Nelson, together with some of the students, formed a party who drove over and participated in the exercises. They report a very pleasant time.

Friday noon school adjourned to take part in the exercises in honor of the nation's chief executive, President Roosevelt. Every student and member of the faculty with their flags were there, and right royally were their singing appreciated as they rendered, together with the other schools, "America," as the president approached the speaker's stand, and as he drove away the high school and academy students joined in singing his favorite college song, "Fair Harvard." It was a red letter day in our history.

Dr. Tanner was a visitor at the academy last Tuesday. He visited the Sacred Geography class before which he gave a very instructive and interesting lecture on Palestine.

The program of commencement exercises follows: Friday, 8:30 p. m., May 29, reception to graduates by juniors and sophomores at Dr. Engle's hall; Monday, June 1, celebration of Brigham Young's birthday; Tuesday, June 2, 2:30 p. m., graduating class exercises; class day, June 2, 2 p. m., organization of alumni association, academy assembly hall; Wednesday, June 3, 3:15 p. m.,

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Logan—Prof. Merrill is in the southern part of the state making final arrangements for the dry farms in San Juan and Sevier counties. All material for fences, and all machinery for the five dry farms have been ordered.

President Kerr and the committee on summer school are receiving many inquiries from the teachers of the state concerning the work to be offered, especially in domestic science and manual training.

Arrangements have been completed for the exercises of commencement week, beginning June 7.

The young ladies in the graduating class are finishing their commencement gowns in the sewing rooms under the direction of Mrs. Cook.

The reception given by the A. C. Woman's club at the college library last Saturday evening was an elaborate and every way a delightful affair. The large reading room was beautifully decorated with potted plants and the chub colors, green and white. A dainty buffet lunch was served at 11 o'clock.

The program consisted of an address of welcome by Mrs. Kerr and papers by Mesdames Champ, Witte and Engle. A comic art gallery in the botany room added to the enjoyment of the evening. This was the final meeting of Mrs. Kerr's two years as president of the club; and much of the successful work of that time has been due to her zeal, energy and good judgment.

Prof. Peterson, acting president of the alumni association, says that a large number of the members will be present commencement week.

President Kerr, director of the N. E. A. from Utah, is working to secure a large attendance at the meeting to be held in Boston in July. It will probably be one of the best meetings in the history of that great association.

Miss McAllister has been absent from her classes for the past week on account of sickness.

Mr. Jeter from North Platte, Nebraska, a passenger conductor on the U. P., visited Dr. Engle and family this week.

The pupils of Miss Moeck gave a recital last evening in the assembly hall.

The college glee clubs serenaded President Kerr last Tuesday evening.

Prof. Jensen is preparing for an exhibit of students' work at commencement.

Prof. Ostlen and wife went to Salt Lake on Friday for a few days' visit.

A number of the students in the engineering department will go out with parties for work during the summer.

Six college girls of the freshman class served three separate teas last Friday afternoon. The guests were from the college and the city. The decorations for the tables of Misses Love and Peterson were yellow and orange; Misses Egbert and Stephens, red and green; Misses Caine and Ellis, Maughan, pink and green. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers, and the candelabra with tinted shades. The refreshments were elaborate and served as only our domestic science girls can serve them. The teas were certainly as unique and dainty as any ever served, and were enjoyed to the fullest by the twenty-four guests present.

On Saturday, in the regular course of work, Misses Simons and Barber of the graduating class gave a high tea in the college dining room. The decorations were blue and white, very tastefully arranged. The following six course menu was served:

Cream of tomato. Cheese sticks. Oyster patties with mushroom sauce. Parkerhouse biscuit. Butter.

Nut and egg salad. Bread and butter sandwiches. Baked bananas.

Chocolate ice cream. Lilac cake. Chocolate and whipped cream.

Candies.

A Farmer Straightened Out.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and he was satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Pattons Mill, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was cured by the house all the time for it cured me.' For sale by all druggists."

Spring Alliments.

There is an aching and tired feeling; liver, bowels, and kidneys become sluggish and inactive, the digestion impaired, with little or no appetite, and a feeling that the whole body and mind need tonic. The trouble is, that during winter there has been an accumulation of waste matter in the system. Herbine will remove it, secure to the secretions a right exit, and by its tonic effect, fully restore the wasted tissues and give strength in place of weakness. See at Z. C. M. I. Drug Department.

THE SOLDIERS AND THE HOG.

In July, 1862, down in Alabama, near Woodville, four of our men, only two of them having guns, encountered a band of bushwhackers, who fired upon them from the rear. Gallant Joe Hitchcock, carrying a gun, was the only one of the four not wounded. The bushwhackers then charged, but Hitchcock turned and fired his gun, checking, somewhat, the impetuosity of the bushwhackers' assault. He then picked up the other gun and fired again. The lone Hitchcock had the satisfaction of seeing one of the "whackers" fall. Losing interest in the proceedings, the assailants gathered up their horse-drawn combat and took to the woods. One of our wounded men subsequently died. I relate this episode by way of preface to my story.

One very dark night John Snider and I were on picket in a lane about 20 rods from Woodville. As the encounter with the bushwhackers had occurred near where we were stationed, we kept wide awake, intently listening for the slightest sound. Snider was on one side of the lane and I on the other. Nervously expecting, we were very quiet. Suddenly we heard an awfully terrifying noise, seemingly some four or five rods in our front. Thinking of the dark and devious ways of the bushwhackers, we were very scared, and, for the moment, paralyzed. Presently Snider crawled over to my position and huskily whispered, "What in the — do you suppose it is?" In a like whisper I replied, "I don't know, but I am not going to stay here in dread suspense. I'm going to move forward and develop the enemy." Said Snider, "All right. You go ahead and I'll follow." Traveling on all fours, we cautiously advanced, single file, down the lane. Now and then Snider would pull my leg, indicating that he wanted me to halt and hold a council of war. His inquiry, in a stage whisper, was always the same, "What do you think it is?" Shaking him off, I would whisper back, "I guess we shall find out soon enough; keep still as a mouse, and have your gun ready. I think we are right on to 'em. Wait and see." Stealthily approaching an excavation made by the roots of an uprooted tree, we heard a slight noise. I impressively whispered to Snider, "Get your gun ready. We are right on the spot." As an advance skirmisher, I pushed myself a little further forward, when, lo and behold, I heard a mighty grunt, and then saw a big hog scramble out of that hole and go vaulting off in undignified retreat. I know it was a big hog for two reasons. We had killed all the small ones and surely no little hog could have scared us. It was a two-year-old boy with guns in his hands, concerning that Indian-like advance of two nervous pickets, Snider and I were duly reticent. There is no denying the facts. We were both scared. So was the hog.—National Tribune.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

H/S AGAIN AND AGAIN CURED AFTER PHYSICIANS HAVE FAILED.

For years, men and women in every rank and walk of life have been soundly praising the praises of Paine's Celery Compound, and telling of its victories over disease and death. Those who were most heavily burdened with disease, victims of suffering pronounced incurable by doctors, and who stood on the brink of the grave, are the people who most gratefully remember Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, the eminent physician and scientist who discovered Paine's Celery Compound, the medicine that never fails to conquer blood diseases, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles. Mr. F. Marion Sikes, of Crony, N. C., happily rescued from a complication of dangerous ailments, long standing dyspepsia, muscular pains and after results of typhoid fever—nervousness, weakness, watery blood and sluggish circulation, gratefully and thankfully writes for the benefit of thousands of men and women who suffer to day, Mr. Sikes says:

"For many years I suffered with dyspepsia. All that I ate did me no good, and I could find nothing that would give me relief. Last year I was taken with a pain in my leg that ran from my hip to the end of my toes. I had as good a doctor as I could find in Wilmington, but he only gave me relief for a while. I was then taken with typhoid fever and my family and friends had given up all hope. A friend of mine, Capt. Walter Telford, advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound as I was so nervous I could not stand alone. I began the use of the wonderful medicine and before I had taken half a bottle I felt like a new man. I have now used two bottles and am today a well man and feel better than I have for ten years. I thank God for the use of this great and marvelous compound."

BRIGHAM YOUNG ACADEMY

Provo.—A large delegation of teachers and students went to Salt Lake City on Friday to see and hear President Roosevelt.

It was a matter of sincere regret and disappointment that Prof. Brigham could not be present to give his sentiments on the alumni program. He had to attend a meeting of the Church board of education in Salt Lake City.

The opera presented by Prof. Lund's class in music was a financial success as an artistic success. Three large houses were present at the performances and went away with high praises for the music school of the academy.

One of the phenomenal voices brought out by the recent opera is that of Mr. Wilfred Arnold of Richfield. It is a deep bass of remarkably pure quality. Mr. Arnold will take the advice of his many admirers and go to Germany next year for special training.

One of the most successful years in the history of the academy closed with commencement exercises in the stake tabernacle last Thursday. In point of attendance it stands foremost, and the same can also be said as to the depth and intensity of the course pursued.

Addresses to the graduates were made last Sunday night by Patriarch John Smith, President Anton H. Lund, Elder Reed Smoot, and Prof. G. H. Brimhall. College hall was crowded with students and visitors who listened with rapid interest to the timely advice of these brethren respecting the meaning and proper use of life.

Among the gems on the alumni program
