

BIG PROJECTS ARE PROVED SUCCESSSES

State Enterprises in Piute and Garfield Counties Give Satisfaction.

IRRIGATE FINE FRUIT LANDS.

Engineer Joseph Jensen Tells of the Work Being Carried on in Southern Portion of Utah.

The two big irrigation projects in Piute and Garfield counties, the first works of their kind to be constructed by the State of Utah, are more than fulfilling the best hopes of their promoters, according to Joseph Jensen, chief engineer, who arrived in Salt Lake City today on his way home to Springfield, where he will spend the Christmas holidays with his family. Mr. Jensen is stopping at the Kenyon hotel.

"The Garfield county reservoir is near Hatchtown, on the Sevier river," said Mr. Jensen, "and the work of construction is almost finished now. It was started two years ago last August. This reservoir has a capacity of 15,000 acre-feet, and will irrigate 7,000 acres of land. The state has selected about 5,800 acres, which will be reclaimed, along the Panguitch bench, and sell with good water rights in parcels of 160 acres or less to new settlers. The land should be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1910, and we look for crops by next year. The land is quite fertile, though the climate is not the best for fruit. But it is good for field crops, and alfalfa and wheat will flourish there."

"A canal 12 miles long has already been constructed, and its head is about 15 miles below the reservoir. The water will be stored in the reservoir throughout the year, and during the irrigation season the gates will be opened and the water will flow down the Sevier river to the farm lands."

"The approximate cost of this project will be about $140,000, and it is well worth many times that amount to the state, as it will attract many new settlers, and farming communities will be rapidly springing up when this land is placed under cultivation."

GOOD FRUIT LANDS.

"The Piute county project is much larger than the Garfield work, as the big reservoir dam which we are building 10 miles south of Marysville, on the Sevier river, will have a capacity of 70,000 acre feet, and will furnish plenty of water to irrigate more than 22,000 acres of private and state lands in the Sevier valley. This is all fine land, and the state has a little over one-half of the total acreage, or from 10,000 to 12,000 acres, which will be thrown open for sale in small parcels."

"The land to be irrigated by the Piute project is said to compare quite favorably with the best fruit-raising lands in the west. Just across the river, a Grand Junction company is planting from 10,000 to 12,000 peach trees and spending a lot of money on private development work. This land in the state project is the same kind of land and just as good. The state will probably sell the land, with good water right, at $45 per acre, and will furnish plenty of water at the cost of the water and a nominal charge for the land itself that is not less than $2.50 per acre."

"The whole Piute project will cost about $400,000, and it cannot be completed in less than a year, or possibly a year and a half. The dam is earth-filled, 90 feet high, about 450 feet long on the bottom, and 800 feet long on the crest. A tunnel has already been cut through a solid ledge of rock, around the end of the dam, for the purpose of tapping the reservoir. The head gates have been put in, the Sevier river has been turned into the tunnel, and the work for excavation for the core tunnel across the gulch is in progress now."

"The Garfield and Piute projects are the first two irrigation works of their kind to be built under state supervision. They are being carried to a successful finish rapidly, and all connected with the work are pleased with the progress. These projects will reclaim lands which hitherto have been utterly barren and useless wastes, and I am convinced that their success will encourage the state to do more work of this kind in other localities."

BIG POWER PROJECT.

Belknap Power Company to Build Big Plant Near Marysville.

A $300,000 waterpower project has been launched by the Belknap Power company, near Marysville, in Piute county, in the Sevier river country. James Long, former state representative, is president of the concern. J. B. Welmar, who is also heavily interested in the scheme, refused to give out any details when seen at the Wilson hotel today, but it is known that the project involves the building of a big plant capable of generating from 6,000 to 7,000 horsepower, which will be used for generating electricity to light the homes of settlers and the towns in the valleys, besides furnishing power to run the machinery in mines in the Gold Mountain and Marysville districts.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

For years it has been the custom in the wards throughout the Stakes of Zion to commemorate the birthday of the Prophet Joseph, by special services, on the Sunday nearest the date of that anniversary. In accordance with this practice we suggest that Sunday, Dec. 26, this year, be devoted to the memory of the great Prophet of this dispensation, and that appropriate services be held in the Sunday schools, ward houses and other places where the religious services of the Church are held, on that day.

DEATH OF C. C. SHAW.

Veteran Agent of The Deseret News Passes Away in Hyrum.

A message from Hyrum received late yesterday states that Mr. C. C. Shaw of that city passed away Wednesday morning after a long illness. Mr. Shaw was well and familiarly known throughout Utah and Idaho as the traveling agent of The Deseret News for many years past, and his friends were numbered by thousands. His devotion to his labors was most marked, and his loss will be severely felt by his business associates.

Mr. Shaw was born in Shrewsbury, Shropshire, England, Jan. 7, 1834, and was thus approaching his seventy-sixth birthday at the time of his death. He was baptized Dec. 20, 1851, and was ordained a high priest March 4, 1870. He married Harriet Ann Griffin on April 16, 1859, by whom nine children were born, those surviving being Harry G. Shaw and Charles W. Shaw of Hyrum, Mrs. Hattie James, Mrs. Agnes Williams and William H. Shaw of Salt Lake. Mr. Shaw's wife died in 1901 and in 1905 he married Mrs. Clara Sventzer, whose care and devotion to her husband during his latest illness was everything that skilled training and affection could furnish.

Mr. Shaw's funeral will occur in Hyrum on Sunday. Though the town is under quarantine for scarlet fever, arrangements have been made so that friends who desire to attend may do so.

BUS PASSENGERS

Joseph F. Vion of New York, advance manager for Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch entertainer, who is said to be the highest salaried man in vaudeville, arrived in Salt Lake City today. He is stopping at the Knutsford. Mr. Lauder will appear at the Knutsford next week.

C. O. Springer, a prominent mining man of Bannock, Nev., who is heavily interested in mines in the Gold Circle district, will spend the holidays here with Mrs. Springer. They are registered at the Knutsford.

T. J. Keogh, a wealthy sheepman of Ogden, is stopping at the Kenyon.

Joseph Jensen, chief engineer of the state irrigation projects in Garfield and Piute counties, stopped at the Kenyon hotel this morning, on his way home to Springfield.

B. E. Shay, a well known mining man of Boise, Ida., and Mrs. Shay, are at the Kenyon.

George R. Heazle, a prominent merchant of Murphy, Ida., is at the Cullen.

TO SEND PETITION TO CITY COUNCIL

Property Owners Frame Protest Against Granting Proposed Franchise.

TO BE STRONGLY CONTESTED

Citizens Do Not Propose to Let Matters Go by Default and Will Prosecute Strenuous Campaign.

The movement among property owners along the streets in which it is proposed to put another street car track in order to enable the Saltair Beach company to get on to Main street is already assuming definite shape. The proposition is going to be strongly contested. The considerations advanced in favor of the franchise, however, do not count with those opposing the change, when it is proposed thereby to seriously disturb the sanctity of the temple block. The following petition was prepared today and the signatures of property owners are now being secured, the object being to present the petition to the city council at the next meeting of the city council. The petition is as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor, President and Members of the City Council of Salt Lake City:

Gentlemen—We, the undersigned, resident taxpayers of Salt Lake City, and your petitioners herein, respectfully ask that the franchise sought for by the Salt Lake & Los Angeles Railway company, by which it is proposed to operate electric cars on certain streets upon which we are the owners of the abutting property, be not granted, for the reason that it would be a permanent injury to our property and a source of annoyance to our peace and quiet. And in duty bound your petitioners will ever pray.

THE SENTIMENT.—The following citizens were approached for an expression in regard to the matter this morning, two of them being property owners on North Temple:

Joseph William Taylor said: I am strongly opposed to such a thing and will fight it to the last ditch. The walls and ceilings of my house are sufficiently cracked by the traffic already going past it. I do not want the quietness of my home disturbed by the hoodlums which the traffic would bring.

Oscar W. Moyle: I don't like the idea very much, and would be very much opposed to the lining up of a number of cars in the vicinity of the temple block. If single cars were run, and the culvert on North Temple were covered I would not object greatly, especially if the temple block were not cars during the tabernacle service on Sunday.

Nephi L. Morris: I am opposed to another track. If such a plan is adopted it should be over the tracks already there. If single cars only were run on say, a three-minute service, and no backing up of cars were allowed on the streets near the temple, I would be objectionable to me on the week days. I object to the interference with worship in the tabernacle on Sundays, but some arrangements might be made to overcome that.

DEATH OF MARY W. HEWLETT.

Esteemed Woman Passes Away at Advanced Age at Her Home in City.

Mary West Hewlett, mother of O. H. and F. J. Hewlett of this city and A. J. Hewlett of Pocatello, died at her home in this city this morning. In her passing a woman of lovable disposition is lost to a wide circle of friends. In her younger days she was a stalwart worker in many Church labors. She was a native of England, having been born in Somersetshire, June 26, 1829. She came to Utah many years ago and has been known in this city by a large number of friends within and outside of the church. She was especially popular among former residents of England, her home being a gathering place for them and a hearth before which many reminiscences were told. She embraced the gospel in her girlhood and her home in Bristol was a gathering place for elders laboring in the English mission field. Among her early acquaintances there were Eliza Lorenzo Snow, Franklin Richards and Orson Hyde and it was her delight to recount the pleasant times had in the old home when the visiting elders were being entertained there. Two children in addition to those named were born to her, but death parted the mother and the two sons in their youth. The funeral services will be conducted in the Third ward chapel, Seventh South between State and Second East streets, Sunday, Dec. 26, at 2 o'clock. All friends are invited to attend.

MERRY HOTEL WEDDING.

Cullen the Scene of Ceremony Last Night Uniting Idaho Pair.

George R. Heazle, a prominent merchant of Murphy, Idaho, and Miss Mary S. Carpenter, one of the prettiest and most popular members of the younger social set in Boise, stole a march on their friends, came to Salt Lake City, and were married in the Cullen hotel Wednesday night, at 7:30 o'clock, by the Rev. Francis Burgette Short, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The wedding was very quiet, but a number of guests, including several traveling men, made up their minds to express their congratulations to the couple through gifts appropriate to the Christmas season, and some jovial spirit pinned a spray of mistletoe on the chandelier in the parlor, under which the ceremony was performed. James Nell and Harry Turner, two bell boys, were pressed into service as witnesses, and there are varying stories as to what happened to the blushing bride when she stepped unwares under the mistletoe. Notwithstanding the fact that it was his official prerogative to kiss the bride, Dr. Short stated emphatically that he had not taken advantage of the ecclesiastical privilege. The merry guests were overjoyed at having a wedding at this season, and as a result the parlor floor and hotel corridors leading from it were strewn with rice and old shoes and slippers. An enormous tie of baby-blue ribbon played the tell-tale on the door of room 23 after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Heazle will make their home in Murphy, Idaho, after taking a honeymoon trip.

DEATH OF PETER HUDSON.

Peter Hudson, a resident of Granger, died at his home yesterday morning, having been found dead in his bed. Old age is assigned as the probable cause. He was born in Keggwell, Leicestershire, England, Jan. 14, 1838.

Friday will make history at Kieth-O'Brien's

MANUFACTURERS MEET.

The board of directors of the Manufacturers' association met at 12:30 this afternoon at the Cullen hotel, where business incidental to the closing of the year was transacted, and matters arranged for the opening of the new year. The coming 12 months appear promising enough, only there is regret that the Vermont building cannot be completed in time for the association to occupy its new quarters at the opening of 1910.

SMALL SHEEP LOSSES.

Secy. Stewart of the Utah Woolgrowers' association said this morning that late reports from the sheep caught in the snow drifts up toward Kilton had been well cared for, and there was no more danger. The corn fed the sheep had kept them in good condition, the losses were really inconsequential, and they were now safe on the winter feeding grounds. The snow on the west deserts is a mere crust which does not interfere at all with the feeding.

WHITE CHRISTMAS.

Is the Unofficial Prediction of the United States Weather Shark.

A white Christmas is what A. H. Thiessen, the man who makes the weather, promises to Salt Lake unless all the signs fall. The weather is not going to be too warm, and it is not going to be too cold—just right, in fact, there is liable to be some little additional snow, but not enough, according to present conditions, to cause any stoppage of cars, either on street or steam.

"Or," said Mr. Thiessen this morning as he pored over his maps and knitted his brow into unwonted wrinkles, "which would be the unofficial prediction. But the general conditions are such that I am warranted in saying that there will be no radical changes in the present standing of weather affairs other than snow flurries. And these would be a welcome addition at the present time."

THE MORNING AFTER.

When the police picked up T. O'Brien on the street Wednesday night and threw him in a helpless condition of intoxication into the drunk tanks, his fellow drunks felt upon him, administered a terrible beating, broke his jaw, and bruised his whole body with heavy blows. O'Brien was found in a serious condition this morning and was sent to St. Mark's hospital.

LAST LAP TOMORROW.

The retail clerks are prepared for a strenuous time of it Friday. Although it is Christmas eve, the clerks must be on hand all day, and not cease until 11 p. m., anyhow, and in many cases not until midnight. The clerks say that after the first of the year, the chances are very good for all of the dry goods houses closing up at 6 p. m., every day in the week—even on Saturdays. This may be a little severe on certain of the working classes, but the clerks say they will have to find a way to accommodate themselves to the new order of things.

BUYS A RANCH, ALLEGES FRAUD

E. J. Gills, a Farmer, Claims He Paid Too Much for Property.

STORY OF AUTOMOBILE RIDE

Taken 20 Miles in High Gear Machine He Fancies Property Is Close To Salt Lake.

E. J. Gills, a rancher, makes sensational charges of fraud and conspiracy against Jonathan Lovell, his brother-in-law, and Thomas Homer, in a suit filed this morning in the Third district court by Attorney Aaron Myers. In the complaint, it is set out, that Lovell and Homer sold him a farm in Dry Creek valley about three miles from Draper for $5,500 which was only worth about $3,000; that the records were falsified in the transaction and a "dummy" employed to close up the deal. Gills asks for judgment for $2,500.

Mrs. Gills was innocently drawn into the conspiracy against her husband, the complaint states when the alleged conspiracy was formed between the two men. Last May Mrs. Gills came from Montana where her husband was foreman of a ranch owned by Lovell to visit with her sister, Mrs. Lovell. While she was at the Lovell home, Mr. Lovell spoke to her of a splendid farm 10 miles from Salt Lake which had been offered for sale by Homer. A few days before Gills arrived in Salt Lake on June 3, last, Lovell took his wife and Mrs. Gills out for an automobile ride. They called on Homer and Lovell introduced the women to him. He asked about the farm and Homer said he had an offer for it and the deal would soon be closed. He said he had been offered $5,000 for it.

Lovell talked to Gills about the farm all the way back home and said that by all means she and her husband ought to buy it.

The night that Gills arrived from Montana, Lovell and Mrs. Gills and Mrs. Lovell met him at the train. Mrs. Gills was unable to wait until she got home before telling her husband about this farm. Gills spoke about it to Lovell and his brother-in-law told him what a fine place it was. Early the next morning Lovell took Gills to see Homer because he said no time should be lost. Homer and Lovell and Gills talked over the farm for about an hour, in Homer's office.

Homer described the farm as containing 35 acres of land, well irrigated and all under cultivation. He said a certain number of acres had been planted into an orchard, some into grain, and that the land was valuable. He said the farm was owned by O. O. Reid, of Philadelphia, on that day, which was June 4, last.

Lovell and Gills and Homer went down to see the farm. Gills says he did not know much about an automobile never having been in one more than three or four times. He says that Lovell took them to the farm on the high gear and he judged that distance traveled from Salt Lake was
