FLOATING FRAGMENTS.
The following is from the Provo Enquirer of yesterday:
G. G. Hales, city marshal at Spanish Fork, came to Provo to-day for the purpose of placing in the hands of Deputy Clerk B. Bachman, the documentary evidence pertaining to the death and the inquest held over the body of Andrew Bambrick, who was shot about half a mile this side of Green River.
At the inquest held before John Moore, Justice of the Peace, the following facts were related by witnesses who brought the body to Spanish Fork:
On Sunday, 14th inst., Bambrick was quarrelling with J. M. Stevens, at Bradford, Jones & Thomas' grading camp, on the line of the D. & R. G. R. way, in Blaine County. The quarrel was over a game of cards. Bambrick stepped up before Stevens in an attitude as if to strike him; Stevens then fired a revolver at Bambrick's head, and told him to stay away from him or he would kill him. Bambrick then attempted again to strike Stevens, when the latter shot Bambrick in the left breast. Bambrick then ran to the cook's tent, grabbed a knife, but feeling faint, sat down. He was in bed for four hours, when he did speak he requested one of his friends to write to his (Bambrick's) brother, and tell him he was shot. There being no surgeon within immediate reach, two men—P. McGrath and W. O. Moore—started for Salt Lake with Bambrick, but the latter died on reaching Fish Creek.
It appears that from the testimony the parties had been playing cards on the night of the 13th, and on the following day when they again met, the quarrel ensued. Bambrick told Stevens that if he would stand up he would put his fist clear through him. Stevens said he was a cripple and could not fight that way. When Bambrick first took position to strike, Stevens was crying and begged Bambrick not to come, that he did not want to kill him, but if he came he would have to kill him in self-defense. It seems that Bambrick was a quarrelsome man, and was seeking a fight with Stevens.
The body of Bambrick was sent to the city of Provo, where it was held until the inquest, yesterday.
Following is the verdict given at the inquest:
TERRITORY OF UTAH, County of Utah, Precinct of...
An inquisition holden in the City of Spanish Fork, Utah, County of Utah, Territory of Utah, on the 18th day of January, 1883, before John Moore, Justice of the Peace, Spanish Fork Precinct, in said county, upon the body of Andrew Bambrick, there lying dead by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed. The said jurors, upon their oaths do say, that the said Andrew Bambrick came to his death from a gun shot wound, fired from a pistol in the hands of one J. M. Stevens, which was feloniously fired by the said J. M. Stevens.

Australasian Mission.—Brother W. M. Bromley, President of the New Zealand Mission, writing to Brother John P. Sorenson, from Auckland, December 31st, states that he returned to that place three weeks before, after a very extended trip, visiting among the Saints and preaching to all who desired to hear him, as far south as Christchurch and Invercargill, some 700 or 800 miles south of Auckland. He organized affairs, ordained Elders, and set things in order among the Saints, as far as possible. He feels well in spirit and body, and says that most of the Elders laboring under his direction are true and faithful, enjoying the spirit of their calling. His return to Auckland, the headquarters of the mission, became necessary, as in his absence Satan had been busy among the Saints, inciting to envy and strife. He, by the blessing of God, partially stilled the storm, setting Brother Alma Greenwood to preside over the branch.
The Saints in Auckland have again held the Masonic Hall, and hold regular meetings, which will be gratifying news to all acquainted with the work in New Zealand.

Protection of the Understanding.—The present cold weather reminds us of a far famed hot-water, used in Northern Europe, by persons exposed in traveling, and which would be of excellent service to local drivers of stage coaches, hack, street cars, etc., where the continual remaining in one position renders their extremities liable to be frost-bitten. It consists of a species of sack (or muff) made of a fur skin—or a sheepskin will answer—though not as warm as fur—with the fur or wool on the inside, made large enough to admit both feet and legs at once and for the wearer to step in and out of readily. If preferred it can be shaped at front of the lower part to conform to the form of the feet, and attached by side straps to the waist.

Theatrical Benefit.—We learn that Mr. John S. Lindsay will be the recipient of a benefit at the Theatre on Thursday night. The "Lion of Lyons" is the piece to be played, with the benefactor as Claude Melnotte, Mr. David McKenzie as Dumme and Mr. Philip B. Stargetts will enact the role of the Landlord. An interesting incident connected with the benefit will be the debut of Miss Clemens Pratt, who will make her appearance in the important character of Pauline. It is stated that this young lady of talents and high order of histrionic talent and her friends claim that she will astonish the public on Thursday night by a rich presentation of the character for which she is billed.

Seventh Ward Primary.—The Primary Association of the Seventh Ward was organized a year ago, and the annual meeting was held yesterday afternoon. The association is in excellent working condition, under the supervision of Sister Minnie E. James. The organization having become very large, and the President requiring more help, two more Counselors, making three in all, were selected to assist her. They are Sisters Woodbury, Young and Louisa Woodbury. Bishop Thorne and Counselor McLaughlin were present, and several of the leading ladies connected with the movement, including Sister E. R. B. Smith.

KILLED NEAR GREEN RIVER.
AN INQUEST HELD OVER THE BODY OF ANDREW BAMBRICK, AT SPANISH FORK.

They are Sisters Woodbury, Young and Louisa Woodbury. Bishop Thorne and Counselor McLaughlin were present, and several of the leading ladies connected with the movement, including Sister E. R. B. Smith.

Frozen Bars.—Quite a number of the University students got their ears frozen yesterday, while on their way to that educational institution. The side head appendages of one young man especially were enlarged and very sore in appearance this morning. The windward ear caught the sharpest frosty bite of old Boreas, who has chilled all nature with his breath the last day or two.

Yesterday quite a number of parents wisely detained their children from school, that their little noses and toes might not run the risk of getting frost bitten.

Exploded Ranges.—This morning on account of the pipes being frozen, several kitchen ranges were blown to atoms. This was the case at the house of Brother Elias Morris. The whole front of the stove was broken to pieces and the lid thrown up, while the newly kindled fire was scattered over the floor and over Brother Morris' daughter Nellie, who had a very narrow escape, but fortunately was not injured, though very much frightened.

We are informed that the kitchen range at Brother John Groesbeck's house shared the same fate.

Fearful Contemplations.—The fire alarms rang with deafening din this afternoon, and "Where's the fire?" was all the cry. Vivid visions of fearful and destructive conflagrations, super induced by the knowledge of the fact that King Winter had made all aquatic liquids solid, ran through the minds of citizens. Well they might, for the cause was no less a circumstance than an infinitesimal flame in Col. Reese's apple stand, at the Kimball & Lawrence corner. The fire was out before the bells rang, so the whole thing was a superficial racket.

A Legal Controversy.—The Co-operative Store of Beaver is engaged in a controversy with the Horn Silver Mining Company at Frisco. A short time since the attorney of the former took out an execution against one Boatright, of Frisco, for over $800, and had certain property known to have been the defendant's, levied upon, whereupon the Horn Silver intervened and claimed the property as theirs by reason of a bill of sale from Boatright. The attorney for the plaintiff claims that the bill of sale was given after judgment was rendered—a long time after—and is therefore void under the statute of frauds. There seems to have been considerable of that kind of business going on there, and it would be a good thing to ventilate it once and for all.—Utahian.

Fatal Casualty.—R. H. Hopkins returned from American Falls on Monday. He reports that on Thursday of last week a brakeman on the Oregon Short Line, who had just quit and was to leave for home the next day, was crossing the bridge on foot with his conductor, when a train approached them. The conductor lay down on the edge of the bridge, but thinks the brakeman did not, and either fell while attempting to leap out of the way or was struck by the cars and knocked off into the surging water below, as he was immediately over the falls. His body was carried down and in a moment disappeared under the log below. We were unable to learn his name, but we believe he was from Logan or vicinity.—Blackfoot Register.

Gold and Ken.—The present spell of weather is undoubtedly the coldest ever experienced in Utah. At nine o'clock last night, at the signal service station, the thermometer recorded 13° below zero, and at midnight 15°.

In different locations, in this city, some portions being much more exposed than others, the intensity of the cold varied.

As instances:—At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer at the red dome of the "Eagle" in the Tenth Ward, showed 21° below zero. At Ward, showed 21° below zero, and 7:50 a thermometer at the Wasatch drug store, showed 12° below zero, and in two others on the north side of the same block the mercury stood at 18° below, at the same hour. Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock the thermometer on the porch of the News office, facing south, showed 6° above zero, whereas this morning, at the same hour the mercury stood at 10° below zero.

A Missing Plumb.—The papers of the plains are exercised over the mysterious disappearance of H. T. Plumb, commercial traveler for Mills & Gibbs, of New York. On the evening of the 8th inst. he left the International Hotel, Cheyenne, without an overcoat, leaving behind him two large sample trunks, two valises and two overcoats; and he has not been seen or heard of since that date, although the house he represented and others have been industriously trying to find his whereabouts. He appears to have gone "plumb" out of sight.

On the same day he disappeared he had a conversation with a Mr. Kellner, of Laramie, to whom he admitted that he got "off" while in Salt Lake, and that while here he had twice been obliged to drink on the house, and he expected that Mills & Gibbs would discharge him as soon as they heard of his conduct. He also appeared very despondent, as he understood that some person had telegraphed the particulars of his Salt Lake doings to the house.

Sixty Seven.—This being the sixty-seventh anniversary of the birthday of Bishop Frederick Keeble, of the Sixteenth Ward, he spent a happy day at his farm, surrounded by his family, near the shore of Salt Lake, 16 miles from the city. He is the father of thirty children, the number of sons and daughters being equal, a host of grand children and quite a number of great-grand children. He was acquainted with the Prophet Joseph from soon after the expulsion from Missouri till the martyrdom and entertained great personal friendship for him. He often talks of the great interest he took in examining the original writings of Abraham on peopled, and states that quite a number of the illustrations have never yet been published.

We learn from Bishop Keeble, that so far as he knows, he has no blood relation in the Church, excepting his immediate family. He feels consequently that he has yet an extensive work to perform in the gospel for his progenitors, Long Live and prosperity to the Bishop.

Rheumatism is the most terrible disease that has ever afflicted humanity. Yet it instantly yields to the powerful drugs that Kendall's Spavin Cure is composed of. Read advt.

Akron, Ohio, May 7th, 1880.—Some three years ago I had a horrid rheumatism in my right arm. I treated it with Kendall's Spavin Cure with marked success. Since then I have sold a good many bottles, and have heard of cures resulting from its use. I am frank to say I can cheerfully recommend it as an honest remedy. Yours truly, A. M. ANGELO.

The proprietors of Kendall's Spavin Cure challenge the whole world to produce its equal as a cure for rheumatism or any other deep seated pain. It stands without a rival.
