Searchlight, Nev., April 8.—A marked transformation has taken place at the terminal of the Santa Fe railroad since the first whistle of the locomotive announced that the "camp without a future" was now connected with the outside world by railroad transportation. Every sidetrack and spur is crowded with carloads of merchandise, machinery and lumber, and a few moments spent watching the dozens of trains relieving the cars of their burdens gives small idea of the great amount of material that is soon to find its way into the fabric of the great mining center.

At the new townsite a large force of workmen is rushing buildings to completion in a day, preparing for the big celebration that is to occur April 12, when the commercial world of this west will be invited to share the hospitality of Manager Abbott, who is making great preparations for entertaining excursionists. Spacious eating houses, natty cottages and store buildings will greet the new arrivals, and here they will be given a touch of what Searchlight has to offer the stranger within its gates.

Besides the railroad activity and building advancement the big dairy, the first in southern Nevada, is fast nearing completion and already a large herd of milk cows are beginning to supply the camp with that luxury. By railroad the new town will have assumed the proportions of a small city, and what with its cement walks, green lawns, new buildings, spacious streets and many other innovations, will present a business-like spectacle. The celebration planned calls for a lengthy and varied program, including a city about camp, a banquet and a good time generally. To provide for the comfort of guests water is being piped from the Cyrus Noble mine and hydrants are arranged along the streets, while there will be enough wet goods around to float a ship. Every team in Searchlight has been engaged, and after the first blowout in town the visitors will be taken around the "Golden Circle," to Eldorado canyon, Camp Thurman and other points and shown the mines. No trouble will be experienced in handling the crowds, for the buildings will be finished in time to provide sleeping quarters, while there is an abundance of eating houses and hotels to supply food and drink. Definitely decided that there shall be no raise in prices either for food or lodging, and visitors can secure good meals at from 25 cents to $1, and rooms from 50 cents up to $1 per night. Every miner and workman in the camp will take a holiday on railroad day, and the big mining companies have donated the teams for the use of the entertainment committee. Already the vanguard of adventurers has reached the camp, and Deputy Sheriff John Howe has arranged to have a large force on hand to preserve order. Being a peaceable community, nothing is feared from the local populace, and had characters will receive orders to leave town immediately. By the time the excursionists arrive every mine adjacent to Searchlight will be in readiness to admit visitors below, and the plants will be at the disposal of the visitors. It is planned to unload hundreds of thousands of dollars in entertainment, and the excursionists will be shown the time of their lives in true western style.

TO SUCCEED YARD.

G. W. Gwynne to Become Chief Engineer of Denver & Rio Grande.

G. W. Gwynne, assistant chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, under the late Edward J. Yard, has been appointed to succeed his former chief as head of the engineering force of the road, says the Denver Republican.

Like his predecessor, Mr. Gwynne has been long in the employ of the Rio Grande system and rose steadily to his present position. He was the next man in line for the position unless an engineer from another road had been selected.

Mr. Gwynne entered the employment of the Rio Grande in 1886, when he was 27 years of age. He soon gained a reputation as a locating engineer, and has done a great deal of that work for the road. For a number of years past he has been known as one of the best in the west and was kept in the field almost constantly.

The West Mountain branch of the Rio Grande, the North Fork of the Gunnison branch and Durango to Farmington branch are some of the pieces of work located by him. For the past two years he has been assistant chief engineer, with headquarters in Denver.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

L. H. Harding, general agent of the Colorado Midland has gone to Nevada on a business trip.

J. L. Yundt, traveling representative of the Washburn route, came in from Denver yesterday, on a wool trip.

Kent O. Keyes, commercial agent of the New York Central line, is in northern Idaho on a business trip.

Several officials of the Nevada Northern railroad passed through Salt Lake on their way east yesterday afternoon.

H. S. Youngerman, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island system, has gone to Colorado on a business getting trip.

Cars of the street railway are now running regularly over the new viaduct over the short line tracks on North Temple street.

W. W. Dickinson, traveling freight agent of the New York Central, has gone for a trip through southern Utah in the interest of his road.

Col. Benton, of the passenger department of the Rio Grande Western, left for Denver last evening. The colonel was accompanied by his wife.

It is thought that the blockade on the Union Pacific on account of the earth slides at Aspen tunnel, Wyo., will be cleared up by Friday or Saturday of this week.

The Heber branch of the Rio Grande railroad is now open for traffic again. For three weeks the portion of the road has been closed on account of landslides in Provo canyon.

A large party of Raymond Whitcomb excursionists will arrive in the city from the west today. The whole bunch has ordered reservations at the Knutsford during their visit in Salt Lake.

E. W. Schneider, representing the Nickel Plate line of Chicago, is in the city with his family, and will probably remain here a few weeks. Mr. Schneider

JUNE WEDDINGS.

See our new line of announcements and invitations before ordering. THE DESERT NEWS.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Yesterday was a socially busy day, a number of weddings being added to the other interesting events. An equal number of luncheons and card parties are scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Miss Vilette Eardley and Dr. M. W. Snow were married yesterday in the Temple and afterward received their friends informally at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Adella W. Eardley, which was prettily decorated for the occasion in pink and white carnations and roses. Later a wedding dinner was served with only members of the two families present. Assisting were Mrs. Sloan, Misses Maud Hodgson, Teenie Rasmussen, Anita Eardley, Martha Perry, and Miss Wallace. A number of musical selections were given. The bride wore a gown of white silk and carried flowers. They will make their home at 123 McArthur Ave., where they will be at home to their friends after May 1.

Miss Nellie Howarth and H. Hoffman Bittner were married last night at the bride's home, 4100 Barton St., officiating, an informal reception following. The parlor was in white and green, and the dining room in red and green, carnations being used with ferns and smilax. The bride wore a dainty gown of white lace with a train of tulle and carried pink roses. Miss Millie Howarth was bridesmaid and wore a gown of lavender silk and carried lilacs of the valley. Mr. Hoffman Bittner was best man. Delightful music was rendered during the evening by Prof. Schettler and orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Bittner will be at home after May 1, at 102 west Second North street.

Another of yesterday's weddings was that of Miss Ida M. Owen and Gavin C. Andrew, which took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Owen, with Rev. E. L. Goshen officiating. The rooms were bright with flowers and a number of the family and intimate friends were present. The bride wore a dainty gown of white lace with a train of tulle and carried pink roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Clara Nowell, was dressed in white. Mr. William Case acted as best man and a number of relatives and intimate friends assisted in entertaining. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew left on a late train for the north west, where they will make their home.

Mrs. P. E. McGurran gave a luncheon at the Commercial club today in honor of her sister, Mrs. Bache.

Tonight the Cleofan gives its entertainment for the benefit of the Canyon Crest manual training school. It is expected that there will be a large patronage of this worthy enterprise. It takes place at 7 o'clock at the Utah Gas & Coke company's hall, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. C. W. Bird gave a dancing party tonight at the Fifteenth ward hall.

Mrs. Lafayette Hanchett gave a delightful luncheon today at her home.

Mrs. Lee G. Dinwoody entertained her card club yesterday at her home on North State street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bransford, who have been spending the winter in California, have returned.

Tomorrow a notably interesting program will be given at the Ladies' Literary club, including musical numbers by well known artists. There will be solos by Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris and Miss Jennie Sands and concerted pieces by Miss Mary Olive Gray and Miss Nettie Read, while the club concert will be a paper on Vienna by Mrs. W. C. Jennings and a talk on "Medieval Life in Vienna" by Dr. E. W. Whitney.

Mrs. S. Harvey and her daughter Addie of Green River, Wyo., have been visiting with Mrs. S. A. Vincent during the week.

"There's a Reason."

EXAMINATION OF MRS. EDLA HOOLEY

Woman Who Shot and Killed Her Husband on Tuesday Undoubtedly Insane.

TELLS OF A VISION SHE HAD.

At This Juncture She Shrieked and Moaned But Otherwise She Stood The Ordeal Calmly.

That Mrs. Edla E. Hooley, who on Tuesday morning shot and killed her husband, W. T. Hooley, at their home in Waterloo addition, is insane, can now hardly be questioned after hearing her story told to the commission which conducted her mental examination yesterday afternoon in Judge Armstrong's courtroom. The woman remained calm and impassive as marble during the entire examination excepting on two occasions when she broke down just for a moment, after which she resumed her usual demeanor as though she had never given way to her emotion. The examination, which will be completed late this afternoon, is being conducted by County Physician Caldwell and his assistant, Dr. Bailey, while District Attorney Lockwood did most of the questioning of witnesses. Mrs. Hooley was attended in court by her two brothers, V. S. and C. A. Anderson and by Mrs. Pautsch, a neighbor.

WAS TREATED FOR HER MIND.

Following the examination of Dr. Lewis, who stated that Mrs. Hooley was treated in his hospital for her mental condition on two different occasions, at times he believed that she was insane, several other witnesses were examined and testified of the queer actions of the woman. Both of her brothers testified that she had been acting very queer for some time and worried continually over her children and seemed to fear that they would be taken away from her. They said that she was examined as to her sanity two years ago but the commitment was suspended to permit of her being treated at Dr. Lewis' hospital. The men testified that Hooley was a good husband and supported his family well.

HUSBAND GOOD TO HER.

Mrs. Hooley in telling her story gave every evidence of a mind affected with delusions and hallucinations. She admitted that her husband had been good to her and had always given her all his wages and that he was good to the children. She could not tell why she did not like him, neither could she state why she could not trust the children with him. She said that she blamed her husband for the death of her other two children. The girl died from scarlet fever and she declared that her husband thought that the child had measles and did not send her to doctor until it was too late. Then the boy died of pneumonia, which she believes was brought on by exposure to the weather while they lived in Bingham. She said that Mr. Hooley sent the boy for some whisky on a very cold night and that caused the illness from which he died.

BREAKS DOWN.

While telling of a vision which she had when her daughter appeared before her, Mrs. Hooley shrieked and moaned for a moment but was soon restored to calmness by her brothers. Again when telling of where the shots took effect in her husband she broke down for a moment. She said that she bought the revolver 10 months ago with the intention of killing him and had been thinking about it ever since. She feared that she would take her children away from her and that she would be sent to the state mental hospital. Constant brooding over those things and also over the loss of her two children seem to be the cause of her mental condition and the cause of the shooting. The examination will be concluded this afternoon and it is very probable that she will be committed to the state mental hospital at Provo.

DOING BUSINESS AGAIN.

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try the little bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. I took it and I feel like I am doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best of all tonic medicines. Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. Drug Store, 50c.

FOR LONGER CAR LINE.

Residents of West Temple Petition Company for Extension.

An extension of the West Temple street car line and a 15 minute service instead of half hourly, are being sought by residents of the southern and southwestern portion of the district between Tenth and Twelfth South streets and between Second and Third West streets. This district has grown very rapidly within the past year, and many of the new homes in anticipation of the extension of the car service. A petition signed by about 50 residents has been sent to the company, and it will be followed by a meeting of citizens upon receipt of an answer as to the company's intentions. The movement for a half-hourly service on the south on the West Temple line with more frequent cars has been agitated for several years, but the present movement has many more people back of it than former attempts.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

Editor J. M. Sjodahl of Desert News Leaves to Attend Sessions.

Utah will have representation at the National Arbitration and Peace conference, which convenes in New York April 14-17. James M. Sjodahl, editor of the Desert News, left for the metropolis today, having been appointed by Gov. John C. Culver as one of the delegates from this state. Mr. Sjodahl expects to be absent from home about three weeks. The president of the conference is Andrew Carnegie, whose name with those of other noted men appears upon the letter of invitation sent out to governors of various states to name delegates. Among the others are the names of Gov. Hughes of New York, Justice Brewer of the supreme court of the United States, Andrew D. White, member of the first Hague conference, George Gray, American delegate to the Hague conference, Richard Bartholdt of the Interparliamentary Union, Seth Low, international committee, Albert K. Slosser, American secretary of commerce, George H. McCallister, mayor of New York, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Morris K.

FLORENCIO CONSTANTINO.

Constantino, the famous tenor, was born in Bilbao, Spain and showed great musical talent as a child, but was forced by his parents to enter the navy. Later the extraordinary beauty of his voice secured his release and he was soon established at the Royal Opera in Madrid. His fame spread like wildfire and one success followed another, his debut in Paris scoring even more emphatically than Caruso's La Scala. Milan endeavored to secure him and he was asked to alternate with Caruso at Covent Garden, but the relentless terms of his long contract with Madrid made this impossible. In fact in order to come to America with Mr. Russell, he has been obliged, even now, to pay a fine of 20,000 francs to the management of the Royal Opera in Madrid. He is certainly a marvelous artist, and on the present tour his success has been instantaneous wherever he has been heard. Constantino will sing Monday night in "La Boheme" with Alice Nielsen, Derynne, and the full Opera company, accompanied by Conti with his orchestra of 50.

Jeasup, New York chamber of commerce; John Mitchell of the United Miners of America. These men will take prominent parts in the conference that meets in its first session on Sunday next, and many other distinguished men of the nation, as well as persons of international fame will be present and participate in what is expected to be the greatest gathering of its kind yet held in the interests of peace on earth and good will to men.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

Two Men Arrested for Stealing Gold Watch From a Miner.

Last midnight Officer Kelly arrested two men who gave the names of J. E. Smith and Charles Vandervell in the charge of robbery. It is alleged that the men robbed J. P. Carter in the Jubilee saloon on Commercial street, of a watch.

Carter says the two men spoke to him in the saloon and asked him to help them get to Bingham. Carter said and explained he was also without funds, but offered to pawn his valuable watch to help the men. He declares that one of the fellows took the timepiece and handed it to his pal who at once made off with it. Carter seized one of the men and held him until the arrival of the police. Smith says he is a painter and Vandervell has been employed recently at the Y. M. C. A.
