

NOW FOR ARGUMENT.

That Libel Suit against the "Tribune" May Be Dismissed Today.

ARTHUR BROWN ON THE STAND.

A Question of Evidence is Asked With Judge Foyers as an Officer and A Jury.

There is now a favorable prospect of the $25,000 suit, in which Arthur Brown, owner of the plaintiff was the Tribune Publishing company as defendant, being dismissed after five days of early testimony. The evidence is in, and nothing remains but the arguments of counsel on both sides.

At the time the news came that the plaintiff's attorney had been retained by Judge Foyers, it was believed that the suit would be dismissed. Judge Foyers, in an address made at the hearing of the evidence, was asked to dismiss the suit, and he did so.

A FRIGHTFUL FALL.

Two Painters Met With Serious Injuries at McCowan's Residence.

BOTH MEN ARE IN THE HOSPITAL.

O. E. Porter Has His Skull Fractured and George M. Combs Hurt Internally.

There was a very serious accident at the McCowan residence about nine o'clock last evening, when two men were injured. One of the men was O. E. Porter, who has his skull fractured, and the other was George M. Combs, who is hurt internally.

The accident occurred when the two men were working on the roof of the house. Porter was on the roof and Combs was on the ground. Porter fell from the roof and Combs was struck by a piece of the roof.

Porter was taken to the hospital and Combs was taken to the hospital. Both men are expected to recover from their injuries.

The McCowan residence is located at the corner of Main and Second streets. The house is a two-story brick building.

The accident occurred on Wednesday evening, November 15, 1894. The men were working on the roof of the house.

A Temple of Art.

Memories of the World City are fading—all but one. Mosaic in its beauty the Palace of Art survives to remind and tempt the stately structure stands beside the lake dedicated forever to the service of the people. As a gallery of painting and sculpture it was grand and delightful the nation. As the Field's Columbian Museum it will entertain and instruct multitudes in the days to come.

Not for a Day but for all Time.

A World's Fair is miniature to the museum to-day. While it lasts the public will have before them a vivid reminder of the greater exhibition of 1893. It will bring back the vast panorama of splendid buildings including the fine showing made by
