Denver Post: Major Daniels returned. Derver Post: Major Daniels returned from a duck hunting trip into Utah yesterday, and the stories he tells about ducks and the number that were killed would make a "lightning calculator" take to the woods. The major shot almost 1,100 ducks in fifteen days, and would have got more but the rapid firing heat-ed the barrels of his guns until they melted and it takes a mighty good bur. ter to kill game without a gun. Colo-rado is lucky to have a sportsman of Major Daniels' type.

James Wardle, the well known merchant and rancher, died at his ranch, near Park City, yesterday afternoon, of confluent smallpox. Robert, the broth-er of the deceased, was exposed to the er of the deceased, was exposed to the plague, but notwithstanding that, he has, according to the report of Dr. Viko, gone to East Mill Creek. Dr. Beatty will investigate every case of alleged violation of the quarantine laws. The doctor says that the cases of smallpox are not only increasing all the time, but they are in a much more mallegant form than they were in the mallgnant form than they were in the summer.

San Francisce Nov, 2.-Gerret Fort, assistant general passenger and ticket agent of the Union Pacific rallroad, who has been i guest at the Palace hotel for several days, was today re-moved to the Suthern Pacific hospital, suffering from typhoid fever. Mr. Fort arrived hre from Omaha last Tuesday. He has not feeling in the best of boalth, i fact which he at first was inclined to itribute to the fatigue of the overland trip. General Manager Metcalf is said to be much pleased with the work thus far accomplished by the two which have already been put in service. of the overland trip.

It appears that recently Hi had or unlimited resources and ditto legends. It appears that recently Hi had oc-casion to chaperone a party of thirty tourists from the effete east up to Yel-lowstone Park. On this particular op-casion the train was late upon reaching Monida so that when the travellar Monida, so that when the travellers vere set down among the classic aggregation of two saloons, a barn, an hotel and a general store that grace to Omaha, the sage brush in that particular ferness in Idaho, they were politely inpublic formed by the contractor who hauls the tourists over to the Park, that they would have to remain there all night. The wail that arose from that knot of tourists upon the information being im-parted chilled the kindly heart of Hi and brought a responsive echo from the cayote in the trackless desert on the horizon. The crowd was indignant, it was sarcastic: it said mean

HI DUNN'S LATEST.

How He Soothed the Feelings of Belated Tourists in Idaho.

The life of the average railroad man, like that of the immortal policeman, created by Gilbert and Sullivan, "is not a happy one" all the time. Especially does this hold good in regard to those connected with the passenger depart-ment and those who are in charge of personally conducted tours.

Illustrative of this assertion, a group of railroad men were holding forth upon the corner (chez Col. Benton) this morning upon the funny things that happen when out on the road. The first story was on Hi Dunn, the man of portation.

things in regard to the Oregon Short Line in general and is Falstaffan rep-resentative, personified in Hi Dunn, in particular. They were inconsolable. One dignified banker from the classic confines of Cleveland, O., is said to have retired to a convenient rock shore here retired to a convenient rock where he sat down and for the next ten minutes persevered in the endeavor to dam the Snake river and all its tributaries, the Oregon Short Line, and to otherwise waste his elequence upon the desert air. "Sleep in that ramshackle old lumber hotel? Never!" Dunn did his best and the contractor did likewise. They promised rides af-ter dinner, but the tourists were ob-durate. In vain did the contractor tell them that since two people were killed last year in an accident that no stage was allowed to travel over the road at night. The tourists sighed for the flesh pots of the Yellowstone hotels and noth-ies also would do. ing else would do. Finally the crowd was induced to sit down to the table in the little hotel and under the soothing influence of fried rout and frills they temporarily forgot their grievance.

Ineir grievance. In the meantime Dunn had not been idle. He earned his daily bread by pro-viding amusement for his guest and he was not going to forsake them now. He sauntered over to a group of cow boys who were gathered outside the hoall concerned eventually retired to saloon. Then an air of ponderous the saloon. passivity hung o'er the place like a pall Suddenly as the first tourist made hi appearance outside the hotel after din ner a shot rang out on the stilly at-mosphere. A wild-eyed cow boy came rushing out of the saloon followed by another who was making the dust flick up around the fleeing man's feet every time the revolver barked. The next minute everyone around the hamlet of Monida, with the exception of the tourists and Dunn, like the famous Claire. "flashed a gun." Bullets and other foreign matter surcharged the atmos-phere while the tourists charged for shelter and locked themselves in. One man, however, stoud pat and flashed a camera, shot the score right and left, despite the fact that one of the cowbys drew a bead on his Broadway foot. The tourists were happy if the ladies did cling to their manly escorts and scream, they had seen a real western shooting scrape and one of them had indeveloped negatives of the affair t verify the statement. They talked o tothing else for days afterwards. Hi Dunn was happy too, if the little bur-esque did cost him $7,50 for "forty od," he had provided entertainment r his guests and saved the day. The invelors never could understand tow the affair never got into the pa-ers, especially as they were informed upon the highest authority that two nen had been killed and three wounded. ounn told them that such a little thing s that was of but passing moment in the wilds of Idaho

Change in O. S. L. Time Card.

There will be a change in the time card of the Oregon Short Line either on Wednesday or Thursday next. The changes now under consideration are: The morning train for the south will probably leave here at 7:45 instead of 7:35; the train from the south will ar-rive here at 6 o'clock instead of 6:35 p.m. The evening train for Ogden and the east will probably leave here at 6:30 instead of 6:40, while the one to Conductor Fenton & the Rio Grande Western, who came rominently befor the public come pars ago as the public come pars ago as a brycle rider, is now known from Ogden to Grand Juction under the appelation of "Doc," It appears that the accommodation thin from Eureka to Springville was de and one-hal hours late a few day ago. Upon ar investigation at headquarters as to the reason of this state of diairs it was d veloped that there was a lady up the train who suddenly was taken The train was stoppe on the high the lady was taken to be bargage ca where she was made ascomfortable as possible under the circimstances. An hour later Conductor Fenton issue from the car with the iformation tha he had another passengr on board the form of an eight-pund boy. De pite the fact that therewere no ladie on the train Fenton devered his two passengers in safety at pringville. Un der the circumstances th fact that the train was late was ovelooked on this occasion by the officials n high places. ---
