Correspondence.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 21, 1868.

Editor News:—The name of the astrologer, who after foretelling a number of remarkable things could not tell who had taken and hid his wagon wheel, and had to leave Gunnison with a borrowed one, is John Sanderson of Springfield. In the first place, I am sorry that he, or any one pretending to have faith in the gospel of Christ, should attempt in this manner to take advantage of the ignorant; and in the second place I am extremely sorry to find persons in our midst so miserably lean in their comprehensions of truth and error, as to be misled and gulled by such imposters. Oh, how humiliating it is to see a person holding the priesthood of God going to astrologers, necromancers and soothsayers for information respecting gold mines, lost stock, grasshoppers, &c. Judging from what we read in the papers, there is scarcely a city, town, village or hamlet in all Christendom, but what has its fortune-teller, to which source no doubt mankind are partly indebted for the instability and recklessness of society. Utah needs no such trashy and pernicious aids.

In this connection I may be pardoned for referring to a person, (whose name has left me,) vending a recipe for cheap and speedy tanning, obtaining from the unwary large sums of money. He proposes to convert hides into good leather in an incredibly short time, and to dress and tan skins, furs, &c., in scarcely no time at all. For skins his process would probably do pretty well, but for tanning hides he knows the expense is much greater and the time is not near sufficient to make good leather. I have submitted his process to old tanners, and they agree in saying it is a miserable humbug. I would not have noticed this scheme, but for knowing that hundreds of dollars have been paid to this person for county and settlement grants to use his process,—this is to caution the unsuspecting. I may add, the pamphlet from which his processes are learned is dated 1842, and like the thousand and one Yankee sells, is long since defunct in the States.

Respectfully, &c.,

A. MILTON MURSER.

PORTAGE, BOX ELDER COUNTY, UTAH, WHERE IS IT?

Editor Deseret Evening News:—The above question is being asked by a great many persons, and as several have been misinformed as to where it is, I thought I would inform them through the columns of your valuable paper.

Portage is a new settlement laying at the foot of the mountain, one mile and a quarter south of Oregon Springs, Idaho, and one mile south of the Idaho line; it is sixteen miles north of Bear River Bridge, and lays right on the mail route to Virginia City, Montana.

There are eighteen families living in the settlement: sixteen from Wells-ville, Cache Valley, and two from Lehi. Two are close by, whom we found here. Brother Thomas Green is our presiding officer at present, with whom we are well pleased. Through the energy of our young brother, Wm. H. Anderson, we have a post office, of which he has been appointed Postmaster, and we consider he is the right man in the right place.

There are 70 inhabitants in this place, including men, women and children, and three months ago there was not a house on the ground. We expect to have an increase of from forty to fifty families in the Spring. I know not what can be done for the gathering of the poor, as we have had no one here to try us yet.

We have a good location, a good President and good meetings, and we intend, by the blessing of God, to make a good settlement here.

W. EXHIBITION.—The fare on the Union Pacific Railroad, from Omaha to its terminus, a distance of 537 miles, is $52.50; almost ten cents per mile; while the fare from Omaha to New York, three times the distance, is but $40.—Warfare (The) Bulletin.
