STATE MEET COES TO B. Y. A, TEAM

University of Utah Picked as Winner but Failed.

L. D. S. U. GETS THIRD PLACE

Close Race Between Provo Athletes And Those of the U. of U.- Bad Day for Contests.

The result of the state track meet which took place on the U. of U. grounds Saturbay afternoon upset the calculations of hundreds of persons in this city. The B. A. boys of Provo proved the dark the race and carried off the honm the University of Utah by a narrow margin. Some excellent work was done by the contesting teams in spite of the gale that blow dust into their faces, filling their eyes and mouths with dirt. The competing teams were the University of Utan, the L. D. S. university, the is. Y. A. and the high school. The Provoites landed first place with the U. of U. second, the L. D. S. V. thirl and the high school fourth. The main and the high school fourth. The main fight was between the boys from the Garden city and those on the east bench and when it was all over there was only a point and a hair between them. The Provo boys captured 30 points and the University team getting 23½. The L. D. S. got 20½ and the high school 13. It is believed that, had it not been for the disagreeable condition of the weather, some records would nave gone glimmering as each and every event was very closely contested, and the winner could not be picked at any stage of the contests.

Contests,

The deciding event was the pole vaulting. It had been generally conceded that the Provo team would take that event on account of Adams record of 10 feet 9 inches, but when it came to the test he was pushed hard by Russell of the University up to the 10.4 mark. When it came to deciding the tie Adams proved the better man and carried off the event. The first event on the program was the hammer throw, which many believe was unfairly taken from the L. D. S. U. boys. Joe Smith for the Varisty and Paterson of the B. Y. A. outdistanced all others. Paterson made 101 feet and 2 inches, but on his last trial Smith beat it by three feet. But simply because he walked toward the hammer before the distance was measured the Provo boys claimed a foul which was allowed by the officials. Smith's previous mark was 101 and he was forced to be content with second place. There was a long drawn out discussion about the matter and a compromise was finally made by permitting Jarvis to enter the mile race. His entry had been protested because he is a teacher. But the compromise did not go through. Had it not been changed the victory would have gone to the University because Jarvis failed to land first place, that position going to the University. The B. Y. A. then declared all deals off and matters were adjusted according to the rule book. The 100-yard dash was taken by the speedy little Moore of the high school for the ligh school second. The distance was 19-1015.

In the high jump there was a tie between Steffensen of the U. of U. and 19-1016.

In the high jump there was a tie between Steffensen of the U. of U. and Adams of the B. Y. A. The mark was 5 feet 4 inches and each man took four points. The 229-yard dash went to Whitney of the U. of U. with Douglass of the L. D. S. second.

Wade of the University surprised them. of the University surprised them

Wade of the University surprised them all in the mile run by going past Jarvis like a shot. Jarvis took the lead and secured a lead of 10 yards, but the plucky little Wade overcame the lead and distanced his rival. The score then stood: University of Utah, 17; Brigham Young academy, 15; L. D. S. university, 8; high school, 8, with six eventus to come. Joe Smith added five points to the score of the L. D. S. in the next event, the shot put, and Steffensen of the university took second. Smith's distance was 36-2.

In a pretty hurdle race Christy of the was 36-2.

In a pretty hurdle race Christy of the L. D. S. and Roberts of the east benchers tied, each taking 2½ points. Provo then took the 440-yard dash. The half mile relay race was taken in a fighting finish by the high school boys, Davis, Richmond, Tripp and Moore. The 220-yard race was counted on by the University, but Christy took the event by a close margin. The final event was the pole vaulting, which has already been mentioned. This event decided the contests between the east bench crowd and the Provo aggregation. Provo aggregation.

Invasion to Coast and What it Means To Butte and Helena.

Butte and Helena are playing all their games in San Francisco. This was forced upon them owing to the big railroad jump upon them owing to the big railroad jump between the cities comprising the Pacific National league. Of course it's all very good for the club management in cutting down expenses, but what do the fans of Butte and Helena say about the matter? The fans in those cities who have supported the games in years past and made it possible for the league to exist, are clamoring for games. But the games "cameth not." They must be convinced that there is a large stact throw-down on the tapis for them when this season is over. Unless the 'actile National makes a failure of their invasion of San Francisco and Los Angeles and returns to their former circuit, there is no more chance

2-Locals Got Even Yesterday.

All the talk about Ogden coming down here for Saturday's game with an inferior team was shown to be nothing but torrid air when the time came for the two teams to line-up and play ball. There was a big crowd on hand to greet the Lobsters when they appeared on the field, but they did not lack for friends as they brought about 290 fans with them. Catcher Hausen of the Ogden crowd has not been liked very much by the Sait Lake rivers owing to the fact that he generally raised a roar when trod upon, but when he appeared on the diamond Saturday he was given an ovation.

The game was a good one to look upon and although the locals were beaten by a score of 5 to 2, the team is regarded as being a good one. The score was tied in the eighth but by that time a bad wind had raised which seemed to effect the locals greatly. With all the bases covered, Hausen came to the bat and things began to happen. He sent a sizzler down to Heusser which the latter could not manage and Ogden's runner scampered home winning the game. The score follows: OGDEN.

In yesterday's contest the White Wings got even with the Lobsters and carried off the honors by a score of 5 to 4. It was the real article of baseball and full of sensational thrills that cavorted up and gown the spines of the ball fanatics assembled. The big doings came in the ninth when it looked all Salt Lake. The score was five to two in their favor and then the Lobsters woke up and began to make thinsg hum. 'Home Run Butler' caused many a heartache in this inning. With one man out he dropped a two-sacker from Fullmer. The latter tried to take more than it was worth and was caught off third by Margetts and O'Brien. Butler dropped the ball and everything was lovely for Ogden. Mahoney came home on the play and Hausen shot out one good for two bases, bringing home Fullmer. The Lobster captain then purloined third and ward got the ball in his ribs and took first. Then came Jensen with a bunt toward third and Butler made things even by his good work. Butler fell to the ground but nailed the horsehide and tossed it to E. Heusser in time to catch Hausen and fetire the side. The summary follows: LOCALS GET EVEN.

PEACE AND RECREATION.

Took a Horseback Ride Over the Famous Seventeen Mile Drives Enjoying It Greatly.

Hotel Del Monte, Cal., May 10,-Presi, dent Roosevelt today spent one of the most restful Sundays he has encountered since his trip began. In one of the most beautiful spots in Call. fornia, two miles from the nearest city, unhampered by curious crowds, he had a chance to thoroughly rest and prepare for the coming week, which his journey.

His train arrived here at midnight, but he did not leave it until about 9 o'clock this morning. At that time Col. Ward and a detachment of the Fifteenth infantry, who are stationed at Fort Monterey, headed by the regimental band, arrived at his car. After the president had greeted the colonel and his staff he was driven to the hotel, where he and his party had breakfast. At the conclusion of that meal the president and a small party rode horseback over the famonus seventeen-mile drive along the sea, while Gov. Pardee and some of the members of the president's party drove over the route in carriages. The weather was route in carriages. The weather was all that could be desired and the trip was greatly enjoyed by the president, who was enthusiastic over the beauti-

In the afternoon he attended St. John's chapel on the hotel grounds. The services were conducted by Rev. Hobart Chetwood, the chaplain. At the conclusion of the services the President, Secy. of the Navy Moody, President Butler of Columbia college and President Wheeler of the University of California spent a couple of hours strelling about the hotel.

C. Huiscamp of St. Louis this city to H. C. Huiscamp of St. Louis of the first certification merely as the for a consideration of $115,367 recalls the result of the examination, which story of the sudden rise and precipitous showed that he would be saisfactory to for a consideration of $115,367 recalls the fall of Marion City, with which the names of two of the most famous characters of modern fiction are associated. These characters are Martin Chuzzlewit and Colonel Mulberry Sellers, the former cre-

the Mississippi river about manway between riannibal, Mo., and quincy, Ill. Although widely boomed, after the manner of many boom cities of that period, as the coming metropols of the Mississippi valley, it never got beyond the paper stage and collapsed just prior to the visit of the great English novelist to the United States in 1842.

It will be recalled that Dickene found on that occasion many things about this country which offended his English sense of propriety. Among them was Marion city, when he returned to his native land he proceeded to lampoon us in a most caustic manner, and as one of the venicles in which to turn loose his satire he wrote "Martin Chuzzlewit,"

As Dickens tells the story, Martin Chuzzlewit visited the United States and came as far west as Missouri, where he invested his money and that of Mark Tapley, his servant, in the boom town of Edda. This imaginary Eden was in reality Marion city. On their way west Martin and Mark tell in with one General Choke, who introduced them to the agent of the boomtown. He showed them a beautiful map of the wonderful young town, with its market place, public buildings and busy streets, and they invested, Chuzzlewit being assured that there was not an architect in the city. A couple of days later they took a boat up the river to the place. This, according to Dickens' story, is what they found:

"As they proceeded farther on their tracks and came more and more toward their journey's end the monotonous desolation of the scene increased to that degree that for any redeeming feature it presented to their eyes they might have entered, in the body, on the grim domains of sind despair—a flat morase, with fallen limber; a marsh, on which the good growth of the carth seemed to have-been wrecked and cast away.

"At last they stopped. At Eden too. The waters of the dehuge might have left it only the week before, so choked with slime and matted growth was the hideous swamp which bere that name.

"There being no depth of witer close in shore, they lunded from the ves

In its essential features the story of Colonel Mulberry Sellers' Napoleon was not materially different from that of the Eden in which Martin Chuzzlewit Invested, and both are fairly representative of the experiences in actual life of Colonel Muldrow and his boom town of Marion city, the memory of which is now revived after a period of 60 years by the transfer of the plot of wild land upon which it was proposed to build it.

City Magistrate Crane took it upon himself to read a red-nosed prisoner a moral lecture the other day on the evils of drink, and laid great stress on the whole-someness of pure water.

"Instead of swilling beer and whisky all the time, cultivate a taste for water," he admonished, "and even when you're invited to take a drink, ask for water."

"That's all right, your honor," was the retort, "Rut I've read my Bible in happier days, and there's only one place recorded there where a man asked for water, And you know where he was!"—New York Times. City Magistrate Crane took it upon him

Washington, May 10 .- The civil service commission today made the follow ing explanation of circumstances at tending the appointment to his position of John C. Allgood, the Tennessee rural free delivery letter carrier who has been prevented from performing the duties of his office by the patrons on his route:

There are five rural free delivery routes which start at Gallatin, Tenn. There were 15 applicants for position as rural letter carriers on the route Eight of these applicants have been of fered appointments, of whom five accepted and three declined. For route No. 1 Allen S. Dillard, a white man, made the highest average and was appointed Feb. 16, 1903, to begin work on March 2. On Feb. 25 notice was received that Dillard had declined. The next man on the register was

John C. Allgood, the colored carrier who recently was compelled to abandon his route. In his report the examiner stated that Allgood would make a very acceptable carrier. His judgment was based on his investigations as to the wishes of the patrons of the route under section 9 of the Egulations, which provides that "the examination shall further consist of a careful inquiry and report by the special agent or the route inspector of each competitor's acquaintance with the patrons of the route, and the extent to which he has their confidence, his general character, suitability and fitness for the position, and his character and reputa-

New York, May 11.-William H. Theobald, former special agent of the treasury department, makes the statement that department, makes the statement that more smuggling is going on now than there has been at any previous time in the history of the United States government. Of his own personal knowledge, he said, he knew of four pearl necklaces, no one of which was worth less than $39,000, having been brought into the port of New York without paying a cent of duty. Further than this, he said, he knew of at least four firms in Maiden Lane who are engaged in the unlawful traffic and that he can place his hands upon them at a moment's notice.

Deported Because He Was Small New York, May 11.-Joseph Bernstein, seven years old, who, with his mother, brother and sister, arrived recently in this city from Prussia, has been ordered deported, the immigra tion authorities having decided him to be ineligible for admission to the country because of his diminutive size he weighing only 15 pounds. The boy is said to be healthy, physically and mentally, but because of his lack of growth is classed with the cripples.
