Feet of Tunnel Work.

Evidently the initial shipment of ore from the Shoshone mine in the Bull-frog, Nevada, district, did not pan out quite as rich as the mangement of the mine anticipated it would. According to a statement released last evening the ore averaged a little better than $500 to the ton; the whole lot bringing a little more than $20,000. There is nothing disappointing about this, how-ever, when it is considered that no extra care was made in sacking the stuff at the mine. Mr. Macdonald, one of the officers of the company, departed for the west this afternoon and will be followed in a few days by General Manager A E o a statement released

The location will be in the northwestern part of the city not far from the Oregon Short Line round houses. A five-acre tract of land has been obtained.
