

is calculated to retard development of form and bulk. It is better to feed pigs intended to be cut up for bacon loosely and not too abundantly, until they have attained their full stature; you can bring them into the highest possible condition in an inconceivably short space of time.

8. Do not regret the loss or scarcity of potatoes so far as swine feeding is concerned. Its loss has been the means of stimulating inquiry and producing experiments, which have resulted in the discovery that many other superior vegetables have been hitherto neglected and foolishly passed aside.

9. Do not neglect to keep your swine clean, dry and warm. These are essentials, and not a whit less imperative than feeding—for an inferior description of food will by their aid succeed far better than the highest feeding will without them; and suffer me to reiterate the benefit derivable from washing your hogs; this will repay your trouble manifold.

10. Watch the markets. Sell when you see a reasonable profit before you. Many a man has swamped himself by giving way to covetousness, and by desiring to realize an unusual amount of gain; recollect how very fluctuating are the markets, and that a certain gain is far better than the risk of loss.—Granite Farmer.

MY WAY WITH HOGS.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune writes: Among the different ways of checking the rooting propensity in hogs is to "cut and partially detach a part of the rim of the snout, leaving the part which is detached adhering at the extremities, and hanging over the end of the nose." But that is a most barbarous practice, and a man guilty of it should be complained of for cruelty. That prominent rim is from one to two inches long, according to the size of the hog, and is the only part with which the animal can feel, and a close observer will notice that a hog always touches his food with that "rim" before he begins to eat. Therefore, to cut or mutilate the rim, to say nothing of cruelty, is to deprive the creature of the sense of feeling which is so essential to his improvement, and will be done at the expense of the corn crib. To prevent a hog from rooting, put two wire rings, one on each side of the prominent gristle, in close proximity to it; draw the two ends of the wire together, leaving it in the form of an ox-bow; twist the ends, leaving the rings bow-shaped in the middle, and turn the twisted ends of the wire up toward the eyes. This leaves the rim of the nose entirely at liberty, and should the hog attempt to root, the rings will come in contact with the earth, and the hog will immediately desist.

A Young lady, in conversing with a gentleman, spoke of having resided in St. Louis. "Was St. Louis your native place?" asked the gentleman. "Well, yes, part of the time," responded the lady.

The colliers in England appear to be in a prosperous condition. At Bryn, in the Wigan coal fields, the other day, a miner paid $37 for a dog. A Wigan jeweler sold a watch and guard to another collier for £50.

A London letter carrier has been sentenced to two years' penal servitude for stealing a single letter. Good gracious! Why, in this country he wouldn't have been punished more severely if he had stolen the whole alphabet.—Courier Journal.

Mr. Martin Maddison, of the firm of Maddison, Pierce & Co., of Southampton, England, will, it is stated, reach the ripe old age of 115 years in May next. He is very active, regularly attends to business, and bears no sign of decay or incapacity.

The Irishman had a correct appreciation of the business, who, being asked by the judge, when he applied for a license to sell whisky, if he was of good moral character, replied, "Faith, yer honor, I don't see the necessity of a good moral character to sell whisky!"

An enthusiastic reporter of the Denver News, in a half-column description of a Denver theatre, says: "In fact, we doubt whether there is as fine a stage, outside of Salt Lake, between the Rocky Mountains and the Missouri River."

The North Platte Enterprise says "The Modoc camp is subjected to many visits from our young men. For the information of all we would state that Princess Mary, Captain Jack's daughter, is engaged to Shack Nasty Jim or some other member of the tribe."

Policeman Stewart, of Detroit, has concluded that he wouldn't make a good policeman. He shot himself in the hand, struck at a dog and fractured his right knee pan, fell down and sprained his ankle, and was run over by a butcher's cart, all in one month, and he thinks a quiet corner in a carpenter shop a much safer place.

The New York Graphic says that twenty-five years ago the clergy were ambitious to secure a settlement in Boston and receive a "D.D." from Harvard University, but now the desire is to have a parish in Brooklyn and edit a paper. If these high points cannot be gained, they try to be satisfied with a church in New York and a yacht.

"Gentlemen," said an auctioneer, who was selling a piece of land, "this is the most delightful land. It is the easiest land to cultivate, it is so light, so very light. Parker will corroborate my statement; he owns the next patch, and he will tell you how easy it is to work. "Yes, gentlemen," said Parker, "it is very easy to work, but it is a plaguey sight easier to gather the crops."

The Pope said recently to a diplomatist: "I am very well, indeed. I eat, drink and digest my food as well as when I was forty years of age; I walk as well, and, above all, do not you think my mind is in the same condition as when I was forty years of age?" His Holiness is reported to confide in a prophecy that he will live for ninety and more years and witness the retreat of the invaders from his estates.

The Missouri editors at their late convention formally resolved that a man has the same right to walk into a grocery store and order a barrel of sugar or a sack of coffee, or into a law office and demand a legal opinion from its occupant, or into an undertaker's and request a coffin, without expecting to pay for their respective wares or services, as into a newspaper office and demand the use of its brains and muscle and type, without a thought of recompense.

A writer in the Chicago Tribune reports that "George Elliot, whose maiden name was Marian Evans, and who is now the wife of George Henry Lewes, is very shy by nature, and rendered more so by the peculiar circumstances of her marriage." What is the use of this sort of covert false statement? The person spoken of is a woman of great genius, and it is unworthy of her and her friends to tell anything but the truth respecting this subject. She is not married to George Henry Lewes, but lives with him without marriage.—Etc.

NOTICE.

TERRITORY OF UTAH. County of Salt Lake. In the Probate Court of said county. The Territory of Utah, To Samuel Oldam Lees and Sarah Lees, send greeting:

YOU are hereby commanded to appear before our said court at Salt Lake City, Utah Territory, on the second Monday in December, A. D. 1873, then and there to answer to a petition of Eliza Lees, filed in our said court, claiming the abrogation of so much of the last will and testament of Stephen Lees, deceased, late of said county, as disposes of by way of devise of the premises occupied by said Stephen Lees at the time of his decease, the same being a tract of land ten (10) rods running north and south and five (5) rods east and west of the south-east corner of Lot one (1) in Block No. seventy-three (73) of Plot A of the surveys of Salt Lake City.

And the said Eliza Lees also claims to be the widow and heir at law of said Stephen Lees, deceased, and that as such she is entitled by law to said premises as her homestead, and claims that the same were not subject to be disposed of by will as against her paramount right thereto.

And said petitioner prays a decree of this court in the matter establishing in her a fee simple absolute title to said premises and other relief, as in her said petition particularly set out.

And that unless you appear and defend against said petition on or before the time herein named, said court will proceed to hear said cause and grant the prayer of said petitioner by proper decree of this court.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court this 23th day of October, A. D. 1873. D. BOCKHOLT, Clerk of said Court.

ELIZA ANN MILLER, Plaintiff, against JACOB P. MILLER, Defendant. In Divorce.

The People of the Territory of Utah, To Jacob P. Miller, defendant, Greeting:

YOU are hereby summoned to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Eliza Ann Miller, Plaintiff, in the Probate Court in and for the County of Salt Lake and Territory of Utah, and answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, and if not within this county but within the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Utah, within twenty days; otherwise, if within the Territory, within forty days, or judgment will be taken against you by default, according to the prayer of said complaint.

This action is brought to obtain a decree in divorce from this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between this plaintiff and you, and for such other and further relief as may be proper, and cost of suit.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and seal of said Court, in Salt Lake City, this 27th day of September, A. D. 1873.
