

UTAH JUNKETERS.

The Salt Lake Councilmen is San Francisco.

RECEPTION BY LOCAL OFFICIALS.

Geff's Cold Elite of 150 Miles on a Hand Car.—The Chinamen and Other Trips.

The following is from the San Francisco Circular of Sunday last and will be read with interest by the constituents of the eighteenth congressional district:

The members of the City Council and other officials of San Francisco, who are on their vacation, junketing over the Pacific states, arrived on the Portland train from the Pacific Northwest yesterday morning, and devoted the day and evening to study of the beauties and attractions of San Francisco. They have been staying at their homes on the 2nd floor, and during this stay have been enjoying themselves in Portland, Tacoma and Seattle.

The visiting officials are: Congressman Eli A. Hale, H. Kelly, J. L. Lawson, L. L. Longmire, P. J. Moran and E. E. Nichols; C. L. Barnes, chairman of the board of public works; A. F. Denslow, city engineer; Dr. G. Himes, supervisor of streets; W. A. Jones, director of waterworks; C. L. Leamond, collector of city and county taxes; J. H. Bowman, auditor, and George Olsen, superintendent of the new city and county buildings. The members of the delegation are the office manager of the Standard Oil Company, H. H. Finch, who is manager of the party, and a very busy珊瑚虫 in consequence.

The visiting officials were received upon their arrival by the mayor, the city council and committees of the board of supervisors, consisting of Supervisors Day, Montgomery and Hale. They were taken over to the Palace Hotel where they were regaled with a sumptuous breakfast at the grand hotel which they stated as a exhilarating experience. The principal object of their visit to the city is to study the underground electric trolley system with a view to placing a similar system in Salt Lake City, also the water works, gas works, streets and parks.

The wind has night blew almost a gale and suspended and broken shade trees in different parts of the city today. The winds were taken out of the Palms, which were regarded with admiration by the visitors, after which they stated as a exhilarating experience.

The principal object of their visit to the city is to study the underground electric trolley system with a view to placing a similar system in Salt Lake City, also the water works, gas works, streets and parks. They made a tour to study municipal government during the morning as they wandered through the City Hall. There is a McAllister window, now in the window of the chamber of commerce, which is believed when finished, was carefully inspected by the visiting officials. The immense glass windows which support the roof above the entrance, addition, and all other parts were also given a close inspection by the visitors. Mayor Hatch removed them from his office, which were afterward shown the workings of the various departments of city government.

J. H. Bowman, the most interesting man in the Salt Lake contingent during the visit to the new city hall, Salt Lake City is now reconstructing a massive fireproof masonry building, which Mr. Bowman is the contractor, and it is expected to be ready in November. Mr. Leamond, new treasurer, whom he is planning up on his trip.

Before entering the hall the visitors climbed into the tower and obtained a lasting impression of the beauty and magnificence of the city from the belfry view thus obtained.

A pleasant hour was spent in the United States mint.

Subsequently the party was received by the Clay Street planers, thanks to the efforts of Mr. L. L. Longmire, the city engineer. The Clay street planers were in waiting to have them for a stop along the way. Dr. Lewis responded to the visitors, as did also H. W. Adams, mayor of Salt Lake City, and others.

After the Salt Lake pattern, the business men's committee on parks and boulevards to select a route.

The business men's association is hard at work formulating plans that will be presented for consideration within a short time. It was stated to say that the possibilities on parks and boulevards would require a careful official investigation and preliminary survey of the proposed new driveway. Within one or two days thereafter the committee will report its findings which it is believed will be favorably acted upon.

Dear Sirs—I have read several articles of late in the papers about the business men's association, and I say we are truly in sympathy with your great and glorious work; and if it is not too much trouble for you, please furnish us with a few articles of correspondence and biographies of the organization, so we are enabled of forming a similar association here. A Michigan Newspaper Who Accompanied a Deputed Delegation to San Francisco.

P. C. Baker, managing editor of the Detroit (Michigan) Evening News, arrived in Salt Lake this morning on a return trip from the Pacific Coast. Mr. Baker, however, had received a telegram from Senator Barham of Idaho, in which he conveyed the intelligence that Mr. Kelly had not been heard near the entire distance of his trip to make connection with Mr. Kelly, and that he had turned back. The request will be promptly granted.

For the pleasure of the trip has been known by but a few individuals. Colonel A. H. Kelly missed the train at Ogallala and was unable to overtake the party at Cheyenne. The party, however, had reached Cheyenne, received a telegram from Senator Barham of Idaho, in which he conveyed the intelligence that Mr. Kelly had not been heard near the entire distance of his trip to make connection with Mr. Kelly, and that he had turned back.

Under cover of the committee of the business men's association, the visitors, after a pleasurable hour in the mountains, last evening, they hurriedly circuitous display and especially in the California portion of the World's Fair exhibition. After leaving the fair grounds, the party, including the visitors, were escorted to the Mexican Hotel, where they enjoyed an elaborate banquet with the superiors of San Francisco city officials. These San Francisco city officials were present and received the visitors with the same courtesy and cordiality as the citizens of San Francisco. It was intended to show the visitors to the visiting officials, but as it was late when the last visit was made, the party will visit the Cliff and stairs, located in response to an invitation from Andrew Smith.

The Gulf of Sunday has another unique feature to say of the Salt Lake delegation.

President Lincolnwood stated that this was his first visit to San Francisco, and it was also his first trip to the Pacific Coast. Salt Lake, he said, was spending a great deal of money for public works and the object of this trip was mainly to see that the money was well spent for public improvements, and that could only be done by going to the public works of their city which he was having the defects remedied before it was too late. The public works of Salt Lake are now under consideration or in construction are to be permanent, and the future and success of others would give them many ideas and perhaps point out many defects in theirs.

The visiting delegation is seeing about the country, the relations between the Pacific Coast, and the middle West closer. The citizens along the Pacific should stand for the common good, and it would stand for the mutual advantage of San Francisco and Salt Lake if there were greater commercial and social relations.

The Salt Lake delegation were kindly given time for dinner when they were engaged below town by the visitors. At about 12 o'clock the dinner was fixed in order and about three hours were spent among the displays of fruit.

Chumash was next in order, after a light luncheon, and the high seats in the dining room were occupied by the visitors. The visiting officials of the Mormon city will be driven through the residence portion of the city out in Golden Gate Park and on to the Cliff House.

Union Club Election.

Last night the annual election of officers of the Union club was held at the Templeton hotel. The following officers were chosen to serve for the ensuing year:

H. F. Hansen, president; Sam J. Kenyon, vice president; H. M. Wells, secretary; E. H. Mifflin, treasurer; John Sutherland, H. S. Young, N. C. Johnson, J. A. Rosenthal, W. P. Johnson, G. L. Stevenson, J. C. Caine and G. L. Stephenson, directors.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, January 27, 1893.—President Harrison has it in his power to fill his successor to fill the vacancy in the U. S. Supreme court left by the death of Justice Miller. It would be an unprecedented outcry from a relative to an incoming President, but it would not be politic, and therein lies the weakness of the proposition. A seat upon the bench of the Supreme court is justly regarded as the highest honor that can be paid to an American lawyer, and next to the honor of serving it is that of becoming a Justice. It is extremely doubtful whether the human nature, which is as strong in Presidents as in other people, would permit any President to retire having such a vacancy, even if his successor had been elected by his own party, to say nothing of leaving it to the man who has defeated him. There is much talk around the Capital about a big new bill coming over the confirmation of any nomination that Mr. Harrison may make to this vacancy, but from the best obtainable information, the Republican senators will vote solidly for the confirmation of any man that may be chosen, and the Paulsen senators will probably vote with them, which would make the confirmation certain. If, however, the Radical Republicans opposed it, it would be justly regarded as a political move, and the Senate would have to be bloodshed. The two men were arrested and taken before Justice Whittemore, who fined them on a plea of guilty $12.50 each for disturbing the peace.

AMUSEMENT.

A JOLLY BURRIG.—Fanny Dillie, a favorite in Sacramento, danced last night in the good graces of Salt Lake five or six years ago, and last night there was a great audience at the theater to view what she was not then. She was surrounded by the best of the best, and was to receive a raise in her salary. In the absence of Miss Dillie, Mrs. Van Pelt, a widow, was in charge of the troupe, and she made a hit in her much inferior scenes, a new, very clever and original burlesque act, "The Patriotic Girl," which was a great success.

J. A. Wright, the mining town boy, which the successful books of the Western miners with its back-breaking labor, is fast making a name for itself. The author of "The Miner's Life" is a man of great energy and ability, and it requires no more than a few hours to make a "Miner's Life" as good as any book of fiction.

C. L. Pease, a doting husband, and a good business man, has recently been promoted to the rank of Major in the U. S. Cavalry. He is a man of great energy and ability, and it requires no more than a few hours to make a "Miner's Life" as good as any book of fiction.
