Business of the Church -- At th Bishops' meeting on Thursday eve ning, Jan. 24th, President John l'aylor gave some valuable fustruetion and information in relation to the priesthood and the duties per taining to it and its various offices. He spoke of the two priesthoods the Melchisedec and the Asronic the latter being an appendage to the former, the first comprehending

This is the duty of the President of the Stake, as he 'presides over all the Bishops in the Stake by virtue of his office. After examining, and, when necessary, correcting the report he will forward a duplicate to the Trustee-in-Trust. Bishop Hunter will then beable to render a report of the business of the temporal department of this Church to the Trustee-in-Trust, who will also have, as before explained, reports from the Presidents of Stakes. By this method each priesthood, the Melchesidee and Assonic, will pursue its particular direct line, the one not luterfering with the other, further than is legitimate and in order, and connect finally at one point, the head, the Trustee-in-Trust, who presides over both departments. By this method the clerk of the Trustee in-Trust will be able to meet with Bieliop Hunter's clerk and a system of balances arranged that will enable the Trustee-in-Trust to lay before the whole Church a statement of the business. It will not be practicable to make a full and complete report oftener than once a year, and an approximate one in the interim. The Trustee-in-Trust purposes submitting his reports to an auditing committee. Bishop Hauter, who had met with the Council of the Twelve, with whom he is in full accord in those matters, has submitted the names of some persons he had sug-nested for Bishops to act as his agents in some of the Stakes, some of whom have been approved. As Bishop Hunter and his Coun selors reside in and are most of their time in this Stake, they will be able to personally attend to the business pertaining to it, in their department, and consequently will need no agent here. In the course of his remarks Preclearness, that there was no conflict between this aystem and anything contained in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants. The Church was growing and extending, and the priesthood, in its operations had to enlarge the methods of conducting its affairs according ly. If every man seeks to learn his duty and to do it in his calling and office, having the spirit of God to influence and direct him, no condict will arise, and the Kingdom of God will develop and advance step by step and fill the high position it is destined to assume.

Jubilee.—Yesterday morning a jubilee was held in the 11th Ward Schoolhouse by the combined Sunday schools of the 11th and 12th Wards.
