

Celebration in Thistle Valley.—Brother M. V. Selman writes from Indianola, Thistle Valley, under date of the 11th inst., giving an interesting account of how the "4th" was celebrated among the Lamanite brethren of that place. At day-break guns were fired by the Indians, under the direction of Brother Selman. At 9 a.m. the Stars and Stripes were unfurled, and an hour later a public meeting was held. Orator of the day, Henry Gardner, who explained to the Lamanites the reason the occasion was honored and expressed his feelings regarding the Constitution, as it was 104 years ago when the declaration was signed and its present condition in these days of degeneracy. Others spoke pointedly on the same subject. After meeting, tables were spread for a public feast, for both red and white, all parties alike, and 63 Lamanites and 63 whites partook of the dinner together. After all were through the plenty remaining was distributed among the aged, infirm and poor. After dinner the company engaged in foot races, sack races, horse races, etc. The whole day proved a success, not an oath was heard nor a drop of intoxicating liquor taken by any one. Our correspondent says: One could not help but wonder if there was any other place where the flag was more perfectly honored than in this little valley, where scarcely any but Lamanites reside, and among a people whose rights are denied and whose liberty is chains.

The Lamanites are progressing in every way, physically and intellectually. They have fair prospects for good crops, and have union and good will in their midst. They catch very readily every principle of the gospel advanced, and are preparing themselves as missionaries to preach to other tribes. Sabbath schools are held regularly among them.

Brother Selman speaks in high terms of the faithful labors of President John Spencer and counselors, and also of the Ladies Relief Society in their disinterested efforts to promote the welfare of the Lamanites.

For the East.—Sister Lucy B. Young, wife of the late President Brigham Young, leaves for the East on Monday morning, on a visit of relatives and friends. We wish the lady a pleasant and profitable trip, and a safe return to her home in Utah.

The Ute Expedition.—Companies E. K. I. and H., of the 14th Infantry, were expected home at noon today, from Colorado. A portion of the troops arrived by the 11.40 train. They were met at the depot by the Fort Douglas band, and marched through the streets, shortly after 12 o'clock, on their way to the barracks. The boys look a little rough, from their winter's hard experience, and are no doubt glad to get back to the Fort.

A Veteran.—We were pleased to receive a call this morning, from Elder Levi W. Hancock, a veteran well known in the Church, and at present one of the first seven presidents of the Seventies. Brother Hancock is now in his 78th year, has passed through a great deal for the Gospel's sake, and at present is somewhat feeble in health. He resides now in the First Ward. We are glad to see him around once more.

Drowned in Bear River.—A man named Daniel A. Manuill is reported to have been drowned in Bear River, at Cottonwood Ford, on Monday morning last. The Enterprise states, on the authority of a gentleman from Gentile Valley the day after the reported fatality, that the unfortunate young man was crossing the river on horseback in company with a friend who was also on a horse. The latter taking the lead, upon reaching the opposite shore, heard a call for assistance, and upon looking around saw that the horse which Mr. Manuill was riding had become unmanageable, and was making back for the shore from whence they started. He immediately turned his horse and recrossed the river, but before he could render any assistance the young man was taken down by the swiftness of the stream and was not seen again. A number of men were informed of the sad occurrence, who immediately began to drag the river in search of the body, but up to last accounts it had not been found.

Deceased was 21 years of age, born and raised at Payson, Utah, and was a steady young man, and highly respected by his many friends.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, JULY 19.

Immigrants Arrived.—The party of 31 immigrants from New Zealand, with returning Elders Fred May and Thomas Shreeve, mentioned in Saturday's NEWS, reached this city shortly before noon to-day.

Set Apart.—At the meeting of the sisters, in the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms, Saturday afternoon, President John Taylor blessed and set apart Sister Eliza R. Snow Smith to preside over all the Relief Societies of the church, also Sisters Zina D. Young and Elizabeth Ann Whitney as her counselors, with Sarah M. Kimball as secretary of the organization.

Earthquake Shocks.—Mr. J. D. Gibbs, writing from Portage, Box Elder County, on the 15th inst., informs us that on the 11th inst., at about 10 p.m., that place experienced a terrible shaking from earthquake. There were two shocks, at an interval of three or four minutes, each shock lasting for two or three seconds. No damage is reported. Some of the inhabitants rushed out into the streets, badly frightened for a little while, but went back to bed on finding their houses were still on their foundations.

Y. M. M. I. A.—It is the request of the General Superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A. that every Association of this Stake be represented by at least twelve members in the procession on the 24th.

It is also requested that each Association provide a banner or flag with name of association, date of its organization, with appropriate motto on it. They will rally on First West, between South Temple and First South Streets, in front of President Taylor's residence and must be on the ground, ready to form in line, at 8 a.m.

Base Ball.—A correspondent sends us an account of a base ball contest of three games, played at Panguitch Lake, for the championship of Panguitch, by their two clubs, the "Odd Stockings" and the "Sevier Juniors." The first game was played on Monday the 5th inst., at 1 o'clock p.m. It was not so interesting as either of the others, and resulted in favor of the "Seviers" by a score of 23 to 16. The second game commenced at 9 a.m. on Tuesday. This score stood 22 to 6 in favor of the "Odd Stockings." The third game was played in the afternoon of the same day, taking two hours and ten minutes. This game was very exciting and interesting. The score stood nearly even throughout the game, and the spectators took great interest in the playing. The "Odd Stockings" won the game by one run, the score standing 15 to 14.

Another Divorce Case.—Another suit for divorce, etc., has been instituted in the District Court, by Ann Cottam, against her husband John Cottam, and Theodore McKean, Mary Reid and Henry Cumberland. The suit is also to prevent John Cottam from disposing of his property pending the decision of the court. It involves the three other parties as defendants, on the ground alleged, that the husband has illegally conveyed certain portions of his property to these parties, as the plaintiff believes and asserts, without consideration, in order to place it beyond her reach in case of a legal action, which she has threatened before. The plaintiff prays for an injunction restraining these defendants from disposing of or encumbering the property of Cottam, now in their hands, and also for alimony, Court expenses, etc., etc.

Home Again.—President A. O. Smoot, of Utah Stake, and his son Reed, who have been spending a little over two months in the Sandwich Islands, arrived in this city on their return, yesterday morning at 11.40. They remained here over night and took the morning train for Provo. Both are looking well and appear to have been considerably benefited by the trip. They made good use of their time while away, seeing and learning all they could in the Islands, and return with a goodly store of matter for interesting and instructive conversation. They speak encouragingly of the work of the gospel in those parts, and of the manifest improvement in the condition of the native Saints, since their conversion to the truth. Their superiority over their fellow natives, outside the Church, is a matter of comment even among strangers. The race however is rapidly dwindling away. When Captain Cook visited the Islands, the inhabitants numbered about 400,000, now they figure somewhere in the neighborhood of 40,000. This frightful decimation is largely due to the introduction of the vices of modern civilization, by the whites, who now compose quite a portion of the population. The Chinese are very numerous and bid fair to eventually carry the country. Their mercantile establishments are, some of them, magnificent and extensive. They and the whites are the energetic portions of the community, the native Islanders being their "hewers of wood and drawers of water." The men do nearly all the work, the women very little beside gathering fruit and doing family washing. Most of the time they are idle, riding horseback or lolling around on the lawns at the roadside. The climate is pleasant, Honolulu, the port, being about the warmest place, situated on the south side of an island. The country is one where a livelihood is to be easily gained. Farming is extensively carried on. The principal exports are sugar, rice and tropical fruits. The whole country is one vast lawn, enjoying a delightful immunity from dust, and is naturally fertile and productive. Every island has its volcano, either extinct or occasionally in operation, and in fact, the most of the soil is pulverized lava. An extinct crater on the Island of Oahu is used as a fortress by the native forces. On Hawaii, a volcano is still burning, and at night brilliantly lights up the neighboring city, thus creating a splendid and to some, terrifying phenomenon. Not more than two or three years ago, an eruption occurred there during which a whole side of the mountain, measuring one mile square, was lifted up and laid over the city and its inhabitants. The lava from this volcano has been known to run a distance of 40 miles to the sea-shore. But with all these drawbacks, the island is still occupied, and farming is carried on there to a great extent.

The above are a few items jotted down by our reporter, while interviewing President Smoot and his companion. We welcome them home, and congratulate them on an improved state of health and a safe return to their families and friends.

This is not the case with Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which does its work thoroughly, removing every trace of an eruption. It, moreover, speedily heals old sores, ulcers, cuts, bruises and scalds, and is a reliable disinfectant of clothing or bed linen.
