Elder Louis F. Moench reported the religion class work of the stake, and showed the great good being done thereby.

Elder John L. Herrick reported the Men's Mutual Improvement work in the stake, the work in all the Young wards is fully organized and the season's studies have commenced. Sister Mary Farley sang a beautiful Apostle Rudger Clawson spoke on the Aposte Rudger Clayson spoke off the beautiful and perfect organization of the Church as established by our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. He spoke of the spirit of order and the great blessthe spirit of order and the great bless-ings which it brings among all people. The speaker especially encouraged the work of the religion classes, as the training that is there given is of vast benefit to the youth of Zion, educating the wringiples of the Govern them in the principles of the Gospei.

Elder Joseph Parry reported the Priesthood meetings of the stake being seld every month, and the attendance much better of late. President Joseph F. Smith said that he was always desirous to hear the reports of the various organizations in the Church, not alone from the Sunday chools, young men's and ladies' orbut also from Elders' porums, Bishops and all other organ gations of the Priesthood in the stake, that the presidency may know what all are doing, whether they are performing their duties or not. essential, he said, that all the organitations be in a good working order, that every part of the Church may progress and every member be doing his or her duty, to receive the blessings

President Joseph F. Smith expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large at tendance, but regretted that the tabernacle was much too small to accommodate the large gatherings, but there are occasions when this building is much too large for those who attend. 'The question was asked me," he coninued, "by a gentleman, as to whether our people attend their meetings. pleasure I could report that ou meetings are quite well attended, pecially at conferences. I find that the saints all over the Stakes of Zion are desirous of hearing the word of the Lord which His servants have to give President Smith expressed especial deasure in the exhortations that had een given by the former speakers. 'It is not sufficient that these who speak to us have a knowledge of the Gospel, but every Latter-day Saint must know the Gospel for himself, for on our own knowledge and works will we be saved. We must learn the order of the Church, and the various authorities in the Priesthood, all of which are necessary to the perfection of the work; all should abor unitedly for the building up of the kingdom of God on this earth. The presidency of the Stake presides over organization and quorum in the Stake as well as all the members, and the subordinate officers must be subject o those who preside over them, same as the presidency of the Church presides over all the organizations in be whole Church. We sometimes hear teachers say they do not desire to visit he home of the president of the Stake some other authority in the Church. This is not right, for a teacher, does his duty, should visit every family and admonish and teach them. all of us members of the church whethor we be presidents or hold any other high position. I could not stand as president of the Church of Christ if I was not in good standing. It is the duty of a teacher to visit my house, and if he sees anything out of order in my home, to admonish me and my family in the same. We must honor the Priesthood of God given to man and honor every man and woman placed in any position in the Church.

it matters not whether that position be high or lowly. It is the duty of every family of the Church, to receive the teacher and listen to whatever advice he may have to give them, and if a Bishop or any other man cannot respect his brother in his calling he is not fit to bear the Priesthood and preside over any part of the Church. cordance with our faithfulness in our duties in whatever calling we are called to we shall be rewarded and if we are diligent then we are worthy of being advanced in the Church. We can depend on the men ad women who have done their duty in whatever position they may have been called. God bless

POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

Sugar Factory and Other Thriving Industries -- Wedding Bells,

Special Correspondence. Logan, Cache Co., Oct. 19 .- The past week has been a quiet one in Logan, aside from the hum of industry. Activity is the order of the day in this valley. On all sides are the evidences of prosperity and good feeling. Even in politics, while there is energy and good natured rivalry, no more are bitter per sonal ill-feeling and hate oncountered The campaign is well under way or both sides. The Democrats held meetings in various parts of the county dur ng the week, the speakers being Mat Thomas of Salt Lake and Messrs. Barber, Edwards and other local can-lidates. Chairman Cannon of the didates. state Democratic committee visited the party managers "between trains" Friday, and dispensed political energy and encouragement to all the workers

The Republicans have held but one meeting in the outside precincts as yet, that being at Paradise Saturday even ing, when C. E. Allen, who is a particular favoreite there, was the speak er. The big opening gun of their end of the campaign was fired in Friday evening, however, when Sena. tors Clark of Wyoming and Kearns of Utah held forth to a large audience in Thatcher Opera House, W. W. Maughan acted as chairman of the meeting, and there was abundance of music and applause.
