

Paris.—The Emperor visited the Camp of Chalons and made a speech to the soldiers, in which he reminded the army that this was the anniversary of the battle of Solferino. He said he was pleased to see that they had not forgotten the cause for which they fought ten years ago. He continued as follows: "Preserve the remembrance of the battles fought by your fathers and yourselves, for our victories are the history of progress and civilization, you will thus maintain the military spirit, which is the triumph of the noble over the vulgar passions. Continue in the same course and you will always be worthy of so great a nation."

Bucharest.—An attempt has been made to assassinate the President of the Council of Ministers. The assassin was arrested.

London.—In the House of Lords tonight Baron Redesdale gave notice of an amendment to the Irish Church bill, to allow Irish Bishops to retain their seats in the House of Lords.

Havana advices say the cholera has broken out in Quantanamo and Santiago, and rages with great severity.

Washington.—The text of Lopez' reply, under date of May 29th, to the demand of the allied guard, that he should lay down his arms and terminate the war is published. Lopez repels the charge that he is guilty of causing unnecessary bloodshed, because he has defended his country against the allies' assaults, and declares that he is now, and ever has been, disposed to treat for peace upon a basis equally honorable to all the belligerents, but is not disposed to hear a word as to laying down arms to treat for peace.

Madrid.—In the Cortes, the Republican members were warned that their presence in the chamber was permitted as an act of patriotism, but they could not be tolerated as accomplices in a scheme for building up a republic; that the present combination of affairs would not long continue, and it would become necessary to repress the people or anarchy would be the result.

Brest.—Advices received from the Great Eastern, up to this forenoon, say that some difficulty had been encountered, but everything was favorable at last accounts. At noon on Friday she had made 497 knots from Brest, and had paid out 542 knots of cable. This, Saturday morning, a fault was detected in the shore communication, when the steamer was instantly stopped, and measures taken to localize the fault. This was found impossible, but as the signals soon became perfect again, it was resolved to proceed.

Milan.—The government has forbidden the circulation of subscriptions to aid persons injured in the late disturbance.

The wit deservedly won his bet, who, in company, when every one was bragging of his tall relations, wagered that he had himself a brother twelve feet high. He had, he said, "two half brothers, each measuring six feet."

A lady who did not know whether her plantation was in Virginia or North Carolina, found, when the line was run, that she was a resident of Virginia. "Well," said she, "I am glad I don't live in North Carolina, it was always such a sickly State."

One of the best presentation speeches ever made is said to be the following, addressed in a railroad shop in Illinois, on presenting a watch to the time-keeper: "Be dad, boss, we trust the watch will keep as good time for yees as yees have kept for us this many a year."

A sharp old gentleman, traveling out West, got a seat beside his wife in a crowded car by requesting the young man who sat by her to "please watch that woman while he went in another car, as she had fits."

A married man in New Hampshire recently adopted an original way of reducing household expenses. One morning, when he knew his wife would see him, he kissed the servant girl. The household expenses were instantly reduced $200 per year.

An old woman who went into the poultry business some time since, under the expectation that she could make a fortune selling eggs, has quitted it in disgust, because, as she says, "the hens never'll lay when eggs are dear, but always begin as soon as they get cheap."

"Where did you get that turkey?" said a Colonel to one of his amiable recruits, who came in one day with a fine bird.

"Stole it," was the laconic reply. "Ah," said the Colonel, triumphantly, to a bystander, "you see my boys may steal, but they won't lie."

There are said to be 50,000 "commercial travelers" in the United States, divided as follows: Belonging to Boston and the New England States, 10,000; New York, 20,000; Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis, 10,000; Pennsylvania and Maryland, including Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, 10,000.

On the day of his jubilee, the Pope received a telegram from the frozen regions of Lapland, the bearer of which had to traverse six hundred miles in order to reach Helsingfors, the extreme telegraph office in North Europe.

"As to being conflicted with the gout," said Mrs. Partington, "high living doesn't bring it on. It is incoherent in some families, and is handed down from father to son. Mr. Hammer, poor soul, who has been so long ill with it, disinherits it from his wife's grandmother."

A sailor's wife at Portpatrick had just received intelligence that her husband had perished at sea. She was visited by a neighbor who sympathized with her in her loss, and expressed a fear that she would be poorly off. "Deed I will," said the widow; "but he did all he could for me—he saved me the expense of his buryin'."

An American minister of fine descriptive power was on one occasion preaching about heaven; and to show the absurdity of Emanuel Swedenborg on the subject, drew a graphic picture of the Swedenborgian heaven, with its beautiful fields, fine horses, cows, and pretty women; and, in the midst of his glowing description, a good old sister, carried away with the scene, went into raptures, and exclaimed: "Glory! glory! glory!" The preacher was so disconcerted that he paused, seeming hardly to know what to do, till the presiding elder in the stand behind him cried out to the shouters "Hold on, there, sister; you are shouting over the wrong heaven!"

Celery, now a common dessert of every table, it is said, came into the garden-plants from the following circumstance:

An Italian nobleman, in a paroxysm of passion, slew his only brother. The church condemned him for three years to a monastery, to prayer and penitence, his food to be of the weeds which grew in the enclosure about the prison. Celery, bleached in the shade of the cloister, then became a favorite food; and, when released from his confinement, he transplanted the weed, but then little better than a night-shade, to his garden: it was set in trenches to bleach it, and to make it crisp and tender for his palate. He was a leader in fashionable life; and his example was imitated throughout Europe, and celery became at first a garnishment for the table, then a luxury, and now a necessary for every palate.
