

THE PLAY THIS EVENING.—The Management announces for this evening a fine new Drama in 2 acts—Raffaele, the Reprobate—with appropriate scenery, dresses, appointments, and new music composed and arranged expressly by Professor C. J. Thomas; also a laughter provoking Farce—Marriage at any Price. Mr. Lenzi gives a fancy dance; Mr. Dunbar, a comic song—"Not to be sneezed at," and a debutante—Miss Lindsay—is to sing that sweet Scotch song—"Within a Mile O' Edinburgh Town." No doubt there will be a full house.

ARRIVAL.—Capt. Hyde's train arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. Capt. White's train is expected in on Friday.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SEQUEL TO THE EASTERN ROMANCE.

In a recent number of the News we published an interesting sketch of an Eastern Princess, the Maharanee Jeuden Kower, widow of the late Maharajah Runjeet Singh, of the Sikhs, and mother of the present Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, who died on August 1st, near London. His Highness, the Maharajah—her son, having embraced Christianity, two of his retainers protests against Christian burial in the following not uninteresting letter:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LONDON TIMES:

SIR:—Her Highness the Maharanee Jindkore, of Lahore, mother of his Highness the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, died on the 1st current at Abington House, Kensington, in the Hindoo faith, and we understand it is proposed to bury her. The practice is contrary to the religion of the Sikhs, and as his Highness the Maharajah denies our right to dispose of the body according to our customs, we are constrained, as a matter of conscience, to appeal to the country for protection, and beg you will kindly allow us a place in your spirited journal to enter a public protest against the intended desecration. Agreeably to our rules, the body ought to be burnt and the ashes given to the Ganges. The thing is simple enough in itself, and, as it infringes no moral or physical law, we certainly cannot believe the wisdom and intelligence of the land would oppose our acting as our religion directs.

Besides, the belief of all religionists is that no funeral is hallowed unless a priest, or, in his absence, a layman of the religion of the deceased, officiates at his obsequies. Now, it is not competent to a Christian minister to afford the rights of burial to her Highness, and we, on our part, cannot render any assistance if the remains are to be buried. It is hard, then, her Highness should be deprived of the offices the meanest claim and receive throughout the civilized globe, and that we should be refused the consolation of discharging the last sad duty for our mistress that is the right of all, and that is not in the power of his Highness the Maharajah, or any other Christian, to pay. Her Highness was particularly careful about everything relating to caste; indeed, so much so, that up to her demise she refused to eat when his Highness the Maharajah happened to be on the same carpet with herself, and, so that she might not be compromised, had a separate establishment of Indians, who attended to her table and everything connected with it. In asking to dispose of her Highness's remains according to our religion, then, we feel we are fulfilling her Highness's wishes, and are satisfied, had she known her dissolution was at hand, she would have left definite instructions for the disposal of her body after the forms of the Sikh religion.

Reiterating our protest in the name of the friends and relatives of her Highness, the Maharanee of the Sikhs in general, both here and abroad, and in the interests of civil and religious liberty, we have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servants,

UTCHER SINGH, Jageedar,
KISHEN SINGH, Khutry.

BOURCAULT.—Bourcault passed through the English Bankruptcy Court on the 19th of August, amidst a shower of compliments from commissioners and attorneys. He stated that in one year in England he had, with his wife's assistance, made £23,000, and at one period £1,000 a week. He asserts that this has all disappeared in two years—partly through investments in America, which now produce only taxes. He may be said to have invested "not wisely, but too well."

RECIPE FOR TOMATO VINEGAR.—Noticing an inquiry some time ago in your excellent paper about making vinegar, I will give my method, which I think better and cheaper than any whiskey mixture I ever saw, and much more healthy. I take ripe tomatoes, and after washing them, put them in a coarse sieve, (a colander will answer just as well,) break them to pieces with the hand, and rub out the juice. Put this in a large jar or some other vessel, and in about twenty-four hours, or, if the weather is hot, perhaps less, the pulp of the tomato will rise to the top as the acid rises on small beer. Skim this all off, and then put the juice in your vinegar keg, or barrel, and in a warm place, and if you do not have the best of vinegar I shall be surprised. We have been using our tomato vinegar which was made last summer, about three months, and often show it to our visitors, by whom it is universally praised.—[Rural New-Yorker.]

A QUICK CREAM CHEESE.—Nearly every good housewife knows how to make a Dutch cheese with lobbared milk, which, when skillfully handled is a palatable dish for the tea-table. Here is a recipe for making a cream cheese, which farmers can try, who have the material to spare, and desire an extra nice dish for special occasions:—Take a quart of cream, or if not desired very rich, and one pint of new milk, warm it in hot water (if necessary) until it is the temperature of milk from the cow. Add a tablespoonful of rennet, let it stand till thick, then break it slightly with a spoon and place it in a frame eight inches square, and four inches deep, in which a fine canvass cloth has been placed. Press it slightly with a weight, let it stand twelve hours, then put a finer cloth in the frame—a little powdered salt should be put over the cloth; it will be fit for use in a day or two.—[Ohio Farmer.]

CRAB APPLE JELLY.—Jelly from any other tart apples can be made in the same way as the following—apples, however, should be first sliced. The crab apples have a very delicate flavor, better for jelly than that of other apples.

Put them in a kettle with just enough water to cover them and let them boil four hours, then take them off the fire and rub them through a colander; this will separate the seeds and skin from the pulp; then strain them through a flannel bag. Then to each pint of the juice thus strained add a pound of white sugar and boil for twenty minutes—meanwhile skim if necessary; then fill your glasses or moulds, and let them stand for two or three days in the sun, till sufficiently hardened.

MONEY! MONEY!!

MONEY OR NOTHING!

A NEW STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

FARMERS of Utah, at the suggestion of friends, and for your particular benefit there is now OPEN, a DEPOT or FLOUR and GRAIN MART, on the well-known principle of a Corn Exchange, where you can safely deposit your Flour, Corn and Grain, and obtain for it a Fixed Market Price and a Proper Exchange in Money, and no more be compelled from the want of a grain mart or place of deposit, to part with it at a sacrifice rather than haul it back home, and take for it other than money for pay.

Farmers of Utah, you can now fix and rule your own prices, laying "Justice to the line and righteousness to the plowman."

Further particulars may be had of
