"We started to take the offensive the night of July 1, when we began a strong attack. Our soldiers, who had been forced back at Kin Chon, were walting for an opportunity to get at the Japanese. The result was most satisfactory. The infantry marched out as if engaged in maneuvers, while the artillery, taking up a position, opened a flere fire with shrapnel on the enemy's line, resulting in their relirement.
"During the three days' battle the harbor daily, covering the right flank of the army, and stopping the fire of the enemy's artillery. On July 4 the Novik fortunately obtained the range of the enemy's batteries and did frightful damage to them. All the morning the gunboats without receiving and return fire, shelled the enemy's troops marching toward our defense. The Japanese fleet appeared in the afternoon and our gunboats returned to the inner harbor without sustaining any damage."

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were well attended and the speakers were Elders Rudger Clawson and Charles W. Penrose of the Council of Apostles, both of whom made interesting addresses. President John R. Winder presided,

The choir sang the hymn, "How are Thy servants blessed, O Lord."

Prayer was offered by Elder Joseph E. Taylor.

The choir further sang:

"Hark, listen to the trumpeters, They sound for volunteers.' Elder Rudger Clawson addressed the Ender Rudger Chawson addressed the congregation on the duties of the Lat-ter-day Saints, dwelling specially on the necessity of obedience to law as re-vealed from the Almighty. He referred to the evidences of law in the move-ments of the heavenly bodies, and showed that God is a Being of law. He referred to "the law of prosperity." which he considered was the law of tithing. He illustrated the effects of keeping that commandment and quoted from the Scriptures concerning it. "The law of health," he claimed, "was the Word of Wisdom," and he descanted upon the virtue of keeping it and the splendid effects it produced upon the physical nature. "The law of posterity." in his view, was the law of marriage, given of God in the beginning, and he urged it upon the young people among the Latter-day Saints, arguing that proper marriage was for time and eter-nity. He dilated upon the beauty of these laws, and urged upon parents the duty of teaching them to their children not only by precept but by example. The choir sang the authem, "Unfold ye everlasting portals." Elder C. W. Penrose was the next speaker. He endormed the remarks of Elder Clawson, and took up the sub-ject of law in the creation and control of the universe, reading from the Doe-trine and Covenants, section SS, verses 14-38. He referred to the heresy that had crept into Christendom, affecting religion for centuries, that salvation was by grace alone, through mere be-lief, without obedience to haw. Quoting from the Abostie Paul, he showed that the "works" which the Apostie spoke of deprecatingly, were the works of the Mosaic law by which no fleesh living would be justified.
