TARIFF FIGHT BACK IN HOUSE A Source of Great Danger to promptly Disagreed to Senate Amendments and Conference Requested Granted.

INSURGENTS IN EVIDENCE.

Minority Leader Clark Said Bill Was Bad When it Left House, Aldrich-Smoot Bill Worse.

Washington, July 9 .-- The tariff question has been shifted from both houses of Congress to a conference committee. After one hour and half of debate, the house today by a vote of 178 to 151 made a rule whereby the $47 amendments of the senate were disagreed to and the conference requested by the senate granted, Eighteen Republicans voted against the rule and one Democratic for it

When the house met at noon interest was at fever heat. The leaders on both sides had notified their respective forces to be on hand, in anthe patient that the tariff bill would come over from the senate. The summonses were responded to almost without exception.

DEBATE WAS WARM.

The debate at times waxed warm, and disclosed the fact that there were some Republicans, in addition to the so-called "insurgents," who were yet The debate at that there were and disclosed the fact that there were some Republicans, in addition to the so-called "insurgents," who were yet to be pacified before they would give their votes on the final passage of the bill. The Democrats held up the majority party to scorn for having, as they charged, violated its ante-election pledges. A feature of the discussion was an appeal by Chairman Payne to his colleagues to send the conferees to the senate unhampered by instructions. He promised to rigidly exact an explanation of every amendment made by the senate, in order that the house conferees might report back a bill which would meet the approval of the majority and the country at large. His appeal was granted.

At 3:26 p. m. adjournment was taken until Monday noon, when the joint resolution providing for the submission to the several states of the income tax amendment to the Constitution will be considered.

When the house met today its members were in possession of copies of the tariff bill as it had been amended and passed the senate. The members of the house displayed an eagerness to get to work, in the hope of making an early disposition of the bill, or out of mere curosity, as one member suggested, "to see just what the senate had done to it."

The committee on rules met after the house took a recess of an hour and decided to bring in an order for the reference, as requested by the senate, the house meantime disagreeing to the senate amendments.

When the recess had expired, Mr.

the house meantime disagreeing to the senate amendments.

When the recess had expired, Mr. Dalzell (Pennsylvania) of the committee on rules was at once recognized to offer the rule providing for non-concurrence in all the amendemnts and agreeing to the conference requested by the senate. He supplemented the rule with a motion for one hour and a half for debate.

This suggestion was not entirely acceptable to Mr. Townsend (Michigan), who wanted the time extended to three hours, but Mr. Dalzell's motion was adopted.

The bill as it came from the senate as condemned by Mr. Townsend

HARDLY RECOGNIZES BILL.

As it left the house, he said, it complied, for the most part, with the Republican pledges, but now, he declared, "you would hardly recognize it if you met it in the road." He did not believe it was ever intended that the senate should introduce brand-new propositions which the house had never positions which the house had never discussed. Mr. Townsend created a stir when he declared that in the course of the debate in the senate the house and the ways and means committee had been insulted. He insisted that the bill ought to be controlled by the house, subject to such recommenda-tions as the senate rightfully could make, and not by a conference commit-

The bill in the opinion of Mr. Fitz-The bill, in the opinion of Mr. Fitz-gerald, was about as bad a piece of legislation as it would be possible to make in any legislative body. He hoped there would be aroused throughout the country a resentment such as would make it impossible to put some of the senate amendments into effect. The first open evidence of an intended revolt on the Republican side was made manifest when Mr. Mann (Illinois) protested venerally against the amendments fixhemently against the amendments fix-ing the duties on wood pulp and print

There were but two states which would benefit by such a protection, de-clared Mr. Mann, "I give notice now." he exclaimed, amid Democratic now," he exclaimed, amid Democratic and some Republican applause, "that if these two states write the provision in the conference report on print paper and on wood pulp in the interests of their states and against the interests of the consumers of paper and the manufacturers of paper in the rest of the nation, so far as I am concerned, I shall swallow my desire to stand with the organization of the house, my desire to prove that Republicans are able to write a tariff bill, and vote against the conference report."

In pleading for the opportunity to vote separately on the various amend-

CLARK'S COMMENT. "Great God Almighty, eight hundred and forty-seven amendments!" was the exclamation of Mr. Clark, the minority leader, as he closed the debate on his side. He proposed the idea of voting on every amendment without debate, which he said, would take only bate, which, he said, would take only 26 hours. The bill, Mr. Clark said, when it left the nouse was bad; "the Aldrich-Smoot bill is worse, and, judging the future by the past, the result of the labors of the conference committee will be worse than all."

Mr. Payne, in closing for his side, pleaded with his colleagues to send the conferees to the senate unhampered by any vote of instructions. Mr. Payne discussed the Democratic contention for separate votes, and astonishel his hearers when he asserted that he was unable to tell whether some of the amendments raised or lowered the Dinglov rates.

"Wouldn't it be all right for you to give yourself the benefit of the doubt and vote against those you don't understand?" interpected Mr. Clark, amid

'I propose," responded the majority eader, "to give myself the benefit of the doubt, and vote against all of them," which utterance immensely pleased the Republicans. "I was for the house bill when it bassed here," he added, amid shouts of Republican applause, "and I am yet to be convinced as to the improvements

PAYNE'S DESIRE.

Mr. Payne expressed his desire for a full conference, "that we may bring before the house finally a bill with which we can go before the people of the United States with confidence and disappoint those gentiemen on the other side who are looking so enviously for some of the seats occupied by bet-ter men on this side."

When the laughter and Republican applause that greeted this utterance subsided the vote was taken on the motion of Mr. Dalzell for the previous question.

HE IS NOT GOING TO ALASKA.

If Weather and Arrangements Permit He Hopes to Put in a Few Days in the Yosemite.

Washington, July 9.-President Taft today while en route to Washington, gave an outline of the tentative plans for his trip through the west and south this fall,

The president has abandoned all idea of visiting Alaska this year, largely owing to the fact that Mrs. Taft will not be able to go with him. Upon his arrival here today, the president re-ceived word from Beverly that Mrs. Taft was rapidly improving in health. Tait was rapidly improving in health. She went for a sail yesterday, and the cool weather of the northern shore of Massachusetts is assisting in her recuperation. The president feels, however, that it would be too much of a strain upon his wife to ask her to go on the long western trip this fall which will occupy about two months.

As soon as the tariff bill is received the action of the president, Mr. Taft will leave Washington for Beverly. He will remain there until Sept. 15—his will remain there until Sept. 15—his fifty-second birthday—when he hopes, it Mrs. Taft continues to improve, to Leaving San Francisco, the president will go direct to Los Angeles, where he will stop for several days with his sister.

Coming out of New Mexico, the president will stop for a time at El Paso, where he expects to meet President Diaz of Mexico. President Diaz and President Taft have never met. The Mexican president wrote recently to the White House suggesting a conference at El Paso, and President Taft replied today that he would be delighted to meet the Mexican executive about Occord meet the Mexican executive about October 15, the meeting depending, of course, upon the president's ability to make the western trip.

CONFEREES LOSE NO TIME GETTING TOGETHER

Washington, July 9.-No time was lost today by the conferees of the house and senate in getting together to map out the program for the many sessions that must be held to put the finisihng touches upon tariff legis-

Many of the differences between the two bodies, represented by 847 amend-ments, are likely to be contested with bitterness, but Senator Aldrich of the senate finance committee and Chairman Payne of the house ways and means committee, agree that it may be possible to reach an agreement within 10

The two leaders, however, are not so sanguine of their ability of getting the conference reports adopted speedily after they have been presented to the house and the senate, and an effort is being made to have President Taft take a part in the threatened controversy. According to current report, Mr. Payne sought to have the Republican conferees named in order of their seniority, as was done in the senate. The speaker chose the conferees himself, ignoring Representative Hill of Connecticut and Representative Needham of California.

Friends of Chairman Payne are authority for the statement that he did not consent to Speaker Cannon's selec-tion until after he had entered a vigor-

After his conference with the speaker, he is sald to have told a number of his friends that he believed the conferees had been chosen with a view told the conference had been chosen with a view to the conference had been chosen with a view to the conference had been chosen with a view been chosen with a to putting the tariff bill through as speedily as possible along senate lines. By this was meant that the house conferees were expected to acquiesce in the principal increases in rates that had been made by the senate. Senator Aldrich this afternoon had

The inference gained by Mr. Taft's callers today is that he would not sanction the adoption of an amendment taxing the net earnings of corporations unless the utmost caution is taken to prevent double taxation.

After the conference with the president, Mr. Aldrich said that it might be necessary to entirely redraft the corporation tax provision in conference.

The boys told the judge of the juvenile court that they had written the letter as a joke, having conceived the idea after reading accounts of "Black Hand" threats made elsewhere. Later they read an account of a man being arrested for sending the letter which they drew up, and they at once confessed to their parents, who reported the matter to the officers. After receiving a lecture, the boys were released.
