

FRAGMENTS.

TAKEN BY THE REINS AT THEATRE
Wednesday night next.

There is no telegraphic news today, owing to the wires being down.

MR. DWYER HAS FAMILY LIBRARY
(monthly part) for March, and the Flag for February.

KATIE PUTNAM was rapturously received at Laramie. The Boomerang had no fault to find with any of the "artists."

The trial of Elbridge Tuffe, charged with selling liquor on Sunday, commenced before Justice Updegraff, sitting as a committing magistrate, this afternoon at 8 o'clock.

In the case of the People vs. Peter Miller, now in the penitentiary awaiting trial for grand larceny, the United States Marshal was instructed to subpoena the defendant's witnesses.

Another Case.—Brother William Taylor, Jr., writing from Ferron, Emery County, where the dysentery has been so prevalent and fatal of late, but where it was thought that the epidemic had exhausted itself, says that a new case of the disease has recently developed.

Sudden Death.—On Wednesday night Robert Wilson, a well-known citizen of Ogden, died suddenly at Evanston, Wyoming. He had been employed at the latter place as superintendent of the co-operative business of the Knights of Labor. His body was brought to Ogden for interment.

Pleading Guilty.—At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Peter Barkdale, of Farmington, was called by the Third District Court, for trial on the charge of living with his wife. He came forward and informed the Court that he desired to change his former plea of not guilty to one of guilty, which was done. He will be sentenced next Monday afternoon.

Arraigned.—This morning James Wood, of Tooele, came into the Third District Court and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with unlawful cohabitation with Harriet Fannie Woods and Charlotte Howell Woods as his wives, from March 1, 1884, to Feb. 7, 1887. Mr. Dickson asked that the case be set for trial on Feb. 24, but the defense objected, and the matter was laid over for the present.

The Grother Case.—This morning the case of the United States vs. Herman Grother, of this city, was called for trial in the Third District Court. There were five counts in the indictment, accusing the defendant of unlawful cohabitation. The prosecution decided to proceed on the second count. The defendant came forward and changed his plea from not guilty to guilty, and judgment will be passed on Monday next at 2 p. m.

Cases Ignored.—Shortly after the opening of the Third District Court this morning, Judge Marshall Frank came in and informed the District Attorney that the grand jury desired to communicate with the Court. The inquisitors were accordingly ushered in and reported that they had ignored the charges against Michael Castello, for forgery, and Hegemony and Jones for selling liquor on Sunday.

The following cases have also been ignored: The United States vs. A. H. Raleigh, Thomas Jeremy and Daniel Corbett, unlawful cohabitation; the People vs. Phillip Faust, assault; and the People vs. W. C. Owen, forgery.

"Memoirs of My Day."—Before us is a neatly bound and well appeared volume of 265 pages, just issued from the News office, bearing the above title, with the subjoined, "In and Out of Mormondom." The price of the book is $1.50, and it is sold by subscription or sent by mail prepaid on receipt of the price. The matter was written while the author (C. W. Hemmaway) was in the county jail at Ogden. In addition to the reading there is a very fine engraving of the author, wife (see Miss Ireta Dixon) to whom the volume is dedicated. His friends will doubtless subscribe liberally to the venture.

Manti Election.—The Manti municipal election was held on Monday last, and resulted in the election of the following with little opposition. The total vote cast was 284, certainly not one-half of the town's full strength:

Mayor—John H. Honner.
Aldermen—F. E. Kemmer, Peter P. Dwyer.
Councilors—E. S. Shomaker, Albert Tuttle, Lewis C. K. Merriam, Sen. Recorder—A. E. Merriam, Sen. Treasurer—William B. Lowry.
Assessor and Collector—George E. Bench.

Marshall—John Lowry, Jr.
The Nelson, John Taiten and J. H. Hoggard were judges of election.

Forfeiture Set Aside.—Yesterday afternoon, just prior to the adjournment of Court, Henry Whitaker came in to plead to the indictment charging him with unlawful cohabitation. This to the case where the bonds, signed by W. E. Williams and J. C. Sandberg, were declared forfeit earlier in the day because the defendant was not in the court room. At the request of Mr. P. S. Richards, the order of forfeiture was set aside, and the defendant was allowed to remain in custody until he could be brought to court.

Report Denied.—Our correspondent at Peos, Summit County, writes as follows under date of Feb. 13th: "It is a common report that there are still other cases of diphtheria in this place, and that no precautions were taken against the disease. This statement is incorrect. There have been no cases of diphtheria in this place for some time past. The people in this neighborhood who have been afflicted have thoroughly cleaned their houses, and the disease has been altogether 75 cases in this section of country, and out of this number there have been but 11 deaths, a smaller proportion than usual in districts where the infection takes hold."

"Scrapped."—The Ogden News reminds us of the Republican who had a postmasterhip in a western town when Cleveland was elected. A friend suggested that he would have to get out soon, as there was going to be a change of administration. "That's all right," said he, "the administration can't change any faster than I can." The News wanted the "Liberal" candidates to attend the last meeting of the old city council there in order to get an insight into the duties that would devolve upon them right away, spoke of "Mayor Kelsel," and covered its candidate for marshal with silly adulation. The day after the election the leading article had but one word for a headline—"Scrapped"—and the matter following was an acceptance of the situation.

A VERDICT OF GUILTY.

A Packed Jury Dare Not Disobey
Dickson's Command.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST THE DEFENDANT.

The trial of Henry Grow on the charge of unlawful cohabitation was continued after the News went to press yesterday afternoon.

Emma Sarah Rawlings testified further—I have not tried to avoid the process of the court; I went away because I felt like it; I was home part of the time from September, 1885, to October, 1886; I was away when the officers searched my house; Mr. Grow only came to my house when he was working there; he has not been there for some time; when my brother Ernest was there, the workmen were there, but I do not know how long; at that time the process of the court was not issued; he may have been once or twice a week; if he did, he came to bring letters to his granddaughter and to see the workmen; I did not see him all the time he came; he was very seldom; he has not stopped all night in the house during 1885, 1886 or 1887, or since; I didn't want him to; we agreed to separate in 1881; I have not met him a husband since then; have not passed the night with him; he sustained the relation of wife since; I do not know how often he called during the time named in the indictment; it might have been once a month; I don't know that I saw him that often; he came during the day time; I denied my identity to the officers because I did not want to go into court.

To Mr. Dickson—In pursuance of our agreement, Mr. Grow conveyed to me my home, agreed to provide for me, and to finish the house, which was not then completed; I have not sustained the relation of wife to him since, nor regarded him as my husband.

To Mr. Dickson—Remember when I was subpoenaed in R. B. Young's case; we made the agreement in the spring of 1882, because we had reason to believe the law would be enforced.

Mr. Dickson—Do you know of Mr. Grow having any other wife than yourself and Julia M. Grow?

Objected to by the defense as immaterial.

Overruled by the Court.

Witness, to Mr. Dickson—I don't know of his having any other wife. Maud Grover re-called—My oldest brother is Theodore; he is 29 years old; have heard father and mother speak of their marriage; John N. Pike testified—I am acquainted with the defendant; he married my sister; I know Julia M. Grow; have visited his house, but not often; do not remember his highness; he has been at my house, but I do not know the exact dates; Emily has also been at my house, but not at the same time that I know of; I don't know how often either of them came, perhaps once in three or four months—perhaps often.

Mr. Dickson asked for a subpoena for John C. Young.

Mr. Elizabeth Pike testified—Emma Sarah Rawlings is my sister; I visited her frequently—perhaps once a week, and she visited me; Mr. Grow sometimes called at my house; saw him at Emily's eight or ten years ago; have not seen him in the house since; had gone seen him around; I lived there eight or ten years ago.

To Mr. Dickson—To generally visited my sister in the day time.

Emma Rawlings Young testified—Emily Sarah Rawlings is my sister; I have visited her house, sometimes once a week, sometimes less; have met Mr. Grow there about ten years ago; when I lived there; I have seen him since; I don't know how often; do not know his business there.

The defense rested their case. Mr. Dickson made the opening argument, claiming that "the object of the law was to put down the appearance of a polygamous household." He said there was no way for a man to "keep entirely away from the home of his polygamous wife; he should sever the relations." He wanted a conviction on the evidence. Mr. Richards requested the Court to give the following instructions to the jury, from the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States:

"First—You should find defendant not guilty unless you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that during the period mentioned the defendant lived or dwelt with the defendant's wife in the house named in the indictment under the law the defendant had at that time. To be guilty under the law the defendant must have been cohabiting with her continuously for some period of time, a mere isolated act is not sufficient."

"Second—If you find that the defendant visited the house of his plural wife in violation of the law, unless you find that he was actually cohabiting with her in the relation of husband and wife, you must find him not guilty."

Mr. Richards then addressed the jury, claiming that "the object of the law was to put down the appearance of a polygamous household." He said there was no way for a man to "keep entirely away from the home of his polygamous wife; he should sever the relations." He wanted a conviction on the evidence. Mr. Richards requested the Court to give the following instructions to the jury, from the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States:

"First—You should find defendant not guilty unless you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that during the period mentioned the defendant lived or dwelt with the defendant's wife in the house named in the indictment under the law the defendant had at that time. To be guilty under the law the defendant must have been cohabiting with her continuously for some period of time, a mere isolated act is not sufficient."

"Second—If you find that the defendant visited the house of his plural wife in violation of the law, unless you find that he was actually cohabiting with her in the relation of husband and wife, you must find him not guilty."

ANOTHER HUNT.

S. H. GILSON AND MARSHAL DYER
RANSACK BUILDINGS.

Yesterday afternoon another raid was made, supposedly in the hope of finding Presidents John Taylor and George Q. Cannon. S. H. Gilson, Marshal Dyer, five deputies and a "snoot" called at the Garde House and instituted a systematic search of the building. Gilson assumed the role of grand ringer after hunting through several rooms and finding none, for the simple reason that none of those sought were there, it was stated by one of the searchers that the room in which President Angus M. Cannon was at the time of the last search, when he was confined to his bed through illness, was the object of special scrutiny. This room, it was alleged, had a SECRET CHAMBER.

in which it was claimed someone was hidden. Beds, wardrobes and furniture of various kinds were shifted, but no indication of anything unusual was noticed. Gilson then tried to tear the carpet up in one corner, but soon changed his mind. He then sounded the walls in various places, and wanted to know why the room was irregular in form, evidently not having been enough to see that it conformed with the outside of the building in shape. He then wanted to know if there was not a fireplace that was not there. He said he had been told there was a

which afforded a means of secretion. He was taken to the dining room where the grate seemed to have a fire in it and there began tugging away at the iron mantle and front, vainly trying to tear them out. His action created no little amusement, and he finally desisted. He also went into a room where there was a bright fire in the grate, and peered up the flue to see what was going up in the smoke.

When the raiding party were in the building Mrs. Schwartz, President Taylor's sister, who accompanied the Marshal, who asked her why President Taylor did not give himself up.

"Oh yes," replied the lady, severely; "give himself up and

and then have his murder promoted, as Thompson was."

"Who promoted Thompson?" demanded Marshal Dyer, angrily.

"Dyer," was the prompt and emphatic response of the lady, and the conversation ended for a moment.

The Marshal wanted to know why so many people visited the Garde House, if not to see President Taylor. One of the inmates replied that they came to see the President of the State, whereupon the Marshal stated that the officers did not want him, and remarked, "But if we get Mattie Hughes we'll make him hot for him."

After the failure at the Garde, President Taylor's house in the Fourteenth Ward was searched, as was also the Deseret Hospital. The residence formerly occupied by President George Q. Cannon, on South Temple Street, was also visited and closely examined. One room was found locked, and the raiders thought they had got something, but when it was opened it was found to be Brother A. H. Cannon's room, he being out of town. The party then returned as they started—empty-handed.

A Valuable Dog.—A gentleman of this city who is somewhat given to athletic sports, both on land and water, owns a yellow dog. Though he does not exactly bow down and worship it, yet he undoubtedly does on the dog, and never tires of admiring his fine form, open countenance and cheerful disposition. The proud possessor of this canine phenomenon recently took him along in a skiff, and the dog was called to the banks of the Jordan. Being a pretty good shot it was not long before he succeeded in bringing down a canvas back, which dropped into the river. Here was an opportunity to test the utility of the dog as a retriever. The dog's attention was called to the situation and he was urged to secure the duck, but though he manifested great interest in the affair and exhibited considerable agility in prancing around and barking from the bank, he seemed somewhat reluctant to enter the water. The commodore (we do not wish to mention the gentleman's name) concluded that if he once got him in the water he would be certain to secure the duck, and his theory was justified by the event, for the pointer on being pushed into the river at once swam out, and securing the duck, carried it out and duly laid it down on the opposite side of the river. The gentleman now thinks that he is undoubtedly a good pointer, but that as a retriever he is a disappointment.

"Who could fail to sing well with such an artist as Mme. Trebrell? This grand contralto, captured by the audience by storm, she is 'the first' among the vocalists we have ever had. Her strong magnetic and powerful physique are the complete ideal of the vocal queen, and her voice is a perfect power of strength. The lower tones are almost masculine in their quality."

This is from the Chicago Inter Ocean:

"The sensation of the evening was supplied by M. Muslin. Technical difficulties seem to have no existence with this phenomenal young virtuoso. From the broad sonority of the piano to the most string, to pianissimo passages it seemed as if the wind merely, and not human fingers, were floating over the instrument. The effect was perfect. The violin is capable of producing all the tones of the orchestra, and the whole gigantic performance seemed to play."

The Telegraph Service.—The Western Union telegraph wires east of Salt Lake City have been working badly for two days, just at the time when news was expected with the least delay and all parties were more or less anxious to learn what was going on. Yesterday the News had no report at all except a special dispatch, and the distance it traversed to get here—having gone from Omaha to St. Paul, thence to Helena, thence to Ogden, and at last here—is a longer one than anything material could make within a space wherein hours stand for seconds.

The elements are beyond mortal control, so it is useless to blame anyone; we must take such things as they come and make the most of them.

Pleading Guilty.—This morning Bishop Lewis H. Monsey came into court and changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on the first count of an indictment containing five, and charging him with having lived with his wife, Emma Sarah Rawlings, since the day, but the Court adjourned until 10 a. m. to-morrow without calling the matter up.

Motion for New Trial.—In the case of the United States vs. Henry Grover, convicted yesterday of unlawful cohabitation, in the Third District Court, the attorneys for the defense have been granted until March 1st to make a motion for a new trial.

Writing People.

are often too ill to labor, but they haven't time to take medicine and lay off. Simmons' Liver Regulator can be taken without causing any loss of time, and the system will be built up and invigorated by it. It has no equal as a preparatory medicine, and can be safely used when a doctor cannot be called in. In common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

You who Lead Sedentary Lives will find great relief from constipation, headache and nervousness by taking Simmons' Liver Regulator. It is a simple, harmless, vegetable compound, sure to relieve you. Persons of sedentary habits often suffer with kidney affections. If they would maintain the regular habit of taking this organ and improve the quality of the blood by taking the Regulator, it would restore the kidneys to health and vigor.
