Legislature May Pass a Law That Will Effectually Check This Growing Evil.

B OISE, Ida., Feb. 28,-The law their last week. One week from today their allotted 60 days will have expired and it is believed that by that time the legislators will have completed their work. At any rate, a joint resolution has passed the senate and is now before the house, the pro-visions of which are that the legis-lature shall adjourn at 12 o'clock mid-night on the sixtieth day of the ses-sion, which will be Thursday. March 7. The introduction of new bills ceas-ed on Monday last, the mill is, there-fors leaded, the receiving door is clos-ed and the "grind" is fast going on within. But it can be seen that more measures are going to the junk plic than to the statutes, and this is un-doubtedly wise, for numerous meas-ures of but very little or no import-ance have found their way into the legislative channel. pleted their work. ANTI-PASS BILL

On Monday a new anti-pass bill was introduced in the senate to take the place of the house bill of similar im-port, which was defeated. This meas-ure is, however, not so drastic as the other. It is more in conformity with the international law. Whether life or death is in store for it no one the international law. Whether life or death is in store for it, no one seems willing to prophesy. The test oath bill, which was passed by the senate and amended by the house and for the consideration of which a conference committee from both houses was appointed, is still un-der cover. It may and it may not pass. Most of the members think that it will, however der cover. It may and it may not pass. Most of the members think that it will, however. The big question for over a week has been "The two mile limit law," This is the law already upon the stat-utes of this state, which prohibits herders from grazing their sheep within two miles of a homestead. The bill affecting this, which is now before the legislature, reduces the limit to one-half mile. These limits are too far apart. In either case one is all right for the stockman but all wrong for the sheap mon. The house passed the bill the other day, but amended it so as to make the limit one straight mile. The upper house has not yet acted upon the measure, but it is believed that it will pass it as thus amended. Senator McCutcheon, the father of the test oath bill, has introduced a bill this week which is awakening con-siderable comment. It is an act pro-hibiting inhabitants or visitors of houses of ill-fame from voting. CHILD LAEOR BILL.

The above is a reproduction of a portrait of Robert S. Bult, the ploneer engineer of the old Utah Central railroad. He it was who ran the first train on that road from Ogden to Salt Lake, Jan. 10, 1870. President Brigham Young drove the last spike on that day. The train was made up of seven coaches, and was loaded with officials of the Union Pacific, the Utah Central and other notables. In the party were Jay Gould, Superintendent Clark of the U. P. and Sidney Dillon.

Mr. Bult resided in Salt Lake for many years, and for 21 years had a run as engineer from Ogden to Juab. For the past seven years he has made his home at St. Anthony, Idaho, where he is engaged in running a sawmill. With his son-in-law, Frank Hobbs, he is in this city on a short trip of business and pleasure combined. He is hale and hearty, and though advancing in years, carries his age well

TWO MORE COUNTIES. Out of Nez Perce are to be carved two more counties: Clearwater and Kamiah counties, if certain members in both branches of the legislature have their way. A bill creating the former has passed the house and a fibil creating the latter has passed the senate, so the proposition bids fair. Rev. OLD ROMAN COIN. Edward Stein, formerly general car foreman here, and the first mayor of Pocatello, but now engaged in real estate in Bolse, was a business visitor here last week. Growing reminiscent over past events he related that he purchased the Roman coin that was found here in Pocatello 15 years ugo a foot beneath the ground, while an ex-cavation for a dwelling house was made. The coin he later sent to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington to ascertain its correct value. In re-sponse he was informed that it was senuine old Roman money of the year B. C. 350, and the institute would buy it in at $3,000, but Mr. Stein refused aliver dollar, containing virgin gold nuggets held together by copper fil-ing and finished after the antique manner of that period, the copper was he a partial state of decay, but the gold was still in good condition.
