Almost a parallel for the teeth-swallowing case which occurred at Brigham City lately is reported from Brigham City lately is reported from Omaha. A young man named Percy was in company with a number of companions and was entertaining them by playing on the violin, when, a prop-osition being made to go to church, he locked up his instrument and put the key in his mouth. A young lady in the party came ap from behind, and "tickled him under the arms." —Thos O Sheneavil a cowport who party came up from behind, and "tickled him under the arms," causing him to laugh, during which the key was drawn into his windpipe. An operation was performed for the removal of the key, a silver tube being inserted into the larynx. The key was found located at the entrance of the windpipe, and when dislodged fell back into the ya-tient's throat and was swallowed. A souple of weeks afterwards the silver tube was removed and Percy will soon souple of weeks afterwards the silver tube was removed and Percy will soon be in good health.
