AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

THERE appeared a strong probability this morning that an important point connected with unlawful cohabitation cases would be discussed in the court this afternoon, in connection with the prosecution against Mr Augus M. Cannon. In opening the case for the prosecution, Mr. Dickson said he expected to show that the defendant had lived in the same habitation with more pose, but it is needless to say that his than one woman whom he had admitted to be his wives, and that he did not anticipate proving sexual commerce. He thus took the ground that "unlawful cohabitation" can be established by evidence showing that the principals have resided in the same dwelling, sexual intercourse being presumed by the law, without it being needful to prove it by evidence. The Court will, if the proposed discussion making a livelihood. takes place to-day, be called upon this early in the case to define, from its standpoint, what unlawfol cohabitation consists of. The definition will be awaited with deep interest, not only on account of the bearing it will have on the case in progress, but also in relation t) every other of the same class. However strong may be our opinion as to they please, but our duty is performed, what the decision will be, we prefer not to express it, deeming it to be, to say the least, impolitic and injudicous to anticipate judicial rulings upon questions of grave interest to the community. long lost son." Since the foregoing was written it has developed that the prosecution contends that in cases in which persons are accused of unlawful cohabitation, sexual commerce is not an essential Ingredient. When it is shown that a man stands in the relationship of hushand to more than one woman because of a marital ceremony, and has Hved in the same dwelling with them, it is sufficient. Sexual crimes are not aimed at by the law according to this theory. The whole horror lies in the fact of the "marriage relation." There is comfort for the fornicator, whoremonger and adulterer.

"I wish, through the medium of yodr paper, to contradict an article publ-lished in the St. Johns Herald, of the 12th of March, which is made to say: "About three months ago, Wm. E. Elsworth, of Show Low, was indicted for polygamy; taken before the United States Compleximers as Present." men are expurgated because of their religious belief in the rightfulness of plural marriage, notwithstanding they declare their readiness to find an indictment or verdict as the case may be, in harmony with the law and the facts States Commissioners at Prescott; placed under two thousand dollar bonds, and Mesars, Robert and Jas. THE CRUSADE QUALIFICATION. YESTERDAY the pronounced anti-"Mormon" expurgator, District Attorney Dickson, appears to have done his best to expange from the panel of the traverse jury whose presumed duty is to try Mr. Angus M. Cannon, every particle of the element of impartiality that he could discover. The whole purpose of the inquisitorial process to which the jurors were subjected had but one object, which was made perectly plain. It was to find those who were "in sympathy with the prosecution." This was the one and only onalification needed in the eyes of the District Attorney, and where that leaning was discovered, the persons so disposed were promptly passed or accepted. On the contrary those who were deemed to be in sympathy with the defense, were as promptly excused for cause. It appeared to be all right and proper in the estimation of the Attorney, backed by the rulings of the court, if the hias was against the defendant, otherwise not.

· Surely justice and sound law must stand aghast at such a spectacle. By this practise the theory that a jury is a prosecuting instead of a judicial body is established. Law and justice demand that it should be entirely impartial. No jury that is in sympathy with the defense in any case is competent to sit upon it, because that sentiment will weigh more or less in the making up of the result. On the other hand no jury that is in sympathy with the prosecution is competent in the same relation, on similar ground. A panel of cision should end the controversy and the latter complexion is vastly more dangerous to society than that of its opposite kind, because through its agency the innocent are readered liable to unjust punishment. It is a humane and accepted theory that it is better that ten guilty men go free than that one that is innocent should be punished. Hence the absolute necespunished. Hence the absolute neces-sity of the jury panel being free from bias on one side or the other; yet the anomaly is here presented is here presented to represent the basest men. The accusation that the of the main qualification for eligibility
