

A BIG MEETING AT THE THEATER

Secretary Smith Delivers Strong Address on Evils of the Day.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

The Great Trinity of Sin is Intemperance, Gambling and Impurity—Good Music.

Yesterday afternoon's men's meeting held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the Salt Lake Theater was undoubtedly the largest meeting of its kind ever held in this city. The entire theater auditorium was filled, including the upper gallery, and the crush to get in from the street was such as to almost break the outer doors down. An attempt was made to take up tickets; but the ticket takers were swamped "early in the day" for the incoming rush poured and rolled right over them. Ten hundred boys from the public schools surged up against the stage door on State street, all hoping to get into the chorus, but only half of them were needed. Truly, Anna Held or the liveliest vaudeville could not boast of a greater rush.

The meeting was opened at 3:30, by Prof. Wetzel and the great chorus of boys packed the stage solid. They sang entirely in ensemble, several cities learned in school—the time was too short for any solo, such as "Swinging in the Grape Vine Tree," etc. The mass singing was very good and the audience gave the boys a hearty reception. The services proper followed, with H. Tibbels acting as chairman, and the opening, as well as the closing prayer, was offered by Rev. J. Bickell of the First Methodist church. Rev. Dr. Faxon, Rev. H. Kiersey, Hon. Frank B. Stephens, C. P. Overfield, Secy. O. L. Cox and other prominent citizens were on the stage. Sheets were distributed, with families hymns printed on cards for the audience to sing, so that when standing, they were really a huge choir.

SECY. SMITH SPEAKS.

International Secy. F. B. Smith of the Y. M. C. A. was the speaker, and he held the great audience spell bound. "Impurity" was his theme, and this touching subject was handled in a most effective way, yet without descending into "prurient details" or sensational description. Mr. Smith prefaced his address with reference to gambling and intemperance, which he said were the "prurient details" of the subject. He said that gambling, intemperance and impurity are a hellish trinity that always work together, and for man's eternal undoing. If a man gambles, he will drink, and if he is lascivious he both drinks and gambles. The speaker made a point of the fact that in sermons and addresses generally, intemperance and gambling are rigorously and vigorously attacked, and the attitude of the public press was practically the same. But the sin of impurity is always handled distastefully, when at all. So that it is only occasionally, on such occasions as this, that the subject is adequately touched upon, and yet it is something that takes hold of the man's very life. Mr. Smith went right at the "facts in the case," dealing with the causes, results and remedies of impurity. The Seventh of Proverbs was the basis of the discourse, and he divided the subject into the periods of innocence, viciousness and the hog degree. In this last stage the speaker held it might be considered a reflection on the young men of this city, when a complete "break" in the fact that parents, pastors and guardians did not warn young men of the dangers of impurity was strongly deprecated. Not all men are tempted to gamble, not all men are tempted to drink, but all men are subject to the temptation of impurity, and yet it is in this that there is the least warning.

The speaker was heartily applauded, and at the close of his address, when he asked all professing Christians to arise, perhaps one-third of the audience did so. Over one-half of the remainder arose when the speaker asked for those to rise who would be the prayers of Christian men, and the rest got up later to express their sympathy with the Christian faith. When Mr. Smith asked for those to rise who desired to lead a Christian life, over 100 young men did so, and later gathered in front of the stage, where the evangelist made an earnest exhortation.

Mr. Smith called special attention to the address to the need of a Y. M. C. A. building in Salt Lake, and George Peabody Foster of New York had promised to give $25,000 towards this in case Salt Lake would give $150,000. The offer held good until May 1, next. Mr. Smith hoped it would be taken up. There was no evening service in the theater as the evangelist said he was unable physically to cope with two meetings.

TO REVISE JOURNAL.

Work on House Minutes to be Done by Done, Morris and Cummings.

Representative David H. Morris, delivered an address before an audience of 100 people at the B. Y. academy at Provo last evening. He was closely listened to and received warm welcome at the close. Mr. Morris will remain in the city for another month, inasmuch as he is one of the committee appointed by the speaker to revise the journal of the house. His associates are Representative Willard Done and Chief Clerk Cummings. The work will begin in two or three days and may continue three or four weeks.

SALOON MEN ARRESTED.

Two Charged With Violating the Sunday Liquor Ordinance.

James Bombino, proprietor of the Colorado saloon on State street, and Fritz Springman of the Eagle Gate saloon on the opposite side of the street, were arrested by the police yesterday on the charge of violating the Sunday liquor ordinance.

In passing Bombino's place, Sergeant

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are buncles in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures those medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. H. Jones, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Hempel discovered that the blinde were drawn. Suspecting that the saloon was doing business he stationed an officer at the rear while he demanded admittance from the front. There was considerable delay before the door was finally opened. There was no one in the place except Bombino, but upon further investigation the officer found a trap door leading to the cellar. Upon opening the door two men were discovered and came forth. Both Bombino and Springman were released upon furnishing bail.

CAPTAIN MACKER HERE.

New Indian Agent Comes to Succeed Major H. P. Myton.

Capt. William A. Mercer, Seventh United States cavalry, the old time Indian agent who has been appointed Indian agent at the White Rocks reservation to succeed Maj. H. P. Myton. Who four years' term of office has expired is a guest at the Knutsford for a few days before proceeding to the "White Rocks" agency to take active charge of his new bailiwick. Capt. Mercer was appointed second lieutenant in the Eighteenth United States infantry in 1880. He was promoted to be first lieutenant in 1885, and captain in 1897. He was transferred to the cavalry arm of the service in 1898 and assigned to the Seventh regiment. The captain also graduated from the infantry and cavalry school at Fort Leavenworth in 1885. This company is from A. and he is well up in the history of the Indian wars. Capt. Mercer has been a good deal of strenuous soldier life on the frontier, and can tell many interesting stories of Indian fights and varied frontier experiences. It is interesting to note that the soldier who was commanding officer of the Seventh cavalry but a comparatively short time ago, is now the general commanding the department of the Colorado, of which Utah is a part.

THE CITY'S CASH.

February Closed With a Balance on Hand of $155,977.82.

City Treasurer Morris today filed his report for the month of February with City Auditor Reiser. The balance on hand on Feb. 1 was $172,682.47, with the receipts for February amounting to $24,974.01, makes a total on hand during the month of $197,656.48. The disbursements for the month were $41,678.66, leaving a balance on hand on Feb. 28 of $155,977.82. This balance is distributed among the various funds as follows:

Contingent expense fund.....	$3,954.21
Street and sidewalk fund.....	$5,787.43
Water meter deposit fund.....	$3,441.00
Public utility fund.....	$3,334.46
Miscellaneous.....	46,335.72
Total.....	$155,977.82

FIGHT WITH YOUNG TOUGHS

Sergeant Roberts Has a Big Job on His Hands Arresting Them.

Sergeant Roberts had a rough and tumble fight with four young would-be toughs yesterday afternoon, and for the timely assistance of "Uncle Charlie" Livingston he might have been seriously hurt. But the police finally managed to land the fellows in jail. The youths gave their names as Red Dixon, Siler Johnson, A. Adams and Roy Cunningham. Dixon is none other than the long known, knobby, well known as a baseball pitcher, and Siler Johnson is Oregon Glade.

Roberts started out to arrest one of the boys for disturbing the peace when Roberts "batted" and declared that Roberts would not arrest his friend. "I'll take you, too," said Roberts, and he proceeded to take the four of them to the station. Just as they were about to enter the desk sergeant's room, Glade struck Roberts a fierce blow on the jaw, and Romney seized Roberts in a half Nelson hold. Then Glade, after that, there was a rough house. Hearing the noise outside, "Uncle Charlie" rushed to Roberts' assistance. One of the toughs had managed to get Roberts' club, but "Uncle Charlie" snatched it and with a well directed blow, landed on Glade's head put him out of commission. "Uncle Charlie" then seized Cunningham, but Adams escaped. Roberts and Siler Johnson, a strange blow on Romney and soon choked him into submission. The three of them were then thrown in jail and the police started out for Adams.

Three of them, Romney, Adams and Siler Johnson, were taken to the custody of their parents after a promise to be good in the future. Several nights ago they became intoxicated and broke some windows in the Colorado Western freight office.

SENTENCED SUSPECTED.

Eugene Smith and Lindsay Bowers, two lads aged 5 and 10 years respectively, were tried before Judge Morse this morning on the charge of incriminating and sentence was suspended by the court during their good behavior.

The boys were turned over to the custody of their parents after a promise to be good in the future. Several nights ago they became intoxicated and broke some windows in the Colorado Western freight office.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists sell them. Beware of cheap imitations. Groves' signature on each box. See.

Holder of Number 1394

March 14th by the Paris Millinery Co. is entitled to the piano given away

McCarthy-Gibbs SIGN ARTICLES.

Will Meet in Salt Lake on Night Of March 23rd.

CLIFFORD COMING DOWN.

Young Gibbs Has Been Training Him For the Fight with Herrera At Butte.

As stated by the "News" Saturday evening the bout between Young Gibbs and Jerry McCarthy will take place in this city on the evening of March 23, which will be next Monday night. Manager McGinnis of the Salt Lake Athletic club has not been saying much during the last few days, but he has been saying word from the managers of the two men that they had signed articles which he sent them, that they had received tickets for Salt Lake, and would leave Butte after the Herrera-Clifford contest.

John F. Ryan, manager for McCarthy, says that his man is in perfect shape, and that they will leave on Wednesday afternoon for Salt Lake. Both Ryan and McCarthy complain about the decision given in the bout with Dunn as McCarthy did all the fighting and should have been given the decision.

Gus Marion, manager for Gibbs, states that his man has been training Clifford for his fight tonight, and that he will be in the local favorite's corner when he faces the Mexican. He says they will leave for Salt Lake at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon and that Clifford is coming down here with them. He says that Gibbs is in fine shape, and will only require a little light work to put him in shape to meet the Walker-ville net.

In reference to this match, a local sport said this morning:

"It seems rather strange to me that, when this match was first talked of, a certain paper in Salt Lake boasted it for all it was worth, but since the management of the club changed hands, and it was placed in the hands of a man who will be able to give good, clean sport, and who has the confidence of the public, that paper has begun to knock. These men, McCarthy and Gibbs, have shown their confidence in Manager McGinnis by signing the articles he sent them. They are both clever boxers, well watched and are sure to give the public a run for their money, and why anyone should knock them through some personal motive, and thereby try to kill the game for the long winter months, they will see. The sport is pretty well on its feet, and we have positive assurance that a good bout pulled off occasionally will meet with success. Surely the present management has better sense than to make a match or do anything, that would tend to defeat the object aimed at."

TO THE PHILIPPINES.

Eighteenth Infantry Will Pass Through Ogden on Thursday.

The Eighteenth U. S. Infantry, en route to the Philippines, is slated to arrive at Ogden from Fort Russell and Logan next Thursday morning and the regiment has so many friends in this city that large numbers are expected to go to Ogden Thursday morning to meet the command. Capt. McFarland of the Eighteenth was a chum of Capt. J. E. Caine of this city at West Point, and has just been promoted to the rank of major. They will sail for Manila on the second case in that regiment. Chaplain Axton will join his regiment as it leaves Ogden for the west, leaving his family comfortably housed in Fort Douglas. The regimental band has been recruited to the full strength of 25 men, with the veteran Mr. Wurm at the head, and the boys are in good spirits and ready for the long voyage. They will sail by the Sheridan, which has a record of 12 days between San Francisco and Manila.

MORE SMALLPOX.

Two Cases Reported to the Board of Health Today.

Two cases of smallpox were reported to the board of health today. They are: Shirley Cowan, aged 21, 613 South Third West; W. J. Anderson, aged 22, 51 south Sixth West. The doctor, after that, there was a rough house. Hearing the noise outside, "Uncle Charlie" rushed to Roberts' assistance. One of the toughs had managed to get Roberts' club, but "Uncle Charlie" snatched it and with a well directed blow, landed on Glade's head put him out of commission. "Uncle Charlie" then seized Cunningham, but Adams escaped. Roberts and Siler Johnson, a strange blow on Romney and soon choked him into submission. The three of them were then thrown in jail and the police started out for Adams.

INSURANCE MEN IN TOWN.

Officers of Prudential Life Consulting With Local Agents.

A distinguished party of eastern people is registered at the Knutsford en route from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic seaboard. They are: Vice President Leslie D. Ward of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., and wife, President U. H. McCarter of the Fidelity Trust company of Newark, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ward, President W. T. Tinsley, Cyrus W. Lang, L. P. Ward and Geo. Musie, all of the gentlemen being officers of the Prudential company. The party is traveling in its own private car, and stopping over at large centers for consultation with local agents who gather to meet the officials named. The occasion is always made a social as well as a business affair and at the large cities a banquet is part of the program. In this way all of the agents are kept in active touch with the parent offices, and a degree of homogeneity is secured which is found in no other company of the Prudential company. At Chicago on the outward trip, 700 sub-officials of the Prudential were gathered, and the banquet was considerable of an affair. The company has 12,000 agents scattered over the country, and 1,300 clerks employed in the home offices. The party looked over the city today and continues east tonight.

STANDARD OIL AND GEO. COULD

Looks Like a Gigantic Financial Merger is on Foot.

TO CAPTURE SOUTH WEST.

Sequel to Rockefeller and Hyde Throwing in Their Lot With Missouri Pacific Last Week.

Step by step the plans of the Goulds in the direction of a transcontinental line from ocean to ocean are materializing. Four years ago there was one director representing the Standard Oil interests on the board of the Missouri Pacific. Each succeeding year another has been added. Now by the identification of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and James H. Hyde with the Missouri Pacific railroad there is a formal announcement of the association with George Gould of all the influences and resources which the names of Rockefeller and the Equitable Life association suggests to the imagination.

Great as have been Mr. Gould's resources and intimate as have been his associations with some of the most important banking groups of New York in the past, an alliance with the Standard Oil people, representing the most powerful financial group on Wall Street, can have but one meaning, that he proposes to launch out in the direction of railroad expansion.

Following the acquisition of the Rio Grande Western by the Gould interests a couple of years ago a certain prominent official upon his return from New York stated to the writer that Mr. Gould's plans, which might take half a dozen years to materialize, were simply staggering in the contemplation of the fact that they were being carried out.

Already the roads that have been acquired by Gould wholly or in part, are the Rio Grande Western, the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Southern, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, Wheeling & Lake Erie, the Ann Arbor, The Western Maryland, (including the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh) the International & Great Northern and the Texas Pacific.

It can be seen that Gould is gradually working west and taking in all the prominent lines south of an imaginary line drawn through Kansas. Following this line south and west, the Goulds are not but sure move come periodical readjustments of railroad systems in the south.

"Gould's moves are fascinating things to watch, and speculate upon," mused a Rio Grande man this morning. "We have heard a lot regarding the Rock Island and Frisco merge lately, and where there is smoke there is fire. The move to get the Rock Island and Frisco is a Standard Oil man and that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not so friendly. They will see that the Rock Island is one of the biggest competitors of the Gould system in the southwest leads me to think that the Goulds are getting their claws on this big system. Just take the map and see what is left in the west after you take out the Rock Island, with the exception of the Santa Fe. Gould will have about all there is. Before Harriman began his railroad conquests in the far west he and Gould were presumably fast friends. Later, however, they were not