FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS

SENATE.

Burnside asked Eaton, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, if any action had been taken on his joint resolution deprecating the construction of an inter oceanic canal by European powers. Burnside hoped government might now take still stronger grounds of opposition, and declare against the construction of such canal by any company incorporated by any foreign government.

Eaton said the committee had not acted, but doubtless would.

Voorhees and Garland moved that the bill for the relief of Ben. Holliday be taken up in the morning hour. Discussion on the point of order ended in the bill being ordered up—yeas 33, nays 20.

Butler offered a resolution directing the secretary of the interior to furnish information and the report of the superintendent of census touching the alleged frauds in the enumeration of the inhabitants of South Carolina. Adopted

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 5.—Stephens, from the coinage committee, reported back the bill amending the Revised Statutes to authorize a charge for melting. Passed.

Springer introduced a bill for the apportionment of Representatives in Congress, and to secure equal and just representation in the House. There was a short discussion whether the elections committee or census committee should have the bill.

Springer said the bill embodied more than mere apportionment. It was drawn according to the principles of minority representation. The number of Representatives was unchanged during the decade, 293. Deducting the Territories and the District of Columbia, the population was 49,369,714, which, divided by 293, left the population of 168,498 as the ratio for one member of Congress. The bill was referred to the committee on census.

Townshend introduced a bill relating to the retirement of army officers.

Clymer said Wood, who had charge of the funding bill, was ill this morning, and asked him to proceed with the appropriation bills.

The House then went into committee on the army appropriation bill.

The bill was read by sections for amendments.

Warner offered an amendment providing that no officer on active duty in the field should be retired without his consent. He stated that he was induced to offer that amendment in view of the late retirement of a distinguished and grand officer, who had been in service in the field ever since the close of the war. His retirement had been made not on purely military considerations, but on political considerations. He believed it due to General Ord, the officer to whom he referred, that the country should understand that his retirement in place of Gen. McDowell, was not under circumstances in harmony with the merits of the two officers. He (Warner) had heard a rumor that Gen. McDowell had drawn his mileage for going to New York to vote, and he inquired whether this bill contained an appropriation for the payment of that mileage.

Clymer replied that mileage had been provided for in the appropriation bill for the current year.

Keifer—Does the gentleman state it was a fact that Gen. McDowell did draw mileage?

Warner—I state that it was so.

The amendment was ruled out on point of order.

Clymer offered an amendment appropriating $125,000 to pay land grant railroads 50 per cent. of what the quartermaster-general finds justly due them for transportation. Agreed to.

The committee then rose and reported the bill to the House, when it passed.

Reagan then moved that the House proceed to the consideration of the House calendar, stating that it was his intention to call up the inter-State commerce bill. He stated that the funding bill or any measure before congress. Reagan's motion was agreed to and the calendar was taken up.

The first bill was Hostetter's bill prohibiting political assessments, the title of which was greeted with laughter on the republican side.

Frye inquired whether the inter-State commerce bill would gain an advantage by being taken up today.

The Speaker—It will be unfinished business to-morrow.

Frye—Will it take precedence of the funding bill?

The Speaker replied that the funding bill was in the committee of the whole, and that a motion to go in such committee would have the preference any time to a motion to go to the House.

The inter-State commerce bill was finally reached and taken up for consideration.

Reagan stated that he had reported the pending bill from the committee on commerce, though he did not approve its provisions. He had offered a substitute known as the Ryan Substitute. Lowe had also offered a substitute which he understood would be withdrawn, for the purpose of getting the matter in shape for debate. He proposed to explain the provisions of his substitute, and he would then call the previous question on the adoption of that substitute.

Henderson called attention to the anamolous situation of the pending bill, which was in charge of a gentleman (Reagan) who was avowedly hostile to it. He desired that some determination should be arrived at as to a division of the discussion.

Reagan then continued in support of his substitute. It provided that one man should not be charged more than another for the same service that no drawback or rebates should be allowed; that people should not be deprived of the benefit of competition, by the pooling of freights between competing railroads; that the people should be protected by partial restrictions on the power of corporations, and that more shall not be charged for shorter distance over the same line.

Rice inquired whether the gentleman (Reagan) believed Congress had power to oblige the New York Central Co. in any way to modify charges for freight received by it at Buffalo, either by rail or steamboat, to be carried within the State of New York.

Reagan replied that it was the origin and destination of the freight that fixed the nature of commerce. If freight was shipped from one State to another it was inter-State commerce, whether it went over one or many railroads.

Reagan then proceeded to state his objection to the committee's bill, but was cut short by the expiration of his hour. The matter then went over, the understanding being that when it next comes up, one or two days will be allowed for debate.

Upson produced a bill authorizing the President to place Brigadier-General and Brevet Major-General E. O. C. Ord on the retired list according to his brevet rank; referred.

The Speaker laid several Executive communications before him, among them a letter from the Postmaster General relative to bags and mail matter retained in the Washington postoffice, which were attempted to be sent through the mails under frauds.

Browne called for its reading, pending which the House adjourned

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Mrs. Christiancy's Indiscretion.

WASHINGTON, 6.—This evening the Star publishes another interview with Mrs. Christiancy, in which she denies having written the published letters alleged to have been written by her, and addressed to Edil Berto Giro. These letters she pronounces malicious forgeries, gotten up to play their part in the case. When she spoke of the published letters to the reporter she had not read them. The letters sent Giro, she now says, were in a different vein, not so gushing, though imprudent enough for her to write. When in New York she hastily glanced at the headings of some of them. She further said there was a common sense side to her statement, viz.: that her mother, brother and Miss Meloy all knew that she was not away from home even five minutes on Christmas Day, 79, and therefore could not be the woman referred to. The Miss Meloy referred to, who is a sister of W. A. Meloy, a well-known member of the Washington bar, publishes the following card in the Star this evening:

Editor Star:

I have been with Mrs. Christiancy for months past and saw all the letters written by her to Mr. Giro from the first. None of those published were written by her. She wrote him, but those are not the letters. They are totally unlike those written.

Very respectfully,
LILLIE E. MELOY.

Springer's Apportionment.

In connection with his remarks upon his apportionment bill, Springer submitted the various tables under the bill. The number of members apportioned to each State is fixed as follows: Alabama 7, Arkansas 5, California 5, Colorado 1, Connecticut 4, Delaware 1, Florida 1, Georgia 9, Illinois 18, Indiana 12, Iowa 10, Kansas 6, Kentucky 10, Louisiana 5, Maine 4, Maryland 5, Massachusetts 10, Michigan 10, Minnesota 7, Mississippi 7, Missouri 13, Nebraska 3, Nevada 1, New Hampshire 2, New Jersey 7, New York 30, North Carolina 8, Ohio 19, Oregon 1, Pennsylvania 25, Rhode Island 2, South Carolina 6, Tennessee 9, Texas 9, Vermont 2, West Virginia 3, Wisconsin 8. Total 293. The following States would lose one member each: Alabama, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Hampshire, Ohio, Vermont, Tennessee. Pennsylvania would lose 2 and New York 3 members. Arkansas, California, Iowa, Michigan, Mississipi, South Carolina and West Virginia gain 1 member each; Minnesota and Nebraska 2 each; Kansas and Texas 3 each.

Chinese Commissioner Arrived.

Commissioner Trescott arrived in Washington this afternoon and delivered the Chinese emigration treaty to the State Department, from whose possession it will be transmitted to the Senate by the President within the next few days. There is no doubt, however, of its prompt ratification. The commercial treaty, it is understood, will be brought by Commissioner Swift. Mr. Trescott maintains the same diplomatic reticence that he manifested in San Francisco and courteously declines to say anything in regard to either treaty.

Blaine on Finance.

Blaine, to-day, said he did not believe it possible for the Secretary of the Treasury to place a 3 per cent. loan. His own idea was to authorize the issue of $600,000,000 4 per cents. at 110, or over. This would enable the secretary to almost wipe out the $680,000,000 falling due next year, and reduce the total debt $80,000,000. He did not know that he should draw a bill to cover this ground, but the idea had been discussed and generally approved by his friends.

Electric Light for Gotham.

NEW YORK, 5. — The United States Electric Lighting Company is now having made the necessary pipes to lay its wires along Broadway, Wall and Broad Streets, which electric light will be furnished to many banking houses whose owners have made application for small incandescent lamps. The prices charged will be a little less than is charged for gas. Two thousand lamps are now ready to be placed in private buildings and they will be put in by the first of February.

Off for Panama.

The American Panama Canal Committee received the following cablegram from Paris: A preparatory expedition, composed of engineers and skilled mechanics, left Havre to-day for Panama direct, to commence survey and operations immediately. A large number of mechanics and laborers; a quantity of machinery and a large supply of provisions have been ordered in New York and New Orleans for immediate shipment to the scence of operations.

Railroader Interviewed.

CHICAGO, 5.—A. A Talmidge, general manager of the Missouri Pacific, who was in the city yesterday, was asked what he knew about the alleged sale of the Central Branch Union Pacific, an account of which recently appeared in the Denver Tribune. Talmidge said he had heard nothing of such a scheme or arrangement, and does not believe there is any truth in the report. As the Central Branch is operated by the Missouri Pacific, of which he is general manager, he would be very likely to have heard something of such a scheme if it had been or is now contemplated. The Central Branch, he said, is owned by the Union Pacific, but leased to the Missouri Pacific, which now operates it. It looked rather improbable that Mr. Gould should sell out the Central Branch Union Pacific to the Chicago and Rock Island for the purpose of allowing the latter to build a rival line to Denver. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific managers also disclaim all knowledge of such arrangement.

That Forgery.

A special from New York says: Jayne, the detective who has been working up the Morey forgery for Truth, said the plan was conceived by Stillson Hutchins, of the Washington Post, Col. Headly and a detective named Lonergan. The envelope was one which Lonergan got Gen. Garfield to send him, enclosing some seeds from the agricultural department at Washington. A careful examination, Jayne says, has shown that Lonergan's address was erased. Jayne's statements are to be taken with some allowance.

Gould's Projects.

ELDORADO, Kansas, 5.—Parties representing Jay Gould are here for the purpose of working a franchise for the extension of the Leroy branch of the Missouri Pacific R. R. to the Arkansas River. This branch leaves the main line at Holden, Missouri, passing through the towns of Paola and Garrett, Kansas, and makes connection with the Mo., Kansas and Texas at Leroy. It is now proposed to extend the line from Leroy to the Arkansas River, a distance of 100 miles. This will give to Gould an air line from St. Louis to south west Kansas and enable him to make the Southern Pacific connection on the Rio Grande with 175 miles shorter route than any other line now has.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The English Catastrophe in South Africa.

DURBAN, 5.—An official dispatch from Pieterwartzburg, dated to-day, state that Captain Lambert, lately a prisoner at Widelburg, has just arrived. He was released on parole with Captian Elliott. Both were sent to the Orange Free State, unarmed, but when crossing Vaal River, the Boers, who accompanied them, fired on them, and Captain Elliott was killed. Sixty-two prisoners of the Twenty-ninth regiment released by the Boers, are on their way down.

Captain Lambert gives the following account of the disaster to the Ninety-fourth: On the road from Pretoria to Lydenburg the detachment was met by two men with letters summoning the colonel to surrender, allowing two minutes for decision. The colonel refused to comply with this demand and formed his men, when the fire was immediately opened on all sides, the officers were almost instantly shot down and the men, thus demoralized, then ordered a surrender. Eighty-six men were buried on the field, and 26 have since died. Captain Lambert estimates the number of Boers at Heidelburg to be 3,000. He met a large number going in from the Orange Free State. The commanding officer at Newcastle reports that 3,000 Boers have entered Natal and have taken up a strong position on the road to Transvaal, about five miles within the border. They are pushing the patrols to a point 16 miles from Newcastle.

Matters in Ireland.

DUBLIN, 5.—The officers of the Tralee branch of the Land League, who were arrested to-day, have been remanded, bail being refused. A force of police escorted the prisoners to jail. A crowd assembled and threatened the police, but the military, with fixed bayonets, joined the police All traversers who are members of Parliament, except Healy, who is to attend the Land League meeting at Alforney on Thursday, have gone to London. A. M. Sullivan, M.P., who was engaged in the State trials as one of the counsel for the defense, remains in Dublin.

London, 5.—The military commissioner of high rank, who has been making investigation in Ireland, forwarded to the Government a full report of his observations and opinions, of which the following is a synopsis:

First—No organized rising is feared at present. A determined leader might have incited a rising, but the precautionary measures of dispatching extra forces throughout the country, which have been adopted, have greatly lessened the probability of such occurrence.

Second—There is no occasion to fear that the presence of additional forces will aggravate disorder.

Third—If Her Majesty's government at once takes strict action for the repression of lawlessness, a peaceful solution of the present difficulties and cessation of outrages and disturbances may be looked for with confidence.

The Billiardists.

PARIS, 5.—Vignaux says he will agree to Slosson's challenge for a return match if he is allowed to practice four hours daily for a fortnight on the table which Slosson brought over, and on which the last match was played. Vignaux says he thinks a suitable table can be found in Paris without sending to New York. Vignaux declines Slosson's offer to pay his expenses to New York; if he went to America he would appeal to nobody to pay his expenses.
