

FRAGMENTS.

EDWARD HORN is in custody on a charge of assault.

Dr. HAGUE was arrested last night for being drunk and profane, and forfeited $15 this morning.

CHARLES HANSEN was arrested last night for interfering with an officer. He has not yet been tried for the offense.

DOCKSTADER's minstrels appear at the Theatre tonight and tomorrow night. They give a good entertainment.

C. H. HANSEN, who engaged in the business of hotel runner without having first obtained a license, was fined $4 today.

PETER CROWLEY and Wm. Whiting were before Justice Friday for drunkenness. The former was fined $5 and the latter $10.

J. M. YATES was arrested last evening on a charge of doing business without a license, and is to have a hearing this afternoon.

This Utah Council is transferring some fifty carloads of cattle, intended for eastern points. Most of the stock is from the herds of Woolley, Lund & Judd.

Wm. FARRINGTON CANNON was president at the Old Folks' Excursion. He was born November 7th, in Harpersfield, Ashland County, Ohio; baptized by Elder P. P. Pratt on the 10th of October, 1850.

MAX SCHUBERT was released from the county yesterday morning, having completed a 90-day term. Last evening he got drunk again, and raised a big disturbance which he continued after being placed in jail. She is to be sentenced this afternoon.

Tax current number of the Contributor is at hand. It contains "The Navajo Legion," by R. W. Young; "White and True Notions of God," by E. H. Roberts; several of the lectures given at the recent Young Men's Conference, and a number of other articles.

Several business men are becoming convinced that the nuisance ordinance is being enforced, as they are required to answer for its violation. Today E. L. Price paid a $10 fine for keeping a nuisance, and a boy employed by C. B. Darnet was permitted to go on a suspended sentence pending good behavior. The lad had swept the rubbish from the sidewalk into the ditch.

ABOUT 200 excursionists en route to the convention of the National Educational Association, which is being held in this city last evening. Most of the party are teachers from various States in the Union, though some are from other walks in life, and are taking advantage of the excursion rates to visit the west. They will remain in the city until tomorrow evening, and have been viewing the sights.

Two parachute jumps was not made at Lake Park yesterday, owing to the heavy wind. Prof. Gomes had his balloon in readiness for inflation with hot air, but the gas was so strong that it was impossible for him to proceed. About 2,000 people were in attendance, most of whom saw that any effort on the part of the professor to ascend would be a failure. There were a few, however, who wanted the gentleman with being "scared," and during a lull in the breeze about 7 p.m., preparations were made to go on with the exhibition. It was found, however, that the lighting of the fire to inflate the balloon, would simply have resulted in its destruction. The idea, therefore, was abandoned, and the exhibition postponed till a calmer day. The professor met with a similar disaster at Butte on the fourth, from the same cause, but on the 5th was successful, and made his descent in the parachute, leaving the balloon when it was over 5,000 feet from the earth.

Thanks, a Thousand Thanks. To all who helped to make the Excursion of the Veterans to Lehi on the 13th a complete success. No words of ours can express the gratitude felt by the Old Folks for the magnificent reception tendered them by the citizens of Lehi.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

Knocked from a Train. On last evening's Utah Central train from Ogden, Sisson Chase, a brakeman, was swinging to the platform of a car, and looking under the wheels. While in this position on the moving train, he had struck against an obstruction and he was knocked off. He was picked up, and it was found that while the blow was a hard one, he will not be dangerously injured. He will be about again in a few days.

Dockstader's Minstrels. Tonight this troupe commences brief engagements at the Theatre, before their return to New York from their trip to the Pacific Coast. This is one of the best minstrel organizations that has visited this city in many a day. The programme is varied, and embraces the grotesque, comic and ludicrous in skit and song, without offensive features. The engagement includes a performance to-night, a matinee tomorrow afternoon and a performance in the evening.

Brigham Young Academy. We understand that Prof. Karl G. Maeser will continue at the head of the excellent institution for the deaf, and that the same during the last semester, with the exception of Prof. James E. Talmage, who will be Principal of the Salt Lake State Academy and in immediate charge of its scientific department. The Provo institution will open on August 6th and the circular, through which the public will be informed in relation to details, will shortly be issued. The Brigham Young Academy is worthy of the largest popular support. And latter-day Saints cannot do better than to send their children to it, as they will there obtain an education calculated to make them not only intellectually capable, but to keep them through life in the path of moral and religious rectitude.

Released. This morning Brother Ira Allen of Hyrum was released from the Penitentiary, having served the full term for unlawful cohabitation, and paid a fine of $200 and costs. He suffered severely with catarrh and asthma during his imprisonment, and for over a month could not lie down either night or day. His health is so far improved that he is now able to rest naturally.

Brother H. P. Hansen, son of Hyrum, was released at the same time, having served the full term for unlawful cohabitation, and paid a fine of $200 and costs.

Brother Ulrich Stauffer, of Willard, Box Elder County, was also released this morning, having served the full term for the same offense. He was only fined the costs, which he paid.

WEARERS OF SILVER CROWNS.

Thirtieth Annual Excursion of the Old Folks.

THE PEOPLE OF LEHI DO HONOR TO THE VETERANS.

At an early hour yesterday morning the streets of this city in the neighborhood of the Utah Central Railway presented quite a lively appearance. It was the day for the annual Old Folks' excursion—the 13th—on which the aged "fathers and mothers in Israel" and the "young men and maidens" were to have a day of genuine enjoyment, to make them forget, for one day at least, the cares and pains of declining years and cause them to realize that there are feelings of gratitude, respect and honor to their sons and daughters.

Kind Providence seemed to smile down upon the happy throng, who congregated at the Utah Central Depot. The weather had been hot and oppressive for several days, but yesterday morning thick clouds hanging overhead prevented the hot rays of the sun from pressing the excursionists, and just as all were comfortably seated in the cars and were starting from the depot, a most WELCOME SHOWER of rain descended—just sufficient to lay the dust and purify the air, without leaving any unpleasant trace behind.

In Lehi this beautiful shower came earlier in the morning, so that the grove had time to dry before the train arrived, and there was no trace of unpleasant dampness left.

To make it convenient and pleasant for the old people the train, consisting of fourteen passenger cars and one caboose at the disposal of the committee, was backed up on the Temple block switch, on South Temple Street, where the transfer from street cars and vehicles bringing the excursionists could be made with ease. The committee and their aids were on hand early making the necessary arrangements, and all seemed to understand their particular part of the programme, so that everything was done harmoniously and quietly, and without the least excitement or accident.

At 8:30 the train backed quietly down to the depot grounds and a few minutes later pulled out of the city.

THE GREEN FIELD and fine orchards of Mill Creek, the country beyond, just moistened by the late rain, presented a lovely picture and caused the hearts of many of the aged ones to be filled with gratitude, when they contrasted the scene with what they had beheld when all that country was but a barren and unfruitful desert.

Passing the point of the mountain, the lovely Utah Valley, with its romantic lake nestled in the center, burst into view, and about half an hour later the train arrived at Lehi.

It passed the depot about one hundred yards and stopped in front of Robert Gilchrist's grove, where the unloading of the passengers took place, while the bands played welcome strains of music. Soon all were comfortably seated by the tables, which were richly laden with food.

An examination of the grove, which is not very large but quite shady and pleasant, showed the beholder that the Lehi people had left nothing unattended that could be done for the convenience of their honored guests. A grand stand, 30x15 feet, with an elevation of six feet above the ground, had been erected and tastefully decorated with motes and flags. One thousand feet of tables and two thousand feet of benches had been built. To give an idea of what was done to SATISFY THE APPETITES of the excursionists, we will mention that the committee had furnished for the occasion 300 loaves of bread, 500 buns, 50 pounds of butter, 300 pounds of beef, 100 pounds of sugar, 150 pounds of cake, 250 pies and 50 gallons of milk, besides coffee, tea, etc. Also 1,000 pounds of ice which, together with a flowing well, giving 70 gallons of water per minute, did considerable to keep everything about the grove in an even temperature.

The train from Salt Lake City brought 70 people, all told. Of these 57 were over 70 years of age; namely, 27 men, 20 women and 10 children, and 13 above 80 years old. Besides these about 70 people of Lehi were in the party, and perhaps 100 people from other parts of the neighborhood, principally from the neighboring communities of American Fork, Pleasant Grove and Alpine.

Forty young men, and forty young ladies, mostly from the Lehi Stake, served as waiters at the tables and vied with each other in their attention to their guests.

The entire assembly of the grove was estimated at nearly 500.

At 2 p.m. the exercises from the platform were commenced, under the direction of Charles R. Savage. On the stand of the excellent Governor Caleb W. West, who accompanied the excursion from this city, were the Honorable J. W. Stansbury, a number of Bishops, the Old Folks' Committee and the best of the best of the city.

THE names of the speakers on the ground—Wm. Burgeon, of Union, aged 84; John B. Lewis, of the Twentieth Ward, aged 91; and Mrs. Williams, of the Thirtieth Ward, aged 90.

There were also present the Pioneers of 1847: Milan Atwood, Jacob Weller, Lorenzo D. Young and Charles L. Burdette, of the Pioneer Zion's camp, who went to Missouri in 1834; and the Pioneers of 1847: Noble, Royal Barger, Albert Brown, Wm. J. Tabor, Nathan Tabor, and John T. Tanner, of the Mormon Battalion boys: Elam Luddington, Wm. Kelley, Joseph Shipley, Israel Arnesen and Newman Buckley; also Alexander and Joseph D. Tanner, of the Mormon Battalion boys in Liberty Jail; Philo Dibble, of Springfield, one of the oldest members of the church, and a number of other persons.

The Old Folks' choir sang "Ere the Sun Goes Down." Elder George H. Goddard offered prayer. Music by the band. Bishop Thos. R. Cutler made a few remarks of welcome, assuring the assembly that it afforded him and the people of Lehi generally unbounded pleasure to have the opportunity of receiving into their midst so many of their aged friends whom they loved to walk upon and honor.

Wm. C. Darnabur was appropriately an on his Scotch bagpipes in an able manner. The band played "Hail Columbia."

GOVERNOR WEST being introduced to the assembly said that he scarcely knew how to express himself on the occasion. It was indeed a novel experience of his life to witness so enjoyable and pleasant a gathering of the aged men and women of the community. He had on many occasions seen young people gathered together for the purpose of merry-making and recreation, but this was the first time in his life on which he had met with an assembly of old folks. When he first came to Utah he heard of this beautiful custom and was at once struck with the appropriateness of the movement, looking upon it as one of the best tokens of kindness and love that could possibly be shown to the aged.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion. He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

He did not know how this world to him was a more beautiful place than he had ever known it to be, and he felt that the one which was being celebrated on the present occasion.

AN ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

A Sad Affair—Impressive Funeral Ceremonies.

Brother Samuel W. Westcott, writing from Deseret, Millard County, July 11, 1939, gives the following account of a fatal accident to a young man at that place, while the celebration of Independence Day was in progress:

"It was not long before our mirth was turned to sorrow. Two of our young men rode up town and were returning to their homes, both riding on the same horse. When near their homes, on crossing a water ditch at full speed, the horse slipped and fell, throwing both riders headlong to the ground. Meroni Bennett, in his seventeenth year, alighted on his head, causing a fracture of the skull at the base. The other young man escaped with a severe laceration of the scalp, but he was not injured.

The young man, who was named Meroni Bennett, was a native of Utah, and was a member of the Young Men's Society. He was a very popular young man, and his death was a great loss to the community.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

AN ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

A Sad Affair—Impressive Funeral Ceremonies.

Brother Samuel W. Westcott, writing from Deseret, Millard County, July 11, 1939, gives the following account of a fatal accident to a young man at that place, while the celebration of Independence Day was in progress:

"It was not long before our mirth was turned to sorrow. Two of our young men rode up town and were returning to their homes, both riding on the same horse. When near their homes, on crossing a water ditch at full speed, the horse slipped and fell, throwing both riders headlong to the ground. Meroni Bennett, in his seventeenth year, alighted on his head, causing a fracture of the skull at the base. The other young man escaped with a severe laceration of the scalp, but he was not injured.

The young man, who was named Meroni Bennett, was a native of Utah, and was a member of the Young Men's Society. He was a very popular young man, and his death was a great loss to the community.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S. Black and Elder Wm. V. Bennett gave very comforting remarks and gave some excellent counsel to the young.

The remains were followed to the grave by about 300 of our citizens in private automobiles, led by 12 young men with white shirts and black sashes; also one young man leading the horse of deceased, the saddle being covered with crape. Next followed 85 young ladies on foot, two and two, with white dresses and black sashes. Next came the hearse, carriages and wagons, containing relatives and friends.

This sad accident has caused a deep feeling of sorrow in this place, and many of our citizens have been bowed down in sorrow. May God comfort the bereaved and the community much sorrow.

The funeral services were held on the morning of the 10th in the school house. Bishop J. S.