

victory in the State says: Its fruits are likely to prove barren by reason of the discords on the senatorial matter. He asks if it is not wise for this view of the case for the governor to defer for the present his claims on the party, thus harmonizing all interests in the republican party. This letter from Speaker Cowgill is published to-day, together with one from Secretary Nash of the State committee, expressing less fear of trouble in the party, but intimating that should Foster withdraw, his generosity would be appreciated by the party, also a letter from Foster to Gowgill, saying he had received a number of similar letters from personal friends. He says he does not share the apprehensions of these gentlemen, but perhaps his judgment is warped, and by act of his own would he intentionally reduce the vigor and energy of the party, which he was gratified to know, they believed he had helped to success. He had simply done his duty. He had been a candidate because of the worthy ambition, to represent Ohio in the United States Senate, and he believed he had a fair prospect of a successful issue of his candidacy, but yielding to the judgment of his friends he had concluded to withdraw from the contest with many thanks to faithful friends and supporters.

Foster's withdrawal falls like a clap of thunder from a clear sky. All last week his intimate friends insisted that under no circumstances would he withdraw from the contest until fairly beaten. For several days the mails have been borne down with letters begging him to withdraw. In an interview this evening, Foster said: "I did not finally conclude to withdraw until to-day. I suppose it will take my friends by surprise. My chances for Senator have never looked so bright as during the past few days. Letters have been pouring on me from some of the leading men in the country, declaring that if I persisted in remaining in the contest, it would breed bitter feuds which would result in serious trouble in the future to the party. I don't attempt to advise by supporters to vote for any particular man, but of course my withdrawal will be understood as strengthening Sherman's position. He set his heart on the senatorship and his failure to receive it will be a severe disappointment to him. He was greatly disappointed at Chicago and now if he should fail of election to the place he formerly occupied so long it would doubtless be a severe blow to him. The senatorial fight is yet to be made and I venture to say no man knows how 25 members will vote." It is almost absolutely sure that Foster's withdrawal is due to a recent request from Garfield, whom Speaker Cowgill recently visited at Mentor. Judge West cannot unite the elements upon himself. Stanley Matthews waits for Justice Swayne's place on the federal Supreme bench. It is too late for Taft to start it. Sherman will have a walk over.

A gentleman just from Mentor says: Gen. Garfield is in prime condition, that he was overrun and overworked which, as Richard Smith said, had brought on indigestion, but he had now gotten rid of it. His visitors have fallen off owing to the bad weather.

There is no truth in the report that Secretary Sherman is hostile to the 3 per cent. bond. He favors the lowest possible rate at which the entire debt now outstanding can be refunded, even 2 per cent. were that rate possible. At any rate he will execute any law congress may pass.

Congressman Ford is urged for postmaster general in Garfield's cabinet. It is stated that Logan would get the position.

The papers of Sam Lee, contestant in the first South Carolina district, and prominent in politics here, have been filed. If the allegations are established he will oust the sitting member, Richardson, democrat.

WASHINGTON, 20.—The President issued the following request:

Executive Mansion,
Washington, Dec. 18.

I request the following gentlemen to proceed to Indian Territory as soon as may be and effect a conference with the Ponca tribe of Indians to ascertain facts with regard to the recent removal and present condition, so far as is necessary to determine the question as to what justice and humanity demand should be done by the government of the United States, and report their conclusions and recommendations in the matter: Brigadier General Geo.

Crook, U.S.A.; Brigadier General Miles, U. S. A.; Wm. Stickney, Washington, D.C.; Walter Allen, Newton, Mass. It is the purpose of the foregoing request to authorize the commission to take whatever steps may in their judgment be necessary to enable them to accomplish the purpose set forth. General Crook is authorized to take with him two aides de camp to do clerical work. (Signed)

R. B. HAYES.

CHICAGO, 20.—The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says: The messengers who brought the electoral vote of the different states here have been disappointed as to the amount of mileage they receive. Heretofore it has been 25 cents a mile each way. In the last appropriation bill it was changed to 25 cents for one way only. The messengers growl at this, but there's no help. A man can travel comfortably on 12½ cents a mile.

The vote of Georgia has not yet appeared by messenger but has arrived through the mail. The vote of New York was brought by John Jacob Astor. He is entitled to about $90 mileage but probably will not apply for it.

Mr. Burchard, director of the mint, will advocate before the House committee on coinage at its meeting to-morrow, the re-imposition of the melting and coinage charges. This accords with the recommendations of Secretary Sherman, who suggested in his annual report the propriety of imposing a melting charge in all cases of deposits of bullion either for coins or refining. As to the charge for coining, the secretary says: Experience shows that other circumstances being favorable, a coinage charge does not prevent a country from securing the coinage of coin the condition of foreign trade will permit to retain.

Cox has been driven home by the severcold. He is chairman of the House census committee, and General Walker, superintendent of the census, had assured him that by Tuesday the census lists would be ready for Congress. It was Cox's intention to put his committee immediately at work upon them. There is some anxiety here to know of Cox's intentions in case the census lists should be delivered on Tuesday as promised.

The consular and diplomatic bill, which could not pass the House on Saturday for want of a quorum, will probably be disposed of to-day. It is in order on the third Monday of the month for committees to ask a suspension of the rules, immediately after the morning hour, and it is very seldom indeed that matters brought up by the committees under this order do not occupy the entire day's session.

So many of both houses left town Friday and yesterday that it is rumored at the hotels that the sergeants-at-arms will find work on their hands.

Judge Emerson at Beaver—The Iron Mining Claim—Bible Society, etc.

BEAVER, Dec. 13, 1880.

Editor Deseret News:

That Judge Emerson opened the Second District Court here on the 6th inst., you are already advised, and probably that he adjourned to the 27th of January, 1881, after one week's sitting, to draw grand and petit juries, which is understood to be about all that will be done in that court until the March term. His Honor disposed of a goodly number of motions, demurrers, etc., and tried a few causes. The last one, the great iron mining claim, was not completed, and hence on Saturday last was continued to next term. Judge Emerson evinced not only a general knowledge of law, but seemed quite at home in the intricate mining suits brought before him. It was a legal treat, after near eight years of quarterly boring, to have a man on the bench who did not wait two days to hear two or three non-essential points argued and then hold them indefinitely under advisement. He showed a knowledge of business and strict attention to it. The points were well weighed and soon disposed of, as is his usual custom. And so far as I heard or heard of, they were both legal and just, without any show of leaning to either side. Although I have no interest in the iron works, except such as every citizen ought to have—a desire for justice—I could not forego a regret that his honor had not the time, or that parties were not ready to have the three or four test cases, out of about thirty, tried at this term. Cammel seems bent on gobbling up the mines if he sees a ghost of a chance. It is well perhaps that the defendants, who have spent so many thousands of dollars in developing the iron ore of Utah, are the old citizens, the law-abiding "Mormons," as in my opinion any other community would resort to the law of shot guns for redress. I do not, however, say that were the case reversed Mr. C. would adopt any such measures. Those who are better posted must form their own opinions. To say the least, whatever may be the legal technicalities of the case, which must be left to the courts, I must say to me, the jumping, re-luctating, or whatever name the action of Mr. C. may be known by, it appears a great moral outrage.

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. Fisher, Bible Society Agent for several of the western Territories, visited the Sabbath Schools, and in the afternoon and evening held forth in the Latter-day Saints' meeting house in the interest of his cause. Said his cause was unsectarian; his arguments in favor of the Bible were conclusive, which of course every Latter-day Saint endorsed, it being a well known fact that their real faith in that divine record excels that of all other people. The Doctor dwelt with great force on the sayings of the Apostle James, "If any man lack wisdom let him ask of God," etc. A Branch Society of over one hundred members was organized.

The weather is warm and the melting of ice floods our streets. Health good with a few exceptions.

Yours truly,
DANIEL TYLER.
