The casket was placed in the center of the room covered with a canopy of flowers and on either side sat her near relatives, her Sunday school pupils, numbering over forty young men and young ladies, and the district school teachers. The deceased had been identified with the Sunday school work here for a number of years and was considered one of its foremost teachers. Sister Prior was also, previous to her marriage, early last spring, one of our most efficient district school teachers and through her untiring efforts in the different positions that she occupied gained the respect and confidence of all her associates and acquaintances.

Bishop Thos. R. Cutler had charge of the services and the following were the speakers: Prof. G. N. Child, James M. Anderson, Geo. A. Smith, Senator A. J. Evans and Bishop Thos. R. Cutler, all of whom paid a glowing tribute to the life and labors of the deceased. At the close of the services all the assembly were permitted to view the remains after which the funeral cortege was formed with her Sunday school class marching directly behind the casket, which adorned the hearse. Sister Prior was in her 24th year and died in Huntington, Emery Co., where her husband was principal of the Seminary school at that place. The cause of her death it is thought is the result of a fall from a buggy. Mrs. Prior leaves a husband, father and mother, a number of sisters and brothers and numerous relatives and friends to cherish her sweet memory.

KANOSH.

THE PENNEY MYSTERY.

AMERICAN FORK.

Briggs Bound to District Court—Benefit Ball.

Special Correspondence. American Fork, Utah Co., Feb. 8.—Charles Briggs, owner of rape committed on the 10-year-old daughter of Joseph L. Kelly, was brought over from Provo yesterday and was taken before Justice John McNeil for preliminary hearing. The accused waived examination and was bound over in the sum of $500 to appear before the district court. He was unable to furnish the bond and was immediately taken back to the county jail at Provo. Taking into consideration the seriousness of the offense, some of the people here feel very much incensed at the justice placing the bond so low.

Last night a masquerade ball was given in the theater for the benefit of the American Fork Relief Society. The men left here Nov. 14, and filled their only intended mission to Wah Wah, Kanosh, and left there Nov. 17th, to return home via Black Rock. They are said to have been seen on the road about half way between Wah Wah and Black Rock, or some 20 to 25 miles from here, where they disappeared, and not a trace has been seen or heard of them since. Statements are made that two men and a woman drove up to Wah Wah on the 11th, after the Penney's had left for home. They were a rather glibly talking trio, one man remaining in the wagon; the woman was dark skinned, something of a gipsy appearance; the other man was tall, slim, dark skinned, with long hair to his shoulders, and blue eyes. The man who was in the wagon overtook the Penney's, nooned with them, and for some reason concluded to get away with them.

A woman is said to have been seen sitting alone in a wagon by the road side, and was asked to get into the wagon. The two men and two horses gone; two men, it is rumored, were also seen chasing after the Penney's on horses, swerved into the hills to avoid a sheep wagon and then cut out again farther away. Some of the country people of the Penney's on the open road. If these strange horsemen got away with the men they made a neat job of it, as no signs of a scuffle, nor a trace of the Penney's wagon, horse, or quilts have been discovered, nor has the gipsy outfit ever been seen since. This theory of their disappearance is not believed here, as there is absence of motive, and no temptation in the measure some of our citizens are of the opinion that the risk and bloodshed necessary to obtain them. E. W. Penney is one of the last men to breed trouble with strangers on the road, he is a well informed and peaceable man, and is in human nature, a graduate from the American Institute of Phenology.

The conviction is pretty general here that some trouble may be developed over the location of mining prospects in that vicinity, and be accountable for their disappearance. No thought can possibly be entertained by any intelligent person familiar with Mr. E. W. Penney's home affairs, and the character of his son George is voluntary.

Some fifteen of our citizens are still in the Wah Wah country searching for traces of the missing men. Mrs. Penney feels very grateful that her friends are endeavoring to unravel the mystery.

The weather here has been unseasonably warm, farmers have been putting in the grain, and quaking some at the sight of the snow. The fruit buds are swelling and are in danger from frost. The wild geese appear to have lost their bearing, for one was tempted to alight in the writer's city lot, and was afterwards made to adorn the table.

PANGUITCH.

A $10,000 Irrigation Reservoir Projected and Under Way.

Special Correspondence. Panguitch, Garfield Co., Feb. 6th, 1900.—We have waited patiently for the heavens to fill our mountains with snow so that water would be in abundance, when needed for summer irrigation, but the citizens of this locality have concluded that it is folly to wait for others to do what they can do themselves. So after a few preliminary meetings and a little committee work, yesterday a capital of $10,000 was got together and it is being taken in Panguitch and the balance up the river. The purpose is to construct a reservoir a short distance above the town of Hatch, on the Sevier river at the junction of the Hatch and Sevier creeks. The ground to be covered will be about one mile by one and a half miles. The dam will be from thirty to fifty feet high. The State engineer will be consulted at once, and the article.

ST. JOHNS, ARIZONA.

Missionary Colonists Released—Important Special Conference.

Special Correspondence. St. Johns, Apache County, Arizona, Jan. 30.—The Saints of St. Johns State have been having a religious feast. On Saturday morning the 27th, the conference of the Sunday schools of the State convened and they were privileged to have the presence of Elder Bentley. The reports showed the schools to be in good condition, and making remarkable progress. The principal speakers were Dr. Maeser and Elder R. G. Lambert. Saturday night the Y. M. M. I. A. conference convened at the St. Johns State Hotel, and the missionaries of the State associations reported. Elder Randall, who is the Mutual missionary for this State, reported his labors, and good reports were also given from most of the associations. Sunday the services were continued.

Sunday evening the Mutuals again were in conference, and Elder Lambert lectured to them on Evidences of Deity in nature. Just before the close of the service, Arthur G. Maeser, and Clawson came in. They had been detained by a wreck on the railway.

Monday morning a religious class conference was held and the exercises were very well rendered.

MISSIONARY COLONISTS.

The special Stake conference convened on Monday afternoon, and Apostles Grant read a release from the First Presidency of all who were called as missionaries to the St. Johns State, and leaving them to go elsewhere if they so desired, but suggested that if they left they go to the Gila and strengthen those settlements.

The mineral and drouth have been great difficulties to the Saints of St. Johns. Many have felt discouraged. But in the Priesthood meeting of Tuesday morning and evening, where all were given a chance to express their feelings, few showed a desire to leave. The teachings and exhortations of the visiting Apostles and of President J. G. Kimball had a great effect on their appreciative audience, while the predictions made by the visitors filled all with new hope and fresh energy.

MANUFACTURE OF AMERICAN TEA.

The only tea-factory in the United States is located at Pinchurst, near Summerville, South Carolina. The picking of the leaf requires care and discrimination. The growing tea-plant throws out from its branches tender, bright shoots frequently during the season. These new shoots constitute a "flush," and trained pickers must be at hand, at each successive flush, who are practiced in the art of picking off the leaves. Only a tip of the shoot and the most tender leaves are taken. If only the tender, unexpanded leaf bud at the end of the shoot is picked, the tea is called "flowery pekoe." If the first leaf, almost as tender as the bud, is added, it makes "orange pekoe." If the second leaf, slightly firmer, goes in, it becomes simply "pekoe" tea. The addi-
