OTTAWA, April 27.—Sir Charles Tupper delivered his annual budget speech to the House of Commons this afternoon. He showed a probable deficit of $1,000,000 for the year ending June next. There had been applications for further tariff changes, he said, but the government did not propose to make any alterations this year. A day ago, the speaker said, he had referred to the very unpleasant relations that were then threatened between the United States and Canada. He was glad the cloud had been driven away by the fishery treaty which had been concluded between the two countries. The Parliament of Canada would undoubtedly ratify the treaty, but no matter what the action of the Senate of the United States might be, he believed nothing could disturb the continuously harmonious intercourse and friendly reciprocity of good neighborhood between the countries. It was proposed to perpetuate the good feeling now existing by taking steps to effect the provisions of the Mills bill. He had every hope the Mills bill would become a law this year, and in order therefore that Canadian lumber and oil might enter the United States free under the terms of the bill, the government ought to obtain power to abolish export duties by an order in council.

General Boulanger, responding to M. de Montigny's toast to the former's health, declined to utter a most emphatic protest against the charge that he had assumed to a dictatorship. Moreover, if the question were raised in the Chamber, he would vote to abolish the Presidency.

The Boulangerist demonstration was renewed tonight. The people refused to disperse and were fired upon by mounted gen d'armes. Finally the attention of the crowd was diverted by large fire, and they moved off with shouts of "Vive Boulanger."

There was also a decrease in tonnage amounting to 17 per cent of westbound and 51 of east bound traffic. It is calculated that losses on all lines between Lake Superior and Texas reach a total of $1,250,000 on through traffic. To this should be added reductions to and from interior points, a traffic three or four times as large as through business.

The dynamite cruiser followed off the ways at 3:10 being christened by Miss Nellie Cameron, daughter of Senator Don Cameron. The launches were unusually successful. The U. The dynamite cruiser was christened Vesuvius.

MILWAUKEE, April 28.—Between 600 and 800 sports from this city, Chicago and elsewhere went to Thiensville, 15 miles out, this afternoon, to witness a fight to a finish between Pat McCartin and John Ward. The men fought to a finish two years ago, Ward, who was then acknowledged the heavy weight champion of Wisconsin, being knocked out in the 27th round. Today's affair ended in a great row; the inability to obtain a referee mutually satisfactory, resulted in the choice of two men as umpires instead of a referee, Billy Sisson acting for McCartin and Jack Bolan for Ward. Five savage rounds were fought, McCartin having the best of it all the way through. When they clinched Sisson tried to separate them, and Ward struck him a terrific blow. Sisson thereupon jumped on Ward's back and was pummeling him when the seconds interfered. While this three-cornered fight was going on the seconds got to fighting among themselves. Finally, Sisson was thrown over the ropes and the fight was resumed. In the fifth round Bolan gave the fight to Ward on a foul. Amid the great uproar, he jumped in a buggy and escaped the angry spectators.

He testified on cross-examination of the boss brewers' conspiracy. When a letter written in English was handed to witnesses and he was asked if he wrote it, he replied he hadn't come here to expose the boss brewers' conspiracy. Witness became very excited at times and spoke in broken English. Elsner declined to answer any questions regarding the English letter, saying that it might criminate him. At this point the hearing was adjourned until next Wednesday. Elsner will again be called upon to testify when the hearing reopens.

Lawyer Untermyer said after the close of the examination that the names of Herbrand, Elsner and probably others will be presented to the grand jury for indictment on evidence obtained during the hearing.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—In response to a call issued some time ago by Governor Beaver, the Governors of the Thirteen Original States or their representatives, with the exception of Massachusetts, met in Carpenter's Hall here today, to consider plans for the establishment of a fitting and lasting memorial to commemorate the first century of the Constitution of the United States. Resolutions were passed calling upon the National government and the various states and Territories to make appropriations for a fund to erect a suitable National monument commemorative of the United States to be erected within the city of Philadelphia, said monument to bear the names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence in their autograph, and of the framers of the Constitution. Ray Falk, aged 17 years, son of William Falk, and employed in the News Letter printing office, last night called on Mamie Roof, to whom, according to rumor, Falk was engaged. The evening was spent pleasantly, but towards the close Falk, who had been drinking, spoke a few sarcastic words, which were not well received by the girl. When going home, and while at the gate, Falk took from his pocket a pistol, with which he began firing. The girl requested him to put it away, as he might hurt some one. Hardly were the words uttered when the pistol was discharged, sending a ball crashing through the boy's head, entering at the chin and passing to the brain. The unfortunate boy fell on his knees and expired.

LONDON, April 28.—The St. James Gazette argues that the "plan of campaign" and boycotting operations have been carried on for years, yet the Pope has been silent. Mr. Errington's mission, it says, failed to enlist the Pope's interference. Recently rumors of negotiations between the government and the Vatican have been revived, and now comes the startling news of a decree. The alleged tenor of the decree should, however, be accepted cautiously, but the public ought to be reassured that there has been no bargaining with the Vatican, and that the Pope is moved solely by considerations of religion and morality.

ROME, April 28.—It is stated here that the action of the congregation of the Holy See regarding the "plan of campaign" in Ireland, was taken up spontaneously and without previous suggestion from England. The Pope approved the action without entering into the pending political questions between England and Ireland.

A large force of cavalry which was ordered out by the government, has struck the trail of the robbers.

mation of the brain caused by the wound.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., 29.—The news of the opening of the Blackfoot reservation is awaited impatiently here and throughout Northern Montana.

The students gathered at the windows, and on hearing shouts for Boulanger fired four revolver shots into the crowd. Nobody was injured, but the people were so angered that they forcibly resisted the police who tried to disperse them. The students then issued in a body, and a general melee ensued, which at one time threatened to become serious. Finally troops of mounted gendarmes arrived and dispersed the mob. A few persons were injured, and the excitement continues.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 29.—General Guerra, commander of the first military zone of Sonora, telegraphs to Governor Conder under date of April 26, that on the twenty-first Lieutenant Guilan Quintro with federal forces had a sharp battle with Yaqua Indians on the Tejbampo mountains killing twenty-one, and wounding one, who was taken prisoner. Private Manuel Escobas, of the federal force, was dangerously wounded. In another dispatch dated April 27th the General says: "Yesterday Captain Angel Lanes of the Mexican Home Guards, overtook a large party of Yaqua rebels, going toward Agua Clara and had a fight with them, killing 7 and capturing 14 prisoners, mostly women and children, and a lot of guns and ammunition."

COLORADO SPRINGS, April 29.—For several years an old lady named Kearney and her grandson about 8 years old, named Hand, have been living on a ranch several miles north of this city in a somewhat desolate section of the country. About a month ago they disappeared and the neighbors thought they had left the country. Yesterday Mrs. Beach, a daughter of Mrs. Kearney, arrived from St. Louis, and in company with a neighbor went to the ranch to investigate. In a stable near the house the body of Mrs. Kearney was found doubled up in a much decomposed condition, and the body of the boy was found jammed into a feed box, also badly decomposed. It is impossible to state whether both were murdered by robbers or whether the old lady murdered the boy, and then suicided. The coroner will investigate tomorrow.

A conclusion drawn from the condition of things in the house and the position in which the bodies were found, is that the old lady and the boy were murdered for money which it was known the former had in the house, but by whom is still a mystery. Two bullet holes were found in the skull of the boy, while his grandmother's head was crushed with an axe in such a manner as to explode the theory of suicide. The boy was grandson of J. C. Hand, a wealthy iron merchant of Philadelphia, and was to come into possession of an estate of forty thousand at his majority. The boy's father, Frederic Hand, was a wealthy cattleman, who came from Philadelphia to St. Louis in 1878, where he married Miss Kearney. They came here soon afterwards and settled on the ranch, he dying five months later. The mother of the murdered boy is now in New York.

CHICAGO, April 30.—While defending the honor of her 13-year-old stepdaughter against the fendishness of her unnatural father, Mrs. Muehlberg was struck down with murderous intent by her husband at a late hour last night, and is now dying. Muehlberg returned to his home on Law Avenue in an intoxicated condition, after having been absent all day. He went directly to the bedroom where his three children lay sleeping, and attempted an assault on his daughter Eleanor. The child screamed for aid, and Muehlberg's wife rushed in from the next room. The brute was beating the child about the head to silence her cries, and when his wife advanced to stop him, he turned and dealt her two blows, which cut her scalp and face terribly. She made several attempts to get to the door to call for aid, but was prevented by her husband's beating her. In the meantime all three of the children sprang from the bed and endeavored to stay their cruel father's wrath. Mrs. Muehlberg at last succeeded in reaching the steps, where she managed with superhuman strength to cry for help. Muehlberg then shook the children from him and took a small crowbar from the tool-chest and struck the woman over the head, crushing in her skull. For the first time he seemed to realize what he had done. He entreated the children not to tell who did the deed, and then taking some money he fled. The police have as yet been unable to find the murderer.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The nomination of Melville Wenton Fuller, of Chicago, as Chief Justice of the United States, is regarded here with unbounded satisfaction by leading men of both parties. Fuller, in every respect, is fitted to fill that high office. He was born in Augusta, Maine, February 11, 1833, and graduated at Bowdoin in 1853. Minister Phelps being his classmate. After studying law at Bangor and attending lectures at Harvard, Fuller came west to Chicago. His ability was speedily recognized, and for thirty years he has won distinction among the foremost of the bar. He has been prominent at several Democratic National Conventions, and in 1860 was selected to deliver an address of welcome to Stephen A. Douglas. In his practice in the Supreme Court of the United States, Fuller has frequently come in contact with Edmunds, Thurman, and other great lawyers, but has never failed to hold his own against the greatest of them. He is familiar with the decisions of the court, and especially on all constitutional questions. When Fuller was informed of the nomination he was overwhelmed with surprise, and requested that he should not be pressed for an extended interview, simply stating that he would accept the nomination.
